AMERICA'S GREAT PREMIER DIES SUDDENLY

Secretary of State, John Hay, Tells Nurse to Arouse Family and Then Passes Away.

HIS END UNEXPECTED

Death Comes at His Summer Home at Lake Sunapee, N. H.—City's Flag is at Half-Mast.

John Hay, Secretary of State, died at 12:25 this morning at his country home at Lake Sunopee, New Hampshire.

When The Daily Press received word of the premier's death it immediately notified Chief Kiely, and the city's flag was quickly placed at half-mast.

The death of Secretary Hay was entirely unexpected. It was believed he was rapidly recovering from the illness that had confined him to bed for a week. The attending physicians had announced that the local trouble was clearing up satisfactorily.

Mrs. Hay and Drs. Charles L. Scudder and Fred T. Murphy were at Mr. Hay's bedside when the end came. Mr. Hay bade good night to his wife and to his attending physicians about 10 o'clock last night at the close of one of the best days he has had since his illness.

The Secretary had suffered none of the old pains in his chest which characterized his earlier illness. He had been perfectly comfortable all day and happy in the anticipation of leaving his bed for the greater freedom and comfort of a couch.

At 11 o'clock he was sleeping quietly. A few minutes after 12 he called the nurse, who at once summoned Dr. Scudder.

Dr. Scudder and Dr. Murphy hastened to the bedside. The Secretary was breathing with difficulty and expired almost immediately afterward, at 12:25.

Secretary Hay arrived at Lake Sunapee from Washington a week ago today, his health apparently greatly benefited by his recent European trip and the course of baths he took at Bad Nauheim. On Sunday last the Secretary was stricken with an illness believed at the time to be uraemia. So serious was his condition that Drs. Scudder and Murphy, of Boston, were summoned to attend him. In order that there might be no delay, a special train was charatered for their use, and the two physicians made a record-breaking trip from Boston to Newbury.

After an examination of the patient Dr. Scudder announced that Secretary Hay was suffering from the effects of a chill contracted on the trip from Washington to Newbury similar to an attack he sustained about four years ago. It was believed he would be fully recovered within a few days. Each day the information given out regarding the Secretary's condition had been of an encouraging character.

That Mr. Hay's family did not expect his illness would terminate fatally was made clear by the sailing of his daughter, Mrs. Payne Whitney, for Europe on last Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Payne Whitney were at their summer home at Port Washington, L. I., when the information was received that Mr. Hay had been taken seriously ill and that physicians had been summoned from Boston. They had made all preparations for sailing, but on receipt of this news deferred sailing until it should be determined whether his condition was serious.

Later they received a telegram from Mrs. Hay that the Secretary was much improved and that his illness was not serious. The message was so reassuring in tone that Mrs. Whitney felt no further apprehensions for her father and she and Mr. Whitney sailed Tuesday.

The signs immediately preceding the death of Mr. Hay were those of pulmonary embolism. The bulletin announcing his death was signed by Drs. Scudder and Murphy.

It is a coincidence that a cable message from Bad Nauheim, where Secretary Hay had been taking the baths, says that Professor Groedel, who was Mr. Hay's physician while there, states that it is impossible for Mr. Hay to have uraemia, and that Mr. Hay's kidneys were perfectly healthy. Mr. Hay in reply to a cabled inquiry from Professor Groedel, said:

"Cystitis improving. Nothing complex. Thanks."

Jerry Burns, who refused to pay the increased license fee in North Plainfield, has given up his residence in the borough and today he moved to his former home in Raritan.

STONE THROWER IS HELD WITHOUT BAIL

YOUNG ILLINGWORTH LOCKED UP ON MURDER GHARGE.

Harry Illingsworth, the fourteen-year-old Raritan boy, accused of killing little Katie Jakel with a stone, which he had thrown at the child's brother, was held without bail to the Grand Jury, on a charge of murder, by Magistrate W. R. Sutphin, in Somerville, yesterday, and locked up in the county jail.

Before this action was taken a coroner's jury at an inquest held in Rraitan had rendered a verdict to the effect that Katie Jakel came to her death by a stone thrown by Harry Illingworth, wilfully and with intent to injure Jacob Jakel, but which missed him and struck Katie.

The boy became hysterical when taken to the jail. The Grand Jury will not meet until September. The boy's counsel, W. F. Vosseler, will ask the Supreme Court to fix bail and release the lad. The boy is said to be an invalid.

The testimony given before the coroner's jury, of which the Rev. Dr. Dehart, of Raritan, was foreman, was in effect that Illingworth and young Jakel had had a fight on a wagon. On the day the stone was thrown Jakel and his sister were on the porch of their home. Young Illingworth invited the Jakel boy out to fight, and when he started to go into the house threw at him a stone, weighing four ounces. The missile struck the girl, and Illingsworth ran away.

EPWORTH LEAGUE SOCIAL.

First M. E. Church People at Pastor's Home.

Under the auspices of the Epworth League of the First M. E. church, the last social of the season was held at the home of the pastor, Rev. A. C. McCrea, 610 Central avenue, last night. The affair was in the nature of a lawn party, the specious grounds being brilliantly illuminated with three hundred Japanese lanterns, presenting an attractive sight. Sociability was the feature of the evening, while there was added enjoyment in a fine programme of music rendered by Morgan T. Townsend on a pianola. He gave a number of the latest selections throughout the evening to the delight of all.

Refreshments were served in and out of doors. The committee in charge comprised Miss Elsie Horne, Mrs. S. H. Tugwell and Mrs. Harry Gee, and they were assisted by the pastor and his wife as well as other members of the league in making the affair a success.

FREE SWIMMING HOLE

Board of Trade Votes $25 Toward the Fund Needed.

SEEK SUBSCRIPTIONS.

Seventy-Five Dollars Wanted, and Papers Asked to Help in Getting the Other Fifty—A Railroad Letter.

With more promptitude and enthusiasm than it usually gives to the question of a new franchise or the improvement of a whole neighborhood, the Board of Trade, last night, endorsed President Woolston's plan to give the town boys a swimming and gave substantial encouragement to those working for it. The body voted $25 toward the expense of widening a hole in Green brook and placing bathhouse and springboard facilities for the natatory small boy.

There was some trouble in getting a quorum together, but no more than usual at a summer session. The meeting was called for the sole purpose of acting on the report of the committee appointed at the last meeting to look into the swimming hole question, and as the action of the board was a foregone conclusion, very nearly all the members left it for the regulars to work out. President Woolston, Treasurer F. H. Smith, Eugene Laing and Charles W. Runyon were on hand in time, and Mr. Woolston, after a hunt through the corridors of the building and Park avenue rounded up J. S. Coward, James Pope and Charles E. Sturtevant to make the necessary quorum.

Mr. Woolston, who went on the swimming hole hunt with the committee and Street Commissioner Gavett early in the week, as reported in The Daily Press at the time, brought the matter up.

"There are three or four places that can be used as swimming holes," he said, "but the one now used, and the one we have picked out for our experiment, is on Halsey Compton's place. Fifty dollars would put it in pretty good shape, although seventy-five would be a better sum to epend on it. We can give something to it, and both papers have promised to take subscriptions to the fund needed."

"Suppose we give $25," said Mr. Pope. "What would $25 do for a starter?"

"That," said Mr. Woolston, "would enable us to put up the shed, anyway, and give the boys a place for their clothes."

"Well, Mr. President," said Mr. Runyon, "I move that the Board give $25 for the swimming hole."

The motion was passed in less than thirty seconds.

"Now I move that the papers be requesteed to ask for subscriptions to this fund. Fifty dollars more is needed, and I believe the people will be glad to contribute for such an object. I understand that both papers have promised to use their columns to secure subscriptions, but this motion will serve to show that the Board, as a body, is earnestly interested idn the matter and desires to see the subscriptions made."

It was suggested that subscriptions of $1 apiece from citizens in favor of the project be asked.

In his report on the subject President Woolston briefly summarized the understanding between Mr. Compton and the committee. The former only asks that the boys be kept from stealing his fruit, running his cattle, or breaking down his fences. An officer will be on duty at the hole to remind the boys that good behavior is expected of them. Mr. Compton's covers a year. It will be continued after that without limit if the boys prove tractable within reasonable limits.

Secretary Smith read a communication from General Manager Besler, of the Central Railroad, in reply to his letter calling the company's attention to the dangerous conditions in force at the Rock avenue crossing. The secretary's letter asked if a flagman could not be stationed there. Mr. Besler's letter politely acknowledged receipt of Mr. Smith's communication and continued, still politely, to promise that "the conditions would be investigated." The letter was received without comment.

The Board adjourned to meet the first Thursday in October, in regular session.

A Task for Local Artists.

City Judge William N. Runyon, James Dodd and George Schoonmaker left today for Atlantic Highlands, where they are to arrange and produce a minstrel show for one of the popular yacht clubs. The affair is to be given on the Fourth and they will remain there until the day after.

KIND ACT BEGOT RABIES

Youth Bitten By Injured Dog He Sought to Help.

SEIZED MONTHS AFTER

Bite Apparently Healed Harmlessly, But Dread Disease Developed Through Three Seasons—Tied in Bed.

One day last fall an automobile ran over a dog on the main road in Stirling. Louis Cushman, the seventeen-year-old stepson of Henry Burneet, saw the accident from the Burnett house, a few doors up the road, and went out to see if he could do anything to relieve the crushed animal. As he stretched his hand toward the dog it snapped and bit his finger.

No particular attention was paid to the bite and the wound to all appearances healed like a simple cut. On Wednesday young Cushman was suddenly seized with convulsions. These were attended with frothings at the mouth and all the other symptoms of hydrophobia. The spasms increased in violence and frequency, until it required four men to hold the youth in bed. Yesterday he started to bark and howl, moaning like an injured dog, between spasms, and tried to bite the men who were holding him.

After vainly striving to restrain him, Henry Burnett, Peter Burnett, Edwin Burnett and a farm hand tied the youth down in bed. Dr. Jones, of Basking Ridge, and Dr. Bebout, are attending him. They have started filling him with morphine in a last hope of quieting the convulsions.

The case is apparently one of undoubted hydrophobia. The case has been submitted to the Pasteur Institute of New York, and an expert from there is expected to reach the house today. The doctors have little hope of saving the young man's life.

MILK THIEF CAUGHT.

Henry Malleson detected in the Act of Robbing Stillwell Barn.

Henry Malleson, who has a police record for petty offences, was arraigned before Justice Mosher in the city court room this morning, charged with stealing milk from the barn of the Stillwel Milk Company on Watchung avenue.

Milk has been missed from the place for a week and last night George Bowers, an employe of the company, hid himself in the place to watch. He saw Malleson sneak in through a window and take a bottle of milk. A noise frightened Malleson and he sprang outside, but Officer McKeon captured him this morning. He acknowledged his guilt and the justice held him in $100 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

SELL WADSWORTH SCHOOL

Board of Education Transfers Property Which Caused a Heap of Trouble.

CITY LOST A GIFT.

Rebuke to Board of Education Caused G. H. Babcock to Change His Mind.

For the sum of $7,000 the Plainfield Board of Education yesterday disposed of its property on Central avenue at Sixth street, known as the Wadsworth School, the original purchase of which, fifteen years ago, caused more discussion and dissension in the city, perhaps, than any other piece of real estate ever held by the municipality. It cost the taxpayers then about $13,000, and the former residence upon it has since been used as a kindergarten for first year pupils. The lot measures 199.09 feet on West Sixth street and 170.14 feet on Central avenue. On the side nearest West Seventh street the lot extends back 210 feet, being on a bias.

The purchaser is John B. Cottrell, of New York, who secured it simply as an investment. He will have the building, a large frame structure, now facing Central avenue, turned around to the back of the lot on Sixth street. The remainder of the property will then be divided into smaller parts and sold for building purposes.

The sale of the place will recall to Plainfielders the great hubbub that arose when it was bought by the Board of Education from Charles D. Wadsworth as the probable site for the new High School, then contemplated, but which is only now in course of erection. The deal was consummated by the members without consultation and the Common Council became incensed, declaring its sanction should have been secured. It went so far as to have a bill passed by the Legislature, restricting the power of the Board of Education in buying property, and it was a long time before the matter was dropped. The school was not built and the place has never been of any great use.

While these facts are simply reminiscences, the disposal of the property yesterday brought to light an additional circumstance that has never before been made public. The action of the Common Council in rebuking the Board of Education for the purchase and the subsequent public discussion, deprived Plainfield of a new High School building absolutely without cost that would have exceeded in architectural beauty and equipment the one for which the citizens are now paying $125,000. Such a structure was to have been given to the city by the late George H. Babcock, then president of the Board of Education, and the criticism to which the body was subjected caused him to change his plans. For many years it had been his cherished desire to erect a beautiful High School building, to be known as the Babcock Memorial, and the buying of the Wadsworth property was only the first step and the one expense that was to have been borne by the taxpayers. He had confided these details to the late Elias R. Pope and Miss Julia Bulkley, then principal of Plainfield's schools, both of whom had been advising him in the matter. Mr. Babcock was a careful business man, but extremely sensitive and the accentuated charge that the school board, of which he was the head, had acted unwisely cut him to the quick. Because of the few people in whom he had confided, he changed his plans, with the injunction that those who knew of them keep them secret. This they did until today, when the disposal of the property brought them to light.

Divorces Bigamous Wife.

Divorce in favor of Adolph Reichert and against Mrs. Anna Reichert, of Passaic, has been recommended in Jersey City by Vice-Chancellor Stevenson. The testimony disclosed that the wife had a husband living when she married Reichert. Her explanation saw that she had learned her former husband had committed bigamy when he married her, and therefore she was free to marry Reichert. She said she had told Reichert of her previous marriage, but he denied that. The court found the evidence of the truth of the woman's story insufficient.

MR. FISK DECLINES TO RUN FOR SENATOR

His Decision Not to Take Nomination Even if Offered Unamiously is Final.

GIVES HIS REASONS.

Interview Over the 'Phone With Plainfield's Choice—Political Situation Mixed As a Result—Other Candidates.

Former Mayor Charles Joel Fisk, leader in all undertakings for the welfare of the city and its institutions, is not a candidate for State Senator to succeed Judge Cross. This is certain and irrevocable. While he has recovered from the illness that nearly proved fatal two years ago, his physicians, Drs. E. W. and B. vanD. Hedges, advise and he himself knows that the ordeal of a political campaign, no matter how pleasant it may be in one way, is too much for him to risk for the sake of his health. Anyhow, his business interests are such a severe tax on his time that he could not devote attention to political affairs.

Without a decision from Mr. Fisk, the political situation in Union County would continue to be in an unsettled state and for that reason a representative of The Daily Press telephoned him this morning for information. He was found at his summer home in Easthampton, L. I., and was asked a leading question—"Will you accept a nomination for State Senator if it comes to you unanimously?"

"The party has not offered me the nomination," was the polite but evasive reply of the genial public-spirited citizen of Plainfield. When a hypothetical question was put to him, Mr. Fisk paused for some moments before answering and then said "my business engagements are such I cannot give time or attention to other affairs and I would be obliged to decline any nomination for the senatorial office, even if tendered me."

Not even when assured that the Republican party of Plainfield, which has been torn into factions in the past, is unanimously for him and that with him as the candidate it is felt that Plainfield's Republican majority would be about equal to the total vote cast, would Mr. Fisk say that he might change his mind. Mr. Fisk is not a candidate.

The declination of Mr. Fisk changes the political situation considerably. Both Ernest R. Ackerman and William N. Runyon, who were mentioned as possible candidates, favored him, but now it is felt that they both may come out for the honor. Assemblyman-Chairman E. C. Coyne, a right hand man of Hamilton Kean, is a full fledged candidate and so is Assemblyman-Councilman Randolph Perkins, of Westfield.

Unless Plainfield can present a solid front, sending a full delegation to the county convention for one man, political wiseacres say that the nomination will go elsewhere. As it looks at present, Assemblyman-Chairman Coyne's name seems to have the right ring about it for the place.

AMICABLE SETTLEMENT IN SHAFER DAMAGE SUIT

ADJUSTMENT OF $5,000 VERDICT AGAINST A. L. CADMUS.

Through counsel representing both parties, an amicable settlement was reached today in the judgment for $5,000 secured by William B. Shafer, of West Front street, against Abram L. Cadmus, proprietor of the Commercial Mills on South Second street. Shafer was employed in the mills and was injured by the breaking of a plank bridge. He brought suit in the Union County Court and was awarded the $5,000. Cadmus appealed and the Supreme Court recently granted him a rule to show cause why a new trial should not be granted and the case was to have been heard next fall.

It was the judgment given Shafer that held up the sale of the Cadmus tract on West End avenue and which only went through last week. Shafer was represented by Craig A. Marsh and Cadmus by James Powers, of Newark.

RENDER A PROPERTY OWNER.

Purchases Brick Building on Somerset Street.

An important borough real estate deal was consummated yesterday, when John P. Emmons sold his three story brick building on Somerset street, adjoining police headquarters, to Moses Bender, of West Front street. The structure comprises Dr. Mattison's drug store and the shoe shop formerly conducted by Matthias Menzenbach. Bender is a cobbler and plied his trade for many years on West Second street in the rear of the building torn down to make way for the Trust Company's new home. By industry and scrupulous saving he had put by a snug sum and his debut as a property owner followed.

The sale was brought about through Albert Lederer, who has been connected with several recent big deals.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

The end of the loop question is actually in sight. Virtual permission to lay the loop on the Sanford property was granted the company at a special meeting of the Council Wednesday night. A motion to give them the right to go ahead was actually introduced by Councilman Schneider, but it was decided, after discussion, to put action on the matter over until Monday night, when the regular monthly meeting will be held, because the borough fathers were not certain they had the right to pass a loop ordinance at a special meeting. It was so evident that the Council has come over unanimously to the West End side of the question that the P. S. C. hurried a flat car load of rails and ties to the Sanford place immediately after the Council meeting, and work on the loop construction was begun the first thing yesterday morning. It is expected that the new spur will be open to traffic by the Fourth.

In exchange for the privilege of shifting its terminus the company has agreed to erect a commodious and comfortably equipped waiting room at the loop. This agreement destroys the one real objection of the center-of-towners to the West End location, and they have virtually given up the fight. They were unrepresented at the Council meeting.

On their way home from the Council chamber Major Howard Bird, William Sanford and W. J. Winges, leaders in the fight for the West End terminus, saw the workingmen unloading the rails and ties. They organized a little celebration on the spot, cheering like delighted schoolboys.

Col. Darwin C. Pavey, who is to deliver the address at the Juniors' Fourth of July celebration, is a patriotic orator of much experience. He is a veteran of the Civil War and delivered the oration at the Decoration Day exercises in Rome, N. Y.

There is talk of reorganizing the New Market nine. Some of the disheartened fans have even gone so far as to suggest its disbandment after the games at the Independence Day celebration.

Water pressure is still low in the city supply pipes. The firemen are wondering what they could do in the face of a lively blaze with pressure at the present point.

Religious services will be held at the Baptist church tomorrow at 10:30 and 7:45, preaching by the pastor. The morning sujest will be "Our Country and Divine Ideas," the evening, "A Happy Gospel Message;" C. E. meeting at 7 p. m.

Carteret and South Plainfield, with their borough projects, might well study the experience thus far of Highland Park, Middlesex's baby borough.—Perth Amboy Chronicle.

A Christian Endeavor social and business meeting was held last night at the home of Mrs. W. H. Manning. The usual business matters were attended to and a good time enjoyed.

Alfred Springer has purchased a horse and wagon and will engage in the vegetable, game and poultry business.

CLOSE TO THE PEOPLE.

Thrillers Clipped from the Hunterdon Democrat.

For our July 4th edition we must have the country correspondence at this office Saturday, July 1st. The boys want to celebrate. Be prompt.

Brother Shampanore, of the Whitehouse Review, is taking in so much job work that he has been obliged to install into his office a new Gordon quarter-medium job press. Hope you'll keep it running, Bro.

At the request of Mrs. Reporter we have agreed not to give any further particulars about the "C. D." until it can be told with some degree of certainty how the present "spell" is going to terminate, as it seems to be the worst one he has had for several years. In the meantime we shall watch him colsely and note the most peculiar symptoms that seem to be so characteristic of his malady. We hope to be ableto give something definite next week.

MAUCH CHUNK FOR JULY 4th.

There is no grander scenery anywhere than you will find on the journey to Mauch Chunk via the New Jersey Central.

Jersey is attractive, especially in the northern section, and the rolling country offers a variety of attractions the like of which no other section can boast. Pennsylvania and its mountains are too widely known to need elaboration, but Mauch Chunk and vicinity is a garden spot, if ever there was one. The Switchback Railroad is novel, inasmuch as no motive power is needed for operation. The inclines are gradual and in the fourteen mile journey there are many interesting experiences and fascinating scenes are unfolded with startling rapidity.

For a day's outing there is no place more thoroughly enjoyable than Mauch Chunk, and when the small cost of a day's trip is considered there is little left to be said. The New Jersey Central will run one of its popular one day excursions to Mauch Chunk on the Fourth of July by special train, which will leave Plainfield at 9:20 a. m., arriving at Mauch Chunk before noon. The returning train does not leave the mountain resort until 5:30 p. m., hence there is ample time for journeying over the Switchback, visiting Flag Staff and Glen Onoko. 6-23-td

Newark, 285,000 Population.

The work of taking the State census of Newark is about finished. All the enumerators have completed the gathering of the statistics required, except three, and their work had so far progressed as to be practically completed. It is evident that some persons who have had high hopes of a large increase in the population of the city are going to be disappointed, and that the number of inhabitants will not be over 285,000, instead of reaching the 300,000 mark, which was confidently expected.

Will Compete in Prize Singing.

The members of the local Gesang and Turn Verein will take part in the prize singing contest to be held at Trenton Monday. The affair will be conducted by the Trenton society and will be attended by sections from all over the State. The Plainfielders will be accompanied by their wives and will leave on the 11 o'clock train in the morning.

After the coal fires are out bath water must often be carried in kettles and pails to the bathroom. A Gas Water Heater obviates this difficulty. After its installation it has only to be turned on a few minutes before required and the water is hot and ready for use.

It is connected direct to the boiler which makes it available in all parts of the house from bath to laundry. We install Water Heaters for $8.50.

PULPIT TALKS FOR SHUT-IN PLAINFIELDERS

NO. 3—By the Rev. Charles Wesley Parsons, D. D., Pastor of Grace Methodist Episcopal Church.

Colossians 2:10—"Ye are complete in Him."

"Completeness" is a strong word, and stands for the thing most desirable in life.

Processes surely are important, but only so when at last they are crowned with completion. It is the end to be attained—the goal to be reached upon which the eye must ever be fixed. And if that end is a wrong one, then all is wrong.

A "Napoleon of finance," for example, may scheme for a fortune, which through the means at his command can never rightfully be his, and find his deserved end in disgrace and a prison cell.

And a man may stand in a pulpit and preach eloquently and have only the desire for self-glory and the applause of men, and his work will be miserably incomplete in all the results for which the sacred desk was established.

That is to say, along the lines of all right estimates a man may be a complete failure. So the object in view is the matter of all importance. And it ought to be a high one, and at last the highest. For a thing may be complete, and yet very trivial. A penny toy is complete, and a splendid Swiss or American watch is no more than that, but there is no comparison in the relative importance of the two.

Let us take this word "completeness" now and try to climb up as near as we can to it, in its largest and best sense. Before proceeding, I may as well announce my profound conviction, and that is, that absolute, unchanging completeness, where applied to natural and material things, has not yet been reached in this world, that is, so far as we know.

I ride on a trolley car, I talk into a telephone in wonder, but electricity has not yet reached its limits in the conveyance of the human voice and form.

I have an acquaintance who was making a fortune by means of a machine he had invented to construct a useful article, but after a time a rival produced a better machine, one that would do double the work in half the time and expense, so my friend could no longer compete, and he closed his works. And so it will be right on.

The celestial system, of which our earth is a part, seems complete in itself. How magnificently and with what perfect system Venus, Mars, our earth, and the rest sweeps on around the sun, but how well we know these are only a part of a larger and mightier system, of which our centre is but—an insignificant part.

The earth certainly is constantly changing. There is upheaval here, depression there. Once there was no life—there could not be—it was too hot; and then there was no life—there could not be—it was too cold. Firey waves swept the surface or mighty icebergs tore and ground their way along. Just now the earth is inhabited. Who knows but in the mutations of time and matter it may be dismantled and untenanted again.

It seems to be sure that nothing that is only of the earth earthy can be complete and imperishable, and if completion is ever attained it must be in some higher and better realm of being.

Let us come now directly at the important point. Completeness may be achieved. And the Apostle Paul indicates the way. He says: "Ye are complete in Him."

But even now the very idea at first almost staggers us. It does the worthiest and best people, and when told this high attainment is possible to them they cry out, "What; complete. I complete, wanting nothing; it is impossible." But then the good Book goes on to reveal to us how it may be accomplished. And at first we come to understand that we must struggle to attain. In some ways we do not object to this. Accomplishment is one of the real joys and rewards of life. Happiness comes when the end crowns the work. Night comes—the day's work is done. We say, "Oh, I am so glad." The enterprise engaging your thought is pushed through to an end, you draw a long breath of satisfaction. The college boy rejoices when the four years of preparation are completed and he is ready to go out to the world's work.

It is said that "woman's work is never done," and yet doubtless there do come times when she can say that some particular duty is performed. So we hund around our lives—do the things our hands find to do.

Oh, but let us see it, now, feel it; we are the buildings, we are the structure fair to look upon, worthy in every part; put up on honor, built up in truth and conscience, the building a temple, a cathedral, a home for the soul, this, or just the reverse of all this. Maybe your home is a ruin, your temple complete in nothing but its desolation. To me a ruin is the saddest thing in the world. I find little response in my heart to the enthusiasm shown by many travelers over ruins. They go into ecstacies over remains. They walk the streets of dead cities, wander among the ruins of Thebes, Memphis, Baalbec, and profess to be enchanted. "Noble ruins," they say, "splendid monuments of former greatness." I have seen tourists in the Roman Forum, the baths of Caracala and the Coliseum and heard them express cries of delight. But sincerely, now, there was nothing noble in those ruins to me at all. I feel none of the rapture which seemed to prevail around me. My mind wandered back over the past.

The Coliseum noble? A great structure, certainly, a mighty pile, well preserved, worth looking at by day or by moonlight, when poets rave over it. I stood inside in Caesar's place, and shutting my eyes, the whole scene came back. Here the Emperor and his unworthy court of nobles and women, and there the gladiators butchering each other. Just now the victor stands with sword raised over his foe, his friend perhaps, and the vanquished man lifts his hand to the people for mercy, and 80,000 men and women, maddened by blood, now brutes and wild beasts, are turning down their thumbs, and so pronouncing his death warrant.

And just here Sparticus, goaded to desperation, shouting to his com-, "Come on, die we must, but die we will out under God's blue sky fighting for liberty." And the Christians thrown to wild beasts—husbands, wives, fathers, mothers, youths, maidens, little children, huddled in the centre of the vast amphitheatre, hands and eyes uplifted to heaven, while the famished lion and tiger roar for their blood. The Coliseum a noble ruin? No! a cursed ruin, a crumbling, blackened monument of man's inhumanity to man.

No, such completeness of architecture and structure, devoted to such uses, had better have been incompleteness—better never have been.

Well, the building of the soul goes on, and there is this peculiar thing about it, we cannot always tell by the exterior what the real condition of the structure is. A human life may look complete, it may have accessories of wealth, education and social position, with honor and influence added. But all these do not of themselves touch the soul. Elegant moral lepers are walking your streets and sometimes they gain admittance to your homes, feted and praised, attention shown them because they are smart, and they are rich, and they seem so fine. Their dress is so "swell," and in appearance they are so handsome. Jesus knew all about them. He named them "whited sepulchres," they are every one, "Full of uncleanness and dead men's bones." And the vital thing to note is that the completer they are in exterior form and beauty and smoothness and grace without character, the greater the peril in contact.

Oh, I say unto you, better would it have been for the world if Aaron Burr had been brainless—better if Robespierre had been imbecile, and James Fisk, Jr., an idiot. Immensely better.

So let the truth seize you, completeness in form and beauty, in the arts that please, in wealth and intellect, just absolutely do not count in the kingdom of grace and glory disassociated with a clean life, a teachable spirit and a regenerated heart. And you are to be complete—complete in a completeness acknowledged by men and angels—that will stand the test of fire and light and the Searching Eye when "Ye are complete in Him."

Yes, "complete in Him." In the true sense now no man is perfect—absolutely so. No man is holy—no, not one. No man is as complete as Jesus was, or can hope to be. Jesus never sinned, and there are scars all over you and me. But we may be completely forgiven, completely restored to the favor of God. We may live in Christ and have Christ formed within us, the hope of glory. At that moment life begins anew, we enter the "path of the just, which shineth more and more unto the perfect day." But it is a process, and I rejoice to so think of it. I love to believe that God is carving away at the rough clay of my life, and that Christ, the master sculptor, is bringing form and comliness, beauty and symmetry, out of a formless clod which nobody but a God would undertake to perform. And when our life is hid with Christ in God, then it is that the carving and polishing is going on.

And, yea doubtless a man is a better man physically with Christ than without Him.

A painter sought a model of perfect innocence—he painted a child, a boy four years of age, a dear little fellow, rosy and pure, his mother's joy. The work was admired and advanced at last from studio to the "Academy." Critics agreed, "It is worthy, it is an excellent portraiture of innocence." Twenty-five years later the same artist, in his old age, was seized with the desire to produce a companion piece in exact contrast—the first one "Innocence," the other one "Guilt." Again he searched for the suitable model, and in a prison cell he found him—blurred, bleared, scarred and broken—a caricature of the human form divine. With equal skill as before he painted, and the picture complete was suspended by the side of the other. Again the critics agreed and said, "This is worthy of its dreadful theme." But now for the surprise. The wonder is that the model for both pictures, "Innocence" and "Guilt," was the same person, with just twenty years between. Through the years of crime and debauchery, the mother's sweet boy "Herbert" became the loathed outcast, shunned and despised, a living contagion among men.

Who can say that what he was at first he would not have been at last, if through the years he had been a sincere follower of the meek and lowly Jesus?

Not only is transformation and building a process, but sometimes it is an event.

Jesus has and Jesus can transform a condemned sinner into a singing saint in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, when the soul, helpless and hopeless, throws itself upon Almighty power. And this wonder-working power is manifest not only within, but without. A saved man, living close to Christ, walking with Him day by day, looks different from the sinning man.

One Sunday night, years ago, the door bell rang after church. Three men stood there. Two were members of my church, earnest, zealous men, who had found a wretched sinner in the street, and finding that he was sick of sin, brought him to the parsonage that we might pray together. The man was one of the worst looking men I ever saw. I do not mean his clothes, for he was respectably dressed, and had some marks of good breeding upon him. But his face was red and bruised, his eyes bleared and every nerve shaking with the frenzy of alcohol. But he was crying for mercy. Yes, literally crying—prone upon the floor he cast himself and aloud he pleaded for pardon.

With difficulty I gained his attention. A young man of good family, the child of praying parents, but the sad old story, the outward, downward path, and at that moment, just at the point where one step more would be over the cliff, and death.

Oh, how he prayed, and, ah, how he pleaded, and how we pleaded with God for him. After a time relief came. Not fully assured of acceptance, but glad hope gave place to dark despair. He held on, and in time the day dawned. Today his life is approaching the "Completeness in Him."

Ah, and so it is. "In Him" of Paul or Apollas, or Cephus, nothing of Augustine or Savonarola or and Wesley, Asbury or Mathew Simpand Wesley, Asbury or Mother Simpson. Nothing of Suzanna Wesley or Alice Cary or Fanny Crosby. Nothing of any or all of these, builds into completion. "In Him ye are complete." He or she who is the most like Christ is completest.

I have re-read the life of Florence Nightingale. It impresses me more than at first. Almost as much as the Mary who broke the alabaster box ought her story be repeated wherever this Gospel is preached as a memorial of her, because she did even more than the Mary the work Jesus came to do—binding up the broken hearted, dressing wounds, relieveing suffering, healing the sick.

"Lovest thou me?" Jesus asked. Then "Care for them," was His command.

"Complete in Him." The attainment far away, but the hope grows brighter, the path plainer, and the purpose and desire more inspiring.

Plainfield, N. J., July 1, 1905.

Who suggested hippodrome ball?

Denman wants a conference. He used to want the earth.

Mr. A. Stork is registered at the Adolphus Hotel, Atlantic City, according to the Evening Union of the seashore resort. If he's looking for his friend Roosevelt, he'd better move on to Asbury Park soon.

In an interview this morning with former Mayor Charles Joel Fisk, a representative of The Daily Press learned his decision not to accept a nomination for State Senator even if it is offered unanimously. This paper believes that it expresses the opinion of the people of Plainfield when it says that the refusal to become a candidate on Mr. Fisk's part is much regretted. From Union County have gone men who have been shining lights in the upper house of the State's legislature. Magie, Voorhees, Vail and Cross—a galaxy of great Jerseymen—have reflected honor on the county which sent them as its representative in the halls of legislation. Charles Joel Fisk would be a fit successor in the proud line. But he is not a candidate and will not become one. His decision is to be regretted by the people of the county in which he has been conspicuously active for good and in the city in which he has been first in all that tends to the public weal.

John Hay is dead. When the first bulletins announced the end of the great statesman the report was hardily credited. His end came suddenly and unexpectedly and with it came the close of a great life consecrated to the country's advancement among the nations of the world. America has had many able men as Secretaries of State — Webster, Evarts, Blaine, Frelinghuysen, Bayard, Gresham, Sherman and Hay—all these have added renown to America as diplomats and statesmen of the highest type. But it did not remain until John Hay's death for the country to recognize that the greatest among these was the man who took the helm at a trying period in America's history. He entered the cabinet of William McKinley in 1898 and from that day henceforth was the one man upon which the utmost reliance was placed. Success followed success in his negotiations with the premiers and crowned heads of Europe. They learned to reverence him and to fear him. Fortunately when the lamented McKinley was taken away to his reward, Hay remained at his post. No offers from gigantic trusts ever tempted him to desert his duty to his country. And he died much poorer in the world's good as a result but his memory is much richer to the present and future generation. To him more than to Roosevelt the country looked and this was particularly so with the financial interests. He was a safe man and at the same time the wisest one probably that ever stood at the right hand of a President of the United States.

Blae, of New Brunswick, who was a former manager of the Elizabeth office, with complete copies of the New York Mirror and Ladies' Literary Gazette from July, 1829, to July, 1830, bound in book form, and also with copies of the New York Mirror from July, 1835, to July, 1836, likewise bound in book form, and in a first class state of preservation.

Priest Faints on Altar.

While in the act of marrying a couple Thursday in St. Patricks' church, Very Rev. Dean Gessner, the aged rector, fainted on the altar. He was picked up by the bridegroom and his best man and was carried into the vestry room, where he soon revived and insisted on finishing the ceremony. Afterward he put on the rest of his vestments and celebrated a nuptial mass. Dean Gessner is about seventy-four.

QUEER ACTIONS OF A BROOKLYN VISITOR

FOUGHT OFF PINK DOGS AND CHASED FLIES DOWN THE STREET.

Otto Andersen, a light haired young Dane, who claims Brooklyn as his home, was arraigned before Judge Runyon in the city court this morning, charged with demanding money from West Front street residents.

It was the second time within twenty-four hours that Andersen had been before the magistrate. He disturbed the men on duty at the Netherwood pumping station at 2 o'clock yesterday morning by yelling at the door, and the police were summoned by telephone. To Roundsman Flynn and Detective McCarthy, who came in the patrol wagon, Andersen explained that he had been trying to frighten off a pack of pink dogs that followed him from New York, and to prove his story he called attention to several that were trying to climb in at the back of the wagon. In court yesterday morning he assured Judge Runyon that he had stopped drinking two days before and couldn't understand why the dogs kept after him. He promised to return to work in Brooklyn right off and the magistrate let him go.

This morning Roundsman Flynn saw Andersen going from house-to-house on West Front street and followed him. At Alexander Gordon's house, No. 1139, Flynn heard Andersen ask for $10.

"I must have it," he said, with an ingratiating smile, "I've been chasing flies off the block for an hour and a half."

Flynn told Andersen that he had better let the city adjust his claim. The man had been in half a dozen places, asking from $3.50 to $10 for shooing flies from the street.

"I did get $3.50," said Andersen when arraigned before Judge Runyon.

"You did? What for?"

"I got it in the parade last night. I had to stop parading because they told me to get a new pair of shoes. I guess I'll have to take up a subscription."

"How long have you been out of a sanitarium?" queried the judge.

Andesen looed amazed.

"What's that—a school?"

"A school for health," said the judge. "I guess I'll send you to one to sweat this activity out of you. Ten days."

Andersen went away smiling blandly.

The evensong service at St. Stephen's church will be held at 7:45 o'clock Sunday nights during the months of July, August and September, instead of the afternoon.

St. Mary's Guild, of St. Stephen's church, will hold the first of its Japanese lawn parties on East Seventh street, near Berckman street, on the afternoon and evening of July 4. There will be a sale of fancy articles and refreshments.

The Woman's Guild of the Church of the Heavenly Rest has elected these officers: President, Mrs. I. D. Ferguson; vice-president, Miss Emma Foster; secretary, Mrs. K. F. Burke; treasurer, Mrs. Harry W. Fraleigh. Mrs. Charles Graves resigned the office of president after a service of twelve years.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—The suit for $50 damages brought by Lawyer Jeremiah A. Kiernan agains tthe Pennsylvania Railroad Company, which was disposed of in the District Court at Elizabeth, resulted in a verdict for Kiernan for $27.

—Although the trolley line has been operated in Dover, Morris county, but one year, it is claimed that 500,000 passengers have been carried by it. One car alone carried 268,000 passengers between Dover and Wharton.

Forty-two of the sixty-one Royal Arcanum councils in Manhattan and the Bronx were represented Thursday night at a meeting in Terrace Garden. Resolutions were adopted looking to a reconsideration by the Supreme Council of the recent changes in assessment rates and declaring confidence in the stability of the order. It was unanimously decided to request that an immediate meeting of the Grand Lodge of the State be held to take up the matter.

After a discussion, punctuated by expressions of disappointment over the proposed schedule of rates, which lasted fully three hours, Passaic Falls Council, No. 1679, Royal Arcanum, of Passaic, virtually asked the supreme body to find some other method of placing the organization on a firmer financial footing than that of the statement sent out several weeks ago. The prevailing tone of the meeting was, give the old members, who have built up the institution, a show.

N. Douglas Drake was in charge last night and after a short devotional service the social was held.

JOURNALISTIC OPINION.

A "Full" Meaning.

The yacht officers have arranged to keep open house all day on the Fourth, and anyone who has enjoyed the hospitality of the club house this information will convey a full and joyous meaning. — Atlantic City Press.

Losing Fight.

It is useless for a Jerseyman to omit paying his gas bills. That is to say, he must either pay or go without the light. In the Court of Errors yesterday Judge Dixon filed an opinion sustaining the action of the Supreme Court giving to a gas company the right to take from the house of a customer its gas meter for the failure to pay his gas bills.—Elizabeth Journal.

Nature Abhors a Coward.

Nature abhors a coward as much as it does a vacuum and the man who fears is easily vanquished. Difficulties strike different persons in different ways, disheartening some, and stimulating others. Those who can meet trouble and overcome it are the victors in the great unceasing battle of life. The others live, die, and are forgotten.—Atlantic City Review.

Next State Senate.

Last year six of the seven outgoing Senators were Republicans. The chances for the Democrats to make gains this year are obviously hopeless. They will do surprisingly well if they shall hold their own. Their only chance of gain is in factional fights in normally Republican counties. Against this possibility the wise heads of the party are on the alert with good chance of averting trouble.—Paterson Press.

Government Ownership.

The inmates of the Rahway Reformatory are going to debate the question of governmental ownership of railroads. It might have been a good idea to have them deliberate whether their institution should be controlled by a private corporation; this merely to have afforded a topic for thought to those mistaken minds who cannot conceive how the public can be honest enough to govern itself and control its own utilities.—Elizabeth Times.

Gunning for Autos.

A constable in Union county, who fired a shot from his revolver at an automobile that he thought was going at a faster rate than the law allows, is to have a chance to defend his action in the criminal court. One may search the statutes in vain for authority to shoot automobiles or automobilists at any season, and examples should be made of the reckless individuals who resort to such dangerous methods. The attempt to enforce one law by a gross violation of another won't do. — Trenton Times.

Publishing State Laws.

It seems to use that the State should compile a condensed statement of the laws which should be published in all the prominent newspapers of the State so that the average citizen might know something about the statutes he is expected to obey. The present system is a farce as far as any real information that the average citizen is able to gain about the laws passed for his government. And even the present system is so bad that months elapse before the pamphlet laws reach even the judges and officials who are to execute them.—Paterson News.

Antidote Ready.

The retailer who complains that business is dull in summer time usually has only himself to blame—unless, indeed, he is a coal dealer or a specialist in earmuffs or some other commodity that nature rebels against when the mercury climbs upward in the tube. Summer dullness is generally attributable to the absence of a part of the population from the city during the hot months. The antidote is ready at hand. By forceful advertising the stay-at-homes may be induced to increase their purchases. New customers may be secured to take the places of the old who are temporarily absent. As the temperature rises the publicity appropriation should sympathetically follow it.—Paterson Guardian.

The Jury Commission.

The New Jersey Bar Association, at its Atlantic City meeting, failed to endorse the proposed jury commission system, because, it is said, the South Jersey lawyers are satisfied with the present method of sheriff-drawn juries. That might explain the defeat in the Legislature of the commission plan, as South Jersey votes will be needed to pass it; but it is not a good reason to give for the failure of the association to stand by its action of last year. Probably four-fifths of the lawyers of the State live and practise in the upper counties, where the evils of the existing system are notorious. Every man has the right, both in civil and criminal prosecutions, "to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury" and if this cannot be had under the present custom of selecting jurors, a change should be made at once. New Jersey is said to be one of three or four states that is without a jury commission law.—Trenton Times.

Politics in Somerset.

With characteristic progressiveness, The Gazette has already begun selecting the Democratic candidates for next fall's elections. For Senator, according to our contemporary, the race has narrowed down to a two-horse affair, the contenders being Senator Childs and former Prosecutor Dungan. In this it is more likely right than wrong, but as the Democrats have plenty of available timber, it may possibly be wrong. It admits that "Senator Childs has made a popular Senator because he is every inch agen tleman of the high type." but prophesies that he will go down to defeat because the Republicans "will be united upon a strong candidate with whom they expect to win." In addition to being a prophet our neighbor is an optimist of the first water. There is at present not even a hope that the Republicans will be united upon any kind of a candidate, weak or strong, and the best that any of the leaders, outside of the editor of The Gazette and the host of would-be candidates, expect is for the victim of their convention to run second to the Democratic nominee.—Somerville Messenger.

Peace Conference on Jersey Soil.

The selection of our national capital by Russia and Japan as the place for the plenipotentiaries to meet to arrange terms of peace is a compliment to President Roosevelt, and a tribute to the disinterestedness of our nation. Japan objected to holding the conference in any European capital, and with valid reasons. Russia was not inclined to any place in the Orient. The logical selection was, therefore, Washington, and the ready acquiescence by both powers was evidence of their confidence that their interests would not be prejudiced in this country. Washington in midsummer is an uncomfortable place to abide in, and there will be no necessity for the plenipotentiaries to remain there to negotiate. They can readily transfer themselves to one of the cool summer resorts, and the New Jersey coast presents ideal opportunities. Taking the coast from its southern extremity, Cape May, with its delicious climate and quiet exclusiveness, would be one favorable spot. Atlantic City, urban and cosmopolitan, with hotel accommodations equal to any great city, and with varied attractions, also has its claims. Asbury Park and Long Branch afford all the conveniences and have all the comforts that can be desired. It would be gratifying to State pride to have the preliminaries of peace between Russia and Japan settled on New Jersey soil. The coming conference is of world-wide interest and importance, and it will rivet the attention of mankind. The conference will be historic and take its place among the famous peace negotiations and congresses of the past. As a matter of course all the formalities will be executed in Washington. Peace, if agreed upon, will be concluded there.—Newark Advertiser.

SQUABBLE AT ELIZABETH.

Experts May be Engaged to Investigate Rates.

At a hearing before the special committee of the City Council at Elizabeth to investigate the feasibility of the plan to establish a municipal water plant there, John W. Whelan, secretary and treasurer of the Elizabethtown Water Company, controlled and operated by Senator Kean, endeavored to show that the comparative figures recently published by the committee were misleading and incorrect. The committee's figures were intended to show that the rates in Elizabeth were much higher than those in other cities of this State which conducted their own water-supply system.

The chairman of the special committee of council, Bernard J. Higgins, insisted that he had secured his figures from official reports. Mr. Whelan contended that his mistakes had followed because of his having made improper comparisons. In consequence of Wednesday night's developments the committee will probably ask the council for an appropriation wherewith to engage an expert to make a thorough investigation and prepare a report for presentation to council.

HAS A NEW MOTIVE POWER.

Vineland Inventor Says Air and Water Patent Will be Used.

Morris C. Lockwood, an inventor of Vineland, has a mechanical curiosity in his workshop in the form of a hydrostatic motor, which he declares is past the experimental stage and will soon be put on the market. For twenty-seven years he has expended his money and time on this invention and says he has at last mastered a new scientific principle. This motor is designed to run the machinery of the world with air and water.

Lockwood says the model works perfectly and he is now looking for capital with which to exploit his invention commercially. The machine is of fifty horse power, and after once being charged with water will repuire but two quarts of the liquid to run it twenty-four hours. The inventor zealously guards his workshop and is so sure that he has solved the problem of cheap power that he has spent his all in perfecting the machine.

Wheel Missed; Found Again.

Aleck Kane, the contractor, left his wheel in front of the Marsh building yesterday afternoon while he went to Justice Mosher's office. The wheel was missing when he came down, and Kane reported the matter at police headquarters. A half hour later the bike was found in the West End leaning against a curb. No one, apparently, knows how it got there.

Kitchens For Bachelors and Separate Establishments For Bachelor Maids

One phase of twentieth century life is enough to make our great-grandparents of both sexes rise up in their graves and howl. Our generation is the first to see young ladies of wealth set up homes all their own, without even a chaperon. They maintain in all respects independent establishments and lead independent lives. In New York Miss May Van Alen has her own town house in the city. So has Miss Margaret Chanler, whose beautiful home is equipped with stables, horses and carriages and all that a millionaire household considers necessary to comfort and respectability. Others of the fashionable set in the same city might also be named. Among women who earn their own living thousands of girls have pretty little establishments where they keep house happily, there being no men in the case at all. Women are becoming independent of men. On the other hand, as if to revenge themselves on the girls for discovering them to be no longer a necessity, hundreds of likely young bachelor men have gone to housekeeping in city flats in the most cosy and comfortable way. They rent an apartment, furnish it handsomely and have somebody come in daily and put it in order. They sometimes take their meals at restaurants, but in many instances they hire a flat with kitchen attached, then get a cook and regularly keep house, just as they would if they were married and had wives to superintend their establishments. One recommendation for this way of living is that both for bachelor maid and man it is cheaper than boarding house living and far more agreeable. A drawback to this system of home making, however, is that there is not always harmony among the partners. Still there is quite as much as there is between the ordinary husband and wife, with the added advantage that the erring bachelor partners are free to go apart if they wish.

Don't ever have any company manners. Use your very best every day at home among your own family. You need not fear they will wear out. Good manners are one of the few things that do not wear out by constant usage.

A case unique in this world's history came to light recently in Bohemia. Seventy-five years ago Franz Rossner had a sweetheart, whom he loved devotedly and who loved him as devotedly. They were betrothed, but something happened to postpone their marriage. Then something else happened to defer it once more. Over and over again obstacles to the wedding came up, and year after year the pair waited. Half a century the engagement lasted, then twenty-five years more. At last Rossner was 100 years old and on his deathbed. His betrothed was ninety-three. Then the wedding took place, and two days later Rossner died. Immortal Franz Rossner, who could be faithful to a marriage engagement seventy-five years!

Not very long ago the prime minister of Great Britain was hissed and jeered on the floor of the house of commons, and the session broke up in a wild uproar, amid calls for the police. Women are too excitable to be trusted with political power!

A business woman whose salary reaches far up into the thousands bases her success on the hint conveyed in the following: "Molasses goes a great deal farther than vinegar."

Long ago the ladyships who are to manage the household of the German Crown Princess Cecilia and the crown princess herself were selected. When she sets up housekeeping, poor Cecilia will be under the constant surveillance of a lot of feminine mightinesses who will not let her so much as crook her finger unless it is the traditional thing to do at that moment. It is said that this constant and terrible watching and repression was what made Princess Louise of Saxe-Coburg run away from her husband and his court. Who can blame her?

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont has undertaken, in association with several other women of wealth, a worthy enterprise. The ladies have formed an association for the construction in Brooklyn of a vast model tenement house, twenty-two stories and covering a city block. This great building will be managed by women, and no families will be admitted without children. The rooms will be large and sunny. The millennium is coming surely.

In various localities women are moving earnestly and unitedly to do away with the death penalty, if not altogether, at least for their own sex. The New Jersey Federation of Women's Clubs lately discussed the subject eloquently. Mrs. E. B. Carter made this notable remark: "We like to make God responsible for all our wars, executions and sins against humanity. Some one says God must be a woman—He stands so much."

ELIZA ARCHARD CONNER.

[Copyright, 1899, by F. Tennyson Neely.]

Bowing her head she strove to nodge by, but it was useless. Again he confronted her. Piteously she looked up in his pale, stern face and clasped her hands. "Oh, Rollin," she cried, "give me my letters. I dare not—see you. Have mercy—" and down again she went in a senseless heap upon the stone. Col. and Mrs. Frost did not sail with the Empress of India. Brain fever set in and for three weeks the patient never left the hotel. Frost made his wife's dangerous illness the basis of an application to be relieved from the Manila detail, but, knowing well it would be late summer before the troops could be assembled there in sufficient force to occupy the city, and that his clerks and books had gone by transport with the second expedition in June, the war department compromised on a permission to delay. By the time the fourth expedition was ready to start there was no further excuse; moreover, the doctors declared the sea voyage was just what Mrs. Frost needed, and again their stateroom was engaged by the Empress line, and, though weak and languid, Mrs. Frost was able to appear in the diningroom. Meanwhile a vast amount of work was saddled on the department to which Frost was attached, and daily he was called upon to aid the local officials or be in consultation with the commanding general. This would have left Mrs. Frost to the ministrations of her nurse alone, but for the loving kindness of army women in the hotel. They hovered about her room, taking turns in spending the afternoon with her, or the evening, for it was speedily apparent that she had a nervous dread of being left by herself, "or even with her husband," said the most observing. Already it had been whispered that despite his assiduous care and devotion during her illness, something serious was amiss. Everybody had heard of the adventure which had preceded her alarming illness. Everybody knew that she had been accosted and confronted by a strange young man, at sight of whom she had pleaded piteously a minute and then fainted dead away. By this time, too, there were or had been nearly a dozen of the graduating class in town—classmates of Rollin Latrobe—their much loved "Pat," and speedily the story was told of his devotion to her when she was Nita Terriss, of their correspondence, of their engagement to be married on his graduation, which in strict confidence he had imparted to his roommate, who kept it inviolate until after her sudden union with Col. Frost, and poor "Pat's" equally sudden disappearance. Everybody, Frost included, knew that the young man who had accosted her must be Latrobe, and Frost by this time knew that it must have been he who caused her shock at the Arlington. He raged in his jealous heart. He employed detectives to find the fellow, swearing he would have him arrested. He became morose and gloomy, for all the arts by which Mrs. Garrison persuaded him that Nita looked up to him with admiration and reverence, that would speedily develop into wifely love, were now proved to be machinations. He knew that Nita feared him, shrank from him and was very far from loving him, and he believed that despite her denials and tears and protestations she loved young Latrobe. He wrote angrily, reproachfully to Margaret, who, now that her fish was hooked, did not greatly exert herself to soothe or reassure him. That he could ever use violence to one so sweet and fragile as Nita she would not believe for an instant. Then the nurse, still retained, heard bitter words from the colonel as one morning she came to the door with Mrs. Frost's breakfast, and while she paused, uncertain about entering at such a time, he rushed angrily forth and nearly collided with her. Mrs. Frost was in tears when the nurse finally entered, and the breakfast was left untouched.

Late that afternoon, just after the various trunks and boxes of the Frosts that were to go by the transport were packed and ready, and Mrs. Frost, looking stronger at last, though still fragile, almost ethereal, was returning from a drive with one of her friends, the attention of the two ladies was drawn to a crowd gathering rapidly on the sidewalk not far from the Baldwin hotel. There was no shouting, no commotion, nothing but the idle curiosity of men and boys, for a young soldier, a handsome, slender, dark-eyed, dark-complexioned fellow of 21 or 22, had been arrested by a patrol and there they stood, the sergeant and his two soldiers fully armed and equipped, the hapless captive with his arms half filled with bundles, and over the heads of the little throng the ladies could see that he was pleading earnestly with his captors, and that the sergeant, though looking sympathetic and far from unkind, was shaking his head. Mrs. Frost, listless and a little fatigued, had witnessed too many such scenes in former days of garrison life to take any interest in the proceeding. "How stupid these people are!" she irritably exclaimed; "running like mad and blockading the streets to see a soldier arrested for absence from camp without a pass. Shan't we drive on?"

"Oh—just one moment, please, Mrs. Frost. He has such a nice face—a gentleman's face, and he seems so troubled. Do look at it!"

Languidly and with something very like a pout, Mrs. Frost turned her face again toward the sidewalk, but by this time the sergeant had linked an arm in that of the young soldier and had led him a pace or two away, so that his back was now toward the carriage. He was still pleading, and the crowd had begun to back him up, and was expostulating, too.

"Awe, take him where he says, sergeant, and let him prove it."

"Don't be hard on him, man. If he's taking care of a sick friend, give'm a chance."

Then the sergeant tried to explain matters. "I can't help myself, gentlemen," said he; "orders are orders, and mine are to find this recruit and fetch him back to camp. He's two days over time now."

"Oh, I wish I knew what it meant!" anxiously exclaimed Mrs. Frost's companion. "I'm sure he needs help." Then with sudden joy in her eyes: "Oh, good! There goes Col. Crosby. He'll see what's amiss," and as she spoke a tall man in the fatigue uniform of an officer of infantry shouldered his way through the crowd, and reached the blue-coated quartette in the center. Up went the hands to the shouldered rifles in salute, and the young soldier, the cause of the gathering which the police were now trying to disperse, whirled quickly, and with something suspiciously like tears in his fine dark eyes, was seen to be eagerly speaking to the veteran officer. There was a brief colloquy, and then the colonel said something to the sergeant at which the crowd set up a cheer. The sergeant looked pleased, the young soldier most grateful, and away went the four along the sidewalk, many of the throng following.

DEPEW LOSES HIS GRAFT

Paul Morton Cuts Off His $20,000 From the Equitable.

In following out his policy of retrenchment and stopping the crevices through which policyholders' money has been sifting, Paul Morton, chairman of the Equitable Society, yesterday notified Chauncey M. Depew that on and after July 1 the annual retainer of $20,000 which he has received for several years would be discontinued.

Mr. Morton also notified David B. Hill that he retainer of $5,000 would no longer be sent to him. Mr. Morton closed up his list of those who have been receiving annual stipends from the society without, in his judgment, giving a satisfactory return therefor by writing a letter to George H. Squire that his "pension salary" of $1,000 a month would cease on July 1.

The chairman did not accompany the announcement of the discontinuance of Mr. Depew's and Mr. Hill's retainers by any further statement. Senator Depew will receive his notification by cable when he lands from the steamship on which he sailed last Saturday for Europe.

Another interesting development was the resignation of General Louis Fitzgerald as a member of the board of directors. General Fitzgerald's resignation was placed in Mr. Morton's hands yesterday morning, accompanied by a letter of explanation, which Mr. Morton did not see fit to make public. General Fitzgerald has been at his country home in Garrison, N. Y., for several weeks, suffering from heart trouble, which is said to be serious. Recent reports have made it appear that General Fitzgerald's condition was such as to preclude his taking active part in business hereafter.

General Fitzgerald's resignation is No. 22 on Mr. Morton's list. He was named in the Hendricks report as having been sent for by the Superintendent of Insurance while the oral examinations were under way, but the General did not see fit to heed the summons. In his report Mr. Hendricks says it had been his intention to question General Fitzgerald in connection with the lease by the Equitable to the Missouri Safe Deposit oCmpany. For many years the General has been a member of the board of directors and was chairman of the executive and finance committees of the society. His close personal friendship for Henry B. Hyde, founder of the society, was the reason for his appointment as one of the executors of the Hyde estate.

GOVERNOR STOKES ILL.

Barely Able to Attend to Business—Collapse Feared.

Governor Stokes, when he appeared at the State House at Trenton yesterday morning, was apparently on the verge of a serious illness. He is still able to attend to State and personal business; but he is doing so more by his persistency of will than by his physical strength. He was so hoarse yesterday morning that it was only with great difficulty that he was able to hold even a brief conversation. His physician and friends declare that he is greatly overworked, and that he must take better care of himself or suffer the consequences of a serious and probably protracted illness.

From the day of his inauguration as Governor he has been working from sixteen to eighteen hours a day, either in the executive chamber or at his personal affairs or attending dinners or other public events in this and other States, making addresses three or four times a week, and has overtaxed his strength. It is a common occurrence to find him at work in the executive chamber at 2 and 3 o'clock in the morning and to find him again at his desk in the State House by 8 o'clock. It has been suggested to him by his physician and his friends that he adopt regular hours at which he can be seen on public business at the State House, and that he adopt the same course for his office hours at the bank of which he is president; but he has not consented to take his advice.

NEGRO MAKES AMUSING PLEA.

Hen Roost Robber Willing to Plead Guilty if He Could Keep Chickens.

An amusing scene took place in the Middlesex County Court at New Brunswick Wednesday before Judge Strong, when Albert Paine, a colored man, was arraigned on the charge of stealing three chickens from Nelson Williamson, a farmer, living in North Brunswick township. Paine had been in jail four weeks and sent word to Prosecutor Berdine that he would plead guilty if he could get the chickens back. He pleaded guilty Wednesday, and after Judge Strong had imposed a fine of $5 and had allowed thiry days to settle the fine, Paine addressed the court.

"Say, Mr. Judge, you honor, how about dem chickens; don't I get 'em back? I'se willing to be punished, but I ought to have dem chickens."

Judge Strong told him that prisoners there were not treated that way, and Paine left the court much provoked. Williamson has the chickens.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

The Clinton Avenue baseball team will play at East Millstone on Fourth of July.

On Tuesday the New York Giants won their fifteenth victory out of seventeen games played.

Tommy Irwin, the crack catcher for Lafayette College, has signed to play with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Charles Walton, formerly of the Plainfield team, is playing a good game at third base for the Phillipsburg team.

Matthews, the start short stop of Harvard, who was graduated this year, has signed to play with Burlington, of the Vermont League.

It is reported on excellent authority that Charlie Denman has ordered a new pipe for the Plainfield-Westfield series, and it is guaranteed not to become over-heated.

Think of all the harsh things that the Westfield fans have been saying about Manager Daab. If the proposed series is played they will have a chance to say something pleasant.

Badgley, formerly of the Plainfield team, but now of Trinity College team, will not pitch for the Washington, Warren county, team this season. The team will continue to use Machette.

Hopkins, who pitched for the Boston Nationals against Hoboken last Sunday, holding the Hudson county team down to three hits, will pitch for the Newburgs against the locals on Fourth of July.

Managers Daab and Denman will meet at the Hotel Kensington tonight to talk about a series of games between Plainfield and Westfield, and the result of the conference will be awaited with interest. One thing is assured, if the contests are played, they will be "on the level."

Manager Denman's proposition to play a game on Crescent Oval on Fourth of July morning for the benefit of Jimmie Montross, may appear all right on the surface, but Manager Daab says that if he has any charity to dispense he will do it in his way without suggestions and through recognized channels.

F. L. Thompson, who is to pitch against Westfield for the Central R. R. nine this afternoon, has been using the Washington school yard as a practise ground. He lives opposite the school on West Fifth street, and he has been going over to the yard frequently in the cool daylight hour after supper for a few flings. He has the neighborhood boys charmed with his strongarm throw into the air. He can shoot a ball so high that it comes down with chunks of cloud clinging to it.

WIFE FINDS HIM AT DEATH'S DOOR

MR. LOCKWOOD PASSES AWAY BEFORE AID COULD BE SUMMONED.

Death came very suddenly to Frank S. Lockwood at his home, 407 East Second street, last night, soon after he had retired for the night. His wife discovered his condition just as he was passing away. It was too late to employ medical aid, although a physician was hastily summoned.

Mr. Lockwood, who had been employed in the Custom House, New York, for a number of years, came home early last night, complaining of feeling unusually tired. He decided to retire early, and his wife followed him within a short time. Soon after entering the bedroom Mrs. Lockwood heard her husband groan and give a gasp, and his critical condition was at once apparent. A physician was sent for, but it was too late. He said that Mr. Lockwood's death was due to heart trouble.

Mr. Lockwood had been a resident of this city many years, and had a host of friends. He was an earnest Christian worker and greatly interested in the cause of temperance. Frequently he assisted at gospel services by singing, being the possessor of a fine voice. He also sang in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church and Trinity Reformed church some time ago and frequently at the W. C. T. U. rooms. Lately he was an attendant at the Park Avenue Baptist church. He is survived by a wife and three children.

WILLIAM F. ARNOLD RETURNS.

Greatly Benefitted in Health by Trip Abroad.

City Treasurer William F. Arnold, cashier of the City National Bank, and Arthur M. Griffin, who have been enjoying a pleasure trip abroad, returned home Thursday night on the Graf Waldersee, of the Hamburg-American Line, greatly benefitted in health. The trip wast taken chiefly for the benefit of Mr. Arnold's health, he having been quite ill for several weeks before.

Mr. Arnold and Mr. Griffin sailed on May 9 on the Steamer Prince Oscar. After reaching Naples they travelled about at their own pleasure, visiting some of the principal cities, including Pompeii, Rome, Venice, Florence, and in Switzerland they made a tour of the lake regions. They also visited Paris and then went to London and from Boulogne they sailed home. A party of Plainfield friends were at the peir in New York to greet them on their arrival. Both were glad to reach home again.

Prophet Honored at Home.

Five hundred women and young folks at Hackensack were yesterday loud in their praises of Weather Prophet DeVoe, of that town, because of the glorious weather furnished them on Thursday, when the annual excursion of the First and Second Reformed Sunday-schools at Cranberry Lake was held. A month ago the excursion committee waited upon Weather Prophet DeVoe and asked his to select a day for the excursion. DeVoe predicted beautiful weather for Thursday, and that's why he was lauded yesterday. He is bearing his new honors easily.

Morristown Organist Honored.

In recognition of his work in behalf of English cathedral music, J. Sebastian Matthews, of Morristown, has just been elected an honorary member of the British Guild of Organists. The honor is seldom conferred on any one, and only three times before has the honorary membership been given to an organist living in America. Only two of the other honorary memebrs are alive. They are Samuel Warren, of New York, and Arthur Foote, of Boston.

CONSENTS DON'T EXPIRE

Yarn in Courier-News About Trolley Extension Pricked by Officials.

A MONTH TO RUN.

Story Might Have Been True if Company Hadn't Had Rights of Way Time Limit Extended.

Under a double-column heading the Courier-News yesterday called attention to the alleged fact that the proposed extension of the Arlington avenue trolley line would be halted today by the expiration of the time limit on the right of way on the property owned by the late Isaac Stelle, near the Country Club. The P. S. C. officials laughed at the story this morning when their attention was called to it.

"I wonder where they got that yarn," said H. C. Runyon, who has had charge of the right of way matter for the company ever since the project was started. "The Stelle property right does not expire for a month. It did, originally, run only to today, but we had it extended for a month three weeks ago.

"Only two of the consents were limited to July 1, and the other, as well as the one mentioned, has been extended. We expect to have the new tracks open, part way at least, inside of a month."

COCHRAN DEFEATS FERRIS IN FINAL ROUND

AS A RESULT, PLAINFIELD COUNTRY CLUB WINS FIVE POINTS.

At the play in the men's singles held under the auspices of the Jersey City Club at ersey City yesterday afternoon, the final set of this round, which had to be postponed last Saturday because of darkness, when each of the contestants had two sets to his credit, was completed yesday. The match was between H. J. Cochran, of the Plainfield Country Club, and F. E. Ferris, of the Jersey City Club.

Although the contestants seemed to be evenly matched at their last meeting, Cochran, of the local club, had a clear advantage yesterday, having fine control of his recquet in every instance. Cochran won 6—3, thereby winning three sets out of five and the championship in singles.

As the result of the tournament, Plainfield Country Club adds five points to its credit and Jersey City two. The club standing now is: Plainfield Country Club, 5; Ilderan Outing Club, 5; Jersey City G. C., 2; Bergen Point L. T. C., 2.

In the tournament in men's doubles at Roselle today, Plainfield Country Club will send three pairs from this city. Those who will represent the local club are A. Brown and Henry Carter, F. W. Goddard and O. H. Fleming, H. J. Cochran and T. M. Day, Jr., all the strongest players of the club.

MISS SWAIN BURNED.

Accident at Her Home in Craig Place.

Miss Margaret Swain, of Craig place, was severely burned at her home last evening through a sudden gust of wind directing the flame of a gas stove directly against her dress. It caught fire on the right side and her arm was badly burned from the shoulder down before it could be extinguished. Her left hand was also severely blistered in getting it out.

Drs. J. B. and Norman Probasco were summoned and dressed the injuries, which are very painful, though not serious.

MR. SNUFFLES' RAMBLES

This Time He Tells of His Third Trip About the City.

ON FRONT STREET.

Chief Kiely, the You'll-have-to-see—Mr.—Tyler Man, and Local Celebrities Interviewed.

Gentle citizens of Plainfield, once more am I in distress, deep and dire, and from the way I feel now, I think I shall shake the mystery business and accept a good, honest job as dishwasher on a barren island where the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest. It was a hard old day and I got my bumps good and plenty.

Three o'clock saw me leave the office of The Daily Press, clad in all the brilliant regalia of a chorus girl. My tights were pale blue, my fluffy horizontal skirts of saffron, while the upper part of my uniform, what little there was of it, was of black velvet, spangled with silver stars. Jules Boutes had kindly loaned me a Zaza wig, and taken altogether, I had Maggie Bell skinned a mile for radiant adornment.

My first call was at Police Headquarters, and, happily, I found the noble Chief at leisure. Entering with all the suavity at my command, I said to His Excellency, "Good morrow, sir, prithee tell me, be you a Harp?"

"I don't know anything about it," he sternly replied. "You will have to see Mr. Tyler about that."

Not a bit discouraged, I tried a new tack. "Will you please tell me why Pete Hamilton had the frozen rinky dink dished out to him?" I asked.

"I could, but I won't," he said. "Mr. Tyler can tell you all about that."

Once again I ventured a question: "Do you like Bill De Meza as much as he likes you?"

"I couldn't tell you," answered he. "You had best ask Mr. Tyler."

"For goodness sake, who is this omniscient Mr. Tyler?" I queried, "that everything must needs go to him?"

"I don't believe I can answer that," said the Chief, sadly. "Sometimes I think I know, and then again I don't. Better ask him about it, anyway, to make sure," and he started to hum, softly, "Tippy Canoe and Tyler, Too."

I was just about to leave when Detective McCarthy entered the door, bearing two small babies in his arms. "What's the matter here, me trusty sleuth?" asked the Chief.

"Gambling," replied the detective.

"Gambling? How's that?" we both asked in surprise.

"Never saw a clearer case in my life," said he of the Foxy Quiller tribe.

"I caught one of these young toughs throwing a penny at the other, and they were talking so excitedly that no doubt whatever was left in my mind. I grabbed them before either could escape, and here is their filthy money."

"What have you to say?" solemnly asked the Chief, of the evil doers.

"Goo, goo!" said one. "Ba, ba," shouted the other.

"What did I tell you?" asked Mac, excitedly. "They can't deny it," and as I left I saw both young terrors safely deposited in a cell to await the Cadi's matutinal visit. Once more in the street, I sallied across Park avenue and entered John Kenney's shoe emporium, where I found the boss endeavoring to sell a pair of cowhide boots to a young lady, volubly explaining all the while that they were the latest Walkover dancing slippers. She seemed somewhat unconvinced, but finally compromised on a pair of rubbers, and went out.

"How do you do, Mr. Kenney?" I said, approaching him gently, "will you kindly cash a tiny little check for me? I'm an orphan and want to buy pie." Just then an awful thing happened. Mr. Kenney, usually so nice and docile, so soft spoken and winsome, grabbed me by my corsage and the seat of my skirts, whirled me three time around his head, and chucked me out on the car tracks, where I lay almost stunned. Picking myself up wearily, I staggered down the street, my appetite for pie thoroughly gone and fell, rather than walked into George Voehl's bake bazaar. "Mr. Voehl," I began at random after catching my breath, "do you know anything about autos?" "Do I know anything? Well I guess I do," he said. "Ask me!" What's your opinion of that dub Rambler machine? I asked innocently, when like a rocket George went up in the air. "Look a here, you pasty headed, mutton faced gazabo," said he, frothing at the mouth, "I want you to distinctly understand that the Rambler is the only machine that ever was, ever is or ever will be. You cadaverous old yaboo. I bet you a ton of bread against your old blue breeches, my Rambler can beat anything in New Jersey. Why! why!" he spluttered, but is was too much for him. Once again was I lifted violently out on the sidewalk, this time upon the point of George's shoe, applied with much dexterity and force to my center of gravity. Thoroughly disheartened I started across the street to Bill Warnock's to get a bun. I don't know how it happened, but all at once I was down in the street again, this time a busted skull, both arms braken and a fractured thigh. "What hit me?" I asked feebly of a bystander. "Mr. Hide's auto," replied he, "and it was all your fault. Mr. Hide was only running eighty miles an hour and you started recklessly to walk across the street, where a glance would have shown you that he was only a mile away. You certainly owe him an apology." "Yes, I think I do," said Mr. Hide, who by this time had slowed up and returned from Scotch Plains." Whenever I run over any of the Salvation Army, they always apologize and I rather like it." Not to be outdone in politeness, I raised my hand, begged Mr. Hide's pardon for jolting him, and sank back unconcsious. When I awoke I found myself in the hospital, bandaged from top to bottom, and no prospect of geting out whole for a month. Ladies and gentlemen, I'm all in. The only thing mysterious about me now is how I held body and soul together. Good bye for a while anyhow.

PLAINFIELD HAD A CINCH

All-Americans Furnish Easy Pickings for the Slashing Daubsters.

JUICY HITS COME EASY

Crowd Grew Weary of the Slaughter and Went Away Early in the Game—Visitors Petted.

After scraping their finer feelings against some grievous bumps for two weeks, those noble heroes who battle under the Daab banner fell into a bed of roses Saturday afternoon. The All-American nine was such a mark that the cinch was cloying. What coterie of bounding athletes wouldn't be surfeited with a 16 to 4 pie on the menu?

Half the beauty and chivalry at the goreless contest succumbed to ennui before the end of the fifth stanza, and went wearily away in search of a church picnic or something else with ginger enough in it to keep them awake. Those who suffered through the whole nine innings strove to ease the pitiable state into which the All-Americans—who licensed 'em under that name anyhow?—by words of kindly comment on their shapes and general baseball form.

Those All-Americans struggled manfully against their encompassing fate. They used two pitchers and shifted the team about in an effort to do something, but it was not to be. Each flinger was worse than the other, and the rest of the team smeared themselves thick with tainted plays. Some of their playing was so rank you could almost smell it.

If they hadn't made a misplay we would have everlastingly lambasted them, for seven of the tallies were earned by industrious leather punching. It took only three innings to hammer one Groom into disorganized retreat, and Mr. Murphy, his successor, wasn't enough of an improvement to mention. He was speedier, but no more effective. All but two of the locals hit the ball safely, and Cosgrave did it three times, at one period going so far as to rip off a three-bagger. The Daabsters scored at will, and the Lord only knows what fearful heights the score would have reached if they hadn't let up in the fifth. Every run scored for us was made in those first four raphsodies. From the fifth on Bill Beck encouraged the visitors to have a hit, but they needed more encouragement that way then any other team we have ever pitied. Their four runs were virtual gifts. They had to be helped a whole lot in picking up the present, for they were only

BOY'S FACE TORN BY CARTRIDGE WADDING

ESCAPES STRIKING HIS EYE BY MARGIN OF AN INCH.

By the narrow margin of one inch Fred Pasch, a fifteen-year-old boy who resides on Grandview avenue, escaped losing the sight of his left eye last night. He had been having a preliminary Fourth of July celebration with a revolver, and sought to pick the wadding from a blank cartridge with a knife. The cap exploded, tearing a jagged wound in his left cheek and filling his face with powder.

He was taken to a physician's office, where an hour was required to bind up the injury and remove the powder grains. It was found that the wadding from the cartridge had struck him with such force that had it struck his eye the optic would have been destroyed.

Funeral of Anthony Farley.

With a large gathering of relatives and friends in attendance, funeral services were held Friday afternoon over the body of Anthony Farley at his late home on Terrill road. They were in charge of Rev. A. C. McCrea, pastor of the First M. E. church, of which he had been a member for fifty years. Two solos, "Asleep in Jesus" and Lead, Kindly Light" were sung by Miss Etta Raybert. Interment was made in the Methodist cemetery, six grandsons acting as pall bearers.

Tournament Opens.

Play in the tennis tournament opened on the Y. M. C. A. courts Saturday afternoon. Ted Gavett won from P. L. Phillips, 6-1, 6-0; and Sidney Rockwell defeated Boy's Secretary Robbie, 6-2, 6-2. Sixteen contestants are entered. Play will continue tonight and Wednesday, the round finishing on the latter date.

FARMER DROWNS HIMSELF

Joseph Happe, of Liberty Corner, Commits Suicide in Dead River.

CHILDREN FIND BODY.

Tied a Feed Bag Full of Stones Around His Neck, After Taking Cows to Pasture.

When Joseph Happe, a Liberty Corners farmer, drove his cows to pasture early yesterday morning, he took an empty feed bag with him. His family wondered what he intended to use it for. They found out at noon, when his dead body was discovered at the bottom of Dead River, a little stream nearby.

Happe did not return to the house all morning, and when he failed to put in an appearance at dinner time, the family grew uneasy. Nicholas Happe, one of the sons, and Eliza, his sister, went out in search of the missing man. They found him dead in the shallow stream, with the feed bag, full of stones, tied to his neck.

Happe is survived by a widow and ten children, all grown. He was fifty-nine years old. No reason for his suicide is apparent. He was well-to-do and his home life was pleasant. Two years ago he suffered a sunstroke, and that occurrence offers the only explanation of his act, although he gave no sign of mental weakening.

Happe was the father-in-law of former Chief Marshal Frank Winn, of the borough, now a resident of Warrenville.

PLAINFIELD-WESTFIELD SERIES OF FIVE GAMES

AND, MAYBE, THERE WILL BE TEN CONTESTS.

The Plainfield-Westfield series of baseball games is now assured, Managers Daab and Denman fixing the dates for five contests at a conference at the Hotel Kensington on Saturday night. There is likely to be more than five games, but at present Mr. Daab did not care to decide on more than that number. The first game is to be played at Recreation Park on Saturday, July 15, and in return for giving the opening game to Westfield Manager Denman gives Plainfield the afternoon game at Crescent Oval on Labor Day. If rain should interfere with the contest scheduled for July 15, that game will be played at Recreation Park on Saturday, July 22. These are the dates thus far arranged.

July 15, at Westfield; July 22, at Plainfield; July 29, at Westfield; August 5, at Plainfield. The fifth game scheduled is for Labor Day afternoon at Crescent Oval.

Assemblyman Randolph Perkins, of Westfield, met with Managers Daab and Denman, and the conference was a harmonious one in every respect. It was agreed to use the double umpire system. Mr. Merrity will officiate for Plainfield and Mr. Henning for Westfield. This was perfectly satisfactory to both clubs.

This series will undoubtedly revive baseball interest in both towns and result in record breaking attendances at the contests. Denman says that he will depend on "Red" Waller and his regular team to carry the club to victory. This will mean that "Hot Air" Mallen will figure in every game.

As far the trouble over the Plainfield-Westfield series existed, it is said that Nat Strong was responsible for the James O'Rourke letter to Manager Daab, and it is not believed that the National Commission would have taken any notice of the matter had not some such person called O'Rourke's attention to it.

WHAT'S DOIN' TOMORROW

Horse Races, Ball Games, Golf Contests, Tennis Tournies, Galore.

SOME EXCURSIONS.

New Market to Have a Big Time—Social Events Scheduled for Tomorrow.

While no public demonstration will mark the celebration of the "Glorious Fourth" in Plainfield, the day will be appropriately observed by clubs, organizations and individuals. Aside from the baseball and golf events, there will be many attractions, as varied as numerous, and the local resident will not have to leave town for amusement, while still keeping in mind that the Declaration of Independence was signed 129 years ago. From present indications there will be more than the usual amount of noise and pyrotechnics and the small boy is assured of a good time at least.

One of the principal local events of the day will be the race meet at the Driving Park in the afternoon, to be conducted by the Plainfield Driving Club. There are to be three events, commencing at 1:30, and some of the fastest and best known horses in this section have been entered in the various classes. The club has made ample provision to entertain a large crowd, and those who care for this form of sport are sure to get more than their "money's worth."

Another attraction that will be certain to draw largely from town will be the old fashioned celebration of the day by Friendship Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., of New Market. During the afternoon there will be a splendid programme of athletic contests, land and aquatic, including boat and tub races, wheelbarrow, hobble-hoop, shoe, egg, barrel and coat and vest races and tug of war. The Y. M. A., of New Market, will play two games of baseball, one in the morning at 10 o'clock and the other in the afternoon after the athletic games. An address is to be delivered by Darwin C. Pavey, of Boston, and at night the celebration will conclude with a grand display of fireworks. Stages will leave the Dunellen post office for the grounds every fifteen minutes.

In the city the Park Club will hold a celebration for the benefit of its members and friends that will probably be the best it has held in years. It will comprise a tennis tournament during the day, a social session in the early evening, a display of fireworks and a reception in conclusion. A competent committee has been making the arrangements and a large attendance is looked for. The Plainfield Country Club will also observe the day with special tennis, golf and social events.

For those who like the long distance trips, there is the Jersey Central's special excursion to Mauch Chunk and the others conducted by the Lehigh Valley to the same point and to Bellwood Park. Jerseyland Park will have special events and Boynton Beach will also put out a special programme for the benefit of the holiday crowd.

The Public Library will not issue books during the day, though the reading room will be open. The holiday hours will apply to the post office and The Daily Press will not be issued.

The chief event in baseball here will be the two games on Crescent Oval between Plainfield and the Newburgs. The morning game will be called at 10:30 and the afternoon at 3:45. This team played the locals a few weeks ago and was defeated by the close score of 4 to 2. The Newburgs will be greatly strengthened for tomorrow's contests, all the players being well known. Beck will pitch the morning game, probably against Lewis, and in the afternoon "Willie" Deegan will oppose Hopkins. The latter, pitching for the Boston Nationals a week ago yesterday, held the locals down to two hits. He is considered one of the best twirlers in the Metropolitan district. Manager Daab assures the public that these games will not be a repetition of Saturday's contest. McGrath, the former Westfield player, will captain the Newburgs, and he will come prepared to do the trick.

Among the familiar faces on the Newburg team will be Fallon, who is to be given a trial by the New York Americans; Gorman, who played with Plainfield last year, and Cotter, the well known catcher. The rest of the team is also known. This will be the lineup for the two games:

Plainfield—Kiernan, ss; Cosgrave, cf; Cohalan, 2b; Connolly, rf; Cregan, lf; Leonard, 3b; Driscoll, 1b; O'Neill, c; Beck or Deegan, p.

Newburg—Fallon, lf; McGrath, 2b; Gorman, cf; Donahue, 1b; Adams, rf; Hoag, 3b; Brogan, ss; Cotter, c; Lewis or Hopkins, p.

MILLIGAN WANTS A CHANCE TO REFORM

CHANGES PLEA IN ROBBERY CASE TO WIN CONSIDERATION.

Lewis Milligan, twenty-three years old, who has been arrested a number of times for offenses of varying magnitude, was arraigned before Justice Mosher this morning, charged with stealing a two-dollar bill from Harry Goeller, a fourteen-year-old boy. Under a searching examination by Chief Kiely, who acted as prosecutor, Milligan retracted a plea of not guilty and acknowledged the theft.

He took the money while drunk, two months ago, after the boy had refused to give him five cents. He left town the next day and the police were unable to locate him until Saturday.

Milligan said he wanted a chance to settle down and straighten out.

"You never heard me say that before," he said. "I mean it. I want to be left alone, to live decently."

"Well, I can't promise anything," said the Chief, "but you've been man enough to speak the truth, and I certainly don't want to send any man over the road if he wants to do right. I think, Judge, we'd better send for this boy's mother."

Milligan was remanded to enable the Chief to talk the young man's future over with Mrs. Milligan. He will probably be released in her custody to await tre action of the Grand Jury. If the authorities become convinced that Milligan means what he says the proceedings will probably be pigeon-holed.

GILBERT FOR SENATOR

Former Mayor Being Urged to Allow His Candidacy Being Announced.

FOR HARMONY'S SAKE

Something About the Distinguished Man Who May be the Successor of Judge Cross in the Senate.

If he can be prevailed upon to become Plainfield's choice, it is quite probable that former Mayor Alexander Gilbert will be the next Senator from Union county. Prominent men, not mixed up in factional politics, have been urging the distinguished man, who has been an honor to this city as an official and as a private citizen, to allow his name to be used in this connection. It is said that he is giving the matter consideration, but is not willing, as yet, to give his consent to the boom.

Plainfield can have the nomination, according to Hamilton Kean, the former county chairman, and right hand man of his brother, U. S. Senator John Kean, and other leaders, if it will come to the county convention with a solid delegation. It is known that there would be factional opposition to both Ernest R. Ackerman and William N. Runyon, and this fact has led prominent Republicans who do not wish to see the party divided against itself to pick out the best man that can be named, the only condition being that he would be agreeable to all factions. Former Mayor Gilbert is such a man, and for that reason he is being urged to allow the boom to be started.

Mr. Gilbert is a native of Elizabeth. His father was an iron founder and inventor. For a time the father resided at New Haven, Conn., and there the son had the advantage of a good preparatory school education, intending to enter Yale. Two years later the family removed to Brooklyn, N. Y., where the son continued his education. His first business experience was with the firm of Tuttle & Baily, where he remained three years. He then entered the hardware house of W. W. Seymorn & Co., New York, as cashier. In 1859 he entered the Market Bank, of New York, as second assistant receiving teller. Four years later, when but twenty-four years of age, he became the cashier, being the youngest holding that responsible position in the city. In 1890 he was appointed cashier and vice-president. In 1887 he was offered the presidency of the Fulton Bank, but declined, and since that time the two banks consolidated. He is now president of the Market and Fulton Bank, and has declined numerous offers to become the head of other banking concerns.

Mr. Gilbert became a resident of Plainfield in 1866. He was elected to the Common Council in 1870 and served for a number of years in that capacity. He was also one of the commisisoners for the revision of the city's charter. A good measure of praise is due him for the part he took in the fight to have the railroad tracks elevated through the city. In 1890 he was elected Mayor, which position he held until 1896, in the last two campaigns having no opponent. He declined further honors in that capacity on account of the pressure of business. In politics he has always been a sterling Republican. In 1888 he was a delegate to the National Convention and was honored by being named as one of the committee to notify Benjamin Harrison of his nomination to the Presidency.

Mr. Gilbert was one of the founders of the local Y. M. C. A. and its first president. He has been a trustee of the First Baptist church for twenty years. He is a member of the Park Club, the Park Golf Club, the Plainfield Country Club, the Fulton Club, of New York, and many other social and fraternal organizations.

TWO SMALL ROBBERIES.

Thieves Steal Money, Trinkets and a Watch in East End Houses.

Two small burglaries were committed in the East End early yesterday morning, evidently by the one thief or pair of thieves. At John Sharke's house, 145 Netherwood avenue, $16 and some trinkets were taken, and at the house of W. T. Banks, of East Second street, a silver watch was stolen.

Neither family heard the thief at work. Entrance in each place was gained through a window.

Tunnel Work Started.

A large gang of laborers yesterday commenced the preliminary work for the tunnel under the Jersey Central tracks at Netherwood. This will be the last of the four local stations to afford such protection for passengers. When the crossing is completed a fence will divide the tracks and a small waiting room will be erected on the north side.

THIS TOY CANNON BURST

Sudden End to Celebration by Fourth Street Italians.

PETER BENFORD HURT

Knocked Down by Chunk of Iron Over 100 Yards Away—Four Celebrators Arrested.

Some Italians in the East Fourth street colony decided to spend yesterday in joining the annual prelude to the great Fourth of July bust-up. They fixed an old cylindrical casting up as a cannon and bought a can of powder. They had a lot of fun for about an hour. Then the casting burst.

This was about 10 o'clock yesterday morning, in front of 328 East Fourth street. Peter Benford, a young man with a wooden leg, was walking along the railroad track over 100 yards away when the explosion occurred. A chunk of the casting buried itself above the knee of his good leg, toppling him over as if he had been caught by a charge of shrapnel. Chunks of the casting flew all over the neighborhood, pieces going as far as three hundred feet away. Florence Madden, a twelve-year-old girl, of 228 East Fourth street, was walking along Cottage place, and a heavy piece of iron glanced from her heel. Strangely enough, none of the Italians in the center of the excitement was hurt.

Bicycle Policeman Higgins heard the explosion from a block or two away and pedalled to the scene at top speed. He got there while the Italians wer estill in the first fervor of their excitement, and he had but little trouble in sleuthing out the celebrators. He arrested Francesco Cerbo, Luigi Duviero, Carmino Permsi and Guiseppe Jinaro.

In the meanwhile Dr. Browning had been summoned to help Benford. The latter's wound was found to be severe but not dangerous. He is confined to hie bed at his home, 401 Cottage place.

The Italian prisoners were held in $100 bail this morning for a hearing on Saturday morning, before Judge Runyon.

DENCKLAU TOO HASTY; COMPANY MUST SUFFER

CONDUCTOR TOOK UP COMMUTER'S TICKET AND SUIT MAY FOLLOW.

In an effort to discover those who are using commutation tickets which do not belong to them, Brakeman Ferdinand Dencklau, of this city, a member of the crew of Morris Rarick's train, which leaves this city going east at 1:18 o'clock in the afternoon, picked up such a ticket from David White, of this city, Saturday afternoon, and as a result a suit will be started on Wednesday by Mr. White's lawyer, W. G. DeMeza, Esq., for damages.

Mr. White, who is employed as a bartender in the cafe adjoining the Lyceum Theatre, Elizabeth, purchased a commutation ticket at 11 o'clock from Agent Edward Tomlinson, at the Plainfield station. He boarded the 1:18 o'clock train in the afternoon to go to New York. Brakeman Dencklau went through the train, took the ticket from White, punched it, and returned it to him.

After the train left Elizabeth, Dencklau approached White, asked for his ticket, which he displayed, whereupon Dencklau is alleged to have said, "This is not your ticket. Your name is not White."

Mr. White replied: "My name is White," and Dencklau, it is alleged, retorted by saying, "You're a liar, your name is Drayton," and he put the ticket in his pocket.

Just before the train reached Jersey City, Dencklau, it is said, approached White and said, "Is your name White?" and the latter replied in the affirmative, adding that it was his ticket that he had taken up and put in his pocket. Dencklau then offered White the ticket, and he refused to accept it, saying that he would consult his lawyer. Dencklau then, it is said, grabbed White by the shoulder and thrust the ticket into the top pocket of his coat.

Upon his return home Mr. White consulted Mr. DeMeza and the suit for damages will be started on Wednesday.

FOR PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

Rev. Dr. Schenck Preaches Against Corporate Greed.

TALKS ON GRAFT.

Pastor Looks to Public Opinion to Stop the Desire for Unearned Riches.

In Trinity Reformed church last night Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck gave an interesting and opportune address on the subject of public utilities and the government of the people as it exists today. His text was taken from Job xxxv:9, "By reason of the multitude of oppressions they make the oppressed to cry; they cry out by reason of the arm of the mighty," and said in part:

Independence Day, which is approaching, is a fit time in which to learn a lesson in patriotism. One of the obvious truths taught is the power of public opinion. In a republic, such as ours, government is the expression of the mind and will of the people. Our laws, our institutions, our policies, are the reflex of our opinions. That which is best in our national life and that which endures after the passing of the years is the product of the same power. Public opinion not only secures but safeguards our rights and privileges. By it burdens under which the people groan are lifted and oppressions are removed.

The instance of the complete rout and destruction of the race track gamblers, under the inspiring leadership of the grand old Roman, Dr. Kempshall, was cited. Referring to certain oppressions which public opinion one day will abolish, the pastor made special allusion to the exactions of public service and private corporations. These not only will have their franchises limited and will pay their fair share of taxes on assessments annually fixed, he said, but will also more and more execute their trusts in the interest of the people who they serve.

"It is not impossible that the burdens will only be finally removed by the people coming into ownership of public utilities," the pastor continued, "if grasping corporations persist in enriching themselves at the expense of the public, in jacking up rates to unreasonable and inordinate heights, in killing off competition, then they will have only themselves to thank when the people shall walk into possession of their own. Public utilities are a public trust! Who for a moment does not believe that if public interest and not private were served, water and light, for example, could not more economically de dispensed?"

In conclusion, Dr. Schenck said he looked to the power of public opinion for the suppression of "graft." This word, which is not a dictionary, but a newspaper word, is most descriptive of an evil which is burdening our entire life. Every business and every occupation is feeling its baneful influence, but some day it will disappear, when the outraged moral sense of the people shall be aroused.

F. W. FROST'S TRIP.

Plainfielder Starts on a Tour Around the World.

Francis W. Frost, of 745 Watchung avenue, secretary of the Courier-News Publishing Company, and assistant treasurer of the Engineering News Publishing Company, started yesterday for an around-the-world trip, to be absent about four months. He will poin the party of Secretary Taft at San Francisco on Friday, sailing on the "Manchuria" with the party on Saturday, as representative of the two newspapers with which he is associated.

On the return of the party from Manila, Mr. Frost will leave it at Hong Kong, China, and return homeward by Ceylon, India, Egypt and Europe. In addition to the Secretary of War and Col. C. R. The Public Service Corporation's electric light service has been very poor of late, lights on some of the principal streets being out for several nights before being attended to. Saturday night the police were obliged to borrow an electric light bulb and put it on the light at the Park avenue trolley crossing. This light had been out of commission since Thursday.

Stabbing Ends Card Game.

In a dispute over a game of cards, James McCann, twenty-two years old, who boards at 334 South Park street, Elizabethport, was seriously stabbed early Friday morning in the saloon of John Connolly, at Third and Court streets. The alleged assailant is John Regan, twenty years old, son of former Fire Chief Cornelius Regan. The injured young man, who was cut in four places, was removed in an ambulance to the Alexian Hospital. His alleged assailant, who fled from the saloon after the affray, was later arrested at his home, 155 Pine street, by Police Sergeant O'Laughlin, assisted by Officers Campbell and Barry, and was locked up in the Second Precinct. He was held in bail when it was learned that his victim's injuries were not fatal.

Mrs. J. S. Powlison, of Grandview avenue, is spending some days with relatives in Pluckamin.

equal to landing on the round thing five times for safety, and one rap was a suspiciously scratchy sort. To encourage the suffering guests the Daubsters did monkey shines and essayed unfamiliar berths. All of which did no good. The All-Americans should have been left in their graves in Brooklyn. It was cruelty to drag them out for an exacting game like baseball.

The most surprising thing about the game was Pete Cregan's batting. Pete cut big gaping holes in the air three times, and didn't even rap out of the diamond in his two other times. Pete's old slugging side-partner, Mike Donlin, of the New Yorks, had a slump a while ago, and maybe Pete is just trying to be in fashion. Leonard was the only other man who didn't hit.

Cohalan, the man who covered the blank space on the diamond left by the late lamented R. Oldring, now of the Boll-Weevil League, in Alabama, played fast and hit well. He may stay, if he wants, for all we care.

NEW TRANSFERS.

P. S. C. Puts Slips and Rules to Stop Trouble In the Service.

To end the disputes between passengers and conductors over transfers, a new transfer slip has been put into service by the P. S. C. Under the rules governing the new transfers conductors are forbidden even to listen to explanations from passengers with wrong or improperly punched transfers. The passenger must give the proper transfer or pay his fare. If he is honest in his explanation in respect of a wrong transfer he may file a kick at the nearest office of the company.

The new transfers are of two kinds. Those for service after 1 p. m. have a coupon attached, which must be left on by the passenger before tendering the transfer to the conductor. The a. m. transfer has no coupon.

Sell Arcanum's Bonds.

The executive committee of the Supreme Council, Royal Arcanum, on Thursday drew out $153,000 of the gilt-edged securities which constitute part of the emergency fund in the custody of State Treasurer Chapin. The money was drawn, members of the committee state, "because the mortuary funds were getting low." Under present conditions, according to the supreme auditor, a return of this withdrawal is extremely unlikely. The securities were sold to a New York banker by Supreme Treasurer E. A. Skinner. Who the banker was and how much he paid is not given out. The State treasurer still holds $1,701,000 Arcanum funds.

MAUCH CHUNK FOR JULY 4th.

There is no grander scenery anywhere than you will find on the journey to Mauch Chunk via the New Jersey Central.

Jersey is attractive, especially in the northern section, and the rolling country offers a variety of attractions the like of which no other section can boast. Pennsylvania and its mountains are too widely known to need elaboration, but Mauch Chunk and vicinity is a garden spot, if ever there was one. The Switchback Railroad is novel, inasmuch as no motive power is needed for operation. The inclines are gradual and in the fourteen mile journey there are many interesting experiences and fascinating scenes are unfolded with startling rapidity.

For a day's outing there is no place more thoroughly enjoyable than Mauch Chunk, and when the small cost of a day's trip is considered there is little left to be said. The New Jersey Central will run one of its popular one day excursions to Mauch Chunk on the Fourth of July by special train, which will leave Plainfield at 9:20 a. m., arriving at Mauch Chunk before noon. The returning train does not leave the mountain resort until 5:30 p. m., hence there is ample time for journeying over the Switchback, visiting Flag Staff and Glen Onoko. 6-23-td

Fishing and Shooting.

A new region, now accessible for the first time by rail, and known as the "Temagami" (pronounced Temmog-a-me) District, is being brought to the notice of the public as one of the finest fishing and hunting confines in Canada. Excellent sport is assured all who take advantage of a trip to this magnificent territory which is situated 300 miles north of the city of Toronto at an altitude of 1,000 feet above the sea. Black bass, speckled trout, wall-eyed pike and other species of fish are found here in abundance, and large game, such as moose, caribou and deer, abound in the forests. A handsome booklet, profusely illustrated, giving all information, including comprehensive maps, can be had free on application to F. P. Dwyer, E. P. A., Railway Exchange, 290 Broadway, New York. 6-27-tf

The Three R's in Jersey.

The New York Evening World laments the deficiency of the average graduate of the New York Public Schools, saying that employers prefer, especially in clerical positions, young men and women from the country or from other cities, because of their superiority in griting legibly, spelling correctly and in ordinary arithmetic. This is a serious reflection upon New York schools. It is impossible to rate too highly the fundamental basis of all education—the three R's—without which the coveted positions in New York cannot be obtained or held. We may well understand that New Jersey schools are different, for here this foundation has ever been highly esteemed.—Somerset Democrat.

Theodore Gavett, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gavett, of First place, a graduate of the Plainfield High School this year, has secured an excellent position in the New York office of the Wabash Railroad.

New Jersey's Advantages.

Reports in New York newspapers of the offensive and nauseating atmosphere that has existed in the subway from the beginning of the hot weather gives the New Jersey commuter a chance to have a laugh on his Harlem brethren. As one of our Newark contemporaries put it, "the first sultry day that dawned on New York city after the subway was opened convinced thousands of Gothamites that their underground thoroughfare was anything but the unalloyed blessing they hoped and expected it would be. Down beneath the sidewalks, the cellars, the streets, the gutters, and the sewers it was stifling hot. The atmosphere was not merely bad, it was intolerable. The heat was suffocating, the offensiveness was nauseating and the moisture was parboiling. This is what it now is every warm, humid day that comes. What it will be in the heat of July and August can well be imagined.

In one New York paper this morning the statement is made that "down in the subway the air was just a shade less than stifling when the official mercury marked the hottest June 18 day on record. People who poked their noses into the entrance to the subway stations got a whiff from the lower regions and made for the open elevated structure, but it was 10 degrees worse underground."

The explanation given for the miserable air in the subway is that during the cold weather the temperature in the subway is higher than it is outside. As a result the warmer, lighter air arises through every opening, the cold air fails to take its place and thus a kind of circulation is established which changes the subway air and keeps it more or less pure. But in hot weather the subway air stays in the underground tunnel until it is thick with anything that vitiated air can hold in suspension. And this is the hot, moist, unclean stuff that the subway passengers have to breathe on sultry days, churned up for them by the moving trains.

The way to avoid this parboiling experience is to live in New Jersey. Instead of going out of stifling office down into a nauseating underground passage way, it is far better to go down to a ferry, get a breath of air from off the river and then, after a ride of half or three-quarters of an hour in a comfortable, well-ventilated railroad train, get off within sight of a house set in a green lawn, surrounded by roses and foliage, backed by a garden full of all sorts of fresh vegetables and the whole open to the bright sunsine, the pure air, the soft zephyrs and the singing of the birds.

Harlem real estate may be booming but when the people of New York awake to the advantages of New Jersey, property over here will sizzle.—Hackensack Record.

USE PRESS WANT ADS.

DON'T WORRY.

Words of Wisdom for Those Who Look on the Dark Side of Life.

Don't fuss.
It's just so much time wasted.
If things go wrong, try to find a remedy, but don't wear yourself out, soul and body, by worrying yourself and every one else.
Did you ever hear the rhyme about the "worry cow." It runs:

The worry cow would have lived till now,
If she had not lost her breath;
But she feared her hay would not last all day,
So she worried herself to death.

There are hundreds of us behaving in exactly the same way as that foolish cow.
We are worrying over what we have done, what we have not done, and what we are afraid we will do.
Now, the one thing we might worry over with some reason is the thing we are doing at present.
But we are so occupied with what is past and can't be helped, and what is to come and cannot be foreseen, that we neglect the golden present that is ours to make or mar.
Worying produces a state of mind that unfits one for clear judgment.
Don't worry over tomorrow; you take care of today and tomorrow will take care of itself.
No person is more depressing than the one who is always fussing and fretting and can't enjoy life for fear something will go wrong.
Try to make the most of every joy or pleasure that comes your way.
See the bright side of things rather than the dark.
Oh, the comfort of meeting a person whose brow is not snarled up by lines of fuss and worry!
Serenity is a beautiful thing. Of course, it can only come to those whose minds are at peace, and peace cannot come to all of us. But undoubtedly we can do much toward achieving it by controlling our inclination to fret.
The fretful face can never be beautiful, no matter how perfect its coloring and features may be.
But there are some faces plain of feature whose serenity of expression sheds a positive benediction abroad.
Sometimes when you are walking on a crowded thoroughfare, watch the expression of the faces you pass.
Nine out of ten will wear a worried look.
Relaxation seems unknown to the average American.
Men, women and even children are continually strung to the highest pitch. They begin to worry before they out of bed, and they don't stop until sleep closes their eyes at night.
Don't spoil today by yesterday and tomorrow; make the very most of what you have, and above all things don't look and talk as if there were nothing good or bright or beautiful on earth.
Your troubles are not any worse than other people's.
But if you fret and worry over every trifle you will accumulate enough imaginary troubles to spoil your life.—Exchange.

Captain Hubbard.

In every respect, and in all relations, Captain Hubbard's name was a synonym for honesty, ability, trustfulness, patriotism and Christian manhood. He was a man of few words, when compared with most men, but his words were wise and weighty. Few men have ever served the public so quietly and successfully, without interruption through political influences, or from any other couse. He was a man higher than party standards and broader than ordinary creeds. All who knew him believed in him and sought his service because they felt that any interest committed to his care would be administered without taint or failure, so far as human power could do. In his public services, no one ever associated the thought of dishonesty or the possibility of "graft," or of unmanliness with Captain Hubbard.—Somerset Democrat.

Tommorrow will be Independence Day, and The Daily Press will not be issued.

Four thousand killed and injured last Fourth. What will the fool-killer's harvest be tomorrow?

Joseph Happe, of Liberty Corner, has ended his worldly woes by jumping overboard with a bag filled with stones tied to his neck. This leads one to ask, what's in a name?'

From responsible sources comes the story that former Mayor Alexander Gilbert has been asked to become Plainfield's candidate for the State Senatorial nomination. This is almost too good to be true. Men of his standing are not common in the Legislature. There are and have been some, but unfortunately they are not the rule. Magie, Voorhees, Vail, Cross, Gilbert; would be a line of succession of which any county would feel proud!

FORMAL PROCLAMATION

Issued by President Roosevelt on Secretary Hay's Death.

President Roosevelt has prepared the formal proclamation announcing the death of John Hay, Secretary of State, and it will be promulgated today in Washington. Following is the full text of the announcement:

A Proclamation by the President of the United States.

John Hay, Secretary of State of the United States, died on July 1. His death, a crushing sorrow to his friends, is to the people of this country a national bereavement, and in addition it is a serious loss to mankind, for to his it was given to stand as a leader in the effort to better world conditions by striving to advance the cause of international peace and justice.

He entered the public service as the trusted and intimate companion of Abraham Lincoln, and for well-nigh forty years he served his country with loyal devotion and high ability in many positions of honor and trust, and finally he crowned his lifework by serving as Secretary of State, with such far-sightedness of the future and such loyalty to lofty ideals as to confer lasting benefits not only upon our own country, but upon all the nations of the earth.

As a suitable expression of national mourning I direct that the diplomatic representatives of the United States in all foreign countries display the flags over their embassies and legations at halfmast for ten days; that for a like period the flag of the United States be displayed at halfmast at all forts and military posts and at all naval stations and on all vessels of the United States.

I further order that on the day of the funeral the executive departments in the city of Washington be closed, and that on all public buildings throughout the United States the national flag be displayed at halfmast.

Done at the city of Washington this third day of July, A. D. 1905, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and twenty-ninth.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

By the President:
HERBERT D. PEIRCE,
Acting Secretary of State.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 3—The funeral services for the late Secretary Hay, which have been set for Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock, will be held in the Wade Chapel in the Lakeview cemetery, and will be of the simplest character.

The train on which the body of Secretary Hay was carried arrived in this city this morning at 10 o'clock.

At the station the cars were met by a committee. The escort was furnished by Troop A, of the Ohio National Guard, of which Secretary Hay was a charter member, under the command of Capt. William Schofield. The coffin was carried by four sergeants of Troop A to the funeral car, which was driven directly to the Chamber of Commerce.

The coffin was placed in the auditorium of the Chamber of Commerce in the spot where the remains of the late Senator Hanna lay in state. In accordance with the expressed wishes of Mrs. Hay, the body will not lie in state, nor will the public be admitted to view it. A guard of four members of the Troop A will be posted around the coffin, and will be maintained constantly until it is taken from the Chamber of Commerce at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning.

President Roosevelt and the members of the Cabinet are expected to arrive at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, at about the time set for the funeral cortege to leave the Chamber of Commerce for the cemetery.

The services in the chapel will be under the direction of the Rev. Hiram C. Haydn, assisted by the Rev. Teunis F. Hamlin, of Washington. In accordance with the wishes of the family the services will be private and of the simplest character. There will be little if any music, and no addresses. The interment will also be as private as possible.

MAYOR WAS JUDGE.

Heavy Dose for the Wayward Ones—Two Long Sentences.

Mayor Buckle was on the bench in the city court this morning, and the usual vigor that marks His Honor's appearances as trial magistrate was injected into the law. There was only one suspension, for a very minor charge, in four cases.

Charles Williams got his usual dose, sixty days straight, for the usual charge, drunkenness. Cooney Dunham, who livened his drunk with disorder, was fined $5 or ten days. One Patrick Donavan, who committed the same offense, got sixty days straight on account of his previous spotted record.

The fortunate prisoner was Thomas Kennedy. He was arrested for riding his bicycle without a light at night, and escaped with a wigging.

Ball for Assembly.

George Ball, of Fanwood township, is being urged by his friends to announce himself as a candidate for assemblymanship. Mr. Ball practises law in this city and incidently whop-it-up for the G. O. P. in the township. Last year he withdrew from the race for an assembly nomination as he says for the sake of harmony and now friends believe that he should be given an unanimous nomination.

Some Excursions.

The annual excursions of the Sunday-schools of the Crescent Avenue church, Bethel chapel, Grace, Holy Cross, St. Stephen's and Heavenly Rest churches to Asbury Park will take place on Thursday, July 13.

Gooseberry Receipts.

The following receipts for gooseberries are taken from the New York Evening Telegram:

Spiced Gooseberries.

Top and tail eight pounds nearly ripe gooseberries, and put into a procelain kettle with four pounds of sugar, one pint good cider vinegar, a tablespoonful each pure cinnamon and cloves powdered and tied in little bags. Boil down until quite thick, then can.

Gooseberry Jam.

Top and tail the berries and put them into a preserving kettle with a little water to prevent sticking. Boil an hour, then add sugar which you have allowed in the proportion of proportion of pound for pound. Cook gently, stirring often, until thick. Put into glasses or jars, and when cold cover with paraffine.

Preserved Gooseberries.

These may be preserved in cold water like rhubarb. Select the best of fruit, and having trimmed off the top and stem, pack into glass cans, nearly to the top. Fill to overflowing with cold water, cover and leave over night. In the morning remove the tops, pour in more water until it runs over the sides, then screw as tight as possible. The berries will have taken up some of the first water over night. Keep the jars in a cool, dark place. These will be almost like the fresh fruit for use in the winter for pies and puddings.

English Gooseberry Tart.

Having prepared the ripe berries, put them in a deep pie dish, piling them high in the centre. Sprinkle liberally with sugar and add a tablespoonful of water. Line the edge of a dish with pastry, cover and bake in a medium hot oven. Before sending to the table dust with powdered sugar and serve with cream or custard.

Gooseberry Turnovers.

Having made a good light pie crust roll out, leaving it about quarter of an inch in thickness. Cut in circles with a pint basin, lay a few stewed and sweetened gooseberries on one-half of each round, turn the other half over the fruit, pinch the edges together and bake in buttered tins in a hot oven. Sift powdered sugar over them before serving.

Gooseberry Trifle.

Cook one quart of green gooseberries in a double boiler until soft enough to rub through a colander. Sweeten to taste, pour in a glass dish, cover with a boiled custard made of one pint of milk, three eggs and one-half cup of sugar, and heap whipped cream onto.

Gooseberry Fool.

Prepare a quart of ripe gooseberries and stew tender with just enough water to prevent their burning. Rub through a colander. Add a half cup granulated sugar, the yolks of four eggs and the whites of two that have been beaten, and a tablespoonful of butter. Put this mixture in a double boiler and stir continually for five minutes until it cooks and thickens. Take from the fire and continue stirring until cold. Pour into glass cups, set on the ice to chill, and when ready to serve put a spoonful of whipped and sweetened cream on top.

Gooseberry Pudding.

Make a batter of one pint of milk, a heaping cup of flour, sifted, with a heaping teaspoonful of baking powder, four eggs, whites and yolks beaten separately, a half cup of fine dried bread crumbs and one quart of green gooseberries that have been topped and tailed. Pour in a well buttered mould and steam in boiling water two hours. Serve with hard sauce seasoned with nutmeg or vanilla.

Gooseberry Compote.

Put one cup of currant juice in a porcelain kettle with a cup and a half of sugar and stir until dissolved. Add two pounds ripe gooseberries, simmer gently half an hour, then take from the fire and leave for several hours. When ready to return to the compote put over the fire and cook until the berries are clear. Take out with a skimmer, put in a glass dish, boil the syrup until quite thick, take from the fire, add a half cup white wine and pour over the berries.

Evening Gowns.

White net is always attractive for a young girl's evening gown. The accompanying illustration, from L'Art et la Mode, is a decollete gown of white tulle trimmed with pale pink rosebuds and with ribbon of the same delicate shade, says the New York Evening Telegram. About the neck is a ruching of Valenciennes, below which falls a plaited tulle bertha. The roses bordering the bertha may be either of chiffon or of the silk or cotton imitation roses. As trimming chiffon flowers may be bought by the yard, and these are quite inexpensive, but at the same time most effective. In the front of the bodice is a soft bow knot of satin ribbon, with long ends run through tiny rhinestone buckles. The sleeves to this gon are particularly pretty—simply a wide puff, down the centre of which are laid tiny bow knots, each one separated by a pink rosebud. The girdle is, of course, pink satin. On the skirt bordering the wide insertion of Valenciennes lace are interlaced a row of the rosebuds and a band of lace ruching. As each band is laid on in scallops together they form round loops about the skirt. Above the hem are two straight rows of lace ruching. For dancing, all young girls are having the skirts cut so as to touch the floor all around or else escaping by a half inch or more.

SUMMER BOARDERS.

Getting Profit For the Farm Woman, Fun For the Boarder.

If the city is continually draining the country of the best and brightest of its young people, the country is getting its compensation in the ever increasing stream of city people to the rural districts in the summer months. Many a farm mortgage has been paid by the summer boarder.

To make the "paying guest," as the British would say, happy and comfortable and at the same time to realize a profit from him requires hard work and being "tied down" for at least seven months in the year. But then everything that is worth while demands the hardest kind of work and sticking at it. That is what we must expect always, and herein we are never disappointed.

The Summer Boarder's Rights.

To get the products of the country pure and fresh is what one goes out of the city for. These products include fresh air, quiet, shaded grounds and real country food at its best. If there is a pond, lake or river near by where bathing and boating can be had, all the better.

The food the summer boarder has a right to expect includes fresh eggs, milk and cream (and plenty of them), also berries, fruit and fresh vegetables. Tender, well cooked poultry, say once a week, is desirable. The city person can get heavy roast beef, factory pickles, patent puddings and mixed up, artificial desserts at home.

The boarder in the farmhouse has a right to expect that the unspeakable smells due to bad drainage and nearby barnyards shall be absolutely abolished. These are the worst drawbacks of many farmhouses. Instead of returning home refreshed and vigorous from living outdoors, many a time the confiding city boarder takes back with him the seeds of malaria or a fatal typhoid, directly traceable to poison germs that came from bad drainage and neglected outbuildings or the proximity of the live stock quarters.

Rout out the poisons!

Don't Use Canned Stuff.

Last summer some individuals went from their city tasks to a beautiful spot among mountain foothills to enjoy country food and air. The air was delightful, the purest, sweetest melted snow water flowed down the mountain sides, ready to be tapped and drawn into the country home; tiny valleys fertile as the garden of Eden nestled all through the region. It was an ideal place for poultry rearing, dairying and fruit and vegetable raising. Huckleberries were to be had on the mountain sides for the labor of picking them.

The inhabitants around there nearly all "took in" summer boarders. Oh, yes!

And they actually fed the unfortunate victims on villainous canned goods all summer through—canned corn and salmon, even condensed milk in the coffee. With the earth bursting with fatness, the land flowing with milk and honey, those benighted natives were absolutely too indolent to take care of a cow and chickens or a vegetable garden and berry patch! It was "too much trouble," they said, and they could "make more money without such hard work." But you may believe that those victimized summer boarders never went to that neighborhood again!

Preparation For the Guest.

In the country home where summer boarders are desired there must be timely preparations. In early spring, so soon as possible, spring broilers must be hatched, the first garden vegetable must be planted. Indeed it is often profitable for several country families to work on the co-operative plan, one raising vegetables and berries, another attending to the milk, butter, eggs and poultry supply.

The house must be put in thorough order. It will pay well to build verandas around bare old country houses, to have roads so good that men and women cyclers can enjoy that most delightful of all recreations—a trip awheel. Fresh paint, a smooth, pretty lawn, flower beds and roses here and there, trees or shaded porches where hammocks may be swung, if possible running water and a bathroom in the house—these are some of the attractions that make the city boarder return again and again.

SUSAN PEPPER.

[Copyright, 1899, by F. Tennyson Neely.]

And then the colonel caught sight of the ladies in the carriage, saw that one was signaling eagerly, and heard his name called. Hastening to their side, he raised his cap and smiled a cordial greeting.

"Oh, I'm so glad you came, colonel, we are so interested in that young soldier. Do tell us what it all means. Oh! I beg your pardon, Mrs. Frost, I surely thought you had met Col. Crosby—let me pre— Why, Nita! What's— Are you ill? Here, take my salts, quick!"

"No—no—go on—I—I want to hear! Where are they taking him?" faintly murmured Mrs. Frost."

"Try to control yourself," said her companion. "I'll tell you in one moment." Meantime from without the carriage the colonel continued, addressing Nita's companion:

"He tells a perfectly straight story. He says he has an old friend who is so desperately ill and out of money—that he got a doctor for him and had been nursing him himself. Those things he carried are medicines and wine that the doctor bade him buy. All he asks is to take them to his friend's room and get a nurse, then he is ready to go to camp and stand for his trial, so I told the sergeant I'd be responsible."

"Oh, thank you so much! Do see that the poor fellow isn't punished. We'll drive right round. Perhaps we can do something. It is Red Cross business, you know. Good afternoon, colonel. Please tell our driver to follow them."

But, to her consternation, no sooner had they started than she felt Nita's trembling hand grasping her wrist, and turning quickly saw that she was in an almost hysterical condition.

"My poor child, I had forgotten you were so worn out. I'll take you home at once—but then we'll miss them entirely. Oh, could you bear—"

"Oh! No! No!" moaned Nita, wringing her little hands. "Take me—anywhere. No! Take me home—take me home! and promise me not to—not to tell my husband what we saw."

CHAPTER XI.

For a man ordinarily absorbed in his own command, Col. Stanley Armstrong had become all on a sudden deeply engrossed in that of Col. Canker. The Frosts had been gone a week via Vancouver—the expedition only about 16 hours—when he appeared at Gordon's tent and frankly asked to be told all that tall southerner knew of the young soldier Morton, now gone from camp for the third, and, as Armstrong believed, the last time.

"Why, that young fella's a bawn gentleman," drawled Gordon, as he offered the colonel a chair and cigar. "He was behavin' tip top, steady as you please, until about a month ago. He's only been with us since 1st of May—came with a big batch of recruits—a regular athlete, you know. Then after he'd drilled awhile I nailed him for headquarters clerk. I never knew him to be off an hour until about four weeks ago. The men say another young fella came out here one night, had a talk with Morton, and they went out together. He got regular permission. Nobody has set eyes on his friend out here since that time, but Morton got three passes to town in ten days, and Squeers happened to want him, and gave orders he should have to be consulted hereafter. 'Bout a fortnight since, by Jove, Morton lit out suddenly and was gone 48 hours and was brought back by a patrol, perfectly straight, and he said he had to go on account of a friend who had been taken very ill and was a stranger here. Squeers let him off with a warning, and inside of three days he begged for a 24-hour pass, and Squeers wouldn't give it. He went without it, by George! It was just about the time the Prime family arrived, looking up the boy they heard was in your regiment. This time there was big trouble. The patrol sent for him went directly to the lodgings of his sick friend, and there they found him and he laid out two of our best men for forcing a way into the room. They told me your carriage nearly ran over him the day of the review. Then came that dam fool charge about his being mixed up in this robbery. Then his escape from under Billy Gray's nose, by Gawge, and that's the last of him. Canker sent a party in to look him up at the usual place, and both birds had flown, both, by Gawge! The sick man was well enough to be driven off in a carriage, and there's nothing further to tell as yet."

"I wish I had known about him earlier—before the Primes came," said Armstrong thoughtfully, knocking the ashes off his cigar. "Of course you divine my theory?"

"That Morton is the missing son and heir? Of course. Now that I've seen Miss Prime the family resemblance is strong. But if he wanted to soldier, what's to prevent? Those tents yawnduh are full of youngsters better educated than I am," and Gordon arose, tangling a long, lean leg in the nearest camp stool, which he promptly kicked through the doorway into the sailing fog outside. It was barely 11 o'clock, but already the raw, wet wind was whistling in over the barren, sandy slopes and dunes, and the moisture dripped in big drops from the sloped in from drill.

"Yawnduh comes the Prime carriage now, by Gawge," continued the adjutant, as he limped to the entrance. "Ole man seems all broke up, don't he?" Armstrong had promptly risen and came striding to his comrade's side.

"Naturally," was the answer. "He had hoped much from this visit. The boy was just under 21 when he enlisted, and, as his father's consent was lacking, a discharge could have been ordered. It may have been fear of that that drove the youngster off. Where is the carriage—and your glasses?" continued the colonel, looking about until he found a binocular.

"Comin' right down the road back of the officers' tents. Reckon it's another visit of condolence to Gray. You know I shouldn't wonduh if this arrest of his didn't prove a blessin' in disguise for that lucky boy."

No reply coming to this observation, Gordon glanced over his shoulder. Armstrong was replacing the glasses. Again the adjutant hazarded:

"I—I was saying' this arrest may be, after all, the biggest kind of blessing in disguise for that lucky Billy. Yes, by Jove! They're comin' to his tent. That's a splendid girl, ole man."

"Miss—Prime, you mean?" calmly queried Armstrong, striking match after match in the effort to light a fresh cigar, his face averted.

"Miss Prime I don't mean," answered Gordon, glancing curiously at the senior officer. "Not but that she's a most charming young lady and all that," he hurriedly interpolated, southern chivalry asserting itself. Then with a twitch about the lip: "By the way, ole man, those cigars light better from the other end. Take a fresh one."

Armstrong quickly withdrew the ill-used weed from between his strong, white teeth, gave it one glance and a toss into the waste basket.

"No, I've smoked enough. But how can they see him? How about that sentry over Gray's tent?"

"Huh! Chief made them take it off directly he heard of it," grinned Gordon. "Moses! But didn't Squeers blaspheme!" And the adjutant threw his head back and laughed joyously over the retrospect. "Yes, there's that curly-headed pate of Billy's at the tent door now. Reckon he was expectin' 'em. There they are, ole Prime, too. Don't be in a hurry, colonel."

They had known each other years, these two, and it had been "Armstrong" and "Gordon" when they addressed each other, or "ole man" when Gordon lapsed into the semi-affectionate. To the adjutant's southern sense of military propriety "ole man" was still possible. "Armstrong" would be a soldierly solecism.

NEW BUSINESS.

By Freeholder Krouse:

Whereas, The statute laws require the Board of Chosen Freeholders, from year to year, to declare the amount of money to be raised for county purposes; and

Whereas, The Board of Chosen Freeholders, in fixing said amount, are required to regulate the same in accordance with the gross valuation of taxable property in the county; and

Whereas, The question of "equal taxation" is being seriously considered and new laws have recently been enacted by the Legislature of out State respecting the regulation and enforcement of equal taxation; and

Whereas, It is claimed that in mony instances, throughout the County of Union, the taxable valuation of real estate, and in particular as to large and valuable properties, are inequitable and unfairly fixed, it being in some instances insisted that some properties throughout the county are assessed for not more than 10 to 25 per cent. of their actual value, and it being deemed by the Board of Chosen Freeholders that it is now an opportune and proper time for the respective assessors throughout the County of Union to look into and carefully consider and adjust within their respective districts all inequitable and unfair assessments; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the respective assessors of the various taxing districts throughout the County of Union be requested to carefully consider the valuation of all property within their respective districts, and to assess the same on a fair and equitable basis, so that valuable property, whether private or corporate, sha-ll be as sessed equally with the small or less valuable property within the respectice districts. And be it further

Resolved, That copy of this preamble and resolution be forwarded by the clerk of this Board to the respective assessors throughout the county and to the County Board of Assessors.

Freeholder Cladek moved the adoption of the foregoing preamble and resolutions, and after some discussion, it was so ordered without dissent.

Freeholder Cady moved to adjourn, which was carried.

The Director declared the Board adjourned until Thursday, June 1st, 1905, at 2:30 p. m.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

The Roselle Baseball Club played the Bergen Point Field Club Saturday, one of the strongest of teams along the line of the Central Railroad. On the Fourth, Roselle will play two games with the Ignatius Club, composed of all-collegians. The Ignatius has defeated Pleasantville, Hyde Park and Freehold this season. On July 8 the Dunellens will play the first of a series of three games, and on July 15 the Chatham Field Club will play there. Negitiations are in hand fo rthe remaining games of the series with Cranford and Garwood. Devoe and Malay will be the permanent battery of the home team hereafter, and the team is to be a strong aggregation of ball players, fit to give battle to the best of local teams. Cowan caught Saturday, with Walsh pitching. Leon Moore, who has umpired before, will likely be appointed permanent umpire. His knowledge of the game should insure this department being well taken care of. There will be no necessity of anyone going out of Roselle hereafter to see a good game. The boys are, most of them, local favorites, and all good ball players.

THE DAY'S RESULTS.

Play for Golf Committee and Oshkosh Cups—Two Contests at Park Club.

Several events attracted a large field of players to the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday, including the first team match between men and women members of the club. Although the women were defeated by a score of 26 to 9, the fair sex made a good fight. Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers and Miss Margaret Goddard did the scoring for their side, the former defeating Dudley H. Barrows and Miss Goddard being 7 up on Lawrence Tweedy. The match, however, was a good one, and no doubt others will be arranged during the season. The summary:

Women—Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, 2; Miss Maude Van Boskerck, 0; Miss Edith Tracy, 0; Miss Margaret Goddard, 7; Miss Martha Roberts, 0; Mrs. Walter Gaston, 0. Total, 9.

Men—Dudley H. Barrows, 0; Arthur Murphy, 9; W. L. Glenney, 2; Lawrence L. Tweedy, 0; N. Pendleton Rogers, Jr., 7; C. B. Morgan, 8. Total, 26.

By returning the unusually low net score of 68, H. C. Munger won first honors for the golf committee cup. Stuart H. Patterson won second honors and C. B. Morgan secured the one remaining point. The scores returned were generally low, showing a decided improvement in the play of the regulars. These scores were posted for the golf committee cup:

H. C. Munger, 76, 8—68; Stuart H. Patterson, 92, 20—72; C. B. Morgan, 80, 4—76; Arthur Murphy, 83, 7—76; A. L. Otterson, 90, 14—76; Thomas R. Van Boskerck, 86, 8—78; Laurense Van Buren, 96, 18—78; J. In the final play for the Oshkosh cup, boys' championship, between W. T. Glenney and Ogden Rogers, the former won by defeating Rogers by 1 up in 19 holes.

ON THE GOLF COURSES

P. C. Langdon Won Independence Day Cup at Country Club.

RESULTS OF CONTESTS.

Miss Uhler Lead in Clock Golf Competition—George T. Rogers a Winner at the Park Golf Club.

Yesterday was a gala day at the Plainfield Country Club and the Fourth was celebrated with play in many events on the golf course. The club house looked more attractive than ever in its dress of American colors, and altogether a most successful time resulted, while the members and their friends fully enjoyed the many social features, including the many dinners and the orchestra concert, as well as the various competitions. Because of the East Jersey Lawn Tennis Association tournament at Roselle, the tennis planned for the day on the local courts was given up.

Probably the greatest interest centered in the first play for the club championship at golf. From among a number of players a qualifying eight was selected, and there was also play for a consolation cup and the third eight cup. This was the result of the play:

The semi-finals in these three matches will be played off Saturday, and the finals the following Saturday.

Another event of great interest was the all-day play for the Independence Day cup. This was won by P. C. Langdon with a net score of 70. The scores:

CLARK HOUSE LICENSE TRANSFERRED TO SONS

COUNCILMAN TYLER'S UNSUCCESSFUL FIGHT.

When Councilman Tyler, as chairman of the license committee, reported back the application of Mrs. Anna Clark, executrix of the late Bernard Clark, asking that the liquor license held by her late husband be transferred to her sons, John and Frank Clark, at the regular meeting of the Common Council Monday night, he moved that the same be refused. In doing so he referred to his ordinance introduced some time ago and now on the table, which provides for restricting the saloon area.

Mr. Tyler expressed his regrets that the ordinance was not now in force, so that the Common Council could take advantage of it and exclude this licensed place which that ordinance provides. He said that he hoped that although the ordinance was not in force, the members would catch the spirit of it and refuse the application.

Councilman Frank Randolph took exception to Mr. Tyler's remarks and said that the license should be transferred, that it would be robbery to take the money for it and then refuse to make the transfer.

Mr. Murphy thought that if the transfer was to be made, it should be to one person instead of two, and he offered an amendment to that effect, but it was not adopted, although William Newcorn, Esq., counsel for the Clarks, agreed to the change.

At Mr. Gloak's suggestion, Mr. Newcorn was given the privilege of the floor.

Mr. Bullock considered the matter a technical one at the best and by the transfer he could not see that the status was changed.

The question, on Mr. Gloak's motion, made early in the discussion, that the license be transferred, was called for, and it was adopted, Councilmen Daniel, Bullock, Gloak, Higham, Hibbard, Charles C. Randolph and Frank Randolph voting in the affirmative and Councilmen Murphy and Tyler in the negative.

School Election Tame.

Just twenty-five votes were cast at the borough Board of Education special election for the issuance of $4,000 school bonds Monday night. There was no opposition and the board can now go ahead with its arrangements for furnishing the new school. James R. Joy acted as chairman at the meeting and Fernando Ward was secretary.

FIX PUBLIC HEARINGS

Council to Give Interested Citizens Chance to Talk on Proposed Improvements.

ALL ON AUGUST 17.

To Clean Cedar Brook and Richmond Street Storm Sewer—To Widen Several Streets.

Just as the Common Council was about to adjourn at the regular meeting on Monday night, it being Mr. Gloak's intention to introduce several street matters at the adjourned session, President Daniel thought it would be just as well to finish up the business while the members were in session, thus obviating the trouble of holding another meeting this month.

The first matter introduced by Mr. Gloak was a resolution fixing Monday night, August 7, as the time for a public hearing on the proposed action of widening and deepening Cedar Brook, in accordance with plans already prepared. The cost for the improvement is to be borne by the property owners benefited.

Mr. Tyler wanted to know if the ordinance had been drafted yet, and when informed that it had not been, he said he thought it would be better to wait and have the ordinance prepared first. Mr. Gloak took exception, saying that the matter had been held up long enough. He thought it was time to act before the corporation counsel goes away and makes further delay possible. The resolution, amended to authorize the city clerk to send a personal notification to each property owner interested, was adopted.

Another very important matter introduced by Mr. Gloak was an ordinance providing for the installation of a storm sewer in Richmond street, proposed a long time ago. This is to be a separate sewer and drain with three outlets at East Fifth street and three on South avenue, which, it is believed, will relieve that scetion in heavy rains. The cost, which will be about $2,000, is to be paid for out of a general tax, and Monday night, August 7, is the time fixed for a public hearing.

In connection with this Mr. Tyler referred to the proposed storm sewer in Plainfield avenue, and said he was willing to let the Richmond street sewer go through if the one in Plainfield avenue was shown equal consideration. It is proposed to expend about $2,000 on the Plainfield avenue sewer.

Mr. Gloak offered another resolution calling for a public hearing on the proposed widening of Sycamore street, between Fourth and Fifth streets. This will be held on Monday night, August 7, as will also the public hearings on the proposed opening of Stebbins place, between Second and Fourth streets, and the proposed widening of Park avenue, between Second street and the railroad, resolutions to that effect being offered by Mr. Gloak and adopted by the Common Council.

Still another resolution by Mr. Gloak provided that the city flagg its property at 921-925 Park avenue. The resolution was adopted, all voting in the affirmative except President Daniel.

A FINE OUTING.

Plainfielders Entertained at Hamden Over the Fourth.

Following their yearly custom, a party of boroughites, including Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Force and their daughter, Miss Lillian A. Force, paid a visit to Mrs. J. F. Grandin, Hamden, Hunterdon county, over the Fourth. They left here Saturday and returned today, after being most pleasantly entertained by Mrs. Grandin and her two accomplished daughters, Miss Todd and Miss Grandin. The Grandin home, which is one of the most modern in romantic Hunterdon, presented an Independence Day appearance. The verandas and dining room, particularly, being adorned in National colors. At the enjoyable Fourth of July dinner dainty and appropriate souvenirs were a feature.

During the day group pictures of the visitors were taken and outdoor games, including fairy bowling and croquet, were played. A fireworks display at night ended the festivities.

Dinner Party for Nephew.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Clark, of West Seventh street, gave a dinner party at the Park Club, last night, for their nephew, Hugh G. Baldwin. Covers were laid for ten, and the guests were the Misses Hooley, McCutcheon and Northrup, and Messrs. Cooley, Hallock and Brokaw.

Home From Philippines.

Boardman Drake, son of T. B. Drake, of Duer street, has returned home after an absence of several years in the Philippines.

YESTERDAY'S ACCIDENTS

One Man Loses His Right Hand as Result of Cannon Cracker Explosions

SOME MINOR CASES.

Many Receive Severe Burns—Big Fire Crackers and Toy Cannons Cause Trouble.

Several accident cases, due to Fourth of July celebration, were received at Muhlenberg Hospital yesterday and today, and these, together with the other cases, made the day a busy one for the nurses.

Fred Potter, aged 44 years, of Annandale, allowed a giant firecracker to explode in his right hand, inflicting injuries which necessitated the amputation of the hand at the wrist. The man reached the hospital at 7 o'clock last night.

Martin Gillman, aged 10 years, of New street, suffered severe burns about the face and hands yesterday, a quantity of gunpowder exploding while he was setting off firecrackers. He is still at the hospital.

George Penny, aged 16 years, was fooling with a toy pistol, a cartridge exploded prematurely and wounded a finger.

George Stephens, aged 15 years, of Watchung, was discharging a home-made cannon at his home this morning, when he was burned about the arms and eyes. Dr. Dundon gave temporary treatment and sent the patient to the hospital. His burns are superficial.

The wadding of a blank cartridge buried itself in the hand of Frank O'Brien, of Manson place, inflicting an ugly wound. He was taken to Dr. Cregar and the physician took every precaution to prevent blood poisoning or tetanus.

Edward Galbraith, of West Third street, approached too close to a lighted cannon cracker and the explosion burned him severely about the head and face.

Willie Sears, of Liberty street, inadvertently dropped a lighted fire cracked in his coat pocket. His hands were painfully burned in his efforts to put out the resulting fire.

Miss Kate Innis, of West Third street, picked up a cannon cracker that was supposed to have gone out. It hadn't. She will nurse badly burned hands for some time.

DAAB CLEAR OF THE NATIONAL AGREEMENT

GETS WORD HE CAN HAVE HIS CHECK BACK—BLANKET REPLY.

Manager Daab will get his $500 check back and his release from the National agreement. In a blanket reply from Garry Herrman, covering the matter of National and American leaguers going into games with outlaws, the jump of Rube Oldring to Montgomery, Alabama, and the forfeit money, he was informed that he could have his check back if he insisted by writing to the secretary of the National Commission. Mr. Daab, with rare presence of mind, immediately insisted.

Respecting the commingling of leaguers and outlaws in this vicinity, the commission said boldly that it would try to stop it, if its attention were called to violations, after the first offense. In Oldring's case the commission shrugs its shoulders and blandly intimates that Daab will have to lose Rube unless the latter gets a hankering to return.

Mrs. Emily Cornell.

Mrs. Emily Cornell, widow of William Cornell, died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Alonzo Aldrich, of Sherman avenue, after a long illness. She was in her ninety-fifth year and came to Plainfield from New York. The funeral will be held from Mrs. Aldrich's residence tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

Church to be Flat Building.

Aleck Kane, who bought the Fillmore Avenue Baptist church and spent as much as the purchase price in getting possession of the structure, has decided to turn it into flats. The work is to start at once. Kane has also purchased the old parish house of Grace church and will commence tearing it down tomorrow.

Negress Fined.

Agnes Holmes, colored, was fined $5 in the city court this morning for quarreling with Emma Burgess, also colored. She was charged with hitting the Burgess woman with the butt of a buggy whip.

TWO MORE ON THE LIST

Newburgh's Drop Both Ends of Double-Header Here.

A NO-HIT GAME.

Beck Pitches in Record-making Shape in Morning Contest—Hipkins' Bubble Busted in Afternoon.

Continuing their new winning streak, the Daab myrmidons took both halves of the double header from the Newburghs, of New York, yesterday. Neither game came hard, the afternoon contest being as easy as the usual Saturday runfests.

In the morning game Plainfield shut out the New Yorkers 5 to 0. Beck accomplished the no-hit flinging feat, the first time the stunt has been pulled off on the grounds. Fast fielding helped to hang up the record.

The afternoon contest was largely a matter of busting the Great Hipkins Bubble. Last Sunday Hipkins, with the Bostons back of him held the Daabsters down to three hits in Hoboken. McGrath put him in yesterday afternoon and expected him to do the same trick, only more so. The score was 11 to 3, and it represents largely what happened to Mr. Hipkins.

There was nothing much outside of the Hon. W. Beck's flinging in the morning game. The opposing athletes never had a look in at the hit game. In six innings they died one-two-three, and never a man of them reached third. Bill fanned six of them and passed up only two. With the aid of Old Sol, Bill further distinguished himself by peeling off a Texas leaguers. It fell safe while five husky and willing athletes gazed in silent awe at the heart of the beautiful sunshine.

There was never any doubt of the way the game would end after the second, when the Daabsters peeled off three marks on Leonard's single to left, a steal, Driscoll's saunter, Beck's sun-kissed welt and steal and Kiernan's rap to centre. The Daabsters did not rip Metcalf to bits exactly, but they went at him in a businesslike way that spelled ruin.

Metcalf was not blessed with the brightest kind of gilt-edge support, and the other two tallies were pushrunning catches, and Mike Leonard nailed an old fashioned screecher.

Among the special features must be mentioned the presence of C. Denman, great chief of Westfield, on the bench, and a cosy little bunch of villagers from up the line in the grandstand. They looked friendly, but watched Bill's flinging with dubious sighs.

Hipkins was hit freely in the afternoon game, and he helped the bumps with two costly wild throws. The Plainfields got to him in the third, scoring two runs on three bunched hits and a sacrifice. They scored again in the next stanza, three marks going up on some passes issued by Mr. Hipkins and a small packet of singles.

Deegan pitched superb ball until the sixth. At that stage we were 6 to 0, and Deegan let up. He slowed down so perceptibly that even the hated rivals saw it and the welts that were made evoked no gurgles of satisfaction. McGrath started the marking for the Newburghers with a single to centre. Donahue put one to right, and they came in on Brogan's hit to centre. They got their last tally in the eighth on McGrath's single to right, Deegan's balk and Donahue's long fly.

Mike Leonard again covered himself with hurrah, and Cregan made a sensational catch in deep field. Driscoll stained a fine and spotless record with a fumble of a thrown ball. It wasn't a pretty throw, but it slapped his first error on the hitherto untainted average.

WADSWORTH SCHOOL SOLD FOR $7,500

MRS. BABCOCK MAKES PART PAYMENT OF $5,000 DONATION.

At its regular meeting, Monday night, the city Board of Education formally passed the sale of the Wadsworth school property to John B. Cottrell, of New York. It was specified that the deed should be given him on July 17 and that the price to be paid is $7,500, instead of $7,000, as at first reported. In the contract drawn up it was mentioned that the deal had been made by J. T. Vail and that he is to get $187.50 as his commission.

During the meeting, several slight changes were made in plans for the new High School and it was reported by Supervisor Morse that there is every prospect of its being completed by November 1. The work is progressing nicely and, Mr. Morse said, "in a more thorough manner than any building he had ever watched over." A communication was received from Mrs. George Babcock enclosing a check for $2,000, the first installment of the $5,000 she is to give for the fitting up of the Babcock laboratory.

Charles W. Smith, of West Front street, made application for the appointment of engineer of the new building and Jesse M. Scull was transferred from the janitorship at the Wadsworth building to the Bryant building.

COUNCIL'S ROUTINE WORK

Ordinance For Sewer Bed Extension Passes to Third Reading.

MAYOR'S APPOINTMENTS

Three Special Policemen—Unsanitary Condition of Tier's Pond to be Remedied.

Suspending the regular order of business, Mr. Gloak introduced the ordinance for the proposed improvements of the sewage beds, at the meeting of the Common Council Monday night. It was adopted on first and second readings and ordered advertised, after an opportunity had been given anyone present to speak for or against the improvement. This ordinance refers to the work for which a contract was awarded to Richards & Gaston at the June meeting. No one spoke for or against the ordinance and it will be adopted on final reading at the next regular meeting.

Rev. Scott Wallace, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, asked the Common Council to remit a 1904 tax of $75.60 assessed on the church property and to return $86.45 paid in taxes in November, 1904, to prevent a sale of the property. The reason given for imposing the tax was that during the periods mentioned it was claimed that the National Provident Loan Company was the owner of the property, while Pastor Wallace claims that is simply held the deed for the property temporarily, pending the payment of a loan. The matter was referred to the finance committee.

Residents of Midway avenue, below Netherwood avenue, asked to have that thoroughfare levelled off to permit building and the establishment of the proper building lines. The matter was referred to the street committee, and a petition for three electric lights on West Third street, between Halsey street and Clinton avenue, will be considered by the light committee.

Health Officer Leon R. Thurlow called the attention of the Common Council to the unsanitary condition of Tier's pond, owing to the prevalance of mud and slime. He said that Charles J. Fisk, president of the Board of Health, had suggested that the work of making the pond be undertaken by the city and the expense divided among the property-owners affected. This matter was referred to the public affairs committee.

Mayor Buckle appointed Charles A. Peterson, Theodore Martin and John H. Conroy as special patrolmen, Pierre Moore as dog catcher and Charles A. Peterson as poundkeeper, and the Common Council confirmed the appointments.

City Judge William N. Runyon's half-yearly report showed that there had been 284 arrests during that time and $271 collected in fines, out of which $32.70 had been paid to Chief Kiely for expenses. The balance was turned over to the city treasurer.

Building Inspector T. O. Doane reported the granting of twenty-six permits during June.

Mr. Murphy offered a resolution, which was adopted, transferring $5,000 from the general fund to the fire fund and $2,000 from the general fund to the poor fund.

Another resolution by Mr. Murphy authorized the city clerk to draw a warrant for $63,613.43 in favor of W. F. Arnold, custodian of school money, it representing the amount received from the last sale of school bonds, completing the sum of $125,000, the cost of the new High School building.

Mr. Murphy recommended the granting of an electric light on Grant avenue, between Sherman avenue and Eighth street, as petitioned for and the recommendation was adopted.

FIREMAN INJURED.

James Mowry Fell Beneath Wheels of Hose Truck.

A false alarm of fire rung in from box 153 in the borough, Monday night, brought the department out on a wild-goose chase and as is generally the case in "fake" runs, resulted in accident. James Mowry, a call man, attempted to jump on the hose wagon as it was leaving the house and fell beneath the wheels. One of them passed over his knee cap and he sustained a severe bruise that was at first thought to be a break. He was cared for by Dr. Dundon and was afterward taken to his home.

The box is located at Giraud and Myrtle avenues and is the one from which a false alarm frequently comes on Hallowe'en and the night before the Fourth. It is thought to have been done by boys and Chief Woolston is conducting an investigation.

Rowland Rockfellow, of this city, is spending his two weeks' vacation with his mother at Cardinal, Va.

BAKING DAY
The day when all good things, cakes, pies, bread and cookies are to be baked is a real joy to the young housewife who uses a Gas Range. She has no fear that her cake will burn in too hot an oven or spoil in one too cool. A turn of the stop-cock insures just the proper heat. If there is room, vegetables may be boiled in the oven on baking day, thus saving fuel. To be sure of the best results in this method, the vegetables should come to a boil over one of the top burners before going into the oven.

TRANSFER ORPHAN HOME

Asylum at Newark to be Abandoned for Mountainside Resort.

DR. COLE'S GIFT.

Place to be Fitted Up—Plan to Make it the Permanent Home.

It is probable that the new summer home for the little inmates of the Newark City Orphan Asylum, at Mountainside, which, with twenty acres of land, has been given to the institution outright by Dr. J. Ackerman Coles, of Scotch Plains, as a memorial to his mother and her sister, will in a few years be converted into a permanent home, and the present city building in Newark disposed of. As yet, the proposition is only being discussed, and many of the managers hold to the belief that it would be most unwise ever to give up the present quarters, as the site has been used for an asylum for fifty-six years. Still others are of the belief that the wiser course would be to give the little children the benefits of the country, and tha the Newark Orphan Asylum might better be transferred entirely to Mountainside, just as the New York Asylum has been transferred to Hastings.

The home, as it is as present, is far from being large enough to accommodate the 100 or more inmates. Plans have been made for the erection of two wings, both of which will be larger than the present house. It is expected that the contracts for the erection of these wings will be signed within the next few days, and that within a fortnight the actual work of putting them up will be begun.

The children, who, as announced, were brought to the home Thursday, are having the time of their lives. The farm has special attractions for children, including cherry trees, apple trees and other fruit trees, grape arbors, barns and henhouses, and best of all a little brook, which is quite too shallow to be a danger and quite deep enough for the tots to have a splendid time. The children had not been in their new quarters half an hour Thursday before their shoes and stockings were off and they had gloried in the delights of "paddling."

When it was found that the new additions could not be put up in time to accommodate the children this summer, Dr. Coles purchased the old Methodist church, which is close by the house, and the little schoolhouse there, where Martha Lamb, sister of the historian, once taught school, and gave the use of these buildings. The former was converted into a dormitory for the boys, the pews being removed, and fifty of the white enamel beds, 125 of which Dr. Coles presented to the institution, set up. Here the older boys are housed, the "baby boys," of whom there are ten, being kept in the main house. The schoolhouse has been transformed into a hospital, refinished inside with white pine, and here the children will be taken in case of sickness, there being a trained nurse at the home.

The new home will be known as the Mountainside Memorial Home, instead of the Coles Memorial Home, as was first intended. The additions are to be made on both sides at the rear, and will enlarge the institution so that it will be almost four times its present size. The plans, which are being prepared by W. Frank Bower, architect, call for a thoroughly modern building. The present structure is three stories high, but the additions will be two stories. The front of the old building will be altered to conform to the design of the finished structure. Large columns will grace the front of the structure and will support an observation room on the second floor. Two white marble lions will be placed on suitable pedestals at either side of the main entrance. There are to be two dormitories, with accommodations for about 125 children. Commodious dining, reception and game rooms are to be installed. There will also be a nursery and kindergarten and a large schoolroom.

Each of the extensions to be built are to be forty feet wide and about seventy feet long.

In one of the new winge is to be located the children's dining-room, which will be finished in white enamel. In this room will be erected a memorial window for Mrs. Abraham Coles, the mother of the donor of the home.

Beside the splendid gift of the property and the proposed new additions, Dr. Coles has furnished the home beautifully. He gave the new bedsteads, feather pillows, tables, chairs, cutlery and dishes.

The road which goes by the house is much used by automobiles. Near the approach to the property, either way, Dr. Coles has had suspended red flags, with a large warning: "Look out for the children." To further protect them he has had built beneath the bridge, which at this point carries the road over the brook, a low platform, beneath the bridge, which the children call their "subway," and which maks it possible for them to cross the brook without going over the road.

There are a large number of farm buildings on the place, including the barn, hen-houses and the workshop. It is probable that in the future there will be another workshop erected where the boys of the institution may study manual training and other industrial branches. The farm is quite extensive. A farmer was secured to work the twenty acres early in the spring, and the asylum has been using the fresh radishes and lettuce from their own grounds. There will be plenty of other vegetables, especially potatoes and corn. The older boys will have a share in this garden work, now that they are on the premises.

The local baker who has supplied the institution with bread for several years will continue to do so. One hundred loaves a day are consumed, and fifty quarts of milk are used, to be supplide by a farmer in the vicinity.

Some of the boys had never climbed a tree until they got to the farm Thursday. There happen to be a large number of cheryr trees on the place, with the fruit just about ripe, and no doubt by this time all the lads are expert tree climbers.

One of the boys discovered the spring, not far from the house. The water was cold and clear, and the boy, never having seen a spring before, went running back to the house with an old tomato can he had discovered filled to the brim with the water, and crying: "There's a hole in the ground over here with ice water in it."

TIMELY TOPICS DISCUSSED BY PLAINFIELDERS

—WRITTEN BY REQUEST FOR THE DAILY PRESS—

NO. 3—How the Plainfield Public Library Serves the Public,

By Miss Emma L. Adams, Librarian.

"Wot's this here Lib'y fur?" The question was asked by a small but indignant seeker of fiction who, upon being told by the desk clerk that neither "The Gory Galoot of the Gaultees," nor yet "Mike Mulligan, the masher," were in the Library, turned sadly away with his faith in libraries forever shattered. Had he come to this Library the story would have ended differently. Our desk assistant, with the wisdom of the serpent, would not have let him go away until she had found for him some book a good deal better than that for which he had asked, one which, by experience, she had found to be dear to the average boy's heart. And a few days later he would have returned with "Say, this is great, have you got another like it?" And so he would come to recognize that even though a Library may not contain either of his once favorite masterpieces, it may yet have an excuse for being, and his question would have been partly answered. For one of the things, and one of the most important, that a Library is for, is to help the children.

Opportunities for help are many, and children soon come to regard those at the desk as friends. Library workers themselves feel that the most hopeful work is with the child, or, as Phillips Brooks somewhere expresses it, "He who helps a child helps humanity with a distinctness, with an immediateness, which no other help given to human creatures in any other stage of their human life can possibly give again."

"Have you any first reader books? My little brother can only read books with first reader words, but (proudly), I can read books with second reader words." This question, asked a day or so ago, shows at how early an age children come to us. It has been found necessary to supply books "for young people of all ages," as Mark Twain has it. Histories, books of adventure, picture books, plenty of good stories, and books that tell how to make things, all find a place in the children's department. If a boy wants to build a canoe, or a girl wants "a piece to speak," or what not, they come to the Library. Sometimes the questions asked seem a little out of our jurisdiction, as that of a small girl who wanted to know "if she might take her wheel in the park, if she didn't ride it?"

Much of this work comes from the close connection between school and library, and the demands for illustrative material that modern educational methods make. Is some period or country to be studied? The Library places at the teacher's disposal such books as are best adapted for the purpose. These are passed freely about in the class room, and one sees at once how much more such a lesson in history or geography means than when the uninspiring textbook was the sole source of information.

"Traveling libraries" are also sent to more distant schools with excellent results, the school acting as a distributing center. This system is also in use at the Potter Press Works and the Library stands ready to further extend it, wherever it may be found practicable.

In fact, to either groups of people, or individuals, engaged in special work, the Library offers special privileges. Does a councilman wish to inform himself as to the experience of other towns in, for example, municipal ownership of public utilities, or the social worker on the need of a woman's reformatory in New Jersey, is the Boys' Debating Club to settle the question of capital punishment? The Library stands ready to supply the material either in books or in magazine articles. It will also supply to any club or individual taking up a special study, a reading list of its material on that subject. For this, application should be made to the librarian. The Library is largely used in this way, and its reference department consulted by persons in all works of life, and while questions are sometimes brought to us which a doctor or lawyer could answer better than books, and while we can by no means find answers to all the questions asked, we endeavor to keep a good supply of indexes and other bibliographical aids, and to place at the disposal of all who come to us our little index learning, which, as Pope says:

"turns no student pale,
And holds the eel of science by the tail."

The Library exists for the public, and it is both our duty and pleasure to serve the needs of the public in every way possible.

And then our delivery work, how interesting and varied and democratic it is! What stories some of our books could tell of the homes they have visited from the time they are placed fresh and clean on the shelves until, with broken backs and otherwise quite disreputable appearance, their service is over and they are honorably discharged.

"Please pick out an exciting book for my husband," "Have you a good book on stair construction?" "My little boy will read nothing but Castlemon; can't you suggest something better?" "I want a book that will give me designs for doors and windows." "Please give me a story that ends well," "I want a recent article on the X-rays," "What is the best thing you have on steel construction?" "I have to write a five-minute paper on the culture of ancient Egypt and how it compares with that of all other ages and countries, please give me something concise," and so it goes. And when at the close of a particularly busy day, someone says, "It must be perfectly lovely to be in a library, and have so much time to read, the desk clerk, acutely conscious of piles of books still to be replaced, and as many more in the repair closet awaiting attention, tries to look pleasant and to possess her soul in patience.

These are but little side glimpses of the work of our Library, but we hope they may serve to illustrate how the Library serves the public. Broadly, the aim is, as the motto of the American Library Association has it, to provide "The best reading, for the largest number, at the least cost," and this we try to do by careful selection, convenience or arrangement and cataloging, abandonment of red tape, and by personal aid.

Plainfield, N. J., July 5, 1905.

The white-winged dove of peace is hovering over the land—Charlie Denman.

Notice to the "white-winged dove" —keep out of range of C. Denman or you'll be potpie.

In an address delivered before the Pacific Coast Advertising Men's Association the manager of a San Francisco department store said that "there are two things necessary in order to get results from advertising—first, have a good thing to sell, and then talk about it in a way that will make people want to buy it." The speaker overlooked a third essential of which every advertising man is cognizant. The good thing must be invitingly described where the description will be read. The most alluring "ad" ever written is of small value in a waste of paper basket. The department store manager should have said: "Have a good thing to sell, talk about it in a way that will make people want to buy it, and do your talking through a daily newspaper of high standing and large circulation."—Ex.

Dr. George B. McClellan, like many other observant men all over the land, sees what danger there is in the fads and frills in the public schools of today. Mayor McClellan found his opportunity yesterday to speak on the subject. His remarks were addressed to the National gathering of teachers at Asbury Park. Incidently he said:

"Public education cannot hope to make specialists. It can only hope to prepare children to in time become specialists. As the requirements of modern conditions change so the requirements needed to meet modern conditions change. The three R's of yesterday may not necessarily be the three R's of today. But, there are certain fundamental subjects that every one must know, and know well, if success in after life is to be hoped for. These fundamentals are the same all over the world. However much opinions may differ as to what should constitute a liberal or fundamental education, there should be no difference of opinions as to what should form the groundwork. You have a great opportunity here in this convention, you who make education your life work, to agree upon what these fundamentals should be, and then, by educating public sentiment, to cause their adoption as the three R's throughout the United States. I do not believe that any one can be overeducated. But pardon me if I again confess to being old-fashioned. I do not believe that any one can be educated who has not at least a smattering of the three R's. It may possibly serve some mysteriously useful purpose to teach twolve-year-old boys, who cannot read even the simplest English, to sew buttons on shirts, or to drill girls of the same age, to whom the rule of three is unknown, in the theory but not in the practice of music, and cooking for both are often bracketed together in out school curricula. But the ignorant outsider who is excluded from the Parnassus of 'educational circles' may be permitted to wonder at the wherefore of it all. It is anything but flattering to ous 'standards of local administration' that the products of our urban public schools seldom succeed at either West Point or Annapolis. Run through a list of the honor men at both academies, and while you will often find among them the products of private institutions, you will find that the vast majority come from the little cross-road country school-house, whose simple-minded teacher—God bless her!—has had no other working capital at her command than a fair knowledge of the three R's, which she has conscientiously imparted to her pupils."

City Treasurer William F. Arnold and his family are spendinb the summer at the Felmly farm, Lebanon, Hunterdon county. Mr. and Mrs. George Odiorne, of Central avenue, are also spending the summer at the same place.

KING AS DIRECTOR OF UNION'S FREEHOLDERS

CONSIDERED AS THE LOGICAL CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED J. F. HUBBARD

Benjamin King, director pro tem. of the Board of Freeholders of Union county, is considered generally among the members of that body as the logical candidate to fill permanently the position of director made vacant by the death of J. Franklin Hubbard, of this city, who died last week.

This is only the third time in over twenty years that the Board of Freeholders has been called upon to select a director, the late incumbent holding that position for two decades, each year, with the exception of the term during which John S. Sauer, of Elizabeth, served. The consensus of opinion among the members is that Benjamin King, who has been a member of the board since 1892, should have that position, not only until next election, but permanently. He is a Republican, and a Republican held that office before. It is improbable that a newly elected man will be placed in that position, and it is not likely that Noah Woodruff, of Roselle, will be given that office, because he is of the opposite political faith. Elizabeth will not be given the directorship because of the expected contest for the shrievalty among Elizabeth, Cranford and Summit this fall.

Benjamin King has lived in Clark township since 1871, coming to this State from Brooklyn. He is employed by the American Felt Company as superintendent of its mills at Pieton. His first political position was as clerk of the Board of Education in Clark township, and he has been a member of that body for fifteen years. He served two terms as township collector, three terms as a member of the township committee, one term of which he was chairman. He is still a member of that committee.

ORPHANS' HOME OPENED.

Exercises Held at Mountainside Asylum.

The Newark Orphan Asylum's country home at Mountainside, the gift of Dr. J. Ackerman Coles, of Scotch Plains, was formally opened yesterday. The exercises were attended by a large gathering of interested persons from Newark, Orange, Westfield, Scotch Plains and this city. An address of welcome was given by Rev. T. Moore-Smith, of Scotch Plains, and the children sang "The Star Spangled Panner" while a handsome flag was being raised. There were other addresses and recitations and songs by the children before the close.

The home is in every way adapted to the needs of the children, and will greatly aid the officers of the society in their work. Following the exercises the attendants were shown about the building.

Mrs. William Leek, of Fifth street, entertained Miss Laura Lee over the Fourth.

NEW MARKET CELEBRATES

Thousands of Patriotic Folk Join Juniors in Vail's Grove.

MANY CONTESTS HELD

Races and Tug-of-War—Oration by a Veteran Newspaper Man —Fireworks at Night.

Nearly 4,000 people attended the celebration held in Vail's Grove, New Market, yesterday afternoon and evening, under the auspices of Friendship Council, Jr. O. U. A. M. The observance was a revival of the old-fashioned celebrations that used to make New Market the great place on the Fourth hereabouts, and the success that attended it makes it certain that the old-time celebrations will be reinstituted as yearly events.

The exercises opened at 2 o'clock. The grove was filled by that time, many Juniors from this city, Scotch Plains, New Brunswick and other nearby places swelling the crowd. The village was aflutter with flags and bunting from end to end. F. P. Vail's house, which stands near the grove, was almost hidden under a mast of red, white and blue.

There was a long programme of sports, both land and equatic. The events went off and were won as follows:

Boat race—Edson Davis, first; John Thornton, second; William Piddington, third; Charles Rogers, fourth.

Tub race—Edson Davis, first; John Thornton, second.

Swimming race—Edson Davis, first; John Thornton, second.

Catching the Duck—Won by Edson Davis.

Shoe race—Walter Nelson, first; Edson Davis, second; John Thornton, third.

Wheelbarrow race—Walter Nelson, first; John Thornton, second; James Dunham, third.

Tug-of-war—Won by Terence Quinn, captain; Fred Krause, Lee Perrine and Robert Randolph, against Theodore Voorhees, captain, Joseph Kelly, Peter Henry and Charles Voorhees.

Egg race—Earl Fulton, first; Edson Davis; second, Richard Hammond, colored, third; John Thornton, fourth.

Three-legged race—Walter Nelson and Bert Fletcher, first; Edson Davis and John Nelson, second.

Barrel race—Walter Nelson, first; John Thornton, second.

Hoop race—William Elliott, first; Joseph Gallagher, second; Sylvester Rinehart, third.

Charles S. Day was starter and Charles Rogers was judge. There were no prizes but the winners received great and intoxicating quantities of applause.

The oration was delivered by Col. Darwin C. Pavey, a Boston newspaper man and veteran, who recently joined the staff of the Dunellen Call. Col. Pavey is a veteran of the platform as well as of the war, and his address was full of resonant and rounded periods of the approved Fourth of July kind. He was cheered and applauded with patriotic fervor.

There was an elaborate display of fireworks at night. C. T. Rogers was in charge.

The committee of arrangements comprised Charles S. Day, F. F. Randolph and H. J. Piddington.

Floyd T. Woodhull and family opened their lodge on Halsey Island, Lake Hopatcong, last Saturday.

Miss B. Faber and Miss Jessie Adler, of New York, are guests of Miss Faber's brother, H. M. Faber, of the Hotel Iroquois.

Among the registrations at the Clifton House, Patchogue, L. I., are the following Plainfielders: Mrs. Mary C. Moore, Miss Carolyn Moore, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Clifton and Miss Louise Jenkins.

Miss Anna M. Day, principal of the Whittier grammar school, has been spending her summer vacation up to this time at Felmly's Farm, Lebanon. She will leave tomorrow to take a course in the Harvard summer school.

WEST END SPLITS EVEN.

"Brit" Martin Makes a Home Run.

The new West End A. C. opened the season on Cammann Field at Somerville yesterday and broke even in the two games played. The morning contest against the Bayonne A. C. was lost by a score of 7 to 6, and in the afternoon the home team defeated the Clark O. N. T. nine by a score of 7 to 6. With the score 6 to 4 in favor of the visitors in the ninth inning, "Brit" Martin pounded out a homer, sending two runs in ahead of him, winning the game. Galbraith, the Gettysburg crack, pitched steady ball. The scores:

CANNON FOR COURT HOUSE.

Historic Gun to Be Mounted by Sons of American Revolution.

General J. Madison Drake, through a communication to the Elizabeth Council on Saturday night, asked to be relieved of the care of the old cannon brought to Elizabeth after the capture of Stony Point, and suggested that the gun be transferred to Elizabethtown Chapter, Sons of the American Revolution, to mount it on the lawn in front of the Court House in Elizabeth. The suggestion was acted upon favorably. The cannon was cast in Strasburg, France, in 1756, and was used by Montcalm in the defense of Quebec, where it was captured by the English.

Three Harvard lawn tennis players, W. M. Tilden, F. F. de Rham and Bernon S. Prentice, sailed Friday on the steamship Celtic to play in tournaments in Germany and Scotland. Mr. Prentice, who was graduated this year, while in college successfully captained the tennis team, playing in the doubles with Mr. de Rham. Other Harvard men who sailed on the Celtic were R. Windsor, Jr., M. Tilden, Jr., Russell Sard, James Lowery and Dudley Howe, all 1905 seniors, and Le Roy King, George Burnett, Leland Harrison and Harold Vanderbilt, all juniors.

COYNE CRITICALLY ILL.

Assemblyman Suffering from Brain Trouble.

Assemblyman Edward S. Coyne is lying seriously ill at his home in Elizabeth, and by order of his physician, Dr. James S. Green, no one is allowed to see him except the members of his family. Mr. Coyne last January was elected chairman of the Union County Republican Executive Committee, to succeed Hamilton Kean, who declined a renomination.

His health trouble practically date back to last fall, when he was stricken with appendicitis. An operation had been performed on him at the Elizabeth General Hospital not a day too soon to save his life. At the very moment that he was nominated by acclamation in the Republican county convention he lay hovering between life and death in the hospital from the effects of the operation. It was several hours before the crisis was over.

He rapidly improved, and some weeks later was able to leave the institution. Several weeks ago he was attacked with a severe form of diphtheria. Antitoxin was successfully administered and the disease conquered. Rheumatism in a very painful form, however, then attacked the patient, and also partial paralysis of the throat and tongue set in, together with lung fever. The latter has been overcome, together with the paralysis, but the Assemblyman is now suffering from brain trouble and nervous prostration and most of the time is delirious.

TEACHERS DON'T LIKE ANTI-FRILL ADDRESS

MAYOR M'CLELLAN OF NEW YORK STIRS UP EDUCATORS AT ASBURY PARK

Clear skies, a monstrous throng, bubbling patriotism and the diversions of a seaside resort filled with special atractions, helped to dampen the arbor of intellectual discussion among the educators attending the National Educational Association convention at Asbury Park yesterday.

The department meetings in the morning were fairly well attended, but there was a large and significant display of vacant space at the patriotic session in the Ocean Grove auditorium yesterday afternoon. Nevertheless, Mayor George B. McClellan, of New York city, the principal speaker of the day, faced a large audience when he spoke upon the "Standard of Local Administration."

A thrill of astonishment swept through the building when the speaker stamped his official frown upon the "frills and fads." The mayor's address was in substance an eulogy of the country schoolmaster and the ancient standard of common school learning. At the hotel last night and wherever the educators gathered in groups, his sentiments were generally condemned.

Last night public receptions were held at the several State headquarters. A general reception and musical was the feature in the auditorium. On the beach there was a grand display of fireworks in honor of the visitors. The exhibition was witnessed by 75,000 people.

ENUMERATORS PAID BY THE COUNTY

CENSUS TAKERS LOOKING FORWARD TO TIME WHEN THEIR SHIP COMES IN.

"Anyone who imagines that we census enumerators are living on the munificent wages we have piled up in the past two or three weeks is away off," said the census taker. "Why, we have not seen a cent of money yet, and though we know it is as good as gold and better, we would like to feel the color of it."

When surprise was expressed at this fact, the enumerator replied, "You probably forget that we are working for the State, but directly for the county, and so receive our pay from the Board of Freeholders.

"How soon, you ask," said the enumerator with a smile, "Well in perhaps a month or six week, but probably not before the list has had a final presentation to the Secretary of State. We are paid by getting two cents for every name we enroll, while the supervisor gets a penny a name for tabulating the returns."

TO SEE ROOSEVELT.

Big Excursion From Elizabeth to Asbury Park Friday.

Next Friday will no doubt witness the largest gathering of colored people that ever took place at Asbury Park, the occasion being the presence of President Roosevelt, who will address the National Educational Convention.

Colored excursions from all over the State have been arranged, and so great is the desire to see the President that the day will practically be a holiday for the colored people of the State.

Headquarters for the colored excursionists who will go from Elizabeth, Westfield and Plainfield, under the auspices of the Union and Shiloh Baptist churches at Elizabeth, have been engaged near the railroad station in the colored settlement. A large hall will be used for the purpose and the Rev. Dr. Drumgould, of Asbury Park, will be in charge.

Meals at moderate rates will be served the excursionists. Besides, there will be convenience for rest and such other accommodations as may be necessary on occasions of this kind.

Rev. Dr. W. P. Lawrence and Rev. W. H. Taylor, pastors of the Union Baptist and Shiloh churches, respectively, say they expect at least 2,000 persons will be carried on their excursion from this county.

TWO WIVES?

Contest Over the Estate of a Millstone Man.

The contest in the estate of the late Stephen Whitmore, of Millstone, who left some valuable real estate and much personal property, in the Somerset County Orphans' Court, is over the letter of administration. Abram Q. Whitmore has asked for as has Bona Whitmore.

He is a brother of the deceased, and she claims to be the widow. It is alleged, however, that Whitmore's wife is living at Middletown, N. Y. Bona Whitmore, however, has a marriage certificate, which seems to be in due form, and promises to make things warm for anyone who disputes her right. The hearing will be before Judge Schenck the last Friday in August.

IN THE SHOPS.

John Dorgan and William Staggard have resigned their positions at the Pond Tool Works.

Albert Colton, of West Third street, has taken a position with the Hall Signal Works at Garwood.

Edward Flynn, of West Fifth street, is detained at home by an injured foot, caused by a large flask falling upon it at the Pond Tool Works.

The Pond factory is undergoing a brisk season at present. Last week fifteen carloads of completed machines were shipped out, and from present indications as many more will be completed this week.

The employes at the Scott factory are working hard for the success of the Jimmie Montross minstrel benefit Thursday night. One of the machine hands has disposed of 100 tickets among the men, and others have done almost as well.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. George Homan, of the New Madison, have leased a cottage near the King's Daughter baby camp on the mountain, and will live there this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard S. Smith and daughter, Marguerite, of Duer street, left today for Neversink, Sullivan Co., N. Y., where they will be registered at the Mt. Pleasant House.

Rev. and Mrs. J. O. McKelvey, of Grandview avenue, left Saturday for their summer vacation, which will be spent at East Northfield, Mass., Groton, Conn., Easthampton, L. I., and Christmas Cove, Maine.

Mrs. John Chandler, of West Fifth street, is quite ill at her home.

County Registrar of Deeds F. H. Smith and Mrs. Smith, of West Fourth street, left Saturday for Asbury Park, where they will spend the summer. Mr. Smith will commute between the Park and Elizabeth.

WOOD MAY LESSEN THIRTY YEARS TERM

MURDERER CAN CHOP OFF LENGTH OF SENTENCE BY WORK.

George H. Wood, the murderer of Grocer Williams who was sentenced to thirty years in prison for the crime, is to be given a chance by the State to lessen the term in addition to the time taken off for good behavior. According to the rules of the Trenton penitentiary, a prisoner who is a skilled mechanic and can give the authorities the benefit of his knowledge is allowed a shortening of sentence. Wood is an expert iron erector and when the new wing to the prison is started he will be set to work upon it. For every day that he spends in labor this way, his term will be lessened that much.

Since his entrance to the prison, Wood has been given no set occupation but has been allowed to do odd jobs about the corridor. He conducts himself like an "old timer" and not once has he been rebuked for any infraction of the rules. To the few friends that have been allowed to see him he has confided the fact that he some day hopes to have the truth of his wonderful "little black man" story proven and to secure his freedom.

[Copyright, 1898, by F. Tennyson Neely.]

"I am to see the general before noon," said Armstrong, gravely, "and it's time I started. If you should hear of your runaway let me know. If you shouldn't, keep our views to yourself. There's no use in rousing false hopes." With that Armstrong turned up the collar of his overcoat and lunged out into the mist.

Gordon watched him as he strode away, the orderly following at the conventional distance. The shortest way to general headquarters was up the row of company officers' tents in front of the still incarcerated Billy; the longest was round back of the mess tent and kitchen. Armstrong took the latter.

That escape of prisoners was still the talk of camp. Men had come by battalions to see the tunnel, observing which Canker promptly ordered it closed up. Opinion was universal that Canker should have released the officers and men he had placed under arrest at once, but he didn't. In his bottled wrath he hung on to them until the brigade commander took a hand and ordered it. Canker grumblingly obeyed so far as the sergeant and sentries were concerned, but entered stout protest as to Gray.

"I still hold that officer as having knowledge of the scheme and aiding and abetting. I can prove that he telephoned for that carriage," he said.

"At least there's nothing to warrant the posting of that sentry at Mr. Gray's tent, Col. Canker," said the brigadier, with some asperity. "Order him off at once. That's all for to-day, sir," and the man with the starred shoulders "held over" him with the silver leaves. The latter could only obey—and objurgate.

But Canker's knuckles came in for another rasping within the hour. The brigadier being done with him, the division commander's compliments came over per orderly, and would the colonel please step to the general's tent Canker was fuming to get to town. He was possessed with insane desire to follow up that boarding house clew. He believed the landlady could be bullied into telling where her boarder was taken, and what manner of man (or woman) he was. But down he had to go, three blocks of camp, to where the tents of division headquarters were pitched, and there sat the veteran commander, suave and placid as ever.

"Ah, colonel, touching that matter of the robbery of your commissary stores. Suspicion points very strongly to your Sergt. Foley. Do you think it wise to have no sentry over him?"

"Why—general," said Canker, "I've known that man 15 years—in fact, I got him ordered to duty here," and the colonel bristled.

"Well—pardon me, colonel, but you heard the evidence against him last night, or at least heard of it. Don't you consider that conclusive?"

Canker cleared his throat and considered as suggested.

"I heard the allegation sir, but—he made so clear an explanation to me, at least, and besides, general"—a bright idea occurring to him—"you know that as commissary sergeant he is not under my command—"

"Tut, tut, colonel," interrupted the general, waxing impatient. "The storehouse adjoins your camp. Your sentries guard it. Capt. Hanford, the commissary, says he called on you last night to notify you that he had placed the sergeant under arrest, but considered the case so grave that he asked that a sentry be placed over him, and it wasn't done."

"I dislike very much to inflict such indignity on deserving soldiers, general," said Canker, stumbling into a self-made trap. "Until their guilt is established they are innocent under the law."

"Apparently you apply a different rule in case of officers," calmly responded the general, "vide Mr. Gray. No further words are necessary. Oblige me by having that sentry posted at once. Good morning, sir."

But to Canker's dismay the officer of the guard made prompt report. The sentry was sent, but the sergeant's tent was empty. The colonel's pet had flown. This meant more trouble for the colonel.

Meantime Stanley Armstrong had hied him to Gen. Drayton's headquarters. The office tents were well filled with clerks, orderlies, aides and other officers who had come in on business, but the meeting was by appointment, and after brief delay the camp commander excused himself to those present and ushered Armstrong into his own private tent, the scene of the merry festivities the evening of Mrs. Garrison's unexpected arrival. There the general turned quickly on his visitor with the low-toned question:

"Well—what have you found?"

"Enough to give me strong reason for believing that Morton, so-called, is young Prime, and that your nephew is with him, sir."

The old soldier's sad eyes lighted with sudden hope. Yet as he passed his hand wearily over his forehead, the look of doubt and uncertainty slowly returned. "It accounts for the letters reaching me here," he said, "but—I've known that boy from babyhood, Armstrong, and a more intense nature I have never heard of. What he starts in to do he package reached me. When next I ought it the letters were gone."

"How long was that, general?"

Again the weary hands, with their long, tapering fingers, came up to the old soldier's brow. He pondered a moment. "It must have been the next afternoon, I think, but I can't be sure."

"And you had left them—?"

"In the inside pocket of that old overcoat of mine, hanging there on the rear tent pole," was the answer, as the general turned half round in his chair and glanced wistfully, self-reproachfully thither.

Armstrong arose and, going to the back of the tent, made close examination. The canvas home of the chief was what is known as the hospital tent, but instead of being pitched with the ordinary ridge pole and upright, a substantial wooden frame and floor had first been built and over this the stout canvas was stretched, stanch and taut as the head of a drum. It was all intact and sound. Whoever filched that packet made way with it through the front, and that, as Armstrong well knew, was kept tightly laced, as a rule, from the time the general left it in the morning until his return. It was never unlaced except in his presence or by his order. Then the deft hands of the orderlies on duty would do the trick in a twinkling. Knowing all this, the colonel queried further:

"You went in town, as I remember, late that evening and called on the Telephone Company's Troubles.

It is an unfortunate coincidence for the Central New Jersey Telephone Company that its efforts to float a $150,000 bond issue on the strength of its franchise to build a so-called "Independent" telephone system in New Brunswick is followed almost immediately by the announcement of the sale under the hammer of the plants of the Red Bank Telephone Company and the Freehold Telephone Company two "independent" and "competing" telephone companies which invited investors to step up and buy stocks and bonds and rake in the dividends that were to be earned by "destroying the Bell monopoly." There may have been some raking-in, but the investors didn't do it, for all they have left is the privilege of holding post mortems over two very defunct corporations. No doubt the Freehold and Red Bank companies made promises just as glowing as those embodied in the Central New Jersey Company's prospectus regarding its proposed operations in New Brunswick. The promises of the prospectus are just as direct and circumstantial as those made to Common Council, when the franchise was under consideration. We were to have an underground system, and a perfectly organized exchange of 500 subscribers in two years. Every one of those promises has been broken, but the new crop flourishes. Investors are invited to step up and subscribe to a bond issue of $150,000 ($18,000 to be used to build plant, purpose for which balance is to be used, not stated.) With each bond goes 50 per cent. of its par value in stock, a veritable trading stamp premium scheme. Premium sounds better than water. Of course it is easy to promise low rates to the subscriber as it is to promise high dividends to the investor. Just how it is to be made a certain proposition both ways it is hard to understand, but the way in which the effort to carry out such promises terminates may be guessed from the fate of the Freehold and Red Bank companies. It is now up to investors to step up and subscribe for the bonds. Step lively, please.—New Brunswick Times.

A Dead Industry.

But few of the oldest residents of Atlantic county now living remember the iron industry as it existed in South Jersey before the days of steam railroads and the use of anthracite coal. Crude indeed and limited were the methods of gathering chemically-formed iron from the New Jersey bogs and smelting it with charcoal in stone furnaces built from the native soil. More than half a century has passed since the fires in the iron furnaces of South Jersey were quenched as the fires were lighted among the vastly productive mountains of Pennsylvania. Steam railways and modern methods have revolutionized an industry that is now of greater proportions and importance than the entire country a century ago.—Atlantic City Union.

Colby Entitled to a "Square Deal."

The opponents of Assemblyman Colby who do not wish him to secure the Senatorial nomination should not endeavor to defeat him by belittling his candidacy, for the issues which he stands for have a strong hold upon the people of the county. Neither should they seek to discredit Mr. Colby, for he is a man above reproach, who thinks and speaks for himself, is not controlled by any man or set of men, and has the ability to represent this great county in the Senate. We hope to see, for the credit of the party and county, a clean cut and honorably conducted campaign on both sides, each receiving "a square deal."—Orange Journal.

Self-acting and Effective.

As a means of regulating the speed of automobiles on the highways the device has been adopted in Massachusetts of making ridges in the road at short intervals. The ridges do not inconvenience ordinary travel and are easily surmounted by an automobile driven at reasonable speed, but they make such discomfort to the racing automobilist that he is glad enough to slow up when he approaches a ridge. The prime merit of this plan of regulating automobile speed is that it is self-acting, doesn't need the employment of watchers, and is effective.—Newark Advertiser.

The Need of Publicity.

A great merchant when asked very recently to what influences he most attributed his great success, answered that there were three, viz: Publicity, Publicity, Publicity. We may well take this trite answer home to ourselves and ask—have we employed properly the means of publicity at hand? Have the local newspapers received the proper support, and have the proper means been employed to interest the newspapers of the larger Eastern cities in Cape May?—Cape May Wave.

Look Out for the Dog.

Now is the time to look out for the dog. These hot sultry days are often more than they can stand and too much care cannot be exercised in dealing with the canines.—Perth Amboy News.

In the mixed doubles Miss Howell and H. L. McGee defeated Miss Barlow and L. Howard, 6—1, 6—4; Miss Howell and H. L. McGee defeated Miss Adelaide G. Ball and Charles Dupee, 2—6, 9—7, 6—3; Miss Marion McCutchen and Willis West defeated Miss Helen Phillips and Allen B. Laing, 6—1, 7—5; Mrs. C. W. McGee and Vaughn McGee won from Mr. and Mrs. Abbott by default; and they also defeated Miss McCutchen and Willis West, 6—4, 7—9, 6—0, and in the finals Mrs. C. W. McGee and Vaughn McGee won by defeating Miss Adelaide G. Ball and Charles Dupee, 6—3, 9—7.

The music for the dancing in the evening was furnished by vonderHeidt's orchestra, of Newark, and the festivities were continued until a late hour. The regular entertainment committee of the club was in charge.

PLAINFIELD SINGERS AWARDED THIRD PRIZE

COMPETED IN BIG SAENGERFEST CONDUCTED AT TRENTON.

Competing with twenty-six other societies from all parts of the State, the singing section of the Gesang and Turn Verein won third prize in the saengerfest conducted at Trenton Monday and yesterday. It was one of the largest affair of its kind yet held in New Jersey, and the Plainfielders have reason to be proud of their success. First prize went to the Orange Maennerchor, and second prize to the Orpheus Society, of Philadelphia. The third prize was a handsome silver loving cup, suitably engraved, and it is now on exhibition at I. H. Boehm's main show window.

The Plainfielders were led by Herman Eichorn and the singers were as follows: First tenors, Alfred Luthmann, Fred Smith, Herman Knoblauch and August Jungling; second tenors, Henry Haurand, William Claassen, Otto Keller and Jacob Schlick; first basses, John Wirth, John Retzer, Joseph Haurand and August Schwartz; second basses, Charles Dresselt, Henry Heardle, Max Otto and Walter Koeppler.

TRENTON HORSES WIN AT LOCAL RACE MEET

EVENTS ON THE CARD BEST LOCALLY IN YEARS.

With a big holiday crowd in attendance, the races of the Plainfield Driving Association at the Driving Park, yesterday afternoon, proved to be the best that have taken place locally in years. Everyone of the three events brought out a fine array of entries and the respective heats were closely contested.

Trenton horses figured largely in the money winning, everyone of the five entries from that city getting slices. J. H. Payron's "Easter Boy" won the 2:17 trot and 2:20 pace and George Schaunneaffell's "John S," another Trenton horse, was second. In the 2:21 trot and 2:24 pace, "Tarantella" won every heat and "Palace Girl" was a close second. Both these horses are from Trenton as is also "Pintsch Light," which finished second in the 2:30 trot. This event was won by J. H. Green, Jr.'s "Lady Tribol," the only Plainfield horse to get a place.

DISREGARDED FIRE BELL.

Dunellen Firemen Thought Midnight Alarm Was Celebration Noise.

Presumably by mischievous boys, an outhouse on the property of Paul Kratzel, a Dunellen shoemaker, was fired on Monday night. Just at midnight the flames were discovered by Mr. Kratzel, and he ran across the street to the fire alarm tower and pulled the bell rope.

All the firemen thought celebrators were marking the arrival of the Fourth and paid no attention to the clanging. The building burned down.

Colt Ran Away.

A mettlesome four-year-old horse, driven by A. O. Springer, of South Plainfield, was frightened by an automobile near Brantingham's roadhouse on Park avenue, Monday afternoon, and bolted. The buggy, in which Mrs. Springer was seated with her husband, was smashed against a tree. Mrs. Springer was bruised and her gown was ruined, but neither she nor her husband suffered severely. The horse was stopped after a mile run. The automobilist stopped and ran his machine back to the upset pair, and took Mrs. Springer to her home.

Ran Into Detective.

Le Roy Clawson ran his bicycle into Detective McCarthy's wheel on West Second street Saturday afternoon, and he was arraigned before Judge Runyon this morning on a charge of reckless riding. He denied the charge, but in preference to paying a fine he agreed to pay for the repair of McCarthy's machine.

MINSTRELS' BENEFIT FOR SMILING JIMMIE

GOOD BILL PROMISED BY MUIR'S AGGREGATION.

With the prospect of a crowded house awaiting them, the friends of "Smiling Jimmie" Montross, the incapacitated baseball pitcher, are ready to put on at Saengerbund hall, tomorrow night, what promises to be the best amateur minstrel show ever produced locally. Though in preparation but two weeks, the youthful artists, because of previous experiences, are thoroughly familiar with their parts and will present a programme worth double the money. The arrangements have been perfected by City Judge William N. Runyon and Thomas M. Muir, the former having charge of the music.

The entertainment is to open with the usual minstrel first part which will have a chorus of thirty in addition to the principals. Aleck Muir is to be the middle man who will be hoaxed and joshed by the six end men in the persons of Joseph C. Martin, John H. Coce and Thomas Muir, bones; George B. Cose, Harry Blimm and Bertram C. Firstbrook, tambos. Among the solo numbers to be rendered are "Pal of Mine," by Harry Roberts; "Good Bye, Sweet Marie," Jack Todd; "Shame On You," Joseph Martin; "I May Be Crazy, But I Aint No Fool," Harry Blimm; "Come Down From the Big Fig Tree," B. C. Firstbrook; "Tippecanoe," John H. Cose; "Every Little Bit Helps," George B. Cose; "Kisses," Elmer D. Cutting; "Good Bye, Dixie Dear," Aleck Muir; "A Bit o' Blarney, Leonce Texier and "Dan, Dan, Danuel," by Tony Lusardi and Ira Bowers with dance accompaniment. A topical song, "I'm Sure Everyone Will Agree," brimful of local "hits," will be sung by Thomas Muir, the words and music being supplied by Judge Runyon. In addition the chorus will render "In the Evening by Moonlight," "Yankee Doodle Boy" and "General Hardtack," the last named by request.

In the second part, or olio, Fred VanEps, one of America's greatest banjoists, will show what wonderful music that instrament can produce when it is handled right; Charles F. Meyer, Sr., and Bertram Hanson will give their clever acrobatic skit, "The Professor and His Pupil;" and Johnny Nestor, a member of Haviland's Nw York publishing house corps of vocalists, will sing "What's That the Brass Band Played" and "She Waits by the Deep Blus Sea," with slides operated by William Schorb.

The show is to conclude with a "screaming" afterpiece entitled, "Razor Jim," arranged by Harry Roberts, who will take the leading part, that of a theatrical manager. Thomas Muir will play "Razor Jim," his property man; George B. Cose will be "Romeo Booth," a tragedian looking for a job and Miss Edna D. Sleshing will interpret the role of "Madame Patti," a one time prima donna, "at present at liberty."

The whole performance of the Gold Medal Minstrel is to be conducted with scenery and stage settings and electrical effects on charge of William Schorb. The business end of the show is being looked after by George E. Firstbrook, who reports indications of the "S. R. O." sign at 8 o'clock.

No Freeholder Chosen.

No action was taken Monday night by the Common Council to fill the vacancy in the Board of Freeholders caused by the death of Captain J. F. Hubbard. The matter was not even mentioned, and it is said that the Common Council is likely to allow the vacancy to continue, out of respect to Captain Hubbard's memory, until the next election.

Miss Berth Schwabach, of Philadelphia, and Miss Ricka M. Trier, of New York, are the guests of Mrs. L. Schwalbach, of East Fifth street.

D. J. Carney, of the Monarch Printing Company, has returned from a three days' stay in New Haven, Conn.

Married Woman's Complaint.

Upon complaint of Lizzie Vardon, a married woman, Egnizei Falconero, alias John Falcony, was arrested on Monday. He was held in $200 bail for a hearing before Judge Runyon Saturday morning.

LINCOLN CORPORATION SUFFERS FIRE LOSS

$5,000 DAMAGE DONE TO ATLAS CO. PLANT—CITIZENS HARD FIGHT.

Lincoln climaxed her Fourth of July celebration with a $5,000 fire. A part of the Atlas Company's plant was burned.

The fire occurred in one end of a 500 foot wooden building. It was confined to the section of the structure in which it started, although the heat from the flames was so intense it cracked a number of windows in the brick building that formed the rest of the plant.

M. A. Beinstein discovered the fire from his home, nearby, at 11:30 o'clock, and aroused the citizens. Lincoln has no regular fire department, but within eight minutes after the alarm was sounded the volunteer brigade had two streams of water on the fire. The fire gave them a hard fight and several times threatened to get beyond control. The Dunellen department was asked to help, but the department there was unwilling to leave its own town unprotected.

The Lincoln men finally mastered the flames, and held them to the one end of the building. The loss is estimated at not less than $5,000 and may go higher.

The fire fighters suffered some casualties. George Conklin's arm was hurt, and his wrist sprained and burned. Mr. Bernstein's face was badly burned. A. J. Gulick had his eye burned.

SYSONBY WON.

Keene's Colt First in the $22,000 Race Yesterday.

"There is not a racehorse in this country that can beat Sysonby, and I don't think there is one on the other side that can make him gallop." Thus spoke James R. Keene, after his peerless three-year-old colt, Sysonby had won the Lawrence Realization Stakes, worth nearly $22,000, at the Sheepshead Bay race track yesterday.

As Mr. Keene spoke he turned to his son, Foxhall Keene, one of the best amateur riders in the world, and to a friend who was familiar with racing abroad. Both men shared his opinion.

FORMER MAYOR GILBERT LIKELY TO BE THE NOMINEE

At Conference of Republican Leaders, Senatorial Candidate is Picked.

HARMONY IS THICK.

Former Mayor Fisk, Former County Chairman Kean and City Clerk MacMurray Hold a Pow-wow With Good Results.

As forecasted by The Daily Press, former Mayor Alexander Gilbert in all probability will be the successor of U. S. Judge Joseph Cross as State Senator from Union county. He has been agreed upon, practically, as the one man acceptable to all factions in Plainfield, which is to have the privilege of naming the candidate. Assemblyman Edward S. Coyne, of Elizabeth, the chairman of the Union county Republican committee, is out of the race already, for strong opposition developed in his own town. Assemblyman Perkins, of Westfield, who also aspired to the honor, was hardly taken seriously at any time, and no fear is felt, according to some of the leaders, that he can get together any strength to make a showing at the convention.

In the interests of harmony a meeting was held yesterday among the leaders, at which it was agreed that Mr. Gilbert would be the most suitable man for the vacant office. These leaders are now at work inducing him to allow his name to be used in connection with the nomination at once. The principal figures at yesterday's conference were former Mayor Charles J. Fisk, whose refusal to become a candidate was exclusively announced in The Daily Press on Saturday; City Clerk James T. MacMurray, representing the administration forces here, and Hamilton F. Kean, of Elizabeth, former county chairman and chief lieutenant of his brother, United States Senator John Kean.

At this conference it was pointed out by Mr. Kean that a repetition of the last factional fight in Plainfield would be harmful to the party. Mr. MacMurray, it is said, signified the willingness of the local administration to accept any man who had not been engaged in fights against it recently. And it is also reported that he expressed his opposition to opening up the breach in politics again. Mr. Fisk, according to reliable information, was present chiefly to urge harmony, and he suggested Mr. Gilbert's name.

SAVED THEIR LOTS.

Tangle in Lincoln Mortgage Threatened Titles of Plainfielders.

When the foreclosure sale of Lincoln was held last week, lots held in the names of Mrs. Bernard Clark, A. B. Lusardi and the heirs of G. W. Eddy, all of this city, which were technically covered by the mortgage, were made over free and clear to them. The action was the adjustment of a tangle that nearly resulted in the loss of the lots to Mrs. Clark et al.

They purchased the lots under the impression that they were unencumbered. Warranty deeds were given them, but no release from the blanket mortgage held by Barker G. Hamill, of Trenton. When the impending sale was brought to their attention they retained Fred J. Huff to protect their interests. The latter succeeded in straightening the tangle out, and by agreement in the course of the litigation over the question of Lincola's ownership Mr. Huff's clients were given a clear title.

CELEBRATORS ARRESTED.

Michael McCarty Accuses Five Men of Blowing up His Porch.

Rufus Larew, William Goff, William Williams, Thomas Dorgan and Floyd Inman were arraigned before Justice Mosher this morning, on complaint of Michael McCarty, 321 Lee place, who accuses them of damaging his porch with an explosion of powder on the Fourth. He alleges that they wilfully planted a heavy charge beneath the flooring. He declares the porch was blown to pieces.

The prisoners were released on their own recoginzance for a hearing next Thursday. Codington & Swackhamer will defend them.

—Thousands of users will corroborate the statement that Rockdale print or creamery butter are the best the market affords. It is sold in Plainfield by Neuman Brothers.

The offering at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church on Sunday will be for the Plainfield Relief Association.

ITALIANS TO CELEBRATE

Feast of Our Lady of Mount Carmel This Month.

JULY 18, 19 AND 20.

Parades and Concerts Daily—Special Chapel for Mass—An Annual Custom.

With an observance even more elaborate than those which made the feast days of last year and the year before unusual local events, the Plainfield Italians will mark the approaching recurrence of the Feast of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel. The leading Italians of the city and Scotch Plains met on Sunday and decided on the celebration.

It will be held at Concert Park, as last year, on July 18, 19 and 20. The committee in charge of the celebration consists of Salvi Velardi, chairman; Leonardo Velardi, Fransco Peppe, Ginirao Maracascino, Giuseppe Russe, Rocco Falconet and Antonio Spezcissese.

A prominent feature of the celebration will be the music, as usual. A larger band than the thirty-five-man organization of last year will play. Parades will be held each day and concerts each night. Fireworks will climax the celebration on the third night; the display to be one of unusual brilliance.

A little chapel will be erected somewhere in the open and on the feast day proper mass will be celebrated in it by Italian priests.

Concert Park will be gaily illuminated with colored lights, and strings of varied colored festal lanterns will swing over the roadway along Watchung avenue. Other strings will be strung along Front street. Some device will be worked out in lights on Watchung avenue.

NEWARK MAY PLAY DAAB'S AGGREGATION

GAMES TO BE ARRANGED FOR A MONDAY AFTERNOON.

There is a possibility that the Newark Eastern League team may play the locals some time during July or August, provided there are assurances of a large enough crowd to make the venture a paying one. Manager Daab has had an opportunity to schedule the Newarks for a game here on a Monday during this month or next and if he is assured that the attraction would draw well enough he is willing to give fans in Plainfield and vicinity the opportunity of seeing the Sailors oppose his fast aggregation.

That the Newark team would be a good drawing card there seems to be no doubt, and the fact that they are now playing fast ball would surely make the contest one of great interest here. It would undoubtedly attract people from many of the nearby towns, who do not have an opportunity to see such games.

Plainfield defeated the Jersey City team of the Eastern League at the outset of the season.

It has been suggested that the game be called at 4 or 4:30 o'clock, which could be done at this time of the year, and this would give many commuters a chance to attend, as well as the clerks in the local stores, who cannot see the games on Saturday. Manager Daab feels sure that his team can defeat the Newarks and would like to schedule the game, provided he is sure that such an attraction would be well supported.

Dr. Parsons to Speak.

An especially attractive musical programme has been arranged for the Men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mr. Rhy Thomas, of the Crescent Avenue church choir, will render tenor solos and the vested choir of the First M. E. church will also render special music. Dr. Charles W. Parsons, of the Grace M. E. church, will be the speaker.

E. S. Coyne Better.

Assemblyman Edward S. Coyne, who has been lying critically ill at his home in West Jersey street, Elizabeth, passed the crisis of his illness yesterday, and his physician, Dr. James S. Green, has assured the family that he is now likely to recover. While the danger has not passed, the indications today are that he will get well.

Charles H. Frost, manager of the Courier-News, has returned from Canada, leaving his family there for the summer.

NO ARTIFICIAL ICE SOLD

Entire Output of Natural Ice Controlled by Three Dealers.

SAYS HEALTH BOARD.

Supply Comes From Watchung Lake —An Analysis Made by Health Officer Thurlow.

The annual inspection of the ice supply of Plainfield was made during June by the Board of Health, and a report presented at the meeting yesterday. During the year many changes have been made in the ice business here. Hygeia or artificial ice is no longer made or sold, and Plainfield's supply during the present year will come exclusively from Watchung Lake, being sold by the Natural Ice Company, F. T. Ostrom and John Morton, the whole output being controlled by these dealers.

The watershed of Watchung Lake was inspected in June and found to be in good condition. It is slightly populated, with no direct source of pollution to the brooks which supply the lake. An analysis of a sample of ice taken from this lake and found on one of the wagons on July 1 shows the following:

The ice was about fourteen inches thick, two inches being snow ice and the remainder clear and of very good quality. This is the analysis:

MAKING CONCRETE BLOCKS.

Local Firm Now Turning Out the New Building Material.

The Plainfield Concrete Stone Company, a new concern, recently organized for the purpose of manufacturing concrete blocks similar to those used in the construction of the VanZandt & Voorhees building on Park avenue, began the manufacture of the blocks on Monday. The plant is located at the Loizeaux lumber yards in the east end of the city, and at present about a dozen men are employed in the work. It is expected that within a short time the force will be doubled.

The process is a patent one and is considered to be the equal of any concrete block manufactured. During the past few years there has been a great demand for these blocks in construction and the Plainfield company bids fair to become a thriving industry.

He Dodged Arrest.

A citizen sighted John Duffy in a state of intoxication on June 10 and called the attention of the police to Mr. Duffy's lapse from rectitude. John got away before the cops could reach him and they didn't get hold of him until yesterday. He pleaded guilty before Judge Runyon this morning. The magistrate suspended sentence because John is a steady worker and only collects jags occasionally.

Van Orden Case Appealed.

The non-support case of Harriet Van Orden, of the borough, against her husband, Daniel B. Van Orden, has been appealed by the latter from Justice Smalley's court. It is contended that the justice's decision was not according to the evidence. F. J. Blatz is the appellant's lawyer and F. J. Huff represents the appellee.

Ralph DiArmient in Italy.

Word has been received by local friends of the safe arrival at Italy of Ralph DiArmient, of Park avenue, who sailed last month to visit his old home in Naples. He will spend two months in renewing acquaintances and will return to Plainfild in the fall.

MINUS RIGHT HAND; 4TH OF JULY VICTIM

CHARLES C. HARRIS BADLY HURT BY GIANT CRACKER.

Discharged from Muhlenberg Hospital only a few weeks ago, after undergoing treatment for an injury to his eye, Charles C. Harris, of Roselle, widely known to Plainfielders, was the victim of a Fourth of July accident that cost him his right hand. He is now in the General Hospital at Elizabeth, badly torn and badly burned from the explosion of a giant cannon cracker that exploded while he was holding it.

Harris had lighted the cracker and threw it into the road, but the fuse burned down without causing an explosion. He made an improvised fuse of paper, but this also failed, and in disgust he picked up the cracker, with the intention of throwing it in a waste box. As he did the thing went off, tearing away his thumb and lacerating his hand so badly that immediate amputation was necessary.

Red to Predominate.

Managers Counihan and Gelatt, of the Plainfield theatre, have placed their orders for the seats and furnishings in the orchestra of the new playhouse with the Grand Rapids Furniture Company. The color scheme is to be a bright red similar to the effect in the New York Hippodrome.

Camera Club's Outing.

The members of the Plainfield Camera Club enjoyed an all-day outing Tuesday. They took the train to High Bridge and walked from there to Califon and back, taking a number of fine pictures on the trip.

DOG SLEUTH GETS READY

Pierre Moore Will Start After Unmuzzled Canines Tomorrow.

THE LAW'S PROVISIONS.

Impounded Dogs Will be Kept Four Days for Redemption—Muzzles Must be Effective.

Pierre Moore, the dog catcher appointed by the Council Monday night, is expected to take his oath of office today or tomorrow. As soon as he goes through this formality Moore will start his crusade against unmuzzled and stray canines.

This is the first time in six years that the city has had a dog sleuth. The last man in the office was James Frisbie, who has since died. He was canine chaser for five years. Moore has been an applicant for the position for two years, and is actually enthusiastic over the business. He is approaching his work in a spirit that means trouble for stray bow-wows or careless owners.

Under the law, Moore will be required to impound every dog found at large without a "good and sufficient muzzle, of such a nature as to make biting impossible." This provision regarding the effectiveness of the muzzle is likely to make trouble. Some of the muzzles used by softhearted owners in past years have been more for the letter of the law than the spirit of it, being little more than pretty leather ornaments. Moore will pick up every dog the lower jaw of which is free to open and shut.

The pound is located at the sewer farm, and Charles Peterson, the farm superintendent, is pound master. Moore will get twenty-five cents for every dog he captures. He will have to be careful in his work, because the ordinance provides that he may be fined $5 or imprisoned for five days, or both, for every wrongful capture.

Impounded dogs will be kept four days. If they are unredeemed at the end of that time the poundmaster will put them to death, "in the most humane manner possible." Dogs may be redeemed by the payment of $1 as a penalty, and twenty-five cents additional for each day's keep. The poundmaster gets fifty cents for each dog held, and is allowed twenty-five cents a day for keep.

The dog-catching department will be under the control of the police board. Chief Kiely said this morning that he had received no instructions as to the limit of time in which Moore is to be active in his pursuit of dogs. It has not been customary to enforce the muzzling ordinance after the warm weather period, but the regulation holds through the year and it is possible that Moore will be instructed to enforce it without seasonal cessations.

Ready for the Curtain's Rise.

The tickets for the Montross minstrel benefit are selling like "hot cakes," and there is every certainty of a full house at Saengerbund Hall tonight. The troupe had its final rehearsal last night and the outsiders present declare it is the best thing in the blackface line Plainfield has yet seen.

To Change Street's Name.

Residents of Lane avenue have petitioned the Common Council to have the name of that thoroughfare changed to Laing avenue, in honor of Captain Laing, a Revolutionary officer. The matter was referred to the street committee.

Frelinghuysen, aide-de-camp to the Governor and commander in chief; Lieutenant Colonel Lewis T. Bryant, assistant inspector general; Captain Harry C. Kramer, adjutant Third Regiment; Captain George T. Vickers, Company H, Fourth Regiment; First Lieutenant Mahlon R. Margerum, aide-de-camp Second Brigade staff. Craven, assistant quartermaster generals; Major Samuel S. Armstrong, paymaster; Captain Harry B. Salter, quartermaster Second Regiment. These officers are directed to report to Quartermaster General Murray at the camp grounds Saturday, July 8.

GOVERNOR'S VETOES.

Two Bills Meets With His Disapproval.

Governor Stokes yesterday vetoed house bills Nos. 172 and 178. The latter is a bill by Assemblyman Mills and amends the act relative to the assessment and collection of taxes when such taxes have been set aside.

The governor in vetoing the bill says:

"This bill is disapproved because it renders necessary a continuous readjustment of taxes to the disturbance and burden of the taxpayer."

Because of a defective title No. 172 was disapproved.

This bill made the open season for catfish and eels in the Delaware river below Trenton Falls between September 1 and June 1, and made it lawful to spear suckers in any stream in February, March, April and May.

No Haste to Fill Vacancy.

It will probably be a month at least before an election is held at the City National Bank to fill the vacancy in the directorate caused by the death of Captain James Franklin Hubbard. The Dime Savings Institution and the Plainfield Water Supply Company will be in no hurry to fill vacancies caused by the saem reason.

FRESH AIR HOME OPEN

Miss Curry Arrives With 150 of New York's Poor Children.

SOME IMPROVEMENTS

A. C. Morgan Has Given $1,000 More and Grant Hugh Brown $700 Since Last Season.

The Netherwood Fresh Air Home opened today for the season when Miss Sarah Curry, accompanied by 150 mothers and children arrived at the camp in Netherwood. Miss Curry has been spending several days at the Home getting everything in readiness for the large family that is to spend the summer there and she went to New York last night to bring the mothers and children to this city. The party arrived here at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Since last year A. C. Morgan, one of the largest benefactors of the Home, has spent $1,000 in making needed improvements there, including the erection of an additional building, new plumbing, tin roofs and the painting of all the buildings. This makes a total of about $7,000 that Mr. Morgan has contributed toward the Home.

Grant Hugh Brown, of New York, a former resident of Netherwood, was made a great friend of the Home two years ago, and this year he had a building erected there at an expense of $700. It is intended for the use of the boys and is equipped with such things as will interest the little fellows. Additional bathrooms have been arranged and several tubs installed, all of which will make the work more of a pleasure than ever.

Miss Curry will be assisted this summer by help from New York, many coming to the Home for that purpose to get the benefit of the country air. The Home will be in need of vegetables, toys and such things as can be used about such a Home and donations will be gratefully received. It is expected that by August the "family" will comprise fully two hundred persons.

NEW TERMINUS.

Dunellen Trolley Loop in Operation —Through Cars Circle Endlessly.

The Dunellen loop of the P. S. C. is in actual operation. The new terminus, over which the citizenry and the Council of the borough were so upset a few weeks ago, was opened early Tuesday morning.

The through cars now make no pause for a shift of the trolley pole anywhere on the journey to and from Newark to Dunellen. There are loops at both ends, and the cars go in a sort of gigantic endless eclipse. The Dunellenites regard the loop at their end as a mild curiosity, probably because of the fuss the question of its location made. Ever since Tuesday morning groups of interested boroughites have watched the cars make the turn.

THE HEAVENS FOR JULY

With the passing of June the zodiacal constellation Cancer sinks below the western horizon and Sagittarius is added in the east. The constellations for July, therefore, across which the planets move in their annual orbits, are Leo, Virgo, Libra, Ccorpius and Sagittarius. The yearly movement of the sun through these same star-groups is, of course, only apparent, being due to our own annual circuit.

The stars within this belt, known as the zodiac, were divided into the twelve groups, as at present, long before the period of written history. This division was doubtless suggested by the twelve circuits of the moon around the earth during the period of the rotation of the seasons.

Virgo covers a large space with the brilliant first magnitude star Spica near the centre. Libra, the balance, which now, in the early hours of the evening, is on the meridian or nearly overhead, is indicated by two stars of the second magnitude that in their relationship resemble the Twins.

Scorpius is a constellation of unusual interest. Its first magnitude star, Anqtares, with its red coloring, marks the location of the heart of the great serpent. It is located between two stars of the third magnitude. Above it are four bright stars arranged in a semi-circle as a diadem. The coils of the body may be traced by other stars of less brilliancy, and near the southern horizon are five conspicuous stars, closely grouped, that indicate the position of the end of the tail. Sagittarius, the Archer, has six stars of the second and third magnitude, making it an interesting group. The arrow, indicated by three stars, is directed toward the tail of the Scorpion.

The conspicuous constellations north of the zodiac are Bootes, with Arcturus as its brightest jewel; Corona Borealis, with its seven stars arranged in a graceful curve, and Lyra, the lyre, with the first magnitude star Vega. That immense space between Corona and Lyra is filled with a large number of second and third magnitude stars that outline the great constellation Hercules. Arcturus, Vega and our pole star form a great equilateral triangle in the heavens. All have doubtless noticed that the stem of the spinning-top has a slow circular motion of its own in addition to that given it by the rotation of the toy. Our earth, spinning upon its axis, behaves in the same manner. The pole is the centre of that daily motion, but like the toy it makes its own great circular sweep of the heavens. The time required to complete this circuit is about 25,000 years. At the expiration of half of that period, or 12,000 years, the bright star Vega will be the pole star of the earth.

Turning out face nothward we find the Great Dipper to the left of Polaris, with the handle pointing directly upward. Cassiopeia, on the opposite side of the pole, has not been visible during the early hours of the evening for several months. It may now be seen just rising above the horizon on the right of Polaris. The bright star Copella in Auriga is below Polaris, but too near the horizon to be seen.

The month of Maren, 1904, began and ended with a full moon. This phenomenon has not been repeated since. During the present month, however, the conditions are similar; July begins and ends with a new moon, the full occurring on the sixteenth. This satellite of ours will reach its first quarter on the ninth, and on the eleventh it will enter the constellation Libra and extend its greeting to our planet Mars, passing six and one-half degrees above it. On the nineteenth, at about 10 o'clock in the evening, it may be seen in close proximity with Saturn near the eastern horizon, being then below that planet only one and a half degrees. On the twenty-sixth, in its journey eastward it will reach the present position of Jupiter. This will occur shortly after midnight. At their nearest approach they will be four and a half degrees apart.

The only planet now seen during the evening hours is Mars. There is nothing to be seen in the heavens more interesting than the movements of those close relatives of ours. The movements of all the members of our solar system, as we well known, is eastward, but apparently these motions appear at times to change, some of the planets moving eastward and others westward at the same time. This deception is easily explained, but however well we may understand it, we can never observe these reversed movements in the sky without astonishment. At the beginning of the present year Mars was moving eastward in his course. This continued until April 2, when he changed, and from night to night we saw this god of war moving westward among the stars. On the twentieth of last month the normal motion eastward was resumed, and that will continue during the balance of the year.

Venus is now a morning star. It appears in the east at about 2 o'clock in the morning, being nearly three hours in advance of the sun in its rising. It will reach its greatest distance from the sun on the sixth.

Saturn, at the beginning of the month, will rise at 10 o'clock, and at the close of the month it will make its appearance above the eastern horizon at 8 o'clock in the evening. It therefore will soon add its splendors to those of Mars in the star-lit sky. Jupiter is still a morning star, and its change to an evening star will not occur till near the end of November.

Our earth reaches its aphelion, or greatest distance from the sun, on the third of the present month, being then about 3,000,000 miles further away from our source of heat than it is during the month of January. Difference of temperature, as we know, is due largely to the change in the inclination of the axis of the motion with respect to the sun; but doubtless this change in distance has a modifying influence, making both the clod of winter and the warmth of the summer less severe than they would be otherwise.

It is somewhat selfish, however, for us to take comfort in this supposition, for the reverse, in like manner, must result in the Southern hemisphere. The records seem to show that the winters south of the equator are colder than ours and the summers warmer.

COMMISSIONER WATKINS SAYS ALL JERSEY INSURANCE COMPANIES ARE SOUND ONES

"The safeguards thrown around the insurance business in New Jersey," said Mr. Watkins, banking and insurance commissioner, "are such as practically make it impossible for any wildcat or unsound concern to get a footing here. In the first place, the laws of New Jersey governing the insurance business are about as strict, comprehensive and sound as could be framed. I regard them as excellent and beyond criticism. There must be a capital stock of $100,000 actually paid in cash before a company can commence business. No certificate is issued until the company has deposited with me $50,000 in stocks, bonds and mortgages, and fully complied with all the other requirements of the law. A company may only invest its capital, surplus of other funds in certain prescribed, perfectly safe securities.

"In the second place, the department keeps a close watch on all these corporations. We have an examiner, a trained and competent man, constantly on the road keeping watch and guard over insurance companies. We also have other trained men to assist him when necessary. In addition to this, we have thorough examinations made into the business of each company periodically by some of the best actuaries in this country. As a result of these legal safeguards and this constant watchfulness by the department, the insurance companies of New Jersey I regard as perfectly sound. There have been no failures or candals. No insurance company is allowed to do business in New Jersey unless it honestly complies with the law, and with the principles of sound and safe business. A life insurance company of New York was refused permission to do business in this State because I discovered that some of its officers were interested in other corporations. We also turned down and refused a certificate to an Atlantic City concern."

Plainfield, N. J., July 6, 1905.

Nicholas II should send his condolences to Oscar II, knowing how it feels to have his subjects fighting to get him out of a job.

If Elihu Root accepts the vacant cabient portfolio, it will mean that his income will be cut from $300,000 to $8,000 per year. Takes a mighty pile of patriotism to let go of so much money whether it be of the tainted or sainted kind.

Mayor McClellan's denunciation of fads and frills in public school education is a sign of the times. All through the East common-sense business men, aided by strong newspapers, are taking up the fight for the restoration of the three R's to their proper position in the free school curriculum.

With the hundreds of intelligent Poles that were our visitors yesterday and for two days before, as samples of their people, the wonder grows that Russia should be able to hold them in subjection as she does. —Perth Amboy Chronicle.

Must have been too unruly for Perth Amboy.

The Common Council is to be commended for not exercising any seeming haste in filling the vacancy on the Board of Freeholders caused by the death of Captain Hubbard. As a tribute to his memory the city fathers can do well by allowing the place to remain vacant for some time at least without any injury to the county.

Poor advertising has been appropriately likened to poor oratory, says the Philadelphia Record. If you hire the best auditorium in the country and put an incapable orator on the platform to espouse a worthy cause you score a distinct failure. No matter how complete his grasp of the subject, unless he can so expound it as to arouse the interest and win the sympathy of his hearers he will make few converts. The advertiser who makes use of a good medium and is disappointed with the results can invariably trace the blame to the character of his "ad." The daily newspaper supplies the advertiser with an auditorium and a receptive audience. The rest is important, but easy. He who cannot make a good speech under such favorable circumstances can readily procure the services of a substitute to do the talking for him.

DYING, SPELLED "HEAVEN."

Paralytic's Last Moments Similar to Those of Dumas Character.

Peter S. Atkinson, one of the best known citizens of New Brunswick and a former alderman, died at his home in George street, that city, Monday, after having had creeping paralysis for three years.

Mr. Atkinson's disease prevented him from speaking or using his limbs. To communicate with him his family had to adopt the alphabetic system successfully used for M. Nortier in Dumas' famous novel, "The Count of Monte Cristo." Monday afternoon Mr. Atkinson motioned with his eyes for his alphabet card. His daughter Florence took it to him and spelled "head" for him. He, however, moved his eyes again, as if to signify that he had not reached the right word. She then spelled "heaven" for him. That was what he wanted spelled. His daughter then knew that he was dying and that he felt he was prepared for his end. He died soon after that.

Patrolman Thomas Flynn, of New York, attached to the Thirty-seventh street station, is spending his vacation with his brother, Patrolman Charles Flynn, of West Fourth street. EDUCATORS DISCUSS CHILD LABOR ISSUE

CONVENTION AT ASBURY PARK HEARS REMARKABLE SPEECH BY G.H. MARTIN.

Before an immense audience, at the National Educational Association Convention at Asbuary Park yesterday, George H. Martin, president of the Boston Society, took up in a lengthy address the mooted question of "Child Labor and Compulsory Education." He stated at the outset that the age of a child leaving school for work must never be under 14 years, and that age he did not see any reason for increasing. He strongly urged trade education in the public schools, a development that would prepare the child for the social work of the world.

Every modern invention, he declared, which modifies industry makes child labor profitable, and therefore inevitable. The greed of some parents in the deliberate multiplication of children for the heinous purpose of using their labor that they might themselves cease to work was pointed out in almost unbelievable terms.

The claims made by the speaker for the education of children were along the following lines:

"First, that bp suitable State legislation provision should be made for all th echildren in the United States to have at least thirty-six weeks of elementary schooling until they reach the age of fourteen; that from this school attendance there be no exemptions for the purpose of employment, on account of the poverty of the parents; that for the inforcement of these schooling and employment laws special officers be provided, clothed with ample authority, State officers to be appointed to act when local enforcement is lax.

"If this association should plant itself upon this platform and go before the people of each State with these demands in the name of the children, summoning all the social forces of the State to united effort, I believe the most backward States would feel the impulse."

Miss Emma Church delivered an address on "The Aims of Drawing as a Subject of Instruction in the Primary Grades," and E. A. Kirkpatrick spoke on "Some Simple Methods of Recognizing Physical Fitness and Unfitness of School Children for School Work."

Other papers read were by Miss Rebecca Stoneroad on "How Far Should Physical Training be Educational and How Far Recreative in the Grammar School?" by Miss Elizabeth Casterton on "Correlation of Music With Other Branches in the School Curriculum."

A penalty of $1,000 was demanded in each case. There were seventeen suits against Forstmann & Huffman and sixteen against the Botany Worsted Mills. They resulted from labor trouble in the two plants.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning July 9.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—The Indwelling Christ.—Col. ii, 6-10; iii, 8-16.

The doctrine of the indwelling Christ is clearly taught in the Scriptures. Christ Himself illustrated the intimate relation that exists between Him and His disciples in the symbol of the relation of the vine and the branches. "I am the vine; ye are the branches," and, continuing, He declares even more fully that a vital union exists between Him and those who are His—"He that abideth in Me and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit, for without Me ye can no nothing." Paul in his prayer for the Ephesians prays that "Christ may dwell in their hearts by faith." Christ, therefore, does dwell in the hearts of believers.

Christ dwells in the hearts of all believers. By faith, by His word and by the indwelling of the Holy Spirit Christ abides with us. It is true that all Christians are not equally conscious of His presence. The union between Christ and the believer is a mystical one. No one can explain or understand it. It can only be experienced, and some dispositions are more capable of experiencing it than others. The man of practical disposition knows that Christ dwells in his heart by the power of Christ over his will and in his life, but the one who has a tendency to the mystical in his makeup may have an overwhelming consciousness of Christ's indwelling presence. Let us not feel, therefore, that Christ is not indwelling in us if we have not this deep consciousness of Christ's presence. He is with us, able and willing to abide with us, to comfort, to instruct, to encourage and to inspire us.

Christ in us should be worked out of us into our lives. Philosophy is always cropping out of the man of philosophic bent of mind. Nationality may often be told by a man's manner of walking, and men come to look their professions. What we think, what we feel, manifests itself in our lives. The man in whom Christ dwells should therefore be like Christ in his life. "As ye have therefore received Christ Jesus, so walk ye in Him, rooted and built up in Him and stablished in the faith, as ye have been taught, abounding therein with thanksgiving." Christ's presence in us can only be attested by a Christ life without us. "By their fruits ye shall know them." No amount of ecstatic talk concerning the indwelling Christ will prove anything. It is only when we give out Christ in a consistant Christian life and in a loving, self sacrificing service to others that the world is convinced that Christ dwells within us. Let us earnestly pray for each other that "Christ may dwell in our hearts by faith" and that Christ in the heart may mean Christ in the life—Christian character, kindness, love, charity, forbearing one another, forgiving one another, peace and thanksgiving.

This shows the design of the Baltimore convention "stickers," literally millions of which are being used in connection with Christian Endeavor correspondence these days. The colors on the "stickers" are black, yellow and red.

Endeavor In Wales.

Rev. Mr. E. J. Powell, writing from Wales to the Christian Endeavor Times, has this to say about the influence of the revival and of Christian Endeavor upon each other:

"The great revival has not only quickened the churches, but also the whole realm of Endeavor. The members of our societies are among the most ardent in utilizing the exceptional opportunities for service which have prevailed during the past six months. I cannot conceive of anything that could possibly give such an impetus to Christian Endeavor as the revival has done. Many thousands of converts have been won for Christ and the church, and by far the greater proportion are young people. The enthusiasm which thousands of them devoted to excessive sport and pleasure has now to be turned to other channels or else a very serious reaction is bound to set in. The problem that had to be faced by the churches prior to the advent of the Christian Endeavor society is vastly greater in Wales at the present time, but now the Christian Endeavor society is regarded as the very best means of solving the difficulty."

A Bishop a Member.

The bishop of Gibraltar is probably the first bishop to become an active member of a Christian Endeavor society. He was addressing one of the meetings of the Christian Endeavor society connected with his own cathedral. The meeting was led by Archdeacon Govett, who at the close of the bishop's address, seeing that there were present a number that were not members of the society, invited all that were so inclined to become members. There was some hesitation, when the bishop rose and said: "Mr. Archdeacon, will you accept me as an active member of this society?" Of course they would.

A Poet's Definition.

Marianne Farningham, the English poet, describes Christian Endeavorers as "young people of the beautiful name."

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

July 9: "The Indwelling Christ." Col. ii, 6-10; iii, 8-16.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, Ph. D.

This letter of Paul to the Colossians sets forth the most definitely of any of his writings the nature of the Christ in His divine perfections. It was occasioned by the teaching among this people of a mongrel gospel by some who held to theosophy and the worship of angels and to an ascetic mode of life, denying themselves the use of many harmless and even beneficial things under the false notion that they became more holy by such work. They called their teachings "the philosophy." This was in antagonism to "the gospel" which Paul preached. So he writes this letter to the Christian church in Colosse that the people may not be deluded by these errorists.

He declares that Christ is the head of all, far above all creaturehood of whatever grade or kind. In Him dwelleth all the fullness of the Godhead. No other lesser one is then to be worshiped. It is this Ever Existent One who is to dwell in us. Those who held to "the philosophy" thought that the power of the great spirits could help them and even dwell in them. Against this notion Paul places the indwelling of the Spirit of the Divine Christ. This, then, is our privilege, to have the eternal Spirit of God take possession of us, to enlighten, to give hope and courage and to fix our determination and also to give us the spirit of true children so that we may look up into the face of God as into the face of our father and call Him by that endearing term.

But if we do have His spirit in us He will certainly transform us into His own likeness. We, then, must put away all anger, wrath, malice, railing, shameful speaking and all lying. We must put on, as God's chosen ones, whom He loves, a heart of compassion, kindness, lowliness, meekness, long suffering, forbearing and forgiving each other just as the Lord forgave us.

This sounds almost exactly like the counsel Paul gave in his letter to the Ephesian church. In fact, these two letters were written about the same time and sent to the two churches by the same messenger. That to the Colossians treats of the pre-existent Christ in His relations to us, while that to the Ephesians draws a picture of the pure and true church of Jesus Christ in its ideal character, with Him as the head of all.

This teaching gives us for all time the truth that we may have the divine power dwelling within and making us into the likeness of all the holy perfections of our God. We are to partake of His nature in all holiness and purity and love and to live visibly what He lives invisibly within us.

This teaching should have careful heed by all of us who profess to be Christians. Christ should dwell in our hearts and make us loving and kind and a perfect pattern of the Christian virtues and graces. How shall this be? By complete consent to let His power fill us and all His will be done in and through us and by appropriation to ourselves of His gracious promises of assistance.

If you have not attained this, why not get there at once, since it is the place of peace?

Trusting the Weaver.

"God moves in a mysterious way," says Cowper's immortal hymn. Sit down by an old world lacemaker a few minutes. Fifty or a hundred bobbins or spools hang around a cushion in which there is a forest of upright pins. Every bobbin hangs by a thread that runs toward and among the pins. The onlooker sees the worker throw one bobbin over another as though she were playing with them. But how she knows which bobbin to pick up and where to toss it is a mystery. Out of the great complex of threads and pins comes a wonderful lace pattern, orderly, regular, beautiful. So the divine Weaver takes one and another of us, ordering us here and there, but keeping us always attached, like the lacemaker's thread, to a definite purpose. As we look back over the past we can see the wonderful pattern and perfect work of the Weaver. Just what He is working out for us and with us now we cannot discern. But the lesson of the past is that the future will be good, and we can trust the Weaver of the infinite to do all things well.—Sunday School Times.

The Gold of Truth.

To set one's mind mainly on external dress and show is not a mark of wisdom. Many persons prize the Bible for its costly and beautiful binding, paper and print, but not for its contents. It is the revelation within the book that gives it its value. Any book may have costly and beautiful material in its covers, but no other book is so full of the gold of truth as the Bible. The same is true of any publication—its value is in its matter. The cheap paper back does not alter the intrinsic value of the book. The volume of the finest materials and filled with most beautiful half tone pictures is nothing to the weary pilgrim wandering over the trackless desert of Sahara if it tell him not how to find his way. Beautiful sermons are the ones that feed hungry souls.—Christian Instructor.

A Familiar Blessing.

The swing door of prayer stands always waiting for the least touch of faith to press it back. If our Father's presence chamber were opened to us only once in a year, with how much greater reverence would we enter it, how much more store would we set on it! We should anticipate the honor and privilege of that interview for the whole year and eagerly avail ourselves for it. Alas, that familiarity with prayer does not always increase our appreciation of its magnificence!—Rev. F. B. Meyer.

"No, Armstrong, that's the very point of it. I only used the cape that evening. The coat was hanging at its usual place when I returned late, with a mass of new orders and papers. No! no! But here, I must get back to the office, and what I wished you to see was that poor boy's letter. What can you hope with a nature like that to deal with?"

Armstrong took the missive held out to him and slowly read it, the general studying his face the while. The letter bore no clew as to the whereabouts of the writer. It read:

"March 1, '98.

"It is six weeks since I repaid all your loving kindness, brought shame and sorrow to you and ruin to myself by deserting from West Point when my commission was but a few short months away. In an hour of intense misery, caused by a girl who had won my very soul, and whose words and letters made me believe she would become my wife the month of my graduation, and who, as I now believe, was then engaged to the man she married in January, I threw myself away. My one thought was to find her, and God knows what beyond.

"It can never be undone. My career is ended, and I can never look you in the face again. At first I thought I should show the letters, one by one, to the man she married, and ask him what he thought of his wife, but that is too low. I hold them because I have a mad longing to see her again and heap reproach upon her, but, if I fall and should I feel at any time that my end is near, I'm going to send them to you to read—to see how I was lured, and then, if you can, to pity and forgive.

"ROLLIN."

Armstrong's firm lips twitched under his mustache. The general, with moist eyes, had risen from his chair and mechanically held forth his hand. "Poor lad!" sighed Armstrong. "Of course—you know who the girl was?"

"Oh, of course," and Drayton shrugged his shoulders.

"Well, we'll have to go," and led on to the misty light without.

Over across the way were the headquarters tents of a big parade, hopefully awaiting orders for Manila. To their left, separated by a narrow space, so crowded were the camps, were the quarters of the officers of the —teenth infantry, and even through the veil of mist both soldiers could plainly see along the line. Coming toward the gate was Mr. Prime, escorted by the major. Just behind them followed Mildred and the attentive Schuyler. But where was Miss Lawrence? Armstrong had already seen. Lingering, she stood at Billy's tent front, her ear inclined to his protruding pate. He was saying something that took time, and she showed no inclination to hurry him. Miss Prime looked back, then she and Schuyler exchanged significant smiles and glances. There was rather a lingering handclasp before Amy started. Even then she looked back at the boy and smiled.

"H'm!" said the general, as he gazed, "that youngster wouldn't swap places with any subaltern in camp, even if he is under charges."

There was no answer from the strong soldier standing observant at his elbow. But when the chief would have moved Armstrong detained him. "One more question, general. In case you were away and wanted something you had left in this tent, you would send an aide—or orderly, or—would an order signed by one of your staff be sufficient?"

"H'm, well—yes, I suppose it would," said the general.

CHAPTER XII.

Opinion was divided at Camp Merritt as to whether Billy Gray should or should not stand trial. Confident as were his friends of his innocence of all complicity in Morton's escape, there remained the fact that he had telephoned for a carriage, that a carriage had come and that a carriage with four men, apparently soldiers, had driven rapidly townward along Point Lobos avenue. It was seen by half a dozen policemen as it shot under the electric light or gas lamp. Then there was the bundle inside his rolled overcoat that Gray had personally handed Morton when a prisoner. Everybody agreed he should have sent it by orderly—everybody, that is, except some scores of young soldiers in the ranks who could see no harm in it having been done that way, especially two "Delta Sigs" in the —teenth. Then there were the long conferences in the dark. What did they mean? All things considered, the older and wiser heads saw that, as the lieutenant could or would make no satisfactory explanation of these to his colonel, he should to a court—or take the consequences.

"You've made a mess of the thing and an ass of yourself, Billy," was Gordon's comprehensive if not consolatory summary of the matter, "and as Canker has been rapped for one thing or another by camp, division and brigade commanders, one after another, he feels that he's got to prove that he isn't the only fool in the business. You'd better employ good counsel and prepare for a fight."

"Can't afford it," said Billy, briefly, "and I'm blowed if I'll ask my dear old dad to come to the rescue. He's had to cough up (shame on your slang, Billy) far too much already. I tell you, Gordon, I'm so fixed that I can't explain these things unless I'm actually brought to trial. It's—it's—well, you have no secret societies at the Point as we do at college, so you can't fathom it. I'm no more afraid of standing trial than I am of Squeers—and be d——d to him!"

"Good Lawd, youngster—you, you aren't quite such an ass as to suppose a court is going to regard any schoolboy obligation as paramount to that which your oath of office demands. Look hyuh, Billy, your head's just addled! I can't work on you, but somebody must!"

And Gordon went away very low in his mind. He liked that boy. He loved a keen, alert, snappy soldier on drill, and Billy had no superior in the battalion when it came to handling squad or company. The adjutant plainly saw the peril of his position, and further consultation with his brother officers confirmed him in his fears. Schuyler, the brigade commissary, being much with the —teenth—messing with them, in fact, when he was not dancing attendance on Miss Prime—heard all this camp talk and told her. Thus it happened that the very next day when he drove with the cousins (Mr. Prime being the while in conference with the detectives still scouring the city for the young deserter, who the father now felt confident was his missing boy), Miss Lawrence looked the captain full in the face with her clear, searching eyes and plumped at him the point-blank question:

"Capt. Schuyler, do Mr. Gray's brother officers really consider him in danger of dismissal?"

"Miss Lawrence, I grieve to say that not one has any other opinion now."

There could be no doubt of it. Amy Lawrence turned very pale and her beautiful eyes filled.

"It is a shame!" she said, after a moment's struggle to conquer the trembling of her lips. "Has—is there no one—influential enough—or with brains enough (this with returning color) to take up his case and clear him?"

They were whirling through the beautiful drive of the Golden Gate park, passing company after company at drill. Even as Amy spoke Schuyler lifted his cap and Miss Prime bowed and smiled. A group of regimental officers, four in number, stood, apparently supervising the work, and as Miss Lawrence quickly turned to see who they might be, her eyes met those of Col. Armstrong. Five minutes later the carriage returning drew up, as though by some order from its occupants, at that very spot. Armstrong and his adjutant were still there and promptly joined them.

SHORT LINE WORK BEGINS TOMORROW

TRACTION EXTENTION TO BE STARTED AT ELIZABETH.

Work on the extension of the Trenton-New Brunswick trolley railroad, which is to extend from where the present road ends at Milltown to Elizabeth, will commence according to present plans tomorrow. There has been much talk about the extension of the road from time to time and it was learned recently that all preparations have been completed for beginning active work immediately on what is known as the New Jersey Short line between Jersey City and Camden. It will take nearly two years for the work to be completed and placed in operation.

Surveyors of the company have been in the city for several weeks making surveys of the line, but efforts to interview them have been courteously repelled. It has been learned, however, from other sources, that the new road starting at a point near Milltown where the present tracks of the Trenton line end will be continued over a private right of way to the shore of the Raritan river. This will be crossed by the construction of a steel draw bridge, 80 feet in length which will be built opposite Martin's dock. On the other side of the river the road will be continued by private right of way over farms passing near Metuchen, through Rahway and on to Elizabeth. A second bridge 400 feet in length will be built at Rahway. From Elizabeth the cars of the company will run on trolley lines already built into Jersey City. This route will of course greatly shorten the time of making the trip from Jersey City to Camden. When the road is completed the cars of the Trenton line will stop running into New Brunswick.

The work on the new line will commence at Elizabeth and continued toward Milltown this summer and fall. It is expected that the work may be completed this year to the easterly side of the river. The bridge at Rahway will be completed this year, but the bridge over the Raritan will not be completed until another year. The cars on the new road will be able to run at a very high rate of speed.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

Nearly four thousand fans saw the Philadelphia Giants defeat the Trenton Y. M. C. A. in a double header at Trenton Tuesday.

If Westfield beats Plainfield she will have to play the game of her life, for Manager Daab's men are just spoiling for the battle.

Jack O'Neill is helping Newark out this week at Baltimore. He will return in time for Saturday's game at the Oval with Rahway.

Michael Angelo Leonard is undoubtedly the best third baseman outside the big leagues. His work on Saturday and Tuesday could not be surpassed.

Rahway will be here Saturday "loaded" to win. The team will undoubtedly have the services of a big league pitcher, and will be accompanied by a big crowd of rooters.

Cohalan, the new second baseman, showed up well on Tuesday, and he may be a fixture. His fielding and hitting equals that of others on the team and he is constantly improving.

Charlie Denman and his faithfuls were at the Fourth of July morning game on the Oval sizing up the locals. Former Manager George Johnson was there, too, and enjoyed the contest.

The Potter A. C. had an easy victory over the Menlo Park team on the Iselin grounds Fourth of July morning, the score being 17 to 7. The Potter boys will play the Cranford second team next Saturday.

Dave Driscoll made his first error Tuesday afternoon. One misplay in fifteen games is a record of which any player can be proud. Dave is one of the best first basemen in the business, and he is always in the game to win.

The cry, "Beat Westfield," is once more heard in the land, and every local fan is now waiting for the first clash. If the Denmanites can put up as good a game at Pittsburg, Chicago, Boston, Jersey City, to say nothing of the Philadelphia Giants and the All-Cubans, they may have a show to beat Manager Daab's aggregation.

According to the terms of the agreement regarding the Plainfield-Westfield series, there are to be ten games, five here and five at Westfield. Thus far the dates for five contests have been scheduled and the others will be decided upon in a few days. The remaining five games will be interspersed with the All-Cubans, Philadelphia Giants and other strong teams.

It was stated on authority yesterday by a resident of Somerville, one well informed in baseball affairs, that there is little likelihood of there being a series this season between Plainfield and Somerville. This person admitted that it would cost too much money to get together such a team that would be able to make a good showing against Plainfield and with any hopes of winning. Last year's contest has not been forgotten by the sports at the county seat, and while many of them won some money on the game, those who put up for the team were out of pocket. For this reason they are not anxious to arrange a series this season.

The team now playing for Somerville and which played there on Tuesday is not considered fast enough for Plainfield, it being recognized that it is in another class. And there is no disposition on the part of the supporters of the club in Somerville to go down in their pockets as they did a year ago.

On Tuesday "Brit" Martin, formerly of the Hope Y. M. A., was elected captain of the team and will have charge of the players from now on. Galbraith, the Gettysburg College twirler, will do most of the pitching. The Fourth of July games were witnessed by 1,500 people and there was a profit for the Somerville Club.

GOLF.

The failure of Harold Wilcox and Allan Kennaday to participate in last week's tournament at Englewood occasioned considerable comment.

MARINE GRAVEYARD DESTROYED BY FIRE

TWO OF THE CENTRAL'S FERRYBOATS ARE CHARRED WRECKS.

Perth Amboy probably had the most spectacular finish to a Fourth of July celebration Tuesday night, and it is doubtful if another man paid so dearly anywhere for his part of the day's excitement as City Treasurer John H. Gregory, of that place. Seven boats in his marine graveyard at the foot of Brighton avenue were burned and the loss is estimated at from $25,000 to $30,000. To offset this there is $1,000 of insurance.

The firemen were powerless. They could not get on the boats to do any effective work. When they made a raft in an attempt to reach the Fanwood, the tide went out and grounded them so that they could not reach the old ferryboat. The Drew burned first and the southeast breeze swept the flames across the entire fleet to the shore.

There are nearly a dozen blackened hulls and thousands of ton of scrap iron where valuable property floated or rested on the beach at sundown Monday. The Communipaw, in good running order, was made a charred wreck. The Amenia went like tinder. The Fanwood it was thought could be saved, but the flames crept steadily toward her and she went at last, a brilliant spectacle.

Almost before any of the superstructure fell in, the entire boat was enveloped in flame. It rolled out of her stack and circled to the top of her tall poles, the whole being beautifully outlined in fire.

By midnight the fire had done its work. From that time on until three taps were sounded at 10:05 o'clock Wednesday morning, there was nothing pretty or attractive about it.

Chief of the Fire Department Glenn told a reporter early yesterday morning that he thought it probable the fire was caused by fireworks from the river. He suggested that a rocket might have been shot into the Drew or some other form of fire thrown on her stern, without any intention of doing damage.

TROLLEY "LOOP" FOR WASHINGTON PARK

P. S. C. SURVEYORS AT WORK IN THE BOROUGH.

A party of surveyors connected with the Public Service Corporation were in the upper end of the borough yesterday afternoon and this morning, going over the "loop" line proposed several years ago and for which maps were prepared. When approached as to what plans the big company had in view, they firmly but politely refused to discuss anything about their work.

When the X "loop" line was originally proposed, the Plainfield company, then in existence, declared it wanted to swing tracks off from Somerset street along Greenbrook road as far as Harrison avenue, in order to reach the "Prideville" section, and then go through the Park section to West Front street by way of Sycamore avenue. Opposition compelled the abandonment of the scheme and nothing was heard of it from then until the present time. It is thought the surveyors are going over the old route with a view to seeing what can be done.

BELDAME, SECOND.

Ort Wells Takes the Rich Brighton Stakes.

Ort Wells, last season considered the best three-year-old in the East, ran a sensational mile at the Brighton Beach track yesterday, and cleverly defeated Beldame for the Brighton mile by three-quarters of a length. He ran the mile course in 138 1-5, one fifth of a second behind the track record made last season by Hermis.

Ort Wells' sudden return to his best form startled the 18,000 spectators gathered at the little track by the sea. In his only start this year he was badly beaten last week at Sheepshead Bay. His speed brought disaster to the bank rolls of the bookmakers. His owner, John A. Drake, won $16,000.

To Meet the President.

At the request of Mayor Brace, of that city, the Perth Amboy Chronicle asks The Daily Press to announce that President Roosevelt will stop at that place tomorrow on his way to Asbury Park. The President will make a speech from his car at the railroad station. He is due there about 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Mayor Brace, who is an old friend of Mr. Roosevelt, through The Daily Press extends an invitation to Plainfielders to greet the President when he stops at Perth Amboy.

THIS OLD COLORED VETERAN IS THE FATHER OF JUST TWENTY-EIGHT CHILDREN

AND THERE WERE SEVERAL SETS OF TWINS, AMONG THE OFFSPRING

James C. Furman, the colored veteran, residing at Washington, N. J., has been the father of twenty-eight children. Mr. Furman has been twice married and draws a pension from the Government. He was born at Stewartville, February 5, 1841, and left home at the age of twenty-one to enlist at Reading, Pa., in the Fifty-fourth Massachusetts Colored Infantry. On April 1, 1862, he was sworn into service and was in a number of engagements before he was mustered out, August 30, 1865. His regiment was in nine bloody battles, and at the second attack on Fort Wagner, July 9, 1864, the gallant Colonel Shaw, of the brave regiment of soldiers, lost his life, and some 300 others were killed or badly wounded. Furman was married to Miss Anna James, of Bloomsbury, October 3, 1860. The ceremony was performed at Asbury. Mrs. Furman died in 1876, after giving birth to her sixteenth child. In 1888 the widower married Miss Minnie Hunt, of Bloomfield. The second union has been blessed by twelve children, the youngest, Craig, being four years old. Of the twenty-eight children, only eight are living. They are: Samuel, of Newark; Lizzie, of New York; William, Rodney, Spruce, Earl, Marina and Craig, all of Washington. Most of the children died in infancy, and besides the twenty-eight, there were six who were dead at birth. There were several sets of twins. Furman is a great hunter and fisherman and his services as a guide are in demand during the seasons. He knows all the best places for fish or game within twenty-five miles of Washington. Last November he shot seventeen rabbits the first day of the open season, and had the record for this vicinity, although he is sixty-four years old. The Furman home is a neat two story house, and the owner takes great pride in making improvements to his home. He has one of the finest gardens in Washington, having beaten his neighbors in early vegetables this year. His brother Abram, of Stewartsville, is also a great trapper and hunter, and is also a musician of some note, his specialty being the violin. A sister, Mrs. Anna Burr, of Low's Hollow, is seventy-six years old. In appearance Furman is the picture of health, although troubled with asthma.

IN PURSUIT OF MUTINEERS

Odessa, July 5.—Admiral Kruger's squadron, consisting of the battleships Rostislav, Dvienadsat Apostolof and Tri Sviatitelia, a cruiser and half a dozen torpedo boats, with the recaptured battleship Georgei Pobiedonosets, has arrived at Sebastopol, where, learning that the rebel ship Kniaz Potmkin Tavritchesky was at Theodosia, orders immediately were given to pursue her. It seems certain that the mutineer will now be hunted down mercilessly.

Naval officers declare that the Potemkin has comparatively little ammunition, having expended a quantity during the manoeuvres. There is reason, however, for taking this statement with reserve. Meanwhile the freedom of the mutineer to roam the Black Sea is paralyzing trade.

Following is the text of a manifesto issued by the crew of the Kniaz Potemkin Tavritchesky while that vessel was at Kustendje, Rumania:

"From the crew of the battleship Kniaz Potemkin Tavritchesky to the foreign Powers:

"A decisive struggle against the Russian government has begun. We hereby inform all foreign Powers of it. We consider it our duty to declare that we will give a complete guarantee of inviolability to foreign warships navigating the Black Sea and to the foreign ports of that sea."

It is reported that the Potemkin was off Akerman, twenty-seven miles west of Odessa, on Monday. She sent the torpedo boat accompanying her to ask for coal and provisions. These were refused, whereupon the torpedo boat fired two shots, after which the mutineers obtained all they wanted.

Sixty-seven of the ringleaders of the mutiny on the Georgei Pobiedonosets have been sent to Kertch. It is supposed they will be shot.

JUDGE VROOM FAVORS ROBES FOR COURT

BUT THERE'S A DIVISION OF OPINION AMONG THE JUDGES.

The Court of Errors and Appeals is not a unit in favor of the adoption of the judicial robes which its members will wear after the opening of the November term. Most of the members, however, favor the new movement and none have raised any very serious objections.

Judge Vroom said yesterday that he thought the movement a good one, as lending a certain dignity to the bench and being in line with the practice now followed in many of the other states.

"It has always seemed to me bad taste," said Judge Vroom, "to have the court so variously attired as it has been in the past. We may see one judge with a pea jacket, another with an alpaca coat and still another with a salt and pepper uniform."

He added that since the court had decided to adopt the judicial robes, he wished some one would start an agitation in favor of refurnishing the court room, which, he said, reminded one of a barroom or the equipment of a poolroom.

The gowns which the judges will wear arrived at the State House yesterday and were tried on by the jurists. They were then sent to the judges' homes.

Invited to Prize Saengerfest.

Through winning third prize at the State saengerfest at Trenton Tuesday, the Plainfield Gesang and Turn Verein has received an invitation to participate in a prize contest at Carlstadt on July 16. It has been accepted and the sixteen vocalists who appeared at the State capital will begin immediate rhearsals with the intention of getting first award.

ROOT TO SUCCEED HAY

When President Roosevelt reached Jersey City at 9:04 o'clock this morning on his return from John Hay's funeral in Cleveland yesterday, it was given out, in reply to inquiries as to what had been done on the trip regarding Elihu Root and the Secretary of State portfolio, says the New York Evening Sun, that definite announcement of the new Secretary's name would be made by the President some time tomorrow.

There isa strong belief, amounting almost to a certainty, that the President has offered the place to Elihu Root, and that Mr. Root has finally and definitely decided to accept it.

Mr. Root got off the special train with the President this morning and immediately bade him goodbye, making toward the West Twenty-third street boat on his way home, while Mr. Roosevelt proceeded to the ferryboat that was to carry him to Long Island City. Some efforts were made to ask Mr. Root a leading question or two, but he waived all inquirers back and hurried aboard.

President Roosevelt ,upon reaching Long Island City, went at once to his special train and started for Oyster Bay, expecting to be at Sagamore Hill before noon.

Paul Morton, who as former Secretary of the Navy accompanied the President and his Cabinet to the Hay funeral, returned this morning on the Presidential train. He took the lower ferry straight across to the Equitable offices.

On the way to Cleveland the matter of the successor to Mr. Hay was practically avoided, since the President thought it indecorous to discuss the matter before the funeral of Secretary Hay. What understanding has been arrived at by Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Root is at present unknown to any but themselves. All the Cabinet officers on the train heartily seconded what they believed was Mr. Roosevelt's desire to take Mr. Root once more into the Cabinet.

TODAY AT BRIGHTON.

Jamaica Stakes the Municipal Attraction.

An interesting programme is offered today at the Brighton Beach track. The Jamaica Stakes, a selling affair, over six furlongs, is the feature. Geranium at the weights looks pounds the best and she ought to win easily. Gold Ten may beat that sturdy old plodder, King Pepper, for second place.

In the opening dash Kinleydale, a well tried colt, has an excellent chance to win. His most dangerous opponent is Guiding Star, but as the latter is asked to give the former twenty-two pounds, Kinleydale ought to earn the decision. Capias may be third.

Action has only to repeat his last good race to win the second event. Port Royal, a good horse in the West, may be second and Liberia third.

Dreamer, one of the best of the Whitney colts last season, seems to have a good chance for first money in the third race. He recently showed a fast trial and with only ninety-eight pounds up he will be hard to beat. If he is not at his best Keator, Frank Farrell's fast sprinter, may beat him out. Druid should not be worse than third.

The handicap at a mile and an eighth, fifth on the programme, is an open event. The best horses seem to be Monsieur Beaucaire, Adbell and Go Between.

Watergrass, a grand-looking filly, that is rapidly rounding into racing trim, should win the last race. Billy Banaster may be second and Jimmy Maher third.

The annual boy's tennis tournament at Mellick's Bungalow will be held on September 13, this year.

OBITUARY.

William B. Tucker.

William B. Tucker, one of Elizabeth's best known residents and a prominent member of the old First Presbyterian church there, died suddenly yesterday afternoon of heart disease at Asbury Park, where he had been for some days with members of his family. Mr. Tucker was out fishing this morning and apparently was in good health. Mr. Tucker was for many years engaged in the hardware business at Elizabeth. He succeeded the firm of Tucker & Ogden, his father being senior member of the firm. Mr. Tucker was a stalwart Republican, and for six years was one of the factory inspectors in New Jersey, this being the only political office he ever held. He was about sixty-four years old and is survived by a wife, four sons and a daughter. Two of his sons are brokers in New York city, and another is a bank clerk at No. 48 Wall street. Mr. Tucker was a civil engineer. His family live at No. 46 West Scott place, Elizabeth.

NEW BRUNSWICK CENSUS.

Population Numbers 22,600, an Increase of 2,600 in Five Years.

The census of New Brunswick has been completed, and the number of inhabitants is given at about 22,600, an increase of about 2,600 over the total of 1900, when the official figures were 20,006. Supervisor William Schlesinger has sent in the returns to the State authorities, but no official announcement has been made.

Judge Woodbridge Strong and Prosecutor George Berdine will get a higher salary as the result of the increase in population in Middlesex county. The judge now receives $3,500 and the prosecutor $2,000.

Middlesex County Bank Assets.

Vice Chancellor Pitney gave a decision Monday at Jersey City in relation to the mortgages worth $49,000 found among the effects of the Middlesex County Bank at Perth Amboy, which was wrecked in 1899 by George N. Valentine, its cashier. Mr. Pitney said the mortgages must be collected by the receiver and the funds used as an asset of the bank to pay the creditors. The lawyers said that no further action could be taken until a new receiver could be appointed, as Edward S. Campbell, of Newark, who had been receiver, died at Lake George on Sunday.

MISS MARGUERITE LOUISE TRACY, THE BRIDE OF CHARLES MELVIN MIX, OF MUNCIE, IND.

REV. DRS. WM. R. RICHARDS AND J. S. ZELIE OFFICIATED AT THE NUPTIAL CEREMONY.

Miss Marguerite Louise Tracy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Evarts Tracy, and Dr. Charles Melvin Mix, of Muncie, Indiana, were married yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents in West Eighth street, in the presence of guests from New York, Philadelphia, Washington, California and nearby places. The home was attractively decorated with the season's flowers. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. William R. Richards, formerly of this city, but now of the Brick Presbyterian church, New York, assisted by Rev. Dr. John Sheridan Zelie, pastor of the Crescent Avenue church.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her attendants were her sister, Miss Emily Tracy, as the maid of honor; Miss Edith H. Tracy and Miss Martha Tracy, also sisters, as bridesmaids. The best man was Dr. Lawrence Lee, of New York, and Frank Stimson and Charles C. Perkins, of this city, were ushers.

The bride's gown was white crepe de chine over white, trimmed with lace. She wore a bridal veil fastened at the coiffure with a spray of orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore gowns of white mousseline and carried blue lockspur.

The wedding march was played by Mrs. Charles L. Lewis on the piano, assisted by Miss Lamson and Miss Anderson on the violin.

A reception followed the ceremony, there being nearly two hundred guests. The bride was the recipient of a large number of costly gifts. Dr. Mix was formerly house physician at the New York Hospital and a little over a year ago was a resident of this city, living in West Seventh street for nearly two years. It was while in this city that he met Miss Tracy. About a year ago he went to Muncie, Ind., and he has built up a lucrative practice there. After a wedding trip he and his bride will go to Muncie, where the groom has prepared a home for their occupancy. The bride is well known here in a large circle of acquaintances and has been quite prominent in social affairs, also at the Plainfield Country Club.

MANAGER C. H. DENMAN MAKES COMPARISONS BETWEEN THE PLAINFIELD AND WESTFIELD TEAMS

BECK, DRISCOLL AND COHALAN AND COTTER AND MALLEN ARE WEAK, HE DECLARES.

Manager C. H. Denman, of Westfield, was in town last night, and preparatory to the clash between Plainfield and Westfield had a few interesting comparisons to make relative to the teams, when asked how he thought the players would measure up in the first game.

Mr. Denman said that in his opinion there are three weak players on the local team—Beck, Driscoll and Cohalan. He would not put Beck in Waller's class, claiming that there is hardly any comparison, yet he believed that the former would do as well as some leaguers. As for Driscoll, he was very pronounced in his opinion in comparing him with "Mike" Rochfort. He said that Driscoll has neither the batting strength or fielding ability or ginger of the Westfield man. In speaking of Cohalan he thought he was an unknown quantity and that having a lame arm he is necessarily handicapped. Otherwise he thought the local team was full strength and able to cope with Westfield. He paid "Jack" O'Neill a handsome compliment by saying that he did not think he had a superior outside of the big leagues, and that he had Cotter "beat a mile."

He said that Cregan was in a class by himself and that Westfield had no fielder to compare with him. He thought the same about Cosgrave.

After criticising the locals, he was asked for an opinion about his own team. He admitted that he had two weak men—Cotter and Mallen, but outside of these two players he considered his team fit for any battle on the diamond.

COLORED AMATEURS IN A SOCIETY PLAY

YOUNG PEOPLE OF MT. ZION A. M. E. CHURCH SCORE ANOTHER SUCCESS.

With a comedy drama in three acts, the amateur thespians of Mt. Zion A. M. E. church duplicated, last night, their great success of last year in "Thirty Years of Freedom." The latter was a thriller with lurid lines and situations, and "The Disappointed Bride" is more or less of a society play, but the cast handled the lines and situations with a care-free abandon that demonstrated their entire freedom from the specialization idea.

The production took place at Reform Hall, under the direction of Mrs. H. C. Ashley, wife of the pastor. The proceeds will go into the general church fund. There was a large audience, and it lavished appreciation on all the members of the cast without a hint of favoritism. The performance began at 9 o'clock.

The cast included Preston White, as a young husband and hero of the play, not as bad as they paint him; Charles Henry, Oliver Floyd and Edward Blair, as dashing young society men; Bertha Hill, as a reigning belle and heroine; Spencer Kelly, as a minister; Fannie Olden, mother of the belle; May Henry, friend of the belle's mother, and Sadie Doyle and Beatrice Chatman, frivolous society girls. Under the exigencies of dramatic necessity Andrew Rogers, Wanita Moore, Helen Harman, Howard Grobes, Charles Richardson, Walter Johnson, Omer Thompson and Etta Kingslow were compelled to appear under the bunched heading of "servants, guests, etc." An effort was made to have only society men and women in the play, but this was found to be impossible.

During the drama spirited solos were sung by Miss Lulu Lewis, Miss Patty Lander, Miss Hattie Thomas and Edward Blair. Refreshments were served after the performance.

The refreshments were served under the direction of a committee made up as follows: Mrs. L. Brown, chairman; Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. Carrie Hemans, Mrs. Leander Jones, Mrs. Edward Maynard, Miss Loretta Grove, Mrs. Laura Wilson and Mrs. Agnes Holmes.

HOBOKEN CLUB IS NOW "INDEPENDENT"

NATIONAL COMMISSION RETURNS $500 CHECK TO MANAGER DAAB.

It was officially announced at Cincinati yesterday by Chairman Herrmann, of the National Commission, that the Hoboken Club had withdrawn from the National Commission, and that he had ordered the return of the $500 check, as a pledge of good faith, to Manager Daab. It was announced that it was supposed that the club found it impossible to obtain a sufficient number of dates with clubs that did not harbor ineligible players and so decided to quit the agreement. It was further stated that under these conditions it will not be long before the Hoboken Club is placed on the ineligible list.

It is not true that the club found it difficult to secure dates with agreement clubs, the real reason for the action being that the National Commission did not give Manager Daab the ful protection as promised. It allowed National and American League players to engage in contests with and against outlaws. It permitted the New York Giants to cancel its game with Hoboken, because it had an opportunity to play the Brooklyn Nationals, and it also permitted "Rube" Oldring to "jump" the club and go to Alabama, with a National agreement club, without taking any action. Manager Daab decided not to be used for a good thing any longer and took steps to be released from the National agreement.

KING CHOSEN DIRECTOR

Clark Township Member New Head of Board of Freeholders.

AN UNANIMOUS CHOICE

Successor of the Late Captain J. F. Hubbard is an Englishman—Holds Oother Public Positions.

Benjamin King, representative of Clark township in the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders, was elected director of that body, to succeed the late Capt. J. Frank Hubbard, of this city, at a meeting of the freeholders at Elizabeth yesterday afternoon. As told in The Daily Press the day after Mr. Hubbard's death, Mr. King was considered the man for the directorship.

Mr. King has been a member of the Board of Freeholders continuously since 1892, and of late years has been the Republican leader on the floor. At the meeting of the board since Mr. Hubbard's death he was chosen director pro tem.

Mr. King has been prominent in Republican politics in Clark township, where he has lived for twenty-eight years. He is superintendent of the mills of the American Felt Company there.

He has been a member of the Board of Education of Clark township for the past fifteen years and a member of the township committee, in which he is serving a third term. He was twice the township collector.

Mr. King was born in England in 1856, but came to the United States when he was fifteen years old, to visit an uncle who resided in Brooklyn. He came to this country merely on a visit, but he liked the place so well that he decided to make his future home here. He lived in Brooklyn about six years before going to Clark township. In the latter place his first vote was cast.

Since his entry into the Board of Freeholders Mr. King has enjoyed the fullest confidence of the men in both parties. He is well known in Elizabeth and throughout the county.

Freeholder King, besides being chairman of the auditing committee, is also chairman of the County Roads and Stationery committees and a member of the committee to settle with the county collector. He for many years has been superintendent of the Essex Felting Mills, better known as Bloodgood's mills, in Clark township, where his popularity with the employes, who constitute the principal part of the voting population of Clark, has enabled him to be steadily re-elected to represent the township on the freeholder board.

G. O. P. MAKES READY FOR ANNUAL OUTING

KEAN, DRYDEN AND OTHER "BIG GUNS" TO BE THERE.

Arrangements for the outing to be held by the Republican county organization were completed by the outing committee at a meeting in Elizabeth yesterday. William Newcorn, of the Fourth Ward, was present. The outing will take place Saturday, July 29.

The secretary was instructed to send invitations to Governor Stokes, Senators Kean and Dryden, Congressman Fowler, the three Assemblymen, Major Carl Lentz, of Essex; Col. Dickenson, of Hudson; State Treasurer Frank O. Briggs, and State Comptroller J. Willard Morgan. Senator Kean and Congressman Fowler will, of course, be there; they would come without invitations in the natural course of events, but the others invited are expected with such a degree of certainty. It is probable, however, that Major Lentz, the Governor and State Treasurer Briggs will attend. There will be slate making enough to furnish interest for them.

Dater's Band, of Elizabeth, has been engaged to furnish the music for the trip. It is hoped that Dater will not have a monopoly of the harmony. The lunch contract for the trip to the grove was let. The dinner at the grove was arranged for several weeks ago.

Fix Ferry Rates at Three Cents.

Hudson County Board of Freeholders' meeting in Jersey City yesterday fixed the rate of ferriage on the West Shore and the Port Richmond and Staten Island ferry lines at three cents a trip. The former runs between New York and Weehawken and the latter between Staten Island and Bergen Point. The present rate is five cents. The Board contends that a law passed in 1879 authorizes it to fix ferry rates.

Leslie Cobbs, of Fifth street, has purchased the house at 537 West Third street.

RESCUE OF A GIRL WAIF

Police Take Fifteen-year-old From a Pitiable Life.

ANNIE SMALLEY, HOBO.

Pretty, Quiet, Little Stray, Who Has Drifted on the Rocks—A Home for Her.

Annie Smalley, fifteen years old, was arrested by Patrolman Higgins in the East End yesterday, as a vagrant. The girl is a type of the waif created by vicious home life and lack of decent training. She has had no home at all for months and has been living a tramp's life in this neighborhood for over six weeks.

The girl drifted here from New York, riding freights like a male hobo. Her mother is dead, and her father separated some time ago from her stepmother. The latter, taking up with another man, had no use for Annie, and the child drifted away from home. She has a sister in Cranford, and went there after living a pitiable way in New York. From Cranford the girl took to riding up and down the railroad in this direction, and became a familiar figure in Scotch Plains and the East End.

She is decidedly pretty, with no marks of dissipation, and friendships that did her no good were easily made among the youths and men of the 'Plains and this city. The attention of the police was finally called to her, and Chief Kiely instructed his men to pick her up on sight. Higgins found her near the 'Plains boundary yesterday afternoon.

Judge Runyon gave the child a kindly talking to when she appeared before him this morning.

"What we are going to do for you," he said, "is for your own good. I have no desire to censure you; none of us have. We have only pity for you, Annie, and want to give you a chance to escape from the fate into which you have drifted. Whatever is done with you, don't think of it as punishment; it is not meant for punishment, only help."

The girl listened with out a trace of the brazenness that too often marks the bearings of girls the police are forced to take from the streets. Her fingers played nervously on the table in front of the magistrate's desk, and her lips quivered. She made a pitiful attempt to smile her thanks to the judge.

The magistrate directed that she be sent to Mrs. Emily Williamson, the county probation officre. The latter will see that she is placed in a decent home, where temptation will not come to her again. Unless the child is inately bad, and the officers do not think she is, she will be saved.

HECKMAN HEIRS WIN.

Administrator's Commissions Clipped by Decision of Court.

In the Orphans' Court of Monmouth county, Judge Foster presiding, yesterday, a decision favorable to the heirs of Sylvanus Heckman, in their action against Julius Deedmyer, a former Plainfielder, administrator of the estate, was handed down. Deedmyer's right to the full amount of commissions claimed was disputed. It appears that eighteen years ago Deedmyer gave Heckman a note for $900, which was never paid. It was claimed by the heirs that this note should figure as an asset of the estate, and offset that much in commissions. Deedmyer claimed the note to be a matter separate and aside from the estate, but the court ruled for the heirs.

F. J. Huff and William Newcorn were the lawyers for the heirs.

Unity Lodge Officers Installed.

District Deputy David Bowden installed the following officers at last night's meeting of Unity lodge, No. 102, K. of P.: Chancellor commander, Robert Loughlin; vice chancellor, Thaddeus C. Smith; prelate, A. E. Causebrook; master of work, George Dean; master-at-arms, David W. Rogers; inner guard, Harry Werner; outer guard, Charles E. Harris; trustee for eighteen months, Joseph F. Shepherd. The work was followed by a smoker during which several addresses were given.

Dinner to Friends.

Mr. and Mrs. David Dreier held a dinner this week in honor of Mr. and Mrs. J. Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. L. Sprinze Mr. and Miss Pauline Friedenthal, all of Brooklyn, who have since left on long vacation trips. At the reception following the dinner sixty guests were present. The decorations were roses and lilies.

Mr. Gilbert Undecided.

Former Mayor Alexander Gilbert, who has been agreed upon by the Republican laders for the State senatorial nomination, said last night that he had not announced his decision as yet. Mr. Gilbert is expected to decide whether he will become the candidate in the next few days.

MINSTREL SHOW A HIT

Tom Muir's Rendition of Judge Runyon's Topical Song Brings Storm of Applause.

A GREAT AFTER-PIECE.

Fred VanEps Enthusiastically Encored—Johnny Nestor a Feature of the Show.

The Montross minstrel benefit given in Saengerbund hall, last night, was a complete success, both artistically and financially. It was witnessed by a crowd of 800 people which showered generous applause upon the young artists.

In the usual first part, Aleck Muir acted as interlocutor and Joseph C. Martin, John H. Cose, Thomas M. Muir, George B. Cose, Harry Blimm and Bert Firstbrook were the end men. In addition to springing a bunch of joks each one gave a solo. Other vocal numbers were given by Elmer Cutting, Jack Todd, Leonce Texier and Harry Roberts, the last named making a big hit with "Pal of Mine," one of the prettiest sentimental ballads of the season.

Tony Lusardi and Ira Bowers, the favorite buck and wing dancers, sang "Dan, Dan, Danuel," in connection with their terpischorean effort, in a manner that made their number one of the best on the programme.

A topical song, written by Judge Runyon, and sung by Thomas Muir, "brought down the house" through its timely local hits. It will be found entire in another column.

The chorus was composed of Edward Canning, Harry Holmes, William Firstbrook, William Baker, George Keen, Harry Keen, Edmond Texier, George Pope, Ben Evans, Charles Vincent, William Meyer, Joseph Baker, William Porter, John Duckworth, John Fritts, Herbert Fluck, Wallace Morton, Harry Hoffman, William Hoffman, Hugh Gray, Edwin Howes, Bert Glaentzer, Hugh Sweeney, Harry Hook, George Wilson and Sydney Gilbert.

In the olio, Johnny Nestor, of Haviland's New York house, gave illustrated songs, accompanied on the piano by Bert Fitzgibbon, of New York, composer of "Don't Be So Mean," and one of the best rag-time players in the country. Fred VanEps rendered several banjo solos that proved his mastery of the instrument and the audience gave him a round of applause that was almost an ovation. Charles F. Meyer, Sr., and Bertram Hanson also "made good" with their clever acrobatic sketch, the former at one time having been in the professional ranks.

The show closed with an afterpiece entitled "Razor Jim," arranged by Harry Roberts and in which he took the leading part, that of a theatrical manager about to take a show on the road. Thomas Muir played the part of "Razor Jim," his property man, George B. Cose made a hit as "Edwin Booth," an exponent of tragedy, and Elmer D. Cutting lost his identity in a most wonderful make-up as "Madame Addie Patty," a prima donna troubled with a French accent. The sketch kept the crowd laughing continuously through its numerous funny situations that were well acted.

The show was arranged by City Judge William M. Runyon, who acted as musical director, Thomas M. Muir and George E. Firstbrook. William Schorb was the efficient stage manager and calcium light operator and Alfred B. Marsh and Joseph Sweeney were the property men. Although not known definitely, the proceeds for "Smiling Jimmie" will easily reach $150 and he was so informed at Muhlenberg Hospital today. He was sitting up when the news was conveyed to him and his complete recovery is sure to be hastened by it.

The young men who assisted in the business end and as ushers were Philip Jahn, Leo Moore, James Penney, George Gray and George Ballentyne.

Minstrel Troupe Entertained.

Following the minstrel show at Saengerbund Hall for the benefit of "Smiling Jimmie" Montross, last night, the whole troupe adjourned to Timbo's restaurant where they were treated to an excellent supper as the guests of the committee of arrangements. The artists enjoyed themselves until long after midnight with songs and in listening to addresses by the leaders. In conclusion three rousing cheers were given for "Jimmie" and the success of his benefit.

MILLIONAIRE MINER WEDS SCHOOL TEACHER QUIETLY AT HER SISTER'S HOME IN BOROUGH

MISS ROSS, KINDERGARTEN PRINCIPAL, BECOMES THE WIFE OF FRANK PARDIE, MAN OF IMMENSE WEALTH.

Miss Alice Ross, formerly of Westfield, and Frank Pardee, of Hazleton, Pa., were married Wednesday night at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Augustus V. Heely, of Willow avenue, North Plainfield, by Rev. Albert Carlton Monk, of the Episcopal church, Tuxedo, N. Y.

The wedding was a very quiet one, only the near relatives and a few immediate friends being present. An informal reception followed the ceremony, after which Mr. and Mrs. Pardee left on a wedding trip. They will reside at Hazleton.

The bride was formerly principal of the kindergarten in the public school at Hazleton and during the past winter and spring traveled abroad. The groom is the managing partner of Pardee & Co., the well known mining firm of Pennsylvania, and one of the biggest in the country, and he is one of the most wealthy and influential citizens of Hazleton. He is several years the senior if his bride.

TOPICAL SONG SCORED AT MONTROSS MINSTRELS

CONTAINED NUMEROUS LOCAL HITS THAT CAUGHT THE CROWD.

The topical song written by Judge Runyon and sung at the Montross minstrel benefit by Thomas Muir, last night, was a feature of the show. The verses were as follows;

The Board of Police is a funny crew;
I'm sure everyone will agree.
And queer are the things that those good people do;
I'm sure everyone will agree.
Just think of the way that they treated Friend Pete,
Although he was good and was never off beat,
They sacked him because he bought peanuts to eat,
I'm sure everyone will agree.

Chorus.
O the queer things we hear and the queer things we see
Are enough to give spasms to you and to me.
If we were the bosses how happy we'd be,
I'm sure everyone will agree.

The rooters of Westfield are proud of their nine,
I'm sure everyone will agree.
And they think that this world has no other so fine,
I'm sure everyone will agee.
But soon Denman's pets will resemble old puds;
For Daab and his laddies are here with the goods,
And Mallen and Waller will pike to the woods,
I'm sure everyone will agree.

Though fights may arise in each party and creed,
I'm sure everyone will agree.
The cause of this evening is bound to succeed;
I'm sure everyone will agree
For when a good fellow has carried his cross
And smiled at the world in the face of each loss,
He's all to the mustard—that's Jimmie Montross;
I'm sure everyone will agree.

As we travel around this terrestrial sphere,
I'm sure everyone will agree
We see every day many things new and queer,
I'm sure everyone will agree.
But here let me tell you deny it who can
The greatest invention since science began,
Is good Mr. Swackhamer's little black man,
I'm sure everyone will agree.

The Council of Plainfield is honest and straight,
I'm sure everyone will agree;
And their hot air is fine when it comes to debate,
I'm sure everyone will agree.
A session with them is as good as a school,
But instead of discussing some new fangled rule
Why on earth don't they build us a big swimming pool.
I'm sure everyone will agree.

An extra verse was given by the singer to the great surprise of Judge Runyon as follows:

Now here's to Judge Runyon, kind-hearted and true,
I'm sure everyone will agree;
A good friend to me and a good friend to you;
I'm sure everyone will agree;
Now, he's just the man that we've been looking for—
In all Union County there isn't one more—
And we want him to be our next Senator.
I'm sure everyone will agree.

PATIENT ESCAPES FROM THE HOSPITAL

EIGHTEEN-YEAR-OLD BOY TAKES FRENCH LEAVE.

Alexander Trimmer, aged eighteen, whose home is in Brooklyn, and who has been a patient at Muhlenberg Hospital for two weeks, being there under treatment for concussion of the brain, the result of an accident on the railroad near Fanwood two weeks ago, made his escape from the hospital yesterday afternoon. He had been gone about ten minutes when he was missed by the nurses.

Trimmer made a previous attempt to run away, but was caught before going far. His condition was such that the matron expected discharge him in a few days, and he was allowed to walk about the building and grounds. Yesterday afternoon he was sitting on the rear porch, when he suddenly disappeared. The hospital authorities wanted to keep Trimmer until a relative could arrive from Brooklyn, but he evidently did not care to meet him. He has a roving disposition and it is said that he never lives at home.

ITALIAN THIEF FOUND IN A NEWARK JAIL

POLICE THINK "PEG LEG" IS MAN WHO ENTERED GRANT AVENUE OFFICE.

In a man captured by the Newark police yesterday for robbing the East Ferry street station of the Central railroad, the local authorities believe they have found the thief who broke into the Grant avenue station several weeks ago.

When the Grant avenue robbery was investigated Chief Kiely learned that a peg-legged man was seen in the neighborhood the day before the job was executed. A search was made for him, but without success. The East Ferry street station was robbed the night before last, and the Newark police discovered that a peg-legged man was seen near the place just before the time it was calculated the robbery occurred. They ran down the suspect in a lodging house yesterday morning, and found some of the railroad tickets on him.

Chief Kiely heard of the arrest and went to Newark for a talk with the prisoner yesterday afternoon. The man acknowledged that he was in Plainfield the day before the robbery at Grant avenue, but denied "pulling off the job" in this neighborhood.

"But he's the man that did it all right," said the Chief this morning. The prisoner is a "floater" known only as "Peg-leg."

ENDEAVORERS TO BUILD MEMORIAL TO DR. CLARK

$2,000,000 WILL BE RAISED FOR HEADQUARTERS BUILDING.

Baltimore, July 7—"Well-ordered confusion" is just about the expression that would best cover the condition of affairs with the twenty-second International Christian Endeavor convention, which formally opened at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon for a five-day session at Fifth Regiment armory.

In the absense of President Clark, the presiding officer is the Rev. Howard B. Grose, of New York, vice president. Percy S. Foster, of Washington, directed the music. Following the doxology and invocation, the devotional exercises Wednesday afternoon were conducted by the Rev. Tunis S. Hamlin, of Washington.

The Christian Endeavor rally song was sung by the chorus as a welcome to the visitors. Following this Governor Warfield welcomed the guests on behalf of the State, Mayor E. Clay Timanus on behalf of the city, the Rev. Oliver Huckel on behalf of the clergy and W. O. Osgood on behalf of the committee of 1905.

The response was made by Dr. Gross, who acted for Dr. Clark. Under the direction of Richard A. Harris, of Baltimore, chairman of the music committee and chief presenter, the choir sang the anthem "The Heavens are Telling," by Gounod, and Von Ogden Vogt, general secretary of the united society, read his annual review of the field work.

Among other things, the report said:

"There are today 66,772 societies of Christian Endeavor—49,339 are in the United States and Canada and 17,433 in other lands. The ten denominations in the United States which have the largest numbers in the orded named are: Presbyterian, Congregational, Disciples of Christ, Baptist, Cumberland Presbyterian, Methodist Protestant, Lutheran, Dutch Reformed, Methodist Episcopal and United Brethren. In Canada the Methodists lead, followed by the Presbyterians. The Young People's societies number 46,859, junior 17,838 and intermediate 1,956.

"After removing from the lists the many societies in neglected districts that for any cause have been disbanded or withdrawn from our interdenominational fellowship, the net gain for the year has been 2,014.

The first definite step toward a great national home and headquarters for the Christian Endeavor society, to be also a fitting memorial to the Rev. Dr. Francis E. Clark, the founder and president of the society, was taken at the Belvidere hotel, at the meeting of the trustees of the united society prior to the opening of the big convention in Fifth Regiment armory.

This action, in the opinion of the officials and other distinguished men, makes this distinctly as the most notable convention in the history of the society It means that a fund of more than $2,000,000, contributed by Christian Endeavorers all over the world, will be raised, and that in one of the leading cities of this country—probably Boston—a structure as fine as any on the American continent will be built.

The project was submitted at noon to the trustees, and after an hour of discussion was adopted amid much enthusiasm. The following executive committee of the trustees was empowered to name a separate committee as soon as practicable, whose sole duty will be to take charge of the work of raising the memorial fund. The Rev. Dr. Francis E. Clark, Von Ogden Vogt, William Shaw, the Rev. Dr. James I. Hill, the Rev. Dr. H. B. Gross, the Rev. Samuel McNaughton, the Rev. J. H. Lowden, the Rev. Dr. P. S. Henson, the Rev. D. F. D. Powers, John Willis Baer, George E. Chace, the Rev. E. Humphreys, George E. Copeland, the Rev. E. I. Hallenbeck.

The home committee, according to General Secretary Vogt, will probably be named within two weeks and will be announced from Boston. The plan of having each Endeavorer give 25 cents toward this fund was endorsed by the trustees and steps for the prompt beginning of the work will be taken as soon as the committee is named.

While the sentiment among the trustees appears to be toward Boston as the most logical place for the building, two other cities have already been presented as worthy of consideration—New York and Washington. This, however, as well as all other details of the movement, will be left entirely in the hands of the committee, which will be named this month by the executive committee. Those who have been most active in urging the raising of a memorial fund and the erection of a building believe it will mean much for the future of the society.

Mauch Chunk for July 9th.

There is no grander scenery anywhere than you will find on the journey to Mauch Chunk via the New Jersey Central.

Jersey is attractive, especially in the northern section, and the rolling country offers a variety of attractions the like of which no other section can boast. Pennsylvania and its mountains are too widely known to need elaboration, but Mauch Chunk and vicinity is a garden spot, if ever there was one. The Switchback Railroad is novel inasmuch as no motive power is needed for operation. The inclines are gradual and in the fourteen-mile journey there are many interesting experiences and fascinating scenes are unfolded with a strattling rapidity.

For a day's outing there is no place more thoroughly enjoyable than Mauch Chunk, and when the small cost of a day's trip is considered there is little left to be said. The New Jersey Central will run one of its popular one day excursions to Mauch Chunk on July 9th by special train, which will leave Plainfield at 9:20 a. m., arriving at Mauch Chunk before noon. The returning train does not leave the mountain resort until 5:30 p. m., hence there is ample time for journeying over the Switchback, visiting Flag Staff and Glen Onoko. 7-7-2

Fishing and Shooting.

A new region, now accessible for the first time by rail, and known as the "Temagami" (pronounced Temmog-a-me) District, is being brought to the notice of the public as one of the finest fishing and hunting confines in Canada. Excellent sport is assured all who take advantage of a trip to this magnificent territory which is situated 300 miles north of the city of Toronto at an altitude of 1,000 feet above the sea. Black bass, speckled trout, wall-eyed pike and other species of fish are found here in abundance, and large game, such as moose, caribou and deer, abound in the forests. A handsome booklet, profusely illustrated, giving all information, including comprehensive maps, can be had free on application to F. P. Dwyer, G. P. A., Railway Exchange, 290 Broadway, New York. 6-27-tf

SPORTING NEWS.

DIAMOND DUST.

By the way, what has become of Jimmie Beisel? He has not been heard from lately.

It is said that Linderman is making $425 a month pitching for Summit and the Ridgewoods.

Robertson, formerly of Fordham College, has signed to play with Indianapolis, of the American Association.

At the Cricket Grounds, Hoboken, on Sunday, the Hobokens will meet Joe McGinnity's All-Nationals, with a league pitcher in the box.

Walter Clarkson is still pitching for Jersey City, although it was announced that he had been recalled by Clark Griffith. His work still continues to be the best.

A friend of "Pete" Lamar says that the well known backstop regrets that he made his recent change, owing to the uncertainty of his Sunday game with the Cedars in New York.

Louis Wiltse, formerly of Baltimore and late of York, Pa., Tri-State League club, is reported as saying that he will pitch independent ball before he will return to Baltimore.

Plainfield has the best independent team in the country and deserves the united support of the baseball public. Manager Daab aims to give the best attractions and should be encouraged.

Since the announcement of a possibility of the Newark Eastern League Club playing here, many of the fans have expressed themselves in favor of the contest, believing that it would be well supported.

When Manager Daab was asked who he would pitch against Westfield in the opening game, he said that he considered Beck fully capable of doing the trick, especially after his performances against the Philadelphia Giants and the All-Cubans.

Manager Denman wanted ten straight games between Plainfield and Westfield, but Manager Daab thought the fans would prefer an occasional change, and he will intersperse half the series with strong attractions, including the All-Cubans and the Philadelphia Giants.

When asked if he would use his present team in the series with Plainfield, the "Foxy Quiller" of Recreation Park said: "That depends. If my team is not strong enough, I will get one that is." He declares that he will use Waller, believing him to be the best ever.

GOLF.

The membership of the United States Golf Association continues to climb upward and what is better all sections of the country, except the extreme west, which has few clubs, are represented among the accessions.

The Colonia Country Club was the only one in New Jersey capable of complying with the requirements of the handicap committee of the New Jersey State Golf Associaiton that did not furnish the requisite information.

There are plenty of signs at home and abroad that extremely long courses are growing unpopular and that a reaction from long holes and carrier is at hand. The majority of golfers are only moderate players, and it is their dues that enable clubs to exist, it is unfair to unduly tax their powers.

The smaller New Jersey golf clubs are steadily increasing in importance. The Roseville, South Orange and Westfield clubs have lately joined the Metropolitan Golf Association and are rapidly improving their properties, while there are few large tournaments in which they are not represented.

On the championship contests of the Royal Canadian Golf Association Thursday at Toronto the big surprise was the defeat of Douglas Laird, the noted player from Princeton University. The successful competitor was A. E. Austin, the sixteen-year-old boy, belonging to the Toronto Lambton Club, who has developed almost marvelous skill at golf. He won by five up and four to play, and led Laird through the entire round. He was warmly congratulated at the finish by Mr. Laird himself, who has scored many a victory on the Toronto links.

The Philadelphia Item, in speaking of the showing of Arthur D. Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Peterson, formerly of Belvidere avenue, in a recent golf tournament at the Mt. Airy Golf Club, near Philadelphia, has this to say:

"There were the average upsets of a medal play contest, with but one exception. Arthur D. Peterson, who entered from the Atlantic City Country Club, is a fourteen-year-old younster in his knee breeches, and the fact that he made a 98 over what is admittedly a sporty course, sounds the knell of the future. Young Peterson, who has accomplished an 87 over the course of the Philadelphia Country Club, and a 98 over the course from which he hails, has never had a lesson in his life. With parents residing occasionally at Plainfield, he has picked up the game in wonderful style. The old maxim that youth will be served was proved in not only his but in many other cases yesterday, and his and the whole showing of the youngsters in the stress of a medal play tournament conflict, and the admirable showing made by that element, is the keynote of the golf of Philadelphia today."

The standing for the various competitions at the Plainfield Country Club to July 4, inclusive, is as follows:

Plainfield, N. J., July 7, 1905.

If the ice from Watchung Lake is as good as the Board of Health's analysis shows, it ought to be exhibited at the next World's fair.

Approximately $150 was realized by the young men who gave a minstrel show last night for the benefit of "Smiling Jimmie" Montross. Young Montross, who delighted the Plainfield fans as a twirler on the Hope Y. M. A. team, has been ill for some time and is confined to the hospital. His admirers proved themselves to be "friends indeed."

It is suggested that the Common Council complete the sum necessary for the establishment of a public swimming pool as arranged by the Board of Trade. This is something clearly for the public good and the expense should be borne by the municipality. The Board of Trade has given twenty-five dollars towards the fund. Let the city fathers do the rest!

More contributions were received at this office today for various worthy enterprises. From a Plainfielder away on his vacation came a check for five dollars for the free open-air band concert fund. Another donation was from the Women's Society for Christian Work of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, $2 50 being for the Netherwood Fresh Air Home and a similar amount for the King's Daughters' Baby Camp.

Benjamin King's selection as director of the Board of Freeholders will no doubt meet with general approval. The Clark township man has made a good record for himself as a public servant, not only while serving as a freeholder, but in other capacities. For fifteen years he has been a member of the school board and for a lesser period a member of the committee of his own township and has been conspicuously active in both positions.

Among all the charities supported by the people of this city, and there are many, there is none more deserving than the institution conducted by the City Union of King's Daughters. This is the baby camp on the mountainside. There is hardly any need of telling what the work is for the name of the institution sufficiently explains its purpose. The formal opening for the season will take place next Wednesday but already there are many tots there receiving the kindly care of the matron and her assistants. It will repay anyone to visit the camp, where a hearty welcome will be extended by those in charge.

DOCTORS' DINNER.

Quarterly Gathering of Plainfield Physicians.

Marked by the quiet of mid-summer city affairs, the quartely dinner of the Physician's Association was held at the Iroquois last night. Nine doctors were present.

The menu was a highly attractive one, and rose entirely superior to the weather and flagged appetites. It was as follows:

Litle Necks

Consomme Royal
Olives Salted Almonds Radishes

Boiled Kennebec Salmon—
Sauce Hollandaise
Potatoes Duchesse

Tenderloin of Beef, a la Marseilles
Peas Cauliflower Potatoes

Roast Turkey—Currant Jelly
Lettuce and Tomato Salad

Ice Cream Assorted Cake
Crackers Cheese
Coffee

The paper was read by Dr. Gesswein. His subject was "The Diagnosis of Hysteria."

The improvements at the Mt. Zion M. E. church, which include painting the interior and recarpeting the pulpit platform, are completed. A little later the edifice will be painted outside.

BUFFALO WILL GREET ELKS OF AMERICA

FRATERNAL ORDER DELEGATES TO RECEIVE A ROYAL WELCOME.

Buffalo, July 7—What is expected to be the biggest crowd of strangers ever seen within the gates of Buffalo since this city was incorporated will be here next week, when the Elks, the "Best people on earth," will come to Buffalo by thousands. Arrangements have been made to accommodate fully 80,000 strangers, and the estimate is that more than 100,000 will be here from Monday next until Saturday night.

Elks are coming for the nineteenth grand lodge reunion from all over the United States and its dependencies. Delegates and members from Manila have been on the water for the last four weeks, and the Honolulu delegation has also been on board ship for some days. Porto Rico will send its first delegation to a grand lodge meeting, as none but citizens of the United States can become members of this order.

Buffalo is making grand preparations to welcome this coming host. There will be nearly a score of arches. One at Seneca and Main streets will be interlaced with fully 20,00 incandescent lights. This will be known as the welcome arch, and four handsome figures of Elks looking to the four quarters of the compass will top the steel affair.

At Shelton Square, one of the beauty spots of Buffalo, there will be a big bandstand and a series of houses called "The Hermitaeg." At Lafayette Square a grandstand and a reviewing stand capable of holding 10,000 persons is being built, and at Main and Genesee streets the finest arch of all is now completed. It will represent a woodland scene with hand-painted rocks and over all will flow streams of water, and an elk, modelled by sculptors in America, will top the affair.

On Wednesday next will take place the grand parade, in which fully 50,000 Elks are expected to be in line, with 100 bands. Every kind of costume imaginable will be seen in the parade and windows along the line of march have been sold for as high as $100 each. After the parade comes the massed band parade for a mile, in which all of the bands, including the famous Mexican National Band of seventy pieces, will take part.

Gaston Cup Play.

In the weekly play for the Gaston cup at the Plainfield Country Club yesterday, there were two entries, Miss Daisy Elsberg and Miss Hess. The score of the latter did not count, however, as she had no handicap. Miss Elsberg returned a score of 108, 14—94, thereby winning three points.

Club to Have an Outing.

At a special meeting last night, the Timbo Social Club decided to conduct an outing some time next month. Lake Hoptacong will probably be the destination, and a committee was appointed to look over the advantages.

CLEVELAND MAY QUIT

Will Not Pose as Dummy Trustee of the Equitable.

Philadelphia, July 7.—The New York World has excellent authority for the statement that former President Cleveland has not finally decided to continue as trustee of the stock of the Equitable Life Assurance Society. The reasons for his indecision are that he accepted the trust under a misapprehension of the conditions, and that he is not yet fully satisfied that his trust does not entail obligations of a character that he does not feel he should assume.

He has asked three of his most intimate friends to advise him in the matter, and upon their advice he will base his ultimate final decision.

This fact became known in Philadelphia today through some friends of Wayne MacVeagh, one of the men whom the former President has asked to advise him. Mr. MacVeagh has already undertaken the friendly task. At the suggestion of Mr. Cleveland, Mr. MacVeagh has consulted some other eminent lawyers and some State officials of the New York State Government to satisfy himself and Mr. Cleveland that the proceeding under which the trust was established, and the manner of selecting trustees, are in full accord with the laws of the State of New York, both civil and criminal.

Mr. MacVeagh is known to have made a confidential request of two officials of New York State for advice upon these points, admitting frankly that he had been requested to do so by Mr. Cleveland.

The action of the latter was inspired by his uncertainty of his exact status and the desire to avoid future complications. In this connection there is ample justification for the statment that Mr. Cleveland caused a panic among the Ryan forces at the last conference of the trustees at the Hotel Buckingham, in New York city, by declaring that he was not thoroughly satisfied with the manner in which the trust had been created. It required considerable persuasion on the part of Paul Morton, the new chairman of the board; Mr. Ryan and Mr. Westinghouse to prevent Mr. Cleveland from making known his objection to serving. He only receded from his arbitrary position on the ground that he would accept the trust tentatively, pending the fullest inquiry as to his status and the bearing upon it of the laws of the State. It was upon this undertsanding that he permitted the use of his name.

JAMES B. DILL A JUDGE

Gives Up $300,000 Practice For $3'000 a Year.

James B. Dill, one of the foremost corporation lawyers of America, was appointed yesterday by Governor Stokes a judge of the Court of Errors and Appeals. He surrenders an income of $300,000 a year from his law practise to become a judge with a salary of $3,000 a year. His last private act was to refuse a retainer of $25,000 offered by an insurance financier.

No personal event of recent times has occasioned so much comment in the Wall street region as this appointment and its acceptance. Although maintaining his residence in this State, Mr. Dill has been considered a New York lawyer. His office at No. 27 Pine street is in the heart of the financial region, close by the Stock Exchange, the Sub-Treasury, the leading banks and the life insurance buildings. Many of the great trusts have been his clients; indeed, he was the legal father of scores of them, and he has been sought in consultation in nearly every important financial litigation.

The capitalsts, the promoters, the bankers, the brokers and even his brother corporation lawyers, when the news reached them, ejaculated this one question, "Why?"

According to a close friend of Mr. Dill, the step from the riches of corporation law to the comparative dignified poverty of the bench was taken after mature thought, in which the recent scandals of high finance and the demands made upon lawyers to save their capitalistic clients from the law had weighty influence upon his decision. The man who made trusts in their legal form is now to be the judge of their crimes and misdemeanors.

FREEHOLDERS TRANSACT ROUTINE BUSINESS

STREET COMMISSIONERS ASKS FOR LARGER INLETS FOR BRIDGE.

The Union County Board of Freeholders, at its meeting in Elizabeth yesterday, received a communication from Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett, asking the board to install larger inlets at the bridge over Cedar brook at Richmond and East Seventh streets, the ones now in use not being large enough to carry off the surface water satisfactorily. The matter was referred to the proper committee.

There was also a report on the proposed new $9,000 bridge at Springfield, and the members decided to visit that place on Wednesday, July 12, to take action. A minority report was received from Freeholder Woodruff, in which he stated that the present bridge could be repaired at an expense of $2,000.

CONGREGATION HONORS SYNAGOGUE BUILDER

DINNER TENDERED TO SAMUEL DREIER AT TEMPLE HE MADE POSSSIBLE.

The congregation of the Temple Children of Israel tendered a dinner to Samuel Dreier, of West Front street, last night, to mark the eve of his two months' trip through the West. The affair was held in the social hall of the synagogue, on New street. Sixty members of the synagogue attended it.

Mr. Dreier is the man to whom most of the credit for the building of the temple is due, and the congregation regards him in the light of a father of the organization. Speeches of well wishing were made by M. Abrams, Jacob Fass, Harry Dreier and David Dreier, to which the venerable guest of honor responded.

An immense basket of flowers was presented to Mr. Dreier with the best wishes of the congregation.

THE FORUM.

Dill, The Trust Builder.

Editor The Daily Press:

The appointment of James B. Dill to a judgeship in the Court of Errors and Appeals of the State of New Jersey, by Governor Stokes, is an insult to the people of the State. No man of recent times has used his intellect and efforts more to outrage and debauch public sentiment, through the organization of great trusts, than this same Dill. His genius we acknowledge; but it is a great wrong to place such a man on our bench.

CENSUS RETURNS.

Roselle Park and Fanwood Townships Show Good Gains.

The census returns from Roselle Park borough and Fanwood township were made known by the officials at Trenton today, the figures showing that both have made good gains in the past five years. In 1900 Fanwood township had 1,200 inhabitants, and it now has 1,341, an increase of 341. Roselle Park borough had 1,652 in 1900, and the present figures show its population to be 2,236, an increase of 634.

The returns from throughout the State are now being received rapidly by the city clerk at Trenton, and bulletins are being issued every other day. Plainfield's or North Plainfield's have not yet been sent in, but they are expected some time next week.

M. J. Rubenstein, of Syracuse, N. Y., visited his brother, I. M. Rubenstein, of East Seventh street, yesterday.

AMUSEMENTS.

The largest audience on Fourth of July at any place of amusement at a single time was at Pain's "Port Arthur," in the fireworks amphitheatre at Manhattan Beach. Over twelve thousand highly interested, enthusiastic people watched the reproduction of the thrilling incident of the Russo-Japanese war as each stage developed. Marvelous as was the production, it was not more marvelous than the audience itself. No one who had the good fortune to gain admission to the amphitheatre can forget the great sea of happy faces, which could be plainly distinguished in the strong lights as the fireworks broke in the air. So great was the success of the display in honor of the nation's birth that the most important parts of it will be given on Thursday and Saturday. A new kind of shells, tried for the first time, elicited immense applause and will be looked for at future displays with great pleasure. Now that the schools are closed and the parents have an opportunity to take the children down to the fireworks amphitheatre, they can also take advantage of a pleasant stroll along the boardwalk which connects Manhattan Beach with the rest of the island.

The popularity of Sam Bernard and "The Rollicking Girl" at the Herald Square Theatre continues to be overwhelming. It is the only big attraction under a roof that has defied the weather, and in its nine weeks' run it has broken all records for a summer attraction. Sam Bernard's wonderful powers as a laugh maker and the excellent opportunities the role of Schmaltz gives him; Hattie Williams' charming comedy work and captivating singing; the amusing achievements of Joe Coyne and Aimee Angeles, and the delightful dancing of an army of pretty girls, to say nothing of the sentimental swing song and a score of popular song hits, have all conspired to recommend "The Rollicking Girl" in the strongest way to public favor and have it heat proof and weather proof. Nothing can stop success.

LITERARY.

House decoration and the arrangement of the home will be exclusively treated by the forthcoming Interior Decoration to be issued by Clifford & Lawton, 19 Union Square, New York. The periodical will be profusely illustrated in fine half-tones and penwork. Its contents will give the best, most interesting and most beautiful examples of house decoration for the modern den, the Girl graduate's room, the College room, the Ceremonial parlor, the Mission room, the Smoker's room and innumerable other subjects, including studies in color schemes, room proportions, wall treatments, furniture and draperies. The first number will be out next month and sold at ten cents or $1.00 a year.

The July number of Recreation will delight the sportsman's heart. It contains some of the most interesting hunting and fishing stories imaginable, and the departments are brimful of splendid hints for the man who goes to the woods and waters for pleasures, sport and health. The leading story is entitled "Buffalo Hunting Thirty-five years Ago," written by Capt. James W. Dixon, an old army officer, who watched the gradual annihilation of the bison on the Western frontier when the white men and Indians thought the supply inexhaustible. The story is quaintly reminiscent and well illustrated. Carl E. Ackerman has a splendid illustrated paper on the turkey buzzard, in which this strange bird is described in its native wilds and mountain fastnesses.

Although much of the space in the July number of the Sunset Magazine is devoted to the Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition at Portland, Oregon, there are other articles which will attract attention. Charles Wesley Reed's description of California's Sierra snow land in midsummer will surprise some people who might outhewise go to Europe to see the similar scenery in miniature. Then there is an article on the Summer Session of the University of California, by May L. Cheney, which shows the special educational advantages on the Pacific Coast. Some of the world's best scholars and educators will give courses in Berkeley this summer. If Gradgrind facts do not interest, the fiction will. The second chapter of a serial story by Flora Haines appears in this number, and the "Little Stories of the West" are full of western spirit. A. J. Waterhouse is the author of some funny verse. Taken all in all, this is one of the best numbers of this enterprising wide-awake magazine.

At Netherwood Avenue Station.

The middle crossing at the Netherwood station has been raised fourteen inches and covered with finely crushed stone. Laborers were engaged on this portion of the work all day Sunday, but since then nothing further has been attempted. It is expected, however, that within a very short time men will start to work on the wire fence which will separate east and west bound trains. The plans also provide for an underground tunnel connecting both sides and for a waiting room on the westbound side.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mitchell, of this city, are visiting Mrs. Theodore Eick, of Annandale.

[Copyright, 1899, by F. Tennyson Neely.]

Long weeks afterward that morning lived in Stanley Armstrong's memory. It was one of those rare August days when the wind blew from the southeast, beat back the drenching Pacific fogs and let the warm sun pour upon the brilliant verdure of that wonderful park. Earth and air, distant sea and dazzling sky, all seemed glorifying their Creator. Bright-hued birds flashed through the foliage and thrilled the ear with their caroling. The plash of fountain fell softly on the breeze, mingled with the rustling of the luxuriant growth of leaf and flower close at hand. It was not chance that brought the stalwart soldier instantly to Amy's side. Her gaze was upon him before the carriage stopped, and irresistibly drew him. The man of mature years, the hero of sharp combats and stirring campaigns with a fierce and savage foe, the commander of hundreds of eager and gallant men, obeyed without thought of demur the unspoken summons of a girl yet in her teens. There was a new light in her clear and beautiful eyes, a flush upon her soft and rounded cheek, a little flutter, possibly, in her kind and loyal heart. Heaven knows his heart beat high with an emotion he could not subdue, though his bearing was grave and courteous as ever, but about that sweet and flushing face there shone the halo of a woman's brave determination, and no sooner had he reached the carriage side than, bending toward him, she spoke. Mildred Prime could not repress a little gasp of amaze.

"Col. Armstrong, will you kindly open the carriage door? I want to talk with you a moment."

Without a word he wrenched the handle and threw wide the door. Light as a bird she sprang to the ground, her fingers just touching the extended hand. Side by side they strolled away across the sunlit lawn, he so strong, virile, erect, she so lissome and graceful. Full of her purpose, yet fearful that with delay might come timidity, she looked up in his face:

"Col. Armstrong, I have heard only to-day that Mr. Gray is in really serious danger. Will you tell me—the truth?"

Just what Armstrong expected it might be hard to say. The light that had leaped to his eyes faded slowly and his face lost something of the flush of robust health. There was a brief pause before he spoke as though he wished time to weigh his words.

"I fear it is true," he gravely said. Then in a moment: "Miss Lawrence, will you not take my arm?" And he felt her hand tremble as she placed it there. It was a moment before she began again.

"They tell me he should have counsel, but will not heed. I have not seen him to-day. There is no one in his battalion, it seems, whom he really looks up to. He is headstrong and self-confident. Do you think he should—that he needs one?" And anxiously the brave eyes sought the strong, soldierly face.

"It would seem so, Miss Lawrence."

She drew a long breath. She seemed to cling a little closer to his arm. Then—straight came the next question:

"Col. Armstrong, will you do me a great favor? Will you be his counsel?"

He was looking directly to the front as she spoke. Something told him what was coming, yet he could not answer all at once. What did it mean, after all, but just what he had been thinking for a week, that the girl's fresh young heart had gone out to this merry, handsome, soldierly lad, whom he, too, had often marked with keen appreciation when in command of his big company at drill. What possible thought of hers could he, "more than twice her years," have ever hoped to win? She had come to him in her sore trouble—and her lover's—as she would have gone to her father had he been a soldier schooled in such affairs. Armstrong pulled himself together with quick, stern self-command.

Looking down, he saw that her eyes were filling, her lips paling, and a rush of tenderness overcame him as he simply and gently answered:

"Yes, and there is no time to be lost."

All these last days, it will be remembered, Mrs. Frank Garrison with pretty "Cherry Ripe" had found shelter at the Presidio. The palace was no place for a poor soldier's wife, and there was no longer a grateful nabob as a possible source of income. It is doubtful indeed whether that mine could be further tapped, for the effusive brother-in-law of the winter gone by had found disillusion in more ways than one. Garrison, busy day and night with his staff duties, had plainly to tell his capricious wife that she had come without his knowledge or consent, and that he could not think of meeting the expense of even a two weeks' stay in town. He could not account for her coming at all. He had left her with his own people where at least she would be in comfort while he took the field. He desired that she should return thither at once. She determined to remain and gayly tapped his cheek and bade him have no concern. She could readily find quarters, and so she did. The regular garrison of the Presidio was long since afield, but the families of most of its officers still remained there, while the houses of two or three, completely furnished so far as army furnishings go, were there in charge of the post quartermaster. From being the temporary guests of some old friends, Mrs. Frank and her pretty companion suddenly opened housekeeping in one of these vacated homes, and all her witchery was called into play to make it the most popular resort of the younger element at the post. Money she might lack, but no woman could eclipse her in the dazzle of her dainty toilets. The Presidio was practically at her feet before she had been established 48 hours. Other peoples' vehicles trundled her over to camp whenever she would drive. Other peoples' horses stood saddled at her door when she would ride. Other peoples' servants flew to do her bidding. Women might whisper and frown, but for the present, at least, she had the men at her beck and call. Morn, noon and night she was on the go, the mornings being given over, as a rule, to a gallop over the breezy heights where the brigade or regimental drills were going on, the afternoons to calls, wherein it is ever more blessed to give than to receive—and the evenings to hops at the assembly room, or to entertaining—charmingly entertaining the little swarm of officers with occasional angels of her own sex, sure to drop in and spend an hour. "Cherry" played and sang and "made eyes" at the boys. Mrs. Frank was winsome and genial and joyous to everybody, and when Garrison himself arrived from camp, generally late in the evening, looking worn and jaded from long hours at the desk, she had ever a comforting supper and smiling, playful welcome for her lord, making much of him before the assembled company, to the end that more than one callow sub was heard to say that there would be some sense in marrying, by George, if a fellow could pick up a wife like Mrs. Frank. All the same the post soon learned that the supposedly blest aide-de-camp breakfasted solus on what he could forage for himself before he mounted and rode over to his long day's labor at Camp Merritt. Another thing was speedily apparent, the entente cordiale between her radiant self and the Primes was at an end, if indeed it ever existed. She, to be sure, was sunshine itself when they chanced to meet at camp. The clouds were on the faces of the father and daughter, while Miss Lawrence maintained a serene neutrality.

"Armstrong will knock these chaps silly" said Billy.

RAHWAYS TO BE HERE TOMORROW AFTERNOON

FIRST OF SERIES OF GAMES WITH COUNTY NINES.

The first of the baseball games between county teams will be played on Crescent Oval tmorrow, when the Rahways will oppose the locals. This will be the Rahwegians first attempt this season and they will make a determined effort to win. Last Sunday they played the Elizabethport Stars a close game, losing by a score of 3 to 2, and there is every indication that they will give the Daabites a good run for their money. In the lineup it appears that Wolf is to pitch, but this is not generally believed. There is no doubt but that a league twirler will occupy the box, for it was known that Manager Potter made strong efforts to secure "Red" Waller for this contest. A large crowd of rooters will accompany the Rahways.

The game is sure to be of interest, as it will give the fans an opportunity to compare the strength of the Rahways as against the Stars, the locals having defeated the Stars early in the year with Long, of New London, pitching.

Manager Daab will present his regular lineup, using Beck on the firing line and O'Neill behind the rubber. The boys have been playing a great game and there should be a large attendance tomorrow to give them encouragement. The lineup of the teams will be as follows:

Plainfield—Kiernan, ss; Cosgrave, rf; Cohalan, 2b; Connolly, rf; Cregan, lf; Leonard, 3b ;Driscoll, 1b; O'Neill, c; Beck or Degan, p.

Rahway—Nafie, cf; Arnheiter, rf; L. Potter, 2b; Cowan, 1b; Wolf, p; Neble, lf; Crosby, ss; Reilly, 3b; R. Potter, c.

OUTING FOR LITTLE CRIPPLES.

Taken to Children's Country Home Conducted at Mountainside.

About fifteen little patients, who have been treated at the Home for Crippled Children in Newark, have been taken down to the Children's Country Home, at Mountainside. Some of them will be there all July and August, while the others will come back in a fortnight and other little sufferers will take their places.

Among those interested in the home's maintenance is Dr. J. Ackerman Coles, of Scotch Plains, who this year has had large improvements made in the interior of the home and presented to it a conveyance for the transportation of the children to and from the railroad station.

The institution accommodates about twenty-five children, but in addition to the little Newark guests there are a number from New York who are sent for two weeks' outings throughout the summer. Dr. Coles arranged a treat for the local children Independence Day, when he made plans by which the parents and brothers and sisters of the crippled children visited them at the country home. He provided transportation and a treat of ice cream, cake and fruit for them.

GIRLS' TENNIS TOURNEY.

The girls' tennis tournament, for a cup offered by Henry L. Hall, began on the courts of the Plainfield Country Club yesterday, when these matches were played:

Miss Catherine Titus beat Miss Frederika Mead, 7—5, 6—2; Miss Florence Stewart beat Miss Emeline Alpaugh, 6—0, 6—0; Miss Hope Ivins won from Miss Lillian King, by default; Miss Barbara Fleming beat Miss Ellen Burt, 6—4, 6—3; Miss Margaret Hayes beat Miss Marion Brown, 6—0, 6—1; Miss Hope Ivins beat Miss Florence Hewitt, 6—2, 6—3, and Miss Barbara Fleming beat Miss Edith Mellick, who drew a bye, 5—7, 6—3, 8—10.

There was only one match in the semi-final play yesterday afternoon, Miss Hope Ivins defeating Miss Catherine Titus, 6—1, 6—0. Miss Margaret Hayes and Miss Barbara Fleming will play the other match this afternoon, after which the finals will be played.

BASEBALL UNION NEXT.

Its Organization Attempted by Labor Federation.

An effort is being made by the American Federation of Labor to form an international union of professional baseball players. General Organizer Robinson, of New York, having charge of the move. He says letters have been sent to members of the American Baseball League with application blanks and instructions as to how to become affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. It is proposed, the letters say, to form an organization to be known as the International Association of Professional Baseball players of the United States and Canada, with locals in different cities. The American Federation of Labor, it is stated, will pay all the expenses necessary in organizing the proposed body. Mr. Robinson said:

"I have good hopes of a successful union. Preliminary steps in the work of organization have been started. It is too soon to make predictions, but I have reason to believe the proposed international organization will soon be in existence."

ROOT ACCEPTS OFFICE

Elihu Root succeeds John Hay as Secretary of State. The formal announcement was made at Oyster Bay today that the President had tendered the office to the former Secretary of War, and that he had accepted.

Just before 10 o'clock the President's secretary, Loeb, came down from Sagamore Hill and handed to the newspaper-men the following typewritten statement:

"Elihu Root has accepted the tender by the President of the Secretaryship of State.

"He will take the oath of office in a couple of weeks, but it will necessarily be some little time before he closes up his business affairs.

"He will not go to Washington permanently until some time in September."

JOURNALISTIC OPINION

New Jersey's Trust Companies.

The organization of a new trust company in Newark to cater especially to the east side marks another step in the development of the city as a financial centre. The first company to be established in Newark was the Fidelity, incorporated February 14, 1887. The City Trust Company followed with an incorporation April 27, 1901. In the same year, on July 19, the Federal was incorporated, and on April 4 of the following year the West Side Trust Company came into corporate existence. At the date of the last annual report, February 15 last, of the State Banking Commission there were 59 trust companies incorporated and doing business in New Jersey, with $108,347,983 of deposits and $152,483,540 of resources. The total capital stock was $12,277,500 and the total surplus $21,452,550. Four new trust companies were organized last year. This banking interest has practically been created since 1888. As early as 1868 the Security Company, of Camden, was incorporated, but it did not begin business until 1892. The Mechanics, of Bayonne, incorporated in 1872, began business in 1886. The New Jersey Title Guarantee and Trust Company, of Jersey City, was organized in 1868, and began business twenty years later. The Camden Safe Deposit and Trust Company was incorporated in 1873 and began business that year. With this exception all the trust companies began operations late in the eighties. In 1889 there were eleven trust companies, with an aggregate capital of $861,250, deposits $3,513,220, surplus and profits of $266,551. Ten years later the number of companies had increased to 25, the capitalization to $3,657,000, the surplus to $3,652,418, and the deposits to $33,856,403. Since 1899 the growth of the trust companies has been phenomenal. The number of companies has been doubled, the capital has been quadrupled, the suplus increased, 600 per cent. and the deposits more than trebled. To a large extent, the trust company has taken the place of the State bank. In 1892 there were twenty-two State banks. At the close of last year the number was seventeen, and the total capitalization had been reduced from $1,780,460 in 1892 to $1,443,750 in 1904. To a less extent the trust companies have affected the business of the savings banks, although the deposits of these institutions increased from $33,807,634 in 1892 to $79,847,256 last year.—Newark Advertiser.

Removal of Signs.

Give credit to the author of the law which is to remove the signs from the sidewalks. The effect is going to be immediate and permanent in helping to beautify the city. The building inspector's department says that a few weeks after the signs are removed there will be no business man who will ask for their return. That is true. The signs are new being taken down and the result is admired. They are objectionable in any way they are considered. Signs of moderate size are permitted, and small signs are all that are required by any merchant.—Atlantic City Sunday Gazette.

The Debt of New Jersey.

A few days ago the New York Tribune had a scare headed article on the increase of New Jersey's local indebtedness, in which it was shown that funded and floating debt of the municipalities of the State, its counties, cities and towns, was $104,464,086, and it was alleged that the burden of local indebtedness is so large and is increasing at such a rate as to excite and alarm all thoughtful taxpayers. Why such an attack should be made on the State does not appear, for there is nothing alarming about a debt of $100,000,000 on a property valuation of $1,200,000,000. The funded debt amounts to $89,531,717, and against this there is a substantial sinking fund accumulation. The floating debt is mainly loans made in anticipation of taxes, and a large part of it is debt due to the law that allows the property owners to pay assessments for street and sewer improvements on the installment plan. They pay this off at the rate of 20 per cent. per annum. The funded debt represents the unpaid part of the cost of public buildings, schools, fire engine houses, bridges, roads and water works. The total value of this property in the State far exceeds the total debt, More than half of the funded debt is owed by Hudson and Essex and their municipalities. This is also true of the floating debt. The two strong counties have $59,398,255 of the funded and $5,973,032 of the floating debt. These counties are well able to take care of their debts, and no doubt the others are also. Passaic, Mercer, Camden and Atlantic have been making many improvemetns, and these are profitable. They attract capital and population. The more capital and population the less of a burden the debt is, and the whole debt is small when compared with the assets.—Jersey City Journal.

Sound Doctrine.

At an Ocean Grove meeting on Thursday, the Rev. C. H. Yatman told his congregation that "If a woman comes and attends meetings, going gadding about after religion, and leaves her home dirty, her children uncared for, and her husband without proper meals, she should remember that it is more decent to care for him than to pray at meeting for him." That is sound doctrine, to which all men will subscribe.—Trenton Times.

FORMER PLAINFIELD PASTOR DECLINES TO GIVE UP $3,500 FOR $14,000 INCOME

Rev. Dr. A. V. V. Raymond, former pastor of Trinity Reformed church, this city, and now president of Union College, at Schenectady, N. Y., has refused an offer to become pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Buffalo, N. Y., at a salary of $14,000 a year. His present salary is $3,500.

When Trinity Reformed church celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary recently, Dr. Raymond was one of the principal speakers. He is fifty-one years of age. His first charge was at Paterson, from which city he came to Plainfield in 1881. In 1887 he was called to the Fourth Reformed church, Albany, N. Y. The trustees of Union College elected him president of that institution in 1904.

RESTAURANT MAN WOULD NOT TRUST GOV. STOKES FOR HIS DOLLAR DINNER

Governor Stokes and Dr. H. G. Norton had an embarrassing experience Thursday night in a restaurant at Trenton.

The Governor and Dr. Norton had a sandwich or two, and their bill was about a dollar. The man in charge was new, and did not know either of them.

The Governor went to the desk to settle and discovered that he had not a cent in his pocket. Dr. Norton hastily made an investigation of his pockets with a like result. The man behind the desk frowned ominously "I am Governor Stokes," explained the Governor, "and I will settle this when I come in again."

"Well, I'm President Roosevelt, and you pay me now," replied the man frostily.

The Governor and Dr. Norton attempted further explanations, but the ban in charge didn't melt. On the contrary, he was rapidly losing his temper, when one of the old waiters who knew the Governor came in the identified him.

Then the new manager apologized and everybody laughed.

There are fifty-seven members of the company and the remainder will have an opportunity on several open dates to visit the range and qualify. At the present rate it is believed that a large percentage of the members will pass with good scores. Charles Peterson and Percy Vail remained over at Asbury Park yesterday for the purpose of seeing President Roosevelt.

Those who qualified:

Sharpshooters — Captain W. B. Martin, Sergeant A. I. Littell, Corporals Bilyeu and Phillips; marksmen—Lieut. John Lewis, Sergeants Charles Peterson, Oliver R. Pearson, Corporals Tranchard, Conklin, Weaver, James Niles; Privates DeCamp, Post, Frazee, Lambert, Vail, Archie Niles, Slingland, Scribner, Wilson, Manning, Pearsall and Winters.

CLAIMS PART OF STREET.

But Council Ignores Mrs. Bolen's Protest.

The borough Council, at its meeting last night, received a communication from Charles M. Dolliver, as counsel for Mrs. George Bolen, of Fairview avenue, asserting that in extending that thoroughfare east of Westervelt avenue, eleven feet of property belonging to her would be appropriated. The lawyer declared that the work should be stopped or legal action would be taken.

The matter had previously been looked into by Chairman Arnold, of the street committee, and according to the map prepared by the surveyors of the highway when Fairview, Grandview and Jackson avenues were laid out in 1870, Mrs. Bolen is claiming property that does not belong to her. Mr. Arnold asked the Council for permission to proceed with the work, and on the advice of Cousellor Reed it was given him. He will have the street commissioner proceed with the work at once, regardless of Mrs. Bolen's claim.

MET HORRIBLE DEATH.

Father of Plainfielder Frightfully Gored by His Durham Bull.

Alfred I. Voorhees, a well known resident of Griggstown, near New Brunswick, and father of Stephen H. Voorhees, of Arlington avenue, met a horrible death on his place Thursday, after he had been attacked by a vicious Durham bull. The animal knocked him down and gored him frightfully, piercing his body several times and tearing his heart out. Farm hands who tried to beat it off narrowly escaped the same fate.

The funeral is being held at Griggstown today and Stephen Voorhees is in attendance. The victim was well known in this section.

Purchased a Thoroughbred Steed.

H. C. Compton, of West Front street, has sold his horse which he owned for a number of years and purchased a thoroughbred animal from a farmer at Cherryville, Hunterdon county. The horse is a beauty, full of action and can reel off a mile in quick time.

Aller Gulick, of the borough, has been spending several days in Clinton with friends.

At 7:30 her granddaughter, Helen Coriell, the seventeen-months-old infant of Mrs. Walter Coriell, also passed away. At 8 o'clock, Ottis Mundy, aged two years and seven months, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mundy, who reside next door to Mrs. Coriell, died from the same cause as the others. He had been sick about two weeks.

BAIL FOR SCADUTO.

Prosecutor Agrees to Bond for Italian Murdered—Indictment in Fall.

Luigi Scaduto, the murderer of Lorenzo Fauci, his fellow fish-peddler, is to be released under bonds. J. P. Owens, his lawyer, announced this morning that he had reached an agreement as to bail with Prosecutor English.

The bonds will necessarily be high, perhaps as high as $10,000, but the lawyer expects to be able to furnish them. If bail is granted and secured, examination before a justice will be waived by the defense. Scaduto will not be indicted before October, according to Mr. Owens.

Italians Will Pay Benford.

Francesco Carbo, Luigi Duviero, Carmo Parmello and Guiseppe Jinaro, the four Italians arrested for shooting off the home made cannon that exploded on West Fourth street, last Sunday and injured Peter Benford, were arraigned in the city court this morning. They agreed to pay the medical attention and Benford's lost time, and Judge Runyon suspended sentence. J. P. Owens appeared for the quartette.

TO RENOMINATE CHILDS

Somerset Democrats to Return Restaurant Man to the Senate.

REPUBLICAN WHISPERS

Frelinghuysen May Be Entered Against Childs, Who Defeated Him Three Years Ago.

The Democrats of Somerset county have definitely decided to renominate Samuel S. Childs for Senator at their next September county convention. Mr. Childs has served one term in the Senate, and, while he has not been an aggressive member of the Legislature, he has won the esteem of both Republicans and Democrats by his quiet, unobtrusive demeanor and his businesslike way of doing things.

The Somerset Republicans have not decided upon a candidate for Senator, but it is understood that Joseph H. Frelinghuysen, who was recently appointed as a colonel on the staff of Governor Stokes, is a candidate for the nomination. Mr. Frelinghuysen was defeated by Mr. Childs three years ago. There is some friction among the Republicans of Somerest county. It was caused by the contest between friends of Mr. Frelinghuysen and his opponents in the selection of the prosecuting attorney for the county. Mr. Frelinghuysen's candidate was appointed by Governor Stokes, and the applicant who was endorsed by ex-Senator Lewis A. Thompson and several other leading Republicans of the county was unsuccessful.

In this connection it can be truthfully stated that if Senator Childs receives a renomination that his running mate for Member of Assembly will be none other than Stewart Kenney, a prominent Somerville merchant.

CHEMICAL MACHINE FOR BOROUGH FIREMEN

COUNCIL ORDERS ONE BUILT AT NET COST OF $1870.

Through a resolution introduced by Chairman Lee, of the fire, water and lamps committee, the borough Council, last night, decided to install a combination chemical and hose wagon at fire headquarters in place of the old style hose wagon now in use. It will be built by the American La-France Company at a net cost of $1,870. The original bid, the lowest of three submitted, was $2,270, but the concern offered to allow $400 in trade for the rubber tired hose wagon purchased from the West End company when it disbanded. It cost the borough $350 but has never been used. The resolution was carried with only Mr. Humble voting against it.

The new machine will be almost an exact counterpart of the one at the West End house in the city and will be installed as soon as it can be built. It will carry a large supply of ordinary hose and will be equipped with improved chemical tanks of large capacity. Once it is placed in service, the department's efficiency will be greatly increased.

The Council also voted to purchase 500 feet of new hose, the first that has been bought since 1897.

LAWN FESTIVAL.

Junior Leaguers of Monroe Avenue Church Hold Outdoor Affair.

The Junior Epworth League, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, held a lawn festival on the grounds of the church yesterday afternoon. The affair was a great success. Between sixty and seventy young people attended it.

Games and ice cream and cake were the features. Miss Emily Haff, Rev. George Mooney, the pastor; and Mrs. Mooney supervised the children, and helped entertain them. The committee in charge included Florence Brown, Marion Praed, May Stafford and Clara Gilbert.

Elks Lay Corner Stone.

Vanderbilt S. Voorhees, the president of the Elks' Building Corporation, laid the corner stone of the new Elks' building at the corner of Albany and Spring streets, New Brunswick, this afternoon at 3 o'clock. There were no special exercises, but a number of the Elks gathered to witness the act. The corner stone is inscribed "July, 1905."

Elizabeth Negroes See Roosevelt.

There was a big exodus of people from Elizabeth yesterday to Asbury Park to see President Roosevelt. Most of the negro population in Union county went on special trains to take in the big day at the famous seaside resort.

GUN-PLAY BY DETECTIVE

McCarthy Shoots Benjamin Brown, Bad Man and Ex-Convict.

TRYING TO ESCAPE.

Fought Officer After Bullet Halted Him—Wanted for Threatening to Kill His Wife.

Benjamin Brown, wanted for threatening to kill his wife, attempted to escape from Detective McCarthy on Richmond street yesterday afternoon. The escape was stopped with a bullet, which ripped the calf of his leg. He fought against arrest even after the shooting, and nearly stopped the flight of another ball.

Brown is a crook, with two convictions, and the same number of terms of imprisonment on his record. He has traveled under several aliases and is known to the police throughout this State. He has been sentenced to five years in State Prison in Newark for shooting a man, and got a year in Elizabeth for stealing silk. He is the associate of freight car robbers, yeggmen and other roving desperadoes.

Brown's wife came to this city six months ago, and Brown followed her here in March. On March 2 he called the attention of the police to himself by drawing a revolver in Gloekler's saloon, Front and Somerset streets, and driving everybody out at the point of it. He was arrested before he did any shooting. He got twenty days in jail for that exhibition of his character. After leaving the county jail he went to Newark, which is regarded as his headquarters, and did not reappear in this city until a week ago.

Mrs. Brown came into police headquarters at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon in great excitement.

"My husband has just threatened to shoot me," she said. "He'll do it unless you get him. He has his revolver with him now—I saw it."

McCarthy was the only officer at headquarters, and he jumped on his wheel at once and rode to the freight house, where the woman said Brown was apt to be hanging about. He wasn't there, and McCarthy, remembering that the man had cronies in Richmond street, rode down there. He saw his man lounging in Callahan's grocery store.

Brown saw McCarthy coming for the store and ran out the back way. McCarthy followed close behind. Brown ran to Richmond street and turned in the direction of North avenue. He reached back toward his left hip pocket as he ran. McCarthy drew his revolver and fired into a hole in the street. Brown stopped reaching back and increased his speed. A few feet further on his hand again went back toward his hip pocket. McCarthy, knowing the man's character, thought it was time to stop shooting into the ground. Taking careful aim at the fugitive's legs, he fired. Brown staggered, recovered himself and ran on a few steps, then halted. The bullet was in the calf of his left leg.

McCarthy pulled out his handcuffs and reached for Brown's wrists. He turned on the officer and began a fierce struggle to break loose. McCarthy still had his revolver in his hand. He found it interfering with his grip on the prisoner and reached around to shove it into a side pocket. Brown was squirming and twisting in all directions, and in some way McCarthy's finger pressed the trigger again.

"I'm shot," exclaimed Brown, turning a contorted and pain-racked face to the crowd attracted by the chase and the shooting. As the doctor's examination afterwards disclosed, the bullet never went near him, but the appeal to the crowd worked just as well. Indignant comments on the brtutality of the police were freely made. If Brown had hopes of more active interference, he was disappointed. The detective called out the patrol wagon and rushed his prisoner to the station house. Dr. Lufburrow dressed the man's wound in the cell room. It is not dangerous.

Brown waived examination before Justice Mosher this morning. He was held without bail for the Grand Jury. The charge was the one made by his wife. If that is not sustained, he will be rearrested under a charge of resisting an officer. Codington & Swackhamer have been retained as his counsel.

BOW-WOW MEN'S ORDEAL

Solemn Ceremony at Police Headquarters Interrupted by a Drunk.

SPEECHES ARE MADE

Both Moore and Peterson Consent to Interview on Their Plans After Taking Formal Oaths.

Amid the solemn hush of trolley bells and the whoops of a drunk in Cell No 4, Dog-Catcher Pierre Moore and Poundmaster Charles Peterson took the oaths of office at the station house last night. Mayor Buckle administered it.

Moore made an attempt to appear at ease, but it was plain that the strain of the ordeal was telling on him. Peterson was palpably nervous. Poth looked undisguisedly relieved when the formalities ended. They responded to the mayor's congratulations with brief but appropriate remarks. The speeches were punctuated by cheers from the drunk.

Moore will not begin his hunt until he gets the badge prescribed by the ordinance creating his office. This will probably be pinned upon his galluses next Tuesday. In the meantime he is practicting strangle and jiu-jitsu holds on a little dog procured for the purpose. He intends to study lasso-throwing later on, and will vary the ordinary hand captures of his profession with lariat yanks from the seat of his well-trained high cushion-tire wheel, going at full speed. He says a few things like that are needed to make dog-catching popular and picturesque.

Poundmaster Peterson will get busy just as soon as Sleuth Moore gives him something to do. He announced after the oath of office was administered that he would use cyanide of mercury to do away with unclaimed dogs. The ordinance says the canines must be destroyed "in as humane a manner as possible." Peterson consulted Chemist Frank Rowley in regard to the poisoning method and the latter assured him that the cyanide was as quick and painless as any agent known. A bit of meat with a drop or two of cyanide of mercury on it is readily taken by a dog, and as soon as the stuff touches its tongue the bow-wow goes off into a dreamless sleep from which it never wriggles.

The bodies will be buried in quicklime.

BIGGEST CROWD YET AT BAND CONCERT

THREE SOLOISTS AN ATTRACTION LAST NIGHT.

With by far the largest crowd of the season in attendance, Bandmaster LaVere gave in Concert Park last night, one of the best musical programmes ever heard in the city. It marked an innovation in solo work and original features and kept the audience applauding continuously. Only popular selections were used throughout and to all appearances they were just what the people wanted.

For the first time outside of New York, the Mills house sent out three vocalists, "Billy" Redmond, "Billy" Murray and Lew Leever. Murray first sang "Yankee Doodle Boy" and at the chorus the band stopped while Redmond and Leever joined him, the trio making a splendid effect. For an encore they gave, "Give My Regards to Broadway" in the same way. Later in the evening, Leever sang "Pretty Mary" with the trio on the chorus and afterward, "Good Bye Sweet Marie." Louis Anderson, the popular cornetist, contributed two numbers, "Columbia Polka" and "My Old Kentucky Home."

Another feature of the programme was a descriptive number, "The Band Goes on a Strike," in which the musicians quit their places because Bandmaster LaVere allowed a tramp soloist to join them. The tramp proved to be an all-round musician and showed how he could perform on two instruments at once, allowing the leader to ignore the strikers and continue without them. The tramp part was played by Charles Drake, a Plainfielder who recently returned to the city after serving several years with an army band in the Philippines.

SOME IMPROVEMENTS FOR PARK AVENUE

CHANGES TO BE MADE BETWEEN SECOND STREET AND RAILROAD.

Plans are being perfected to make some changes in the property on Park avenue recently acquired by John G MacLaughlin and Charles W. McCutchen. It is said that Mr. MacLaughlin proposes to move the building now occupied by M. C. Dobbins, Clifton & Campbell and A. E. Hoagland, to a point about where the office of Boice, Runyon & Co. stands. That office building is to be moved nearer the railroad, about where the old office stood, and the other building will be shifted to the extreme end of the property owned by Mr. MacLaughlin.

It is then proposed to move some of Mr. McCutchen's buildings to the site to be vacated, thus giving him an opportunity to start the work of erecting new buildings as originally planned. By this change tenants will not have to move for some time, at least, and the improvements can be made without disturbing them to any extent.

Mr. McCutchen has not yet perfected his plans for new buildings, but it is expected that operations will begin within a short time. It is expected that the ground floors will be used for stores and the upper ones for offices and flats. The new buildings will be modern in every particular and will harmonize with the new trust company building.

The new buildings will have to be moved back to allow for the proposed widening of Park avenue, the work on which will be started soon.

FORMER PLAINFIELDER RETURNS

Charles Bullman Now in the City After Many Years' Absence.

Charles Bullman, a former well known Plainfielder who graduated from the Plainfield High School in 1879, has returned to the city after many years in the western part of the country and South America. He came direct from Mojave, Cal., where he has been in the employ of a large mining company as expert. He is now at the home of his mother, Mrs. VanName, of Third place, and will remain in Plainfield indefinitely.

Mr. Bullman completed the course in the School of Mines, Columbia College, after leaving the local schools and then went West. He met with many interesting experiences and probably has an extensive knowledge of the territory through which the Panama Canal is to be built as any man in the East. A great deal of his time was spent in that section as expert in the interest of mining concerns. He was also in Venezuela and other South American countries.

BLOCK STREET WIDENING

Property Owners Object to Any Extension of Somerset Street.

PETITIONS CIRCULATED

That Dam Question Comes Up Again, but Nothing is Done —Resolutions of Respect.

Much to the surprise of Mayor Smalley and several of the members, property owners on Somerset street presented a petitioned to the borough Council, last night, asking that no action be taken to widen that thoroughfare above Jackson avenue. It was signed by Andrew Lutkins, George Steiner and twenty-nine others, the total representing 4,360 feet of frontage. No action in regard to the improvement was taken and none was intended until a petition was presented asking that the widening be done. It is understood the petition to this effect is now being circulated, but the opposition displayed gives the matter a new aspect.

Following Chairman Arnold's report of street work, a discussion about the condition of upper Somerset street took place and the old subject of the Cooley dam causing water from Stony brook to flow out and destroy the macadam, was brought up. It developed that nothing has been done toward taking down the obstruction although the Council many months ago had been informed it would. Mr. Lee made some pointed remarks in which he inferred that the condition of the street is a disgrace and that a "certain man" had quoted a State law to him under which an official fixing a road and not doing it properly could be made amenable to the law. This reflected upon Chairman Arnold, who has the work in charge, but his explanation of affairs showed that he has done everything that could possibly be done and that the street will never amount to much until the dam is removed. The "certain man's" quotation of law was also set at naught by Borough Counsel Reed, who stated that the act in question applied only to State roads.

Mr. Reed was instructed by Mayor Smalley to draw up the proper form for the establishment of a building line on Vine and other streets and on motion of Mr. Arnold it was moved that the Council install a storm sewer in West End avenue at a cost not to exceed $2,350, provided the property owners grade it 100 feet and macadamize it thirty-three feet. The policemen and firemen were granted a week's vacation with pay and the following appointments were made: Street commissioner for thirty days, William B. Emmons; call men in fire department, Ferdinand Rockfellow, Patrick McDonough and John Doud. The resignations of George Gaddis and James Frazer, call men, were received and accepted. On motion of Mr. Arnold, resolutions paying tribute to the memory of John Valiant, were passed.

H. DE MOTT'S THREAT TO BOROUGH COUNCIL

WOULD REMOVE UNLESS PETITION IS GRANTED—IT IS REFUSED.

A petition was received from Henry DeMott at the North Plainfield Council meeting last night asking permission to erect a frame barn 25 by 40 feet in the rear of 56 Somerset street. With its presentation Clerk Rowley informed the board that in the event of its refusal Mr. DeMott had made the open declaration that he would remove from the borough. The threat did not seem to disturb the members as they voted against giving the desired privilege on the ground that it would be to near surrounding structures and also that the roof covering it was said would be used was not fire-proof.

A sample was submitted to the Council and though it was asserted in the petition that is was asbestos, it burned readily when a match was applied to it.

$250,000 WING PLANS FOR STATE HOSPITAL

BOARD OF MANAGERS WILL RECEIVE BIDS JULY 20.

The board of managers of the New Jersey State Hospital at Trenton met at the hospital this week and decided to advertise for bids for the construction of the new $250,000 addition to the institution. The advertisements will be placed today and bids must be in the hands of the board on or before July 20. The plans are on file in the office of the Commisisoner of Charities and Corrections at the State House.

The addition will consist of two new wings constructed at right angles to and adjoining the present annex, one at each end. The north wing will be for men and the south for women. Each will be built of stone, 250x65 feet, and three stories in heigth. Each wing will have accommodations for 200 patients.

There will be an ornate entrance in the centre of the front facade. The floors will be identical and each will contain two complete wards, with nurses' quarters, toilet rooms and other necessary rooms. Each floor will have a large dining room. A complete system of water works for fire protection will be provided in each wing. A steam heating plant will be installed.

To provide the additional heat, the boiler capacity of the institution will be largely increased. This will be accomplished by tearing out the old boilers and installing four new ones. They will be of the return tubular type, 14 feet long.

DRUG STORE CHANGES.

Improvements to be Made at L. W. Randolph's

L. W. Randolph, the West Front street druggist, has just signed the contract for extensive improvements to be made at his pharmacy, which, when completed, will make it one of the finest in the State, if not the country. The improvements call for an almost complete change of the front part of the pharmacy and will give the much needed additional floor space for customers at the soda fountain, as well as those wishing to purchase drugs and medicines.

On the right as one enters the store there is to be placed a handsome mahogany cabinet case eleven feet high, in the front of which will be a large oval glass. This will be used for the display of the large six cut glass bottles, and will also contain a perfumery department and one for Huyler's confections. This cabinet will occupy the space between the fountain and window and a large bevel mirror will fill the other part between the cabinet and window. The cabinet will be illuminated at night by numerous electric lights.

On the opposite side of the store will be placed a pier mirror to reflect the beauties of the other side. This will be eleven feet high and seven feet wide and from the point of the mirror there will be a thirty foot silent show case of mahogany resting on a base of pink Tennessee marble. This elaborate change of floor space will greatly add to the convenience of customers. The cashier's desk will be at the corner of the show case, opposite the fountain, and will be in keeping with the other handsome woodwork and will have a glass front and sides. A parquet floor will be used in the show cases and they will be equipped with all modern appliances. The work of improvements will be completed during the month of September, according to contract.

Hackettstown's Booklet.

Hackettstown, July 8.—The local Board of Trade has issued a booklet, entitled "A Brief Description of One of the Most Attractive Towns in Picturesque Northern New Jersey." The book contains a number of high class illustrated articles on the different advantages of the town. BAKING DAY

The day when all good things, cakes, pies, bread and cookies are to be baked is a real joy to the young housewife who uses a Gas Range. She has no fear that her cake will burn in too hot an oven or spoil in one too cool. A turn of the stop-cock insures just the proper heat. If there is room, vegetables may be boiled in the oven on baking day, thus saving fuel. To be sure of the best results in this method, the vegetables should come to a boil over one of the top burners before going into the oven. Ranges $9.50 to $15.00.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Warren concerts are on at the St. Nicholas Garden, 66th street and Columbus avenue. They begin at 8:30 every night. Coolest place in town and a good clean entertainment of the higher class. Popular prices.

The sensational comic hit is to be found at the Hudson. It's The Heir to The Hoorah. The Hoorah is a mine and the show is one also—but the former's filled with gold and the latter with rich entertainment. The man that wrote the play is dead, but his show will live on forever for it's got the elixor of life in it. If you're looking for one best night trace your steps around to 44th street, near Broadway. Evenings at 8:30. Matinees Saturday at 2:15.

There's no show in New York that compares with Fantana, which is making a record-breaking run at the Lyric. Jefferson DeAngelis makes the laughs so thick that you can't count them and he has with him Katie Barry, a whole performance in herself. The Shuberts have had to continue the run indefinitely notwithstanding the inappropriate season. But it is as cool at the Lyric as on a roof garden these days and nights and besides you can get the laughing hysterics there. The 203rd performance will take place tonight. Matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

FOR PARDONS COURT.

Applications of Garrabrant and MacQueen Will Come Up.

The committe of the Court of Pardons appointed for the purpose will begin Monday, at Trenton, the examination of the applications made by the inmates of the State prison for pardon. The committee is composed of Judges Vroom, Bogert, Vredenburgh, Green and Gray.

Special interest attaches to the meeting of the court this term, because Libbie Garrabrant will again try for a pardon. At the last term, with a vacancy in the court, she came within one vote of securing her liberty. Her friends believed if a full court had been sitting the pardon would have been granted.

The appointment of James B. Dill fills the vacancy and those who are working for Miss Garrabrant will put forth strenuous efforts to secure the coveted liberty for the famous prisoner.

Through the efforts of the Rev. Alfred W. Wishart, the application of William MacQueen for a pardon will also come before the court. MacQueen is serving five years for alleged rioting and malicious mischief in Paterson. Mr. Wishart has interview several members of the court in an endeavor to bring about a sentiment in favor of MacQueen's release.

Leg-Pulling Job.

Ex-Mayor Charles J. Fisk, of Plainfield, positively declines to be a candidate for State Senator in Union county this fall. The honor was his for the asking. —The National Lead Company, known as the lead trust, lost its case against Secretary of State Samuel D. Dickinson on final appeal to the Court of Errors and Appeals, by a decision handed down by that court Thursday. The decision is of considerable importance as touching New Jersey's income from corporations.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

Stafford says he gives to all his work that touch of distinctiveness that makes it attractive.

E. B. Maynard's barber shop on North avenue, is strictly up-to-date and the work is the best.

V. W. Nash, of Park avenu, can sell you the best coal at the lowest market prices. Place your order now.

William H. Kirch, the contractor, would be pleased to quote you estimates if you are thinking of building a home.

J. A. Koch's butcher shop at Watchung avenue and Second street, is a model one. Only the best meats are sold.

If interested in buying or leasing real estate consult G. F. Brown, of Somerset street. He handles gilt-edged properties.

The Stillwell Milk and Cream Co., at Watchung avenue and Second street, sell certified milk and cream, also butter and eggs. The price is low.

The best meats to be found in the city or borough are at Frank Neidig's Lincoln market, on Somerset street. Orders sent in by telephone will be delivered promptly.

Delicious soda water, the kind that quenches thirst during the torrid summer days, is to oe had at B. J. Schreiner's Park avenue pharmacy. Only pure fruit juices used.

Awnings for the porches and windows are the very best way to keep out Old Sol's warm rays. VanCamp & Franklin, the Front street dealers, will make and erect them for you at a low cost.

During the summer months, Neuman Brothers, the Watchung avenue grocers, make a specialty of fresh fruits and vegetables—not a half-hearted attempt at supplying them. They maintain a big variety of each and it is easy to make selections. All next week they will feature blackberries, raspberries, huckleberries, peaches and plums.

Mauch Chunk for July 9th.

There is no grander scenery anywhere than you will find on the journey to Mauch Chunk via the New Jersey Central.

Jersey is attractive, especially in the northern section, and the rolling country offers a variety of attractions the like of which no other section can boast. Pennsylvania and its mountains are too widely known to need elaboration, but Mauch Chunk and vicinity is a garden spot, if ever there was one. The Switchback Railroad is novel inasmuch as no motive power is needed for operation. The inclines are gradual and in the fourteen-mile journey there are many interesting experiences and fascinating scenes are unfolded with a strattling rapidity.

For a day's outing there is no place more thoroughly enjoyable than Mauch Chunk, and when the small cost of a day's trip is considered there is little left to be said. The New Jersey Central will run one of its popular one day excursions to Mauch Chunk on July 9th by special train, which will leave Plainfield at 9:20 a. m., arriving at Mauch Chunk before noon. The returning train does not leave the mountain resort until 5:30 p. m., hence there is ample time for journeying over the Switchback, visiting Flag Staff and Glen Onoko. 7-7-2

Fishing and Shooting.

A new region, now accessible for the first time by rail, and known as the "Temagami" (pronounced Temmog-a-me) District, is being brought to the notice of the public as one of the finest fishing and hunting confines in Canada. Excellent sport is assured all who take advantage of a trip to this magnificent territory which is situated 300 miles north of the city of Toronto at an altitude of 1,000 feet above the sea. Black bass, speckled trout, wall-eyed pike and other species of fish are found here in abundance, and large game, such as moose, caribou and deer, abound in the forests. A handsome booklet, profusely illustrated, giving all information, including comprehensive maps, can be had free on application to F. P. Dwyer, E. P. A., Railway Exchange, 290 Broadway, New York. 6-27-tf

Curfew in Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, July 8.—For the first time in fifty years the curfew bell tolled in Pittsburg Thursday. There were two curfews, one for girls at 8:15, the other for boys at 9:45. A few arrests were made before midnight. The curfew idea was revived by Chief Wallace, because too many children were hanging around the streets at night. The law is an old one which has been on the ordinance books of the city many years, but has been disregarded.

Vanderbilt, Jr., cup, on September 23.

PULPIT TALKS FOR SHUT-IN PLAINFIELDERS

NO. 4—By the Rev. Lawrence Riggs Howard, Pastor of Hope Memorial Chapel.

o.....o
: He restoreth my soul.—Psalm :
: xxiii:3. :
o.....o

Probably there is no song or poem in all the literature of the world which has brought peace and comfort to so many hearts as has the twenty-third Psalm. Its sweet and simple phrases are among the first the children learn, the little lambs of the flock who early come to know and love the tender shepherd's name. Men and women, too, who have reached the prime of life are thrilled beyond their comprehension as they lend their firmer voices to the recitation of those well known words. They feel a cooling and restful touch upon their fevered brows, and all the heat and burden of the day is forgotten in the pleasing consciousness of green pastures and still waters. In quietness and in confidence they find their strength, in accordance with the word of the Lord. And then the old folk, how they cling to the sweet assurance of that psalm. The dark shadowed vale loses its terrors and the rod and staff of Jehovah become their comfort and their stay.

It would be a rare pleasure to trace in full, if such a thing were possible, the life history of that psalm. What richness of feeling would be revealed as we began with a glimpse into the heart of him who sang it first on the far Judean hills. How our hearts would thrill again in company with those of Jehovah's servants long ago who heard for the first time those tender words as sung by him who has so well been called the Sweet Singer of Israel. Then as years passed by and the chosen race cried out of exile to their God, what joy to see the weeping children cheered and comforted with the assurance of His constant care in their behalf, preparing His table before them in the presence of their enemies.

But time would fail me to suggest more than the most meager outlines of that wonderful story. It would need to take us through the most eventful years of Israel's history, and then, with the coming of the new evangel, round the earth. We might listen to the chantings of saints and martyrs of the early church bravely singing in the face of death. We might join in the songs of Waldensians as they worshipped in their hiding places through the forests of southern France, or of Covenanters on Scotland's hills. Our hearts would throb again on bleak New England's shores, or in the homes of exiled Huguenots, toward the south, hearing the words of Israel's Shepherd King cheering and comforting the brave hearts of those who truly seemed to have no other king than Jehovah and no other guide on the rough paths of life.

Then, as if such past history were not enough, every heart which has ever known the beauty and the helpfulness of those living words as the nt expression of its own faith, would have another story to add. A story, this, of the inner life with toils and pains and perils, to the world unknown, all lightened and soothed and turned aside by the sweet influence of that psalm.

I seem to hear, even now, the rich voice of the singer who sang so long ago, and the trembling strains of the harp sink almost to silence, as solemnly, yet tenderly, he begins. "Jehovah!" Oh, the reverence and the devotion that swell in the loved tones of that sacred name—"Jehovah is my shepherd." Back into his younger years, out upon Bethlehem's hills, I follow the memory of the shepherd poet. I see him gently leading the mothers of the flock, and carrying the little lambs warm in his arms. I see him finding their pastures and guarding them from harm, fighting the bear and the lion, and singing his songs in the starlight as he watches them through the night.

Jehovah is my shepherd;
I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures;
He leadeth me beside the still waters.

All that the singing shepherd ever had been or longed to be to the helpless creatures in his care; all of strength and of tenderness, all of wise guardianship and unaffected love, all that was Jehovah to him. No wonder his voice, though strong and clear, vibrates with rich and tender emotion as scene by scene he pictures Jehovah's care for himself in terms of the shepherd life.

Sunddenly, however, the theme soars to a higher and diviner level. The wonder of Jehovah's love carries the singer beyond all that even so rich a figure can suggest, and the beautiful voice rings out exultantly in the glorious cry,

He restoreth my soul!

It is probable that now the memory of that pleasant shepherd life is for the moment replaced by the thought of a troubled and uncertain present. Loneliness and despair have pressed him hard. The hatred of friends once dear has eaten like poison into his soul; or perhaps the greater bitterness of conscious sin has all but overwhelmed him in remorse. Oh, the misery of such life in death! but no! it is not so, the faith of childhood years is with him still. The fainting spirit is revived, and he sings with exultant gladness to the shepherd of his soul. As green pastures and quiet waters revive the wearied lambs of the flock, so doth Jehovah restore life to the soul. As the shepherd chooses safe paths for the sheep to follow, so the Lord guideth his own in paths of righteousness, for his name's sake.

It is a wonderfully beautiful thought, is it not? And how true to human experience! With all the power of the human mind and will, and with all our capacity of feeling, we are nevertheless but as helpless sheep in the wilderness of this life. Beaten by the storms of a seeming ly harsh fate, driven to and fro by beasts of sin and selfish passion, what hope remains for struggling humanity? Even when outward conditions seem pleasant at first the soul that is without guidance and inspiration soon finds itself lost in a hopeless maze. Distressed and scattered, as sheep having no shepherd, is the appearance of the multitudes to one who appreciates their need.

I suppose everyone has felt at some time the soul weariness which follows presently upon such a state, and that I believe is why the shepherd psalm is of such universal power. There is no device of man which will satisfy the need. There is no human arrangement which can provide restoration to the soul. There is no material wealth so great as to purchase one moment of that inner peace and rest which is our heart's desire. No, a man can not restore his own soul. In vain he seeks by outward expedients to regain that freshness and vigor of faith, and hope, and love, that honest simplicity of affection, that pure strength of character which once seemed to be his, but which have vanished with increasing years as vanishes the morning mist before the sun. Exhausted at last he must learn, if he will live, that God alone restoreth the soul.

"Hast thou not known? hast thou not heard? the everlasting God, Jehovah, the Creator of the ends of the earth, faineth not neither is weary; there is no searching of his understanding. He giveth power to the faint; and to him that hath no might He increaseth strength." The soul of man is of God and retains its native force and vigor only as the life of God continues to be its constant inspiration. This is the truth which underlies the shepherd psalm and all the devotional literature of the world. This it is which is the ever new gospel of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

"Jack" McFetridge, the well-known twirler, is now with the Atlantic City team.

Badgeley, formerly of the Alls team, is now pitching for Madison, of the Lackawanne League.

"Dan" Connolly is the only member of the local team to escape an error and his fielding average is one thousand per cent.

Today's game will be the sixteenth on the Oval this season and every fan hopes for a victory. The locals have lost but two contests out of fifteen.

It is the opinion of some that Kiernan is not as fast at shortstop as he should be and that he plays an indifferent game. Notwithstanding that he made seven errors in twelve games, he has forty-three assists and twenty-three putouts.

A week from today Plainfield and Westfield will put on their war paint. This year the fans can truthfully say: "May the best team win." The fans will accompany the team and encourage the players by rooting loud and long. It will be "play ball" from start to finish.

TODAY'S GOLF.

Events at Country Club and Park Golf Club.

There will be continuation of play for the president's and Park Golf Club cups at the Park Golf Club this afternoon, and at Westfield there will be special events.

The events at the Plainfield Country Club today will include second round match play for the championship, consolation and third eight cups, which was begun on Fourth of July, and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon there will be golf ball sweepstakes. The finals in the championship play, consolation and third eight will be played on Saturday, July 15. On that day there will also be play for the women's championship.

Jersey Central Team Slow.

In view of the recent showing of the New Jersey Central team against Westfield, it seems doubtful whether Manager Daab will play that team this season, especially since the Westfield games have been scheduled. The railroad boys might engage a big league battery, but it is not believed that the other members of the team would make a strong enough showing against the locals. Mr. Daab does not care to experiment at this time of the year and wants to schedule only such teams as are known to be first class.

Jimmie Beisel Found.

Jimmie Beisel has been heard from. He is now pitching for the Keyport team, and last Saturday, against the Freehold Seniors, he won his game 2 to 1, twelve innings. Four hits were made off his delivery. Harry McCormick, foremrly of Pittsburg, is playing center field for Keyport.

CIRCUS COMING.

Sautelle & Welsh, Brothers' Shows Here Thursday.

The small boy and his sister have long been looking forward to Thursday, July 13. Yes, and the older folks, too, doubtless have the day marked on the big calendar, for isn't the great Sig. Sautelle and Welsh Bros.' combined railroad shows scheduled to exhibit in Plainfield on that date? The circus will come here on its own specially constructed cars, of which there will be two long trains. The advent of the circus will recall to mature minds the days of early youth. In retrospection we can see ourselves as little children getting up long before daylight to watch the circus come to town. And we shall always vividly remember the delightful impression the first made on us. It may have been a very small and unpretentious affair,—even insignificant, when compared with the Sig. Sautelle and Welsh Bros.' circus—but it will always linger in the memory.

Every sign seems to indicate that these all new and enormous shows will be given a royal welcome in this city.

The first important event of circus day will be the gorgeous gigantic free street parade, which will leave the show grounds promptly at 10 a. m., and traverse the principle thoroughfares of Plainfield.

This pageant is said to be second to none and is worth traveling many miles to witness. It will be replete and resplendent with a profusion of such features as are customarily found in a large and well-regulated circus parade. Don't miss the mammoth free street display. The exhibition place will be at Fourth street and Darrow aveneu.

THE FORUM.

Editor The Daily Press:

In your Thursday's edition appears an item which states that Fred J. Huff had succeeded in straightening out the tangle for some lots at Lincoln that had been purchased by Bernard Clark, A. B. Lusardi and G. W. Eddy. About four years ago I was ousted as manager of property at Lincoln by parties who were jealous of my success. The new manager sold at auction some lots and gave the deed to parties named and others, but did not release the lots from mortgage, which they could have done. Subsequently I purchased the property and discovered what former managers had done, and knowing the only way to clear the lots sold from all claims was to have mortgages foreclosed and let the balance of property pay it. So last May I asked the Morton Trust Co. to foreclose the mortgages, which they did, as I personally requested, and while it took a year to sell the property, it was done last week, and the Trust Co. took the title to the balance of the outlying property for their claim, and this action released every lot of every claim that any company ever gave a deed for at Lincoln. The Trust Co. has since sold the property to outside parties, receiving their full claims. I make this explanation only that credit may be given to the one who fought the fight and bore the burden of the fray, and if there are any bouquets to be given away, I am entitled to some of them.

Yours truly,
SILAS DEWEY DRAKE.

BIG FIRE IN NEW YORK

Over a Score, Caught in Back Draft Are Overcome by Smoke

Burned, half choked and fainting, more than a score of firemen staggered or were dragged down the long ladders and fell into the arms of their comrades at a fire which last evening burned out the four upper floors of the Wing & Son piano warehouse at Ninth avenue and Thirteenth street, New York.

The fire was a fierce one during the first two hours and looked for a time as though it might furnish a long fatality list. It had to be fought in the air, and treacherous back draughts drove back crew after crew on the upper floors. Nobody was killed, however. The list of injured is:

Adrian, James, Engine No. 26; overcome by smoke; resumed work.

Burns, James, Engine No. 13, overcome by smoke; resumed work.

Connelly, John, Engine No. 3, overcome by smoke; resumed work.

Cramer, Frank, Engine No. 26, overcome by smoke; resumed work.

Easley, Larry, Truck No. 5, head and arms burned; taken to St. Vincent's Hospital.

Fanning, Ralph, Engine No. 3, overcome by smoke; resumed work.

Finley, John, Truck No. 5, clothes burned off; taken in serious condition to St. Vincent's Hospital.

Gunther, George, Insurance Patrol No. 3, overcome by smoke; taken to St. Vincent's Hospital.

Gillen, Thomas, Engine 3, overcome by smoke; resumed work.

Hogan, John, Engine 9, lacerated thumb.

Irving, William, Engine 19, overcome by smoke; resumed work.

Johnson, Robert, Truck 5, burned; taken in serious condition to St. Vincent's Hospital.

Lennon, Frank, Truck 5, burned; taken in serious condition to St. Vincent's Hospital.

McManus, John, Engine 18, overcome by smoke; taken to St. Vincent's Hospital.

McMahon, William, Engine 3, overcome by smoke; resumed work.

Moore, John, Engine 3, overcome by smoke; resumed work.

Mealey, John, Engine 1, overcome by smoke; taken to St. Vincent's Hospital.

Maskell, Edward, Engine 26, overcome by smoke; resumed work.

Noth, Ernest, Lieutenant; face, hands and back burned; resumed work.

Spillane, Maurice, Engine 26, overcome by smoke; resumed work.

Werner, Fred, Truck 5, face and hands badly burned; taken to St. Vincent's Hospital.

Whitcomb, Herbert, Engine 26, overcome by smoke; resumed work.

The fire started at 8:30 p. m. on the fourth floor, which was occupied by the Dale Co., manufacturers of electric light fixtures and specialties. An automatic alarm gave the firemen the first notice. It was scarcely ten minutes before the entire upper half of the building was aflame, and the firemen sent in a third alarm. Deputy Chief Duane, who had charge in the absence of Chief Croker on his day off, sent in a fourth alarm, bringing apparatus from as far south as the Battery.

The first three floors of the building, which were chiefly damaged by water, were occupied by Wing & Son, with a stock of pianos.

The half of the street floor facing on West Thirteenth street was occupied by Branch C of the New York post office. The Coke Dandruff Cure had a shop in the building, as also did Wallace & Thomson, wholesale grocers. Above the Dale Company, on the topmost floor, was the firm of Trier & Bergfield, makers of photographic mounts.

The Dale Company and Trier & Bergfield were completely burned out.

A squad of men from Truck No. 5 were sent up to the fourth floor to try to get a line of hose on the flames from the Ninth avenue side, but just as they had about succeeded, the windows on the floor above broke out, and the back draught swept the smoke and flames directly upon the little company of men.

They stumbled to the windows half suffocated. Finley's clothes were afire, and some of the other men were almost as badly off. They managed to get down to the street.

Part of the crew of Engine 26 had an almost similar experience and were brought to the ambulance surgeons one after another to be revived. Engine 3 also sent a half dozen men to the upper floors, and one after another they succumbed to the smoke.

Dr. William O'Leary, of St. Vincent's Hospital, who was passing, opened an emergency hospital in a restaurant run by J. Sice, directly across Thirteenth street, and aided the injured.

Proceedings of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County.

OFFICIAL.

Regular meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, N. J., held on Thursday, June 1st, 1905, at 2:30 p. m.

Roll call showed all members present except Director Hubbard and Freeholder Scudder—18.

Owing to the absence of Director Hubbard, through illness, it was unanimously ordered that Freeholder King be designated and appointed to act as Director pro-tem.

It was further ordered, owing to the absence of the clerk, that N. R. Leavitt be designated and appointed to act as clerk pro-tem.

The minutes of the pervious meeting were on motion approved as read.

COMMUNICATIONS, ETC.

From special committee of Charity Organized Society of Elizabeth:

Board of Chosen Freeholders, Union County, N. J. Dear Sirs:

Application has been made to individual members of your honorable body in behalf of the Charity Organization Society of Elizabeth, for the assignment of an office room for the society in the new County Court House. It has been suggested to us, however, that this formal application should be made to you in order that the matter ma ybe brought before you for consideration.

This Society is a quasi-public corporation, having as its object the relief and advancement of the poor and needy in the city of Elizabeth, irrespective of race, creed or color. It is the corporate successor of former charitable organizations of the city and is accomplishing an important and ever increasing work among the needy. It is, further, allied with the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children which has jurisdiction of cases not only in the City of Elizabeth, but throughout the county, and the same office can be readily utilized by both Societies. The present headquarters of the Society in the Day Nursery are illy adequate to the work of the Society, and adequate quarters cannot be obtained in the City Hall.

Allied as we are to the charitable work of the public, we trust that our appeal may meet with a favorable response and that room can be found for our Society in the new building under your supervision. We would of course propose to meet any extra expense entailed in the use of the room by our Society,

Respectfully submitted this thirteenth day of May, 1905.

C. N. Bingham, D. T. Moore, H. Hayward Isham, William T. Day, James C. Connoly, Special Committee.

Received, and on motion, referred to the committee on public grounds and buildings.

From "Progress Realty," by A. D. Mulford, Pres.

Elizabeth, N. J., 25th, May, 1905.

To the Honorable, Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, N. J., Gentlemen:

The undersigned would beg to present to the notice of your honorable body the following state of affairs existing on West Grand street between Bayway and Clover street, this city.

This Company is the owner of a piece of land running through from old Jersey street to West Grand street with a frontage of fifty feet on West Grand street. There is a small stream running along the westerly boundary of this property, which formerly crossed West Grand street at an angle. At the time however, when the old wooden bridge across Grand street was changed, the bridge committee of your body shifted the southerly end of the bridge easterly about forty feet, so that the culvert would run straight across West Grand street at right angles to that street, so that it now runs compiletely across the frontage of our land, thus destroying it and preventing the property from being used. We append a diagram, which should show the exact condition of affairs. We trust this matter will be taken into consideration and some relief given.

Signed Progress Realty, by A. D. Mulford, Pres.

Freeholder Krouse moved that the communication be received and referred to a special committee of five, which was so ordered, without dissent.

The Director appointed as the said committee, Freeholders Krouse, Woodruff, Westphal, Cladek and Kline.

To Clean Shirt Waists.

The first thing to remember about lingerie waists and tub hats is that if they are to outlast more than one season they should be laundred before thye get soiled. It is no economy to get just one more wear out of a slightly dirty blouse, for grease cannot be washed out of it without radical and severe treatment warranted to destroy very delicate material.

A great many women undertake to launder their own lingerie waists, preferring to do this rather than intrust them to the ravaging process of the general wash—and fluffy hats of the muslin, embroidery or linen varieties are easily washed by the owner herself after having been ripped apart by the same hands.

When the lingerie waist assumes that grayish, yellow tinge that seems never to want to disapper, soaking it over night in buttermilk before washing will bleach it, and if one night has not improved it twenty-four hours surely will, says the New York World.

Very delicate material should never be rubbed in the washing. The best way to avoid separating the threads of delicate fabrics is to have already made a jarful of liquid or soft soap to be used for washing these materials only. Scraps of white soap cut up and dissolved in hot water make the best kind of suds. By adding a teaspoonful of alcohol to each quart of soapsuds the cleansing process will be materially lightened. The water should be tepid and the material should never be rubbed or wrung out, merely squeezed and gently shaken in the water.

Many people use bran, which is an excellent substitute for soap when washing delicate muslins. Boil wheat bran in about a quart of soft water (rain water if possible), for half an hour. When cool strain off and use in place of suds.

For delicate waists and frocks a thick corn meal mush well salted will take out the dirt without fading the material. The mush is used as if it were soap and the material will not require starching. It should, however, be rinsed in two waters at least.

For those who prefer the laces over their summer frocks starched stffly the dry starch should be mixed with cold water until it is of the consistency of milk, then boiled until it it perfectly transparent. Frills and edges should be squeezed through the starch and then rolled in a towel and clapped until they are fairly dry. Now pull each bit of lace out exactly as it is to look when dry, pin on the ironing board or on a pillow. When dry press between tissue paper with a hot iron. Where a cream-colored lace has faded to white a few teaspoonsful of coffee added to the starch will give it back the yellowish look. Experiment with a rag until you get the right shade. Grease spots that won't vanish with ordinary measures can be removed from cotton or linen by rubbing with ninety-five per cent. alcohol, then sponged off with weak alcohol and a small quantity of ammonia added to it. A little javelle water is used to remove peach stains which won't come out by boiling. This is the way to prepare it:

Into a large saucepan, porcelain-lined if possible, put four pounds of bicarbonate of soda and four quarts of hot water. Stir frequently with a wooden stick until the soda is all dissolved; then add one pound of chloride of lime and stir occasionally until nearly all the solids are dissolved. Let the liquid cool in a kettle, then strain the clear part through a cheese cloth into wide-mouthed bottles. Put the stoppers in and set away for use. The part that is not clear may be set away for cleaning white floors.

In making this preparation be careful not to spatter it on your clothing or on the paint. Use one-half teaspoonful to every quart of water.

The amateur laundress seldom appreciates the necessity of having a sleeve board, but she will certainly be repaid by purchasing one at the beginning of the season. A small traveling flatiron is a most usual adjunct, but may be replaced at a crisis by a hot water bottle.

Wants More Concessions.

Mayor Fagan, of Jersey City, has vetoed the street and water board's resolution giving the Erie the right to construct an open cut through the hill. The Mayor argues that the railroad company has not made sufficient concessions in return for the vacation of certain streets and portions of streets.—Paterson Press.

Misleading Figures.

Municipal ownership of a public water supply may be all right, but if the City of Elizabeth should secure a municipal water supply, it will be sadly disappointed if it bases its hopes of profit upon the report concerning the great profits made by East Orange since it owned its water system. According to this report, East Orange issued $600,000 worth of bonds, where as $850,000 were issued, and a profit of over $100,000 was made out of an unexpended balance from a sale of bonds! East Orrange's profit on its investment thus far is not very large, but it has great expectations as to the future.—Orange Journal.

VANITY'S VISIONS.

Ideas In Gowns and Accessories That Make For Smartness.

Linen collar and cuff sets for wear with tailored gowns are ornamented with eyelet embroidery done in heavy white silk. These sets sell for 75 cents and up, according to the work on them.

A dark gray mohair flecking of black and white crossed with fine black or white lines is one of the novelty materials used for traveling frocks.

Shirt waists of dotted swiss are among the pretty things seen in the shops. They are trimmed either with lace or swiss insertion.

A white taffeta silk parasol has a wide border of Dresden silk about the edge, below which is a ruffle of chiffon.

An odd ornament is a dull gold cross about two inches long, each point set with a large amethyst. Strings of beads in deep yellow are selling for 50 cents that are very effective.

Bright red veils with large chenille dots, either in black or self color, are striking features in veildom.

Very dainty are the belts of white silk ribbon with a suspicion of pink or blue in them.

Many rows of valenciennes lace trim the front of a pale blue mull blouse waist.

Very smart is the white muslin frock illustrated. The skirt is made with a succession of puffings of the muslin. The tiny jacket is formed entirely of these puffings and is edged with a fall of lace. The elbow length sleeves carry out the same trimming idea and are banded with ribbon. The high waistband is of taffeta silk.

CHIC STYLES.

Pompadour Bows Trim Lingerie Chemisettes—Colored Mull Hats.

Put a series of little black velvet bows down the white lingerie chemisette if you want it to look especially new and smart.

Soft, floppy lingerie hats in pretty colored mulls are wonderfully attractive when worn by a pretty girl.

Leghorn hats are back again—tiny, tip tilted affairs trimmed with flowers and feathers.

The new hairdressing almost rivals the exaggerated fashion of the curls and puffs of long ago.

Wide embroidery with an edge makes some exquisite summer blouses. The edges from the front set apart over a strip of the plainer part or join over a strip of the sheerest tucking, buttoning down over tiny pearl buttons.

A new material known as voile panama in all shades of tan, greens and cadet blues is seen in the leading shops.

One of the pretty fashions of the season is the placing of thin fabrics over chameleon and shot silks.

Black ribbons lace some of the smartest white ooze pumps. These lacings are daring, but exceedingly striking.

Suspender frocks are a new way of showing off the dainty lingerie blouses, and there are other new means being invented constantly.

Have you seen the flesh colored veil with its beauty patch here and there?

There is a new corset that laces and hooks in the front. It costs $5, but is said to give a rounded, pretty curve to the back.

It is the fashion this summer to embroider the owner's monogram in several shades of contrasting silks on the ankle of the stockings worn with low shoes. The cut shows a stocking worked in this attractive manner.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

[Copyright, 1899, by F. Tennyson Neely.]

They were lingering in 'Frisco, still hopefully, were the Primes. The detectives on duty at the landing stage the evening Stewart's regiment embarked, swore that no one answering the description of either of the two young men had slipped aboard. Those in the employ of the sad old man were persistent in the statement that they had clews—were on the scent, etc. He was a sheep worth the shearing, and so, while Mr. Prime spent many hours in consultation with certain of these so-called sleuth-hounds, the young ladies took their daily drive through the park, generally picking up the smiling Schuyler somewhere along the way, and rarely omitting a call, with creature comforts in the way of baskets of fruit, upon the happy Billy, whose limits were no longer restricted to his tent, as during the first week of his arrest, but whose court was ordered to sit in judgment on him the first of the coming week. Already it began to be whispered that Armstrong had a mine to spring in behalf of the defense, but he was so reserved that no one, even Gordon, sought to question.

"Armstrong is a trump!" said Billy to Miss Lawrence, one fair morning. "He'll knock those charges silly—though I dare say I could have wormed through all right; only, you see, I couldn't get out to find people to give evidence for me."

"Do you—see him often?" she asked, somewhat vaguely.

"Armstrong!" exclaimed Billy, in open-eyed amaze. "Why, he's here with me every day."

"But never," thought Miss Lawrence, "in the morning—when we are."

The eventful Monday was duly ushered in, but not the court. That case never came to trial. Like the crack of a whip an order snapped in by wire on the Thursday previous—three regiments, the —teenth regulars and the "Primeval Dudes," Armstrong's splendid regiment among them—to prepare for sea voyage forthwith. More than that, Gen. Drayton and staff were directed to proceed to Manila at once. Two-thirds of the members of the court were from these regiments. A new detail would be necessary. The general sent for Armstrong.

"Can't we try that case here and now?" he asked.

"Certainly," said Armstrong, "if you'll send for Canker that he may be satisfied."

And Canker came and listened. It was admitted that Gray had had a long talk with the prisoner, took him his overcoat, newspapers, etc., but, in extenuation, they were members of the same college society and their social standing was, outside the army, on the same plane. Gray deserved reprimand and caution—nothing more. As to the carriage, he had nothing to do with the one that drove to camp that night. A man in the uniform of a commissary sergeant giving the name of Foley (how Canker winced) had ordered it at the stable and taught the driver "Killarney." Gray had 'phoned for a carriage for himself, hoping to get the officer of the day's permission to be absent two hours to tell his story in person to the general, who was dining with the department commander. He never got the permission, and the carriage went to the wrong camp. Lieut. W. F. Gray was released from arrest and returned to duty.

"I shall never be able to thank you enough," said he, sentimentally, to Miss Lawrence, at the Palace that evening. They were strolling up and down the corridor, waiting, as was Schuyler, for Mildred to come down for the theater. Gray's curly head was inclined toward the dark locks of his fair partner. His eyes were fastened on her faintly flushing face. They made a very pretty picture, said people who looked on knowingly, and so thought the officer in the uniform of a colonel of infantry, who, while talking calmly to Mr. Prime full 30 yards away, watched them with eyes that were full of sadness. How could he see at that distance that her eyes, clear and radiant, were seldom uplifted to the ardent gaze of her escort, and were at the moment looking straight at him? How could he hear at that distance the prompt response, given with an inclination of the bonny head to indicate her meaning?

"There's where your thanks are due, Mr. Gray."

Quite a gathering of army folks was at the Palace that night. So many wives or sweethearts were going home, so many soldiers abroad, and Mrs. Frank Garrison, gay and gracious, passed them time and again, leaning on the arm of Capt. McDonald, a new devotee, while poor Cherry, with an enamored swain from the Presidio, languished in a dim, secluded corner. She had been recalled by parental authority and was to start for Denver under a matronly wing on the morrow. Mrs. Frank had been bidden, and expected, to go at the same time, but that authority was merely marital. Up to this time not one army wife had been permitted to accompany her husband on any of the transports to Manila, though one heroine managed to get carried away and to share her liege lord's stateroom as far as Honolulu. The general and his staff, with a big regiment of volunteers, were to sail on the morrow, the other regiments as fast as transports that had conveyed the earlier expeditions to the Philippines began to reappear in the bay, and coaling and refitting were hurried to the utmost. The man most eager to get away was Stanley Armstrong; and if merit were to decide the matter it was conceded among the volunteers that in point of style and equipment the "Primeval Dudes" "held over" all competitors, even though every competitor believed itself more than a match for the Dudes if actual campaigning and fighting were in contemplation. Senators and members from the states represented by the volunteers at San Francisco led burdensome lives, for officers and men were pulling every wire to secure the longed-for orders for an immediate voyage to Manila, when, all on a sudden, the hopes of all were crushed. Spain had begged for peace. "No more men can be sent to Manila," said the officials consulted, and Camp Merritt put on mourning forthwith.

But Armstrong had been studying the situation and was not easily daunted. He was a man whose opinion carried weight, and from the very first he had maintained that while 15,000 or 20,000 might be men enough to hold Manila, 50,000 might not be enough to subdue at once the forces of Aguinaldo in case they should turn upon the Americans, which, said he, placidly, they will most certainly do before we are a year older.

The Dudes, therefore, much to their disgust, were kept steadily at work. Other regiments, profiting by example, followed suit; but in others still, a small proportion of their membership, believing, as they said, that the "jig was up," took to lawless and unhallowed expression of their disgust and became thereby a nuisance to the neighborhood. San Franciscans, who had wept copiously when others sailed away, would have seen these patriots sent into exile without shedding a tear.

A Famous Mountain Resort.

Mauch Chunk, within easy excursion distance of New York, is one of the most strikingly picturesque resorts in the country. Lying among the hills twelve miles within the Lehigh Gap, it appears to be so completely walled in, that it is only when the traveler has attained one of the commanding summits, and descried the wonderful horseshoe bend of the narrow valley, that he can conceive how such a cul de sac can be approached from any direction by a railroad. The houses rise above each other as they back up against the rising hillside. On the opposite side of the river the precipitous bluffs of Bear Mountain, from the Indian of which the town derives its nome, form the front of the horseshoe round which the current sweeps.

Trout fishing may be indulged in at the preserve of the Penn Forest Brook Trout Company which comprises about sixty-five ponds and dams and is fed by four mountain streams. Nearer at hand, however, are the great scenic attractions of the resort. A trolley line attains the "Flag Staff" on the mountain at the southern end of the city, and westward lies the old Switch-back or Gravity Railroad which historically and physically is of the most unique interest.

On Mount Pisgah, behind the site of the town, coal was discovered by a hunter in 1791. The earliest anthracite mines of the country were opened in this vicinity, and the Gravity Railroad was constructed to bring the output down the river. The length of the line was nine miles, and it was constructed at an even grade for the whole distance. Mules were used for years to haul the empty cars back to the mines. These sagacious beasts were wont to toil patiently up the long road, but they refused flatly to be driven down having once become accustomed to the exhilaration of coasting with the coal and enjoying the beauties of the natural scenery. In 1844 a return track was laid. Machinery was installed to draw the cars up Mount Pisgah and Sharp Mountain, but the cars ran the remainder of the way by their own gravity. Of late years the railroad has been used exclusively for recreation.

As we ascend Mount Pisgah the earth seems to sink away from us, and the vast amphitheatre of the hills falls into perspective. It is a thrilling sight. The summit reached, we slowly cross a trestle over a wild ravine. To the north lies Broad Mountain, and we catch a glimpse of Glen Onoko through a distant ravine. Behind us the Lehigh Gap is outlined in blue. The river winds below like a silver serpent, banded by a bridge where it is crossed by the Central Railroad of New Jersey. The towns cuddled in the valley sides look like toy houses from a Noah's Ark. Now we gather speed as we roll along; on the right rises a ridge buried in forest, and below, on the other hand, we pass the old tunnel and hamlet of Hackelbernie. From Bloomingdale Valley the second ascent is made, this time to a slightly higher attitude, and again we scan a wide panorama bounded by mountain ranges. From here we scarcely travel a mile before we come to the turning point, the quaint old mining village of Summit Hill. Here there is much of interest to be seen. The mines may be visited, and the burning mine, a vein which has been smouldering since 1832 and is now on fire at a great depth, should be seen. The return ride over the nine miles of continuous descending grade is perhaps the pleasantest part of the trip. Starting gradually as before, great speed is soon attained, and we whistle through the greenwood on the wings of the wind. Under the shadow of great crags, through forests of rhododendron and laurel, by purling mountain streams, and out again across open pasture land the car leaps like a thing alive. Finally we descry the roofs and spires of Mauch Chunk, and all too quickly the ride comes to an end. Whoever is thrilled by the scenic railways indoors at Coney Island, should try this indescribable coast of eighteen miles around the everlasting hills.

The New Jersey Central runs fortnightly excursions to Mauch Chunk at popular prices, and if you are intrested send for circulars to C. M. Burt, General Passenger Agent, New York City.

Dill's Change of Front.

"Don't chase the easy dollar," James B. Dill told the members of the graduating class of Oberlin College, in his commencement address on Wednesday. The popular notion is that Mr. Dill has been for a number of years chasing "the easy dollar," and that his pursuit was not entirely unsuccessful. The reflections on "dummy directors," also have an odd sound when coming from one who has so successfully worked the "dummy" in organizing great corporations. It is another case of "Don't do as I do, but do as I say."—Trenton Times.

Judges Dropped Their Gowns.

It became plainly evident after the close of the Revolution that the members of the bar did not care to retain their gowns. In 1791, on petition of leading counsellors, the rule requiring their use was rescinded. About the same time the judges of the Supreme Court laid aside their gowns, and, while records are not extant, it is safe to say that by 1800 both bench and bar appeared at the trial of cases in costume conforming to the uncertain canons of that much abused term "Jeffersonian simplicity."—Trenton True American.

MR. HALL, OF SUMMIT, SURRENDERS HIMSELF

POLICE REFUSE TO CONSIDER HIS CONNECTION WITH A MURDER MYSTERY.

James Hall, of Summit, slightly the worse for wear and a struggle against booze, approached Officer Messler on Park avenue last night.

"You want me," he said sadly. Dougherty says you want me for the murder of Ed. Kelly. But I didn't do it. Kelly shot himself."

Dougherty is the chief of the Central Railroad police, and Messler thought it worth while to take Mr. Hall to headquarters.

The latter made his statement again.

"Phoo!" said Chief Kiely, "you're a bum. It's con you're trying to throw around. Take him back."

It was the second time Mr. Hall had told that tale to the Chief. About six months ago he fled to one of the cops for protection against Chief Dougherty, who, he said, was trying to hypnotize him into confessing his guilt. An Ed. Kelly was killed in a freight car over two years ago, but Mr. Hall knows nothing of the killing beyond what he has read and dreamed. He was chased back to Summit this morning by Judge Runyon.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss will occupy his pulpit at the First Baptist church tomorrow morning and night.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First Presbyterian church enjoyed an outing at Boynton Beach on Thrusday. The trip was made by trolley.

The men of Plainfield are most cordially invited to hear Rev. Dr. Parsons, the speaker at the Y. M. C. A. men's meeting Sunday, July 9, at 4 o'clock. The music will be especially attractive with Rhys Thomas, of the Crescent Avenue church, as soloist, assisted by the choir of the First M. E. church.

To put a stop to reading of the Bible in all the public schools of the United States is the object of a campaign promulgated at the central conference of Jewish rabbis, which came to a close yesterday at the temple in Cleveland, Ohio. A committee to consider the subject of sectarianism delivered a report, declaring that Bible readings, as largely prevalent in the public schools of the country at the present time, are in violation of the spirit of the Federal Constitution, and, in most cases, amount to a plain discrimnation against Jews and Catholics. To arouse public sentiment to such a state that such sectarianism would be eradicated through the enactment of laws prohibiting Bible readings in the public institutions of the various states the committee formulated a pamphlet denouncing the practise and setting forth the reasons why it should be discontinued.

FIRST PEACHES.

Burlington Man Claims This Season's Honors.

The festive Jersey peach made its season's debut at Burlington yesterday, when six baskets of the fruit were brought to market by W. V. Livesey, a farmer living near that place, on the Bordentown road. The peaches were of one of the early varieties and were well developed for this time of the year. Hucksters bought the six baskets on sight, paying good prices for the fruit.

The peach crop in this section promises to be up to the average this year, although in some localities the trees are suffering considerably from the scale and blight.

In Memory of F. S. Lockwood.

A service in memory of the late F. S. Lockwood, the well known religious and temperance worker, will be held at Reform Hall tomorrow afternoon at 4:15 o'clock. There will be several short addresses and a special programme has been arranged.

Mrs. Willis Kent Mackey, of this city, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. J. B. Kugler, of Clinton.

Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Groendyke, of the borough, have returned from an extended pleasure trip to California.

ROYAL ARCANUM MAY REVISE NEW RATES

ASSURANCES THAT THE SUPREME COUNCIL WILL BE RECONVENED.

Members of Plainfield and Greenbrook Councils, Royal Arcanum, are much interested in the reports received from all over the country by the committe of nine which was appointed by the convention of Long Island councils of the Royal Arcanum to work for the reconvening of the Supreme council to reconsider the new insurance rates, which are to go into effect October 1 next, insure that the Supreme body will be reconvened.

Michigan, Illinois, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey and Pennsylvania have declared against the new rates and will, it is asserted, instruct their representatives to the Supreme Council to act with the New York representatives.

Ten representatives of the fifteen accredited from the State of New York, to the Supreme Council have pledged themselves to vote for the reconvening of that body. There are seventy-six representatives to the Supreme Council at the present time, each State having a representation in accordance with its membership in the order. Section 5 of Chapter 3 of the Supreme Council constitution, says that before a special session of the Supreme Council shall be called a majority of the representatives must sign a request for its assembly.

The committee of nine has been working indefatigably to compel the reconvening of the Supreme Council, and at a meeting of the committee Wednesday night, Chairman William McCabe announced that he had secured the pledges af ten representatives of New York State to sign the reconvention request. Mr. McCabe also said that he expected shortly to secure the pledges of the remaining five representatives.

The committee of nine voted unanimously to request all the representatives to the Supreme Council, irrespective of States, to join in the demand for the reconvening of the Supreme Council.

HARPER KILLS CRY OF "TAINTED MONEY"

PLAN EVOLVED BY WHICH JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER'S CASH IS RECEIVED.

Chicago, July 8—Friends of President Harper, of the University of Chicago, assert that he has by a diplomatic campaign killed the "tainted money" warfare against John D. Rockefeller. The "tainted money" cry has hurt the University of Chicago. In order to check the gossip, Mr. Rockefeller, the founder, has given no large gifts for two years. He has given all necessary for current expenses.

Mr. Rockefeller wanted to give $100,000 to the American Academy of Arts in Rome. He gave it in the name of the University of Chicago. There was no cry of "tainted money" and the donation was gladly received. President Harper then determined upon a big coup. This was to give his alma mater, Yale, a big present. Mr. Rockefeller gave a million, and there was no objection because of the "taint" on the money. Now Dr. Harper is in an attitude of expectancy. He expects $3,000,000 for Chicago.

AT THE SEASHORE.

J. G. Loizeaux and Charles Loizeaux are season guests at the Beachwood Inn, Asbury Park.

Mr. and Mrs. William VanDeventer registered this week at the Normandie, Asbury Park, and will spend a fortnight there.

WARNER NOT PLAYING

Sam Crane Comments on the Plans of the Former Giant Catcher.

CAN'T STAND THE WEST

Story Scouted That He Would Go To Hoboken If He Wanted An Independent Berth.

In view of the general rumor that Jack Warner, the ex-Giant, who has just broken away from the St. Louis Nationals, is to go behind the pan for Westfield, some paragraphs by Sam Crane in the New York Evening Journal last night on the veteran backstop have more than passing interest to the local fans. Says Crane:

"While Jack has no desire to jump his contract and thus put himself under the ban as an outlaw, he does not want to play in St. Louis, or, in fact, in the West. He says that he cannot stand the St. Louis climate, and that it would seriously endanger his health if he was obliged to. Jack does not even want to go to Cincinnati, the climate there not agreeing with him. He hopes to figure in some deal whereby he will be exchanged to some Eastern club, and prefers Philadelphia. He would not object to casting his fortunes with the New York Americans, but to join any American League club every National League club would have to waive claim to his services, and that does not look probable, although it might be accomplished. In the meantime Warner will remain at his pleasant little home in the Bronx, recuperating from his disappointing St. Louis experience and awaiting developments."

This reads as if Warner had been talking to Crane, and what the latter says is inspired. It does not appear, reading in that light, that Warner is considering any offer to play independent ball. For his part, Manager Denman says no sensible manager of an independent club wants Jack, because he is an inveterate trouble maker and busts the peace of any club he signs with.

But the fan may well wonder what this, which winds Crane's comment up, means:

"But if Jack wants to do the "kangaroo" stunt he would only be obliged to jump across the river to Hoboken, as Daab's club of that Jersey burg has broken away from the national agreement, and while that in itself is not outlawry, still it is next door to it. But as Mr. Daab has not yet stolen any players from "organized baseball" there is no need of hoisting the piratical red flag over there just yet, but still Hoboken will doubtless be considered another outlaw haven by disgruntled players in their futile endeavors to hold up the poor, downtrodden magnates."

Nobody knows of any reason why Daab should want to replace Jack O'Neil with Jack Warner, unless O'Neil wants to go. Warner is no better than O'Neil, no matter how good he may be; it is open to question if he even has as much all-round speed as the semi-professional. It is to be doubted that Warner "would only be obliged to jump across the river" if he went hunting an independent berth.

PUSHING STREET WORK.

Commissioner Gavett's Men Busy in Various Parts of the City.

Street Commissioner Gavett is steadily pushing the street repair work in various parts of the city. Just now the street gang is engaged in repairing East Fifth street, between Watchung avenue and Richmond street. The Public Service Corporation has been installing a new switch on this street, to take the place of the old one which has been doing duty there for several years. The trolley company is bearing its share of the expense for the repair of the street.

The company has also been making repairs to its tracks on Monroe avenue, between Fourth and Seventh streets, and Contractor C. M. Meeker has just finished his work of macadamizing the avenue. This thoroughfare has been in need of repairs for a long time, and when the work is completed it will be one of the best in the city. Mr. Gavett is also preparing to start other repairs as needed about the city.

Its First Shore Excursion.

The Seventh-day Baptist church and Sunday School will accompany the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church on its annual excursion to Asbury Park on Thursday. This will be the first time in the history of that church that it has had an excursion of this kind.

PLAINFIELD PASTORS NOW ENJOYING VACATIONS

PULPITS TO BE IN CHARGE OF SUPPLIES DURING THEIR ABSENCE.

Within a short time all of the Plainfield pastors will be on their annual vacations and the various pulpits will be occupied with supplies during the month or six weeks that the pastors are away.

Rev. A. E. Finn, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will leave on Friday, July 28, for Jeffersonville, Montgomery county, Pa., where he will remain until September 1. During his absence the supplies at his church will be as follows:

July 30, Rev. George B. Shaw, of the Seventh-day Baptist church; August 6, Rev. B. D. Stelle, of Philadelphia; August 13, Rev. G. M. Shott, of Scotch Plains; August 20, Rev. George H. Waid, of Vassar, Mich.; August 27, Rev. J. R. Ellis, of Cohoes, N. Y.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, of the First Baptist church, will be absent from the city on July 30, August 6, 13, 20, 27 and September 3. The list of supplies has not yet been completed. It will be announced within a short time.

Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, will spend his vacation in Maine. The supplies have not yet been announced. Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel, is enjoying his vacation at Northfield, Mass.

Rev. J. W. Musson, of Faith chapel, will go to Martha's Vineyard, where he will take a course of study in oratory. From there he and Mrs. Musson will spend the remainder of their vacation in Maine and at Washington, Mr. Musson's former home.

Rev. Charles E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, will take his vacation in August, and will spend the time abroad. His supplies will be completed within a week or so.

Rev. C. L. Goodrich, of the Congregational church, will be away during August, and he will spend his vacation in the New England states.

Rev. A. C. Nickerson, of the Unitarian church, has gone to his summer home in New Hampshire, and during his absence his church will be closed, reopening in September.

Rev. A. C. McCrea, of the First M. E. church, will be away during August. There will be no evening preaching services during the month, the Epworth League taking charge of those meetings.

Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, of Trinity Reformed church, will be away the entire month of August, although his plans as to where he will spend his vacation have not been decided upon. The supplies secured are as follows:

August 6, Rev. Thomas W. Jones, of Bedminster, N. J.; August 13, Rev. William T. Pannell, Flanders, Morris county, N. J.; August 20, Rev. Peter K. Hegeman, of Central Bridge, N. Y. On August 27 the church will be closed for the usual cleaning.

SEWER COMMISSIONERS POSTPONE THEIR MEETING

ABSENCE OF S. P. T. WILBUR MAKES IT NECESSARY.

Owing to the absence of S. P. T. Wilbur, the sewer commissioners, comprising himself, R. A. Meeker and J. W. Murray, Jr., were unable to meet last night as planned. Upon the return of Mr. Wilbur from Buffalo, where he went to attend the Elks convention, a meeting will be held to arrange the report to be presented to the Common Council at its next meeting.

According to the law, the commissioners are only obliged to hold one public meeting to treat with property-owners. At that meeting only a small percentage of the owners were present, and it is left to the commissioners to determine the amount of damages and benefits to be assessed them for the proposed extension of the sanitary sewers in the streets already decided upon and published in the local newspapers. Aside from a right to appeal to the courts in case of what property-owners might think was an excessive assessment, the Common Council will accept the report of the commissioners as final and be governed accordingly. The report will undoubtedly be presented at the August meeting of the Common Council.

Overcome by Heat.

Mrs. Louis Skelley, of North avenue, who commenced work at H. W. Marshall's laundry yesterday morning, was overcome with the heat soon afterward. Dr. A. H. Dundon happened to be in the vicinity and he gave the proper treatment, after which he removed the woman to her home, where she is convalescing.

FOR BETTER POLITICS

Young Republicans Decide to Form a Club to Further Interests of the Party.

MEETING FRIDAY NIGHT

Judge Runyon to Be Asked to Allow Organization to Be Named for Him.

Prompted by a desire to further the interests of the party, a number of young Republicans have met within the last few days to discuss the advisability of organizing for that purpose. As a result of these meetings it has been decided to take the first steps toward organization on Friday night. Accordingly, a public meeting will be held at I. C. T. club rooms, in the Taylor building, at 8 o'clock sharp.

The promoters suggest as the title of the organization "The William N. Runyon Republican Club of Plainfield." Mr. Runyon is in Buffalo at present and on his return will be asked to allow the club to be named for him. The only conditions of membership are that the applicants pledge themselves to work solely for the nomination of clean Republicans and to assist at the polls and on election day in whatever way possible without compensation, and furthermore to discourage and prevent the unlawful use of money in politics. The intention of the promoters is that factionalism shall find no place in the organization and that the efforts of the members be lent to upholding the hands of all officials who recognize but one master, and that is the taxpayers.

SICK MAN SAYS HAY WAGON RAN OVER HIM

AGED MICHAEL BRADY, OF PHILLIPSBURG, FOUND HELPLESS IN BARNYARD

Israel Ten Eyck, superintendent of the Industrial Home, telephoned to police headquarters this morning that a drunken man was lying in the barnyard of James Wheeler, 1731 West Front street. Patrolmen Higgins and Payne were sent out with the patrol wagon to get him.

They found Michael Brady, sixty years old, of Phillipsburg, lying in the barnyard, but not as described. He was not drunk, but very sick. He was barely able to talk, and the policemen hustled him to headquarters at top speed and sent for Dr. Lufburrow, the city physician.

Brady crept into the barnyard last night, and went to sleep under a hay wagon. He says somebody drove the wagon off this morning without noticing him, and the wheels went over his body.

He vomited a lot in the station house, and Dr. Lufburrow was not sure that he had not sustained serious internal injuries. He was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, where it was found he had a fractured rib and internal hurts. At noon his condition was critical.

At the meeting of the board of directors of the Plainfield Water Supply Company, in Elizabeth, this morning, the vacancy in the directorate caused by the recent death of Captain James Franklin Hubbard was filled by the election of William J. Whalen, of Elizabeth, and he was also chosen secretary and treasurer of the company to succeed Captain Hubbard.

Mr. Whalen has been associated with the Plainfield Water Supply Company for several years, succeeding Theodore F. French, and his promotion is a recognition of his faithful and efficient services for the company.

The couple returned here in the afternoon and later started on a short wedding trip.

B.P.O.E'S. IN CONVENTION

"Best People on Earth" Now Transacting Business at Buffalo.

BIG PARADE TOMORROW

Original Idea of William L. Holbert, Formerly of This City, to be One of its Features.

With the greatest number of delegates in attendance ever known before the annual convention of the Elks began at Buffalo yesterday. Preliminary affairs occupied the time, and today the election of officers will take place.

It is conceded that there will be no opposition to the slated advance of last year's officers one notch higher than the places they are now holding.

There are several candidates for the two vacancies on the Board of Grand Trustees caused by the prospective election of Robert W. Brown, of Louisville, as grand exalted ruler, and the expiration of the term of John D. O'Shea, of Lynn, Mass.

These are the only offices to furnish the semblance of a contest. The Pittsburg lodge is working hard to land W. W. McClelland, of that city, on the board.

Grand Treasurer John K. Tenor, of Charleroi, Pa., said his report to the Grand Lodge, which would be submitted today, would show the order to be in the best financial condition.

Bands are marching the streets with gay flags and banners, and Denver, Col., and Dallas, Texas, have already rival processions campaigning for the next Elks' convention. Apparently the most interesting contest of the great gathering will be over the question of where the Elks will go next year.

Thirty-five of the advance guard of the Dallas members of the order, every man an enthusiast, arrived at their headquarters at the Iroquois Hotel yesterday. An immense "Lone Star" five feet in height pointed the way at the foot of the stairs to the dining room, where the Dallas Elks were assembled two floors above. Around the five points glowed stars of white incandescent lamps, and in each of the five corners stood a letter of the State's name. In the center illuminated by purple lights, are the words "Dallas, 1906."

One of the features of the convention will be the great parade, which takes place tomorrow. Numerous prizes have been offered and the various lodges are exerting themselves to win them. The Scranton Elks will march as a "minstrel show," the interlocutor, circle musicians, dancers, singers and specialty men walking in the order usually given at a performance, and the various stunts being done as the parade is in motion. The idea was firstsuggested by William L. Holbert, a member of the lodge and a former resident of this city.

George O. Stevens and Frank Rowley, of Plainfield Lodge, left for the convention this morning. They went mainly to see the parade and will return Thursday.

CAPTURED TWENTY-TWO SMALL BOY SWIMMERS

NORTH PLAINFIELD COPS CAPTURES CLOTHES AND COMPELS SURRENDER.

The entire North Plainfield police force went out yesterday after the small boys who have disturbed the neighborhood by swimming in Hyde's millpond. The people near the pond were not only shocked by the lack of modesty in the boys, but suffered considerable annoyance by reason of tramped down lawns and flower beds and other disorderly acts on their part. L. V. F. Randolph finally took the matter up and swore out a complaint.

Armed with the complaint, Chief Marshall Weiss, at the head of Marshals Emmons, Pope and Flack, sneaked down on the boys yesterday afternoon. They executed a flank movement and swooped down on the clothes that were scattered all over the bank. Then the boys came up and surrendered. Twenty-two in all were captured.

They were full of penitence and good promises when arraigned before Recorder Doud last night and sentence was suspended in each case with a warning.

Outing Tickets Selling.

Tickets for the Republican County Committee's outing, July 29, are selling rapidly in this city, according to Chairman William Newcorn, of the committee in charge. All the members of the county committee have the tickets for sale, and if they run shy Mr. Newcorn has supply enough to replenish their stock.

CAPT. HUBBARD'S WILL

Offered for Probate at Surrogate's Office This Morning.

EXECUTORS NAMED.

Bequeaths $1,500 to Seventh-day Baptist Church and $1,000 Each to Two Granddaughters.

The will of the late Captain James Franklin Hubbard was offered for probate in the office of Surrogate Parrott, Elizabeth, this morning. Isaac N. VanSickel, a son-in-law, and James C. Pope, of this city, are named as the executors.

According to the provisions of the will, Joseph A. Hubbard, a brother of the departed, receives the sum of $3,000, and a sister, Mrs. Mary A. Pratt, is given a house and lot at her home in Scott, New York.

To his granddaughters, the Misses VanSickel, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac N. VanSickel, of Madison avenue, he bequeaths $1,000 each, and the Seventh-Day Baptist church, of which Captain Hubbard was a member, receives $1,500.

The residue of the estate is bequeathed to the widow and daughter, Mrs. Isaac N. VanSickel. Although the value of the estate is not known, it is believed to be considerable both in cash and property-holdings, and as stated the bulk of this is left to the widow and daughter.

HEAVY PUNISHMENT FOR WILLIAM DALY

GETS $20 AND SEVEN DAYS ON EACH OF THREE COUNTS.

Recorder Doud had a busy time in the borough police court last night. In addition to the boy swimmer cases there were four others before him. Only one of the prisoners, William Daly, was punished.

Daly is the man who kicked up a sinful fuss over the payment of his taxes, attacking Borough Clerk Rowley and Special Marshal Dooley, who was sent down after him. Daly faced three charges—using bad language, trying to do up the collector and hitting at the marshal. The recorder scored him roundly on each charge and dropped eighty-one days on him, $20 and seven days on each count. He was taken to Somerville by Chief Marshal Weiss this morning.

Will Brown, a hobo, and Jake Burgin, colored, both charged with drunkenness and disorder, were released under suspended sentences. Henry Voehl, arrested for drunkenness, was fined $20, but the fine was hung over his head, pending another lapse. He won't have to pay if he stays good.

JURY OUT UNTIL MORNING.

Counsellor Swackhamer Fails to Convict Hotel Man.

S. S. Swackhamer, as borough counsel of Garwood, was in charge of a health board case against a hotel keeper of that borough last night that was in the hands of a jury from 10 o'clock until 3 o'clock a. m. The jury disagreed, 11 for conviction and one for acquittal.

The defendant, Caspar Buhler, was accused of letting cesspool water drain into the street. The hearing began at 8 o'clock, and the jury took it at 10. They returned for instructions at 1 o'clock, and reported then that they were eleven for conviction and one against. At 3 o'clock they filed in, unable to agree, and were discharged.

Garwood people filled the court room and overflowed into the field around the court room. It was the most interesting case ever tried there. It is said that the juror who held out for the defendant is a particular friend of the latter, and had been guilty of the same offense himself.

Lightning Strikes the Ground.

When Plainfielders were looking for a downpour of rain yesterday afternoon, a heavy bolt of lightning struck the ground close to Michael Quinn's blacksmith shop in East Fourth street, and while it did no damage, the occupants of the shop were given a severe shock. An examination afterward failed to show where the bolt struck. It was the only lightning flash all the time the black clouds hung over the city.

LOCAL FANS ANXIOUS FOR SATURDAY'S GAME

CONFIDENT PLAINFIELD WILL WIN THE THE WESTFIELD SERIES.

Interest is increasing at a rapid pace in the first of the Plainfield-Westfield series to be played at Recreation Park on Saturday. The locals will be accompanied by a large and loyal band of rooters, who will do their utmost to help the Daabsters win the first contest. Manager Daab feels confident that his team is strong enough to do the trick. He will have a new second baseman, one who will be equally as fast as the other infielders, and with this player, whose name cannot be mentioned just now, it will be hard to improve the team. Turner will probably occupy center garden in Cosgrave's place, and he can be depended upon to do his share toward a victory. Although Mr. Daab has not definitely announced who will stand on the firing line, the fans can rest assured that the artist will be a good one. If it is Billy Beck, it will be because Mr. Daab has every confidence in his ability to score a victory.

Manager Denman, when seen last night, said that so far as he was able to state at present, he thought his lineup would be the same as used at Trenton on Saturday, when the team defeated the Y. M. C. A. by a score of 1 to 0. He also states that he fully believes that his aggregation will take the first game. "Red" Waller informed him this week that he intended to pitch his arm off to win, and that means business, for there are times when "Red" is far from working so hard. As a rule he does not have to go the limit, but it is safe to say that he will be obliged to do so on Saturday. Every member of the Westfield team is "on his job" and each one has received instructions from Manager Denman that there is to be no kicking from them, that Captain Mallen will do the talking for the team and they are to keep quiet.

The Plainfield fans go into the series with more confidence than ever, for they have every reason to believe that the local team is the strongest independent team in this part of the country, and with a record of fifteen victories out of seventeen games, the boys ought to maintain their winning streak. From Captain Driscoll down there is a great desire to win, and if the best effort counts, Plainfield should score her first victory.

LOCAL ELECTRIC PLANT NOT TO BE MOVED NOW

LARGE INCREASE IN BUSINESS KEEPS IT HERE.

It has been generally understood that it would only be a matter of a short time when the city and borough would receive its electric power from the large plant of the Public Service Corporation at Metuchen, and the electric plant here would be transferred there.

It is learned on good authority that such a change will probably not be made in several years, owing to the large increase of business here. It was thought that the Metuchen plant would be able to take care of this section, but as large as it is and as fully equipped, it will be impossible for it to do so now, and it will likely be some years before this can be done. The Metuchen plant is constantly being improved and added to, so that the large business can be cared for properly.

Denmans Little Gem.

Charlie Denman, sometimes known as manager of the Westfield Baseball Club, contributes this gem to the interest of the approaching conflict between Plainfield and Westfield:

"One of the Best Pitchers on Earth—Mr. John J. Waller, otherwise known as "Red," assisted by Messrs. Cotter, Smithson, Rochford, Kellogg, Barry, Bertwhistle, McGoey and Mallen, will present the nine inning drama, 'Get the First,' at Recreation Park, Westfield, Saturday afternoon, July 15. Doors open at 3, curtain at 4, drinks at 6:15."

A CONVENTION ROMANCE

Young People Who Met at N. B. Y. P. U. Gathering Wedded in Borough.

BOTH WERE DELEGATES

Miss Ida Church, of Somerset Street, the Bride, and William D. Johnson, of Scotch Plains, the Groom.

A romance which had its beginning three years ago at the annual convention of the National Baptist Young People's Union at Providence, R. I., resulted last night in the marriage of Miss Ida Louise Church, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Church, of 243 Somerset street, and Edward William Dodd Johnston, of Scotch Plains, which was celebrated at the home of the bride's parents in the presence of the members of the immediate families of the contracting parties. Rev. G. M. Shott, formerly of Scotch Plains, but now of Yonkers, N. Y., officiated.

The bride attended the Baptist convention as a delegate from her society at Hackensack, while Mr. Johnston was a delegate from the Scotch Plains Baptist church, accompanied by Rev. Mr. Shott. The two delegates formed an acquaintance at the convention which soon ripened into love and had its consummation in the wedding last night.

Miss Church has been a well known and popular public school teacher in Bergen county for a number of years, and also an active worker in the church and Sunday school of the First Baptist church of Hackensack, her native city. Mr. Johnston is the president of the Young People's Union of the Scotch Plains Baptist church and is popular in that community.

That these young people have a host of friends was attested by numerous valuable and beautiful presents, among which was a beautiful token from the Young People's Union of the Scotch Plains church, and very choice united gifts from the church choir, officers and teachers of the First Baptist Sunday School of Hackensack, and from the Board of Trustees, teachers and scholars of the public school at Palisades Park, where the bride has been a teacher for the last seven years.

After a light wedding supper, accompanied by the hearty congratulations of their assembled friends, a liberal shower of rice and old shoes, bride and groom took their departure in a carriage hastily decorated by the assembled company, for a brief honeymoon trip. They will reside with the parents of the bride for the summer and in the fall set up for themselves in a new home of their own now in course of construction at Scotch Plains.

MARY AND JOHN.

They Had a Scrap on Somerset St.—L. M. Daniel, Magistrate.

John Cuff and Mary Hurley, both colored, traveled together until last night, when dissension drove Mary and John apart. John took another girl and Mary got another fellow. They met on Somerset street late at night, and the meeting was the signal for a red hot scrap, in which John mauled Mary something fierce. Her face was cut in a half dozen places.

John and Mary were pinched by Officer McKeon before fatalities ensued. This morning they gave Leslie M. Daniel, president of the Council, who is mayor and city judge in the absence of Mayor Buckle and Judge Runyon, his first experience as a magistrate. Mr. Daniel followed magisterial precedent and started his career on the bench with a suspended sentence.

His Friends Don't Know Him.

Charles Schermerhorn, the genial manager of the Western Union telegraph office at the North Avenue station, has changed his facial appearance to such an extent by the removal of his upper lip adornment, that many of his friends failed to recognize him this morning. Mr. Schermerhorn says that it is the first time in twenty-five years that he has seen his upper lip and he likes the change so well that he has decided not to allow the lip to be hiden from view in the future.

Miss Derby to Wed.

Announcement is made of the approaching marriage of Miss Ethel May Derby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Derby, of Perth Amboy, formerly of this city, and Alvah B. Davis, of East Fifth street. The wedding will take place on Saturday, July 22, at the home of the bride.

No Hope for Coyne.

Assemblyman Coyne, who is critically ill at his home in Elizabeth, is reported today as being about the same. There seems to be practically no hope for recovery.

John W. Klein, a Newark junk dealer, was sentenced to sixty days in the county jail by Justice Von-Minden yesterday morning, for stealing brass and iron from the Central railroad. He was taken to New Brunswick yesterday afternoon.

THE PRESIDENT ANGRY

Roosevelt Declares Governor Must Take Action in Cotton Scandals.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 11—President Roosevelt has taken up the question of the cotton crop statistics scandal with Attorney General Moody From information given out at Sagamore Hill yesterday there is every indication of a criminal prosecution by the government.

District Attorney Beach of Washington, to whom the case against Edwin S. Holmes, Jr., former associate statistician of the Agricultural Department, was first submitted, will retire from office in August. His successor will not be named for several weeks. If the government, as now seems likely, decides to prosecute the case, it will be given to one of the assistant district attorneys of the District of Columbia.

No formal report on the crop report scandal has reached the President yet, but he has kept in touch with every detail of the investigation. Attorney General Moody has indicated that the government has grounds for a criminal proceeding against the official or officials who sold to New York brokers and altered the government's reports. Mr. Roosevelt has expressed his desire to get to the bottom of things, even if it threatens the very existence of the Department of Agriculture.

The coming of Richard Cheatham, secretary of the Southern Cotton Growers' Association, to urge the dismissal of John Hyde, chief statistician of the Agricultural Department, will have little effect, for Mr. Roosevelt has already made up his mind to know the whole truth and he has so informed the Department of Justice.

No visitors went to Oyster Bay yesterday, and the cotton scandal has so far been discussed officially only over the telegraph wires.

SUITS TO COME SOON

Actions to be Started Without Delay Against Equitable Life Directors.

Following a luncheon conference between Attorney General Mayer, District Attorney Jerome, Samuel Untermeyer, counsel for James H. Hyde, and Edward Lauterbach, of the Alexander counsel, at a downtown restaurant, New York, yesterday, the programme of the State authorities in the Equitable Life Assurance matter became pretty definitely known. By the first or middle of next week the Attorney General will be in a position to institute suits of various kinds, and, according to authoritative information, the actions will be started without delay.

These suits, it is said, will come under two general classes. In the first may be placed a blanket action against all, or nearly all, the directors of the Equitable Society who served during the time covered by the investigations of the State Insurance Superintendent, charging waste of the society's funds and neglect of duty. This action can have the widest sort of scope and can go into any of the allegations made in the Equitable controversy on the ground taken by Senator Brackett in the Mary S. Young suit that all the directors of the Equitable Society are responsible for whatever mismanagement has existed.

The second class will be the actions naming individuals against whom specific charges of malfeasance are believed to lie. These may be either for the recovery of money improperly obtained through the Equitable Society or for the disqualification of such directors as are deemed to have violated the provisions of the insurance laws through specific acts. It is said authoritatively that no one officer or director will be picked out for the first defendant, but that the actions will be started as nearly simultaneously as possible.

PREPARING FOR THE ANNUAL BABY PARADE

ASBURY PARK'S ANNUAL EVENT TO BE BETTER THAN EVER.

The Asbury Park carnival commission is rapidly outlining the great mid-summer baby parade and carnival, which, if the plans are fully carried out, will surpass in its chaste and artistic completion every previous similar fete in the history of the city.

In view of the gradual evolution of the baby parade carnival, dating from a crude parade of the tots on the boardwalk until a bright idea developed the greater and more entrancing features of the coronation ball, the queen's reception, the masque fete and finally the Deal lake carnival, it is not unreasonable to expect that the carnival commission of 1905 will devise fresh attractions.

The coronation ball is fixed for August 28. This event will be held in the beach auditorium and while many of the striking features of last year will be retained it is proposed to strengthen the queen's entertainment and to give to the affair a more entrancing scenic effect than was ever before attempted.

The queen's reception, which will take place August 29, will be a brilliant social function, possessing all the elements of legal formality and courtly etiquet. No expense will be spared in the decorations, which will consist of natural flowers, bunting and artistic hangings.

To give added eclat to the queen's reception distinguished statesmen, civilians and military officials will be invited to attend. Special invitations will be sent to Governor Stokes, United States Senators Dryden and Kean, Senator O. H. Brown, the county assemblymen and other official dignitaries.

The queen's pageant and baby parade, on August 31, is the climax of the carnival. Queen Titanti, seated in her royal pavilion, and surrounded by the members of her court, will view with sympathetic eye the march of the tots on Ocean avenue, which will be profusely decorated.

Very many handsome prizes have been received by the committee. Among these are a silver loving cup from the Lyon Brand Condensed Milk Company, which will probably be one of the handsomest received; a loving cup from Dr. Munyon; two sterling silver mounted gold pens from L. E. Waterman company, of New York; John Olsen presented boys' fire rig, hat, belt and shirt, which will be offered as a prize in the novelty division; a loving cup from the Omo Dress Shield company, of Connecticut; a loving cup from Jeweler A. W. Cornelius; a loving cup from Mennen's Talcum Powder company; a cup from Eskay Food company, to be used as a special prize; loving cup from the Adelphi Silver company, of New York, and a loving cup from the New York Tribune, to be used as a prize in the novelty division.

The third event of the carnival week is the firemen's festival. The review is fixed for August 30. Hiram Walton and George E. Hulick have been authorized to extend invitations to the chiefs, assistant chiefs and firemen of the various fire companies in Asbury Park and adjacent cities and towns to attend a meeting at which plans for a firemen's parade will be formulated.

To wind up the gala week the Deal lake carnival will be repeated. This brilliant nocturnal display will take place on September 1. Commodore J. Edward Wortman has been appointed chairman of the Deal lake carnival committee. He will select his aides from Allenhurst, Deal, Loch Arbour and Asbury Park.

BRIDGE BUILDER EXPIRES.

William A. Voorhees Passes Away at His Home in Griggstown.

William A. Voorhees, of Griggstown, died at his home there yesterday morning at 8 o'clock. He was eighty-seven years old and was known throughout Somerset county as "Bridge Builder Voorhees." He owned a farm at Griggstown, but devoted most of his time to carpenter work, making a specialty of bridge building.

He had the reputation of building the strongest wooden bridges, and did a great deal of the county work. Over 100 of the turnpike bridges in Somerset county were built by him or under his direction.

He leaves three sons and two daughters, Poole Voorhees, of Dunellen; John A. Voorhees, of New York; William A. Voorhees, of Griggstown; Mary, wife of Edward Smalley, of New Brunswick, and Miss Matilda Voorhees, of Griggstown.

Thieves Busy at Maurers.

Maurers, July 11.—Thieves broke into the railroad station here Sunday night, dynamited the safe and got away with $100 in cash besides several dollars worth of railroad tickets. The post office is also located in the station and several dollars' worth of stamps and money orders were taken, as well as several valuable express packages. The thieves gained entrance to the place by removing an iron screen from the window and breaking out the glass. There is no clue to the robbers.

COLLEGE FAVORITES ON THE DIAMOND

PREJUDICE GIVES WAY TO APPRECIATION OF GOOD WORK.

It is not so long ago that college graduates were not welcomed very heartily when they managed to break into a major league, and then they had to be unusually brilliant performers to get even so much as a look in. There was a feeling of prejudice against them which some managers have failed to conquer even today.

But this general feeling has changed, owing to the large number of college men who have broken into the big league ranks within the past two or three years, and who have made good. Some of the most famous men in the National and American Leagues today are college graduates, and the fact that they have good educations has never been known to be a proof of inability to perform well on the diamond.

A fan thinks a winning team could be picked from college players now in the game. He picks Stahl, University of Illinois, now with Washington, and Homer Hildebrand, the Pirates' Princetonian, as catchers; Mike Lynch, a Brown man, with the Pirates; Christy Mathewson, the Illinois man on Seele's team; "Dr." White, the White Sox Georgetown boy, and Bender, the Athletics' Carlisle Indian, as the pitchers available.

He would place Phil Lewis, the Cornell lad who belongs to Brooklyn, at short; Fred Tenney, the Boston manager, who graduated at Brown, would play first; Charlie Hickman, the Detroit man, who comes from the University of West Virginia, could also play first base.

Abbaticchio, of Boston, who came from St. Vincent's, could play third. He would have his outfield composed of Clarence Beaumont, the Pirate with a Beloit diploma; Dave Fultz, the New York American, who came from Brown, and Roy Thomas, the Phillies' star, from the University of Pennsylvania.

Brown has given three good players to the majors, and the University of Illinois has gone it one better.

A friend of Jimmie Beisel, replying to an inquiry as to what had become of the twirler, says: "Jimmie still resides at 223 Somerset street. Since his last appearance in a game here he has been pitching regularly and winning all his games, the most notable of which was one he pitched for the Keyport team against the Freeholds on Saturday. In this game the opposing team tied the score in the ninth inning by an overthrow of the short stop to first base. The game then proceeded to the twelfth inning, when, with two out, Jimmy placed a beautiful drive over third base, scoring the winning run. The final score was 2 to 1 in favor of Keyport, but three hits being made off Beisel. As a large amount of money was wagered and won by Keyport sports, the reception given Jimmie after the game can be imagined. He pitched another very creditable game on the Fourth for Tuckahoe, N. Y., team, only four hits being made off him, and he also won this game by a hit in the ninth inning. It is very gratifying that The Press should take such an interest in him. He is a young man that deserves success, and it may not be out of place right now to make the prediction that before many moons this same young man will make all the "stars" in the Metropolitan district hustle to keep ahead of him in his particular line. Keep on watching the progress of Jimmie Beisel."

Baseball Editor Daily Press: Sir—Is it possible for a player to work a triple play unassisted, and if so, how?—H. C. B.

Answer. Yes. One of the California leaguers did the stunt last week. With a man on first and second, a line drive came down toward second; it looked safe by a mile and the runners let themselves go. The second baseman nailed the fly by a phenomenal grab, touched second before the runner who belonged there knew what was up, and tagged the man who was coming down from first.

City Judge William N. Runyon, representing Manager Daab, and Francis J. Blatz, Esq., representing Lines Groo, effected the settlement, whereby Mr. Daab purchased Mr. Groo's rights and interests in the Plainfield Baseball Association.

Not a Cincinnati player has played through every one of the championship games to date. Nearly all have been benched at different times.

F. S. Taggart, plus 2-6, won from W. M. Tonley, plus 3-6, 6—3, default.

H. S. Rush, plus 5-6, beat E. C. Pierson, plus 15, 4—6, 6—3, 6—1.

E. C. Moody, plus 3-6, beat K. C. Stern, scratch, 6—1, 6—3.

J. H. Klye, 15, beat C. H. Klye, plus 15, 9—7, 7—5.

In the second round, Richardson beat E. Alpers, plus 5-6, 6—3, 6—2. Swaney beat Taggart, 6—4, 6—1. Moody beat Rush, 14—12, 7—5. J. H. Kyle beat F. Hegeman, plus 2-6, 6—4, 6—2.

Plainfield, N. J., July 11, 1905.

Perhaps it isn't as warm as you think it is. It is only the humidity, they say.

It's awfully mean of Lieut. Peary to start talking about his trip to the North Pole while the thermometer keeps hovering in the nineties.

Just at the beginning of his talking tour against the trusts, Thomas W. Lawson's voice gave out. The news gave small satisfaction at No. 26 Broadway, however, as the Boston man has shown no symptoms of writer's cramp.

Imported cheese has grown so rapidly in favor in the United States during the past ten years that is has been found profitable to manufacture in this country imitations of several varieties that formerly could be obtained only from the other side of the Atlantic. As the American brands of "foreign" cheese are almost invariably as good as the original, an advertising expert suggests that they ought to be exploited for what they are and sold on their merits. In his opinion there is a fortune awaiting the cheese maker who shall first seize upon this opportunity and inaugurate an extensive advertising campaign in behalf of domestic fancy cheeses. There are thousands of new industries that might be put on a firmer footing with the help of publicity.

PAXINOSA INN BURNED.

Big Hostelry Prey to Flames—Loss Estimated at $150,000.

Paxinosa Inn, situated on College Hill, on the Pennsylvania side of the Delaware, at Easton, Pa., was totally destroyed by fire at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. This hotel was perhaps the largest in this section of the country, having 400 rooms.

The hotel was filled with summer boarders, all of whom succeeded in getting safely out of the building. The loss is estimated at $150,000. The fire is thought to have been of incendiary origin.

Many Plainfielders have spent summers at the inn, but there were no local people stopping there at the time the fire broke out.

The Adirondack Resorts Are Open.

The various resorts in the Adirondack Mountains are open for the public, and many of them have been greatly improved druing the past winter and spring. Several of the large hotels have put in steam heat, so that should there come a rainy day or a cool wave, patrons will be perfectly comfortable. The through car from Philadelphia to Lake Placid leaves daily except Sunday; returning from Lake Placid it leaves daily except Saturday. Lots of Philadelphians are locating in the Adirondack Mountains. They find the change so great and delightful, and so healthful withal, that they are charmed with it, and frequently the Pennsylvania railroad is obliged to put on two or three cars to accommodate the business. There is no region in America that surpasses the Adirondacks for variety of lakes, rivers and mountains, and none that equals it for pure bracing air and pure water. Here is an absolute wilderness, as wild as any wild country in the world, within from ten to twelve hours of ten millions of people.

Kipling's New Story.

Rudyard Kipling has not been of late a frequent contributor to magazines. The August Century will contain a story by him, a tale of Americans in England called "'An Habitation Enforced.'" The story is said to be an unusually long one for Mr. Kipling, so long that The Century editors were minded at first to print it in two numbers, but it was decided to let it appear in the Midsummer Holiday issue.

TOWNSHIP PEOPLE AFTER FISK AND FROTHINGHAM

POMPTON RESIDENTS ANGERED AT THEIR CLOSING OLD ROAD.

The Pompton township committee of Passaic county is seeking, through the aid of the courts, to secure an injunction against Pliny Fisk, formerly of this city, and Howard P. Frothingham, a New York broker, restraining them from closing what is known as the old Cannon Ball road, near the former's summer home in Pompton. After Mr. Fisk and Mr. Frothingham secured from the Metropolitan Museum of Art a part of the estate of the late Jacob S. Rogers, of locomotive fame, they commenced to make improvements about the place.

Included in the estate is Rotten Pond, one of the best fishing waters in northern New Jersey. The people of the town say they were put to great inconvenience when the new owners closed old Cannon Ball road, and they contend that the thoroughfare is a public highway. It is understood that it is the intention to close the road only for a short time while the new owners build a macadamized road to give them a better approach for automobiles to their property. The road got its name because it was used during the Revolution for transporting cannon balls from that section, where they were made, to New York, where they were used by the British troops.

COLLECTOR A SUICIDE.

Prominent Warren County Politician Hangs Himself.

County Collector E. J. Mackey, well known in this city and one of Warren county's leading citizens, committeed suicide at his home Sunday night by hanging.

The family can give no reason for the rash act, but noticed a change bordering on despondency in Mr. Mackey's condition since the death of Mrs. Mackey a few months ago. A little granddaughter, who was a member of the family for several years, left a few days ago to live with her mother, and her leaving appeared to increase Mr. Mackey's depressed state of mind.

County Collector Mackey was prominent in Democratic politics for many years and soon after retiring from the office of sheriff was elected county collector, which office he still held at the time of his death. Justice William Mackey, a brother of the suicide, died suddenly in his office at Belvidere a few months ago, which also had a depressing effect on his brother's mind. Mackey was sixty-two years old and is survived by seven children.

A High Type of Citizenship.

The suggestion that former Mayor Alexander Gilbert, of Plainfield, be named as the Republican candidate for State Senator to succeed Judge Joseph Cross, meets with general approval of voters in the county, who recognize in him a high type of citizenship.—Elizabeth Journal.

TO MEET AT PORTSMOUTH

Russian and Japanese Envoys Now on the Way to This Country.

Washington, July 11—President Roosevelt has arranged to have the Russian and Japanese peace plenipotentiaries meet at the Portsmouth (N. H.) Navy Yard, after they had made a free selection of that place. This is actually "putting them on an island," which is under the control of the naval forces of the United States. No one can enter upon this island or leave it without the consent of the United States, and in this way the high contracting parties to peace in the Far East will be absolutely isolated and conduct their deliberations without fear of espionage or interruption.

It is expected that the plenipotentiaries will proceed direct from Oyster Bay to the meeting place at Portsmouth, N. H., by water. They will be conveyed by the yacht Mayflower and the despatch boat Dolphin, the parties being kept separate, as in the case of the journey from New York to Oyster Bay. The Mayflower and Dolphin on the trip to Portsmouth will be escorted by a cruiser.

There are only two contingencies in which the plenipotentiaries may be in Washington at all while in this country. It may be that their conferences will be so prolonged that the President will have returned to the National Capital by that time, when they would come to take leave of him at the Capitol. And it may also be deemed expedient to have the treaty of Washington, in which event the plenipotentiaries would hold their final sessions here. The general expectation is that the peace treaty will not be signed until October.

PARDON COURT AT SEA GIRT.

Case of Libbie Garrabrandt Again to Come Up.

Trenton, July 11.—It has been decided to hold the sessions of the Court of Pardons at the State camp at Sea Girt one week from Thursday. Under the shade of the "Little White House" porch will be decided the fate of several inmates of the State Prison.

The case interesting many now is that of Libbie Garrabrandt, the murderess, sentenced to life imprisonment. While it is generally believed that she will this time gain her freedom, several developments have shown that may prevent her obtaining it.

Judge Dill is planning his trip to the Klondike and expects to leave next week. This would mean that the woman will have one short of the necessary votes for her freedom. Judge Vredenburgh is also absent, and may not return in time to attend the sessions of the court. Last comes the announcement that Judge Vroom is ill.

The case of McQueen, the Paterson anarchist, will also come up at this session of the Court of Pardons, and those behind the movement for his liberation claim that his chances are good.

Governor Stokes was here today and signed the bill giving authority to Jersey City to build an almshouse, and then left for Millville, where he will pass the evening at the home of his mother. He will go to Sea Girt tomorrow morning.

Chance for Local Bidders.

Bids have ben invited by the board of managers of the State Hospital at Trenton, for the construction of an annex to the hospital. This is a big job, and will probably involve the expenditure of $50,000. Bids will be opened Thursday, July 20. Plans and specifications may be seen at the office of the commissioner of charities and correction, at the Capitol, Trenton. Trenton bidders are requested to put up $10,000 as a guarantee that they will accept the contract if it is awarded to them, and give a bond of $50,000 to guarantee satisfactory performance of contract.

SAKHALIN'S CAPTURE

Japs Chased Russians From Korsakovsk and Had No Lossess.

Tokio, July 11—It is officially announced today that a number of transports, conveyed by a detachment of the fleet under Vice Admirals Kataoka and Dewa, which started for Sakhalin, were delayed by fogs. They reached the island, however, early on the morning of July 7. The mines in the channel were cleared, and a landing was effected in the evening.

The Russians at Korsakovsk blew up their shore batteries, burned the Government buildings and retired to the north. The Japanese occupied Korsakovsk early on July 8. The Russians retired before a pursuing detachment. They burned Soroifka. They were last reported 23 miles from Korsakovsk.

The Japanese sustained no casualties. They captured four guns of small caliber and a quantity of ammunition.

St. Petersburg, July 11—The Ministry of Foreign Affairs says there was a small garrison on the Island of Sakhalin, and it was quite incapable of resisting the Japanese invaders. It is feared that the Russians on the island may not be able to reach the continent. Telegraphic communication with the island was severed this afternoon.

DROWNED ON VACATION.

Lad Was Main Support of Widowed Mother and Family.

Mrs. Annie Vogel, a widow, of 249 Runyan street, Newark, received yesterday word that her oldest son, Leonard, was drowned Sunday while swimming in Green Pond, Morris county, whither he went last week to spend his vacation camping out with a party of which his younger brother is a member.

With his brother and another companion, Vogel went rowing on Green Pond Sunday afternoon. He was in bathing costume and amused himself diving from the rowboat and swimming around it. After one dive Vogel called to his companions to row the boat to his assistance. Almost instantly he disappeared under the water.

The body was recovered yesterday. Young Vogel was employed in the cashier's department of the Prudential Insurance Company, and was the chief contributor to the support of his mother and her six children.

MINISTER WEDS AT 81.

The Rev. Mr. Russell of Ocean Grove Surprised His Friends.

Asbury Park, July 11.—The Rev. William H. Russell, a retired minister, of Ocean Grove, and owner of a cottage in Heck avenue, has surprised his friends and acquaintances by slipping away and marrying Mrs. Catherine Armour Diffley, who has been living in Ocean Grove for several months, having come there, it is understood, from New York.

The bridegroom is eighty-one and the bride forty-six. So far as known, they were not acquainted before Mrs. Diffey visited Ocean Grove, although Mr. Russell has been spending the winter months for several years with his son, Isaac Franklin Russell, an instructor in New York University Law School, at the son's home in New York.

BLOOD POISON IN ROSE THORN.

Slight Prick Makes Necessary Operation for Newark Woman.

Mrs. William T. Astley, wife of the deputy chief of the Newark Fire Department, is seriously ill at her home, No. 263 High street, from blood poisoning.

Mrs. Astley was picking flowers in her garden one day last week. In plucking a rose she pricked the thumb of her right hand with a thorn. The injury seemingly was slight, and she paid no attention to it.

After a few days the thumb began to swell and Mrs. Astley's condition became so serious that an operation was performed yesterday to save her arm. It was successful.

SECTION HAND KILLED BY LIGHTNING BOLT

HAD SOUGHT SHELTER BENEATH A TREE AT ALDENE.

While sitting beneath a large tree at Aldene yesterday afternoon, during a heavy thunder shower, Peter Chechur, of South Plainfield, one of the section gang employed on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, was struck by lightning and instantly killed. Immediately after the bolt struck, fellow workmen rushed to the scene to assist Chechur, when to their great surprise they found him dead. They notified the authorities and the body was removed to his late home.

Chechur was a Polander by birth, and was about thirty years old. He was married and had been a resident of South Plainfield for several years. He was considered an excellent workman and had a good record. Undertakers P. Casey & Son, of this city, were placed in charge of the body and the funeral services and interment will be at South Plainfield.

Miss Edith Lyons, of Duer street, is visiting her grandfather at Lake Mahopac, N. Y.

Mrs. Addie Vanderman, of East Third street, who has been away from the city during the past week, has returned home.

Miss Emma Swenson, of Hillside avenue, and niece, Miss Brant, who have been visiting relatives in Troy, N. Y., for the past ten days, are expected home tonight.

THE EDUCATION OF A BUSINESS MAN

JOHN BRISBEN WALKER, COSMOPOLITAN EDITOR TALKS ON SUBJECT.

At Asbury Park one day last week, John Brisben Walker, editor of the Cosmopolitan Magazine, delivered the following able address on "The Essentials of a Proper Education for the Average Business Man."

Mr. Walker said in part:

"While our great schools are organized in the most complete way for instruction and administration, I have found, by personal examination covering nearly a dozen of our leading universities that there exists no board of commission of disinterested men whose duty it is to determine what education should be.

"It therefore becomes essential to arrange with the utmost precision the order for the period of time available. But before this can be done so that the result will be without waste, the student must determine: 'What do I hope to obtain by education.'

"The answer to this must embrace certain is he is achieve happiness, the dents. Every man seeks:

"First, happiness—not enjoyment merely, not pleasure, but that deeper felicity which can be founded only upon right living—a condition of the soul which is given out as well as those round us.

"Secondly, the tools with which to accomplish business results.

"It goes without saying that the nearer one comes to Truth—that is, to a clear understanding of the conditions which surround us—the more certain is he to achieve happiness, the more certain to accomplish results.

"If the youth starts out in a fog of deception, his every effort must be hampered. If he comprehends but dimly the causes at work about him, he is likely to deceive himself and to deceive others.

"Therefore, in the acquisition of knowledge, comes first and fundamentally some comprehension of the Universe. As a preliminary and an accompaniment to business training there should be brief studies of the known facts, first concerning the universe itself, and secondly, of our own globe. If one starts in ignorance of things which concern all life, there will be endless groping in the dark. Having some knowledge of the world in which he exists—Astronomy—Geology—he must next know something of the things round about him—Botany and Chemistry. Then comes the even more necessary knowledge concerning his own body—Physiology; health stands first and foremost in human acquisition, and health will not last long without knowledge. Lastly some understanding of his own mind—Psychology.

"Knowledge of one's own language is an important factor in business success. The study of grammar and rhetoric, of synonyms, and of the best literature, is essential to that choice of words which brings conviction to the hearer—to that concise style so necessary in modern correspondence—to that clear and exact statement so essential to contracts, either oral or written. But beyond his own tongues, no one should waste upon languages, ancient or modern, the precious minutes of the all too short a time which he can give to education. The man seeking a business education is a runner in a race. He has but so many seconds to win his goal; and he must keep constantly in mind the course he has set himself to pursue. If he deviates, the loses.

"One, other teaching must run throughout the business course. That institution fails which does not provide for constant lectures upon 'Integrity, the First Requisite to a Successful Business Career.' Every part of business ethics should be discussed; difficult situations should be presented and the temptations of business life shown up. Because those things are our schools and colleges, thousands of youths annually wreck themselves upon the sophistries of the business world. Upon every business field lie these wrecks of men, who would very likely have seen the way to honorable fortune had they been instructed in advance concerning the temptations they were to encounter. A love of Truth and the possession of a personal integrity above temptation constitutes the highest capital of the youth who would seek business success."

The Sunday World.

The remarkable voyage of the Oregon, during the Spanish-American war, from San Francisco around the Horn to Santiago, has almost been equalled by the torpedo boat built by Lewis Nixon and rushed across the water to the Russian Government. The story of the voyage makes mighty interesting reading, and furnishes material for a good page in the New York World next Sunday, July 16. The romance of another millionaire who has wed his stenographer, J. P. Morgan's magnificent art collections, an article on the Deserted Children of New York, the story of Paul Jones, an account of an auto trip around the world, etc., are among a long list of other features next Sunday.

Miss Mamie Meade, of West Eighth street, is spending the summer with friends in Connecticut.

Miss Nellie Mead, of West Eighth street, has gone to her home in High Bridge, for the summer.

VAGARIES OF LA MODE.

The New Belts—Lace Gloves Have Bits of Color In the Backs.

Polka dotted belts are new. They are deep girdles of white kid cut in holes the size of a dime to show a bright colored lining.

A dust cloak of checked taffeta silk is considered very smart. It is made three-quarters length, is double breasted in front and trimmed with large metal buttons. The back is semi-fitting and falls loose.

Lace and fine lisle thread gloves have a bit of color woven in the back and come in long lengths to meet the elbow sleeves of the moment.

A pretty summer petticoat is made of taffeta in a coffee tint. It has a deep flounce of embroidered lawn in pale cream color headed with a beading threaded with coffee colored ribbon.

In chiffon and gauze materials there are some newcomers. A wonderfully beautiful specimen has a cream colored surface patterned with mauve flowers and disks of shaded soft satin. Especially lovely are the flowered chiffons, and in cotton voile this fabric is well imitated.

Some charming hats of the season are faced with pinked crush roses.

Summer nightgowns with square necks outlined with handsome embroidery and pale pink or blue embroidery are selling in the shops for $1.

A strikingly pretty French organdie has bunches of wistaria over it with long ribbon loops and ends.

The best hats for motoring are the small "polo toques." They are easy to keep on and comfortable shapes to fit a veil over.

The robe of broderie anglaise herewith pictured is very chic. Three flounces, divided in sections with hemstitching, make the skirt. The waist is arranged in deep yoke and full blouse effect. JUDIC CHOLLET.

NECKWEAR NOTES.

Stiff Linen Collar and Cuff Sets Worn With Tailored Gowns.

To wear with plain tailored shirt waists or suits collar and cuff sets of linen decorated with fancy stitches are correct.

There are two distinct styles of neckwear this summer—stocks finished either with a rabbet or a bow demanding a little starch in their laundering to preserve their stiffness and the soft bands that rely upon small rods of featherboning for their staying power.

Parisian women are indulging in an extreme fad for stiff linen collars and cuffs and are wearing them with all but their dressy costumes. These sets are hemstitched, worked in French dots or trimmed with broderie anglaise.

Cuffs in collar and cuff sets are getting deeper and growing into more involved points.

Among the new collar and cuff sets are those of sheerest lawn daintily hand embroidered and lace edged, whose novelty is the depth of nearly three inches, to which they turn over. They are soft, open in front and are to be worn over a knotted tie.

The latest thing in neckwear consists of a flat silk cord finished off with tassels. It is worn loosely knotted around the neck. These cords are to be seen on handsome street suits and dressy indoor gowns.

A piece of washable brussels net can be made into a dainty collar. Such a collar is pretty when made in simple crush fashion finished with a small rosette.

Most of the new sleeves on simple blouses do not droop at the elbow. They are full, but do not bag in the least—that is to say, they are cut the exact length of the arm.

The black suede half shoe is very smart. It has a somewhat heavy sole highly polished and a high heel.

The collar and cuff set shown in the cut is made of sheer handkerchief linen embroidered by hand in a tiny flowered design. Such a set when purchased is very expensive, but may be made at home for a trifle.

that she should be permitted? They were actually beginning to feel a bit charitable toward her when the Queen of the Fleet herself came in Honolulu with the latest news. The fifth expedition had been halted there and put in camp. The hospital held several officers. Billy Gray was down with brain fever, and there had been a furious scene between him and his peppery colonel before the breakdown; and by that same steamer Mrs. Garrison had got a letter that had made her turn white and tremble, as Mrs. Stockman saw and told, and then shut herself up in her room an entire day. Now for nearly a fortnight the lovely guest had been daily hinting that she really must go home, "dear Witchie" was surely tired of her; and Witchie disclaimed and protested and vowed she could not live without her devoted friend. But then had come that letter and with it a change of tone and tactics. Witchie ceased to remonstrate or reprove Mrs. Stockman, and the latter felt that she must go, and Witchie consented without demur.

In no pleasant mood Armstrong mounted and trotted for the east gate. The road was lined with camps and volunteers at drill. Vehicles were frequently moving to and fro; but the sentry at the entrance had kept track of them, and in response to question answered promptly and positively Mrs. Garrison's carriage had not come that way. "But," said he, "the wagon with the lady's baggage did. I saw the name on the trunks."

The colonel turned in saddle and coolly surveyed him. "Do you mean Mrs. Stockman's name?" he asked, in quiet tone. "How many trunks were there?"

"Oh, some of them might have had Mrs. Stockman's name, sir; but the two or three that I saw were marked M. G."

This was unlooked-for news. To her next-door neighbor Mrs. Garrison had said nothing about going away with Mrs. Stockman, and Armstrong had grave need to see her and to see her at once. The train for Los Angeles did not leave until evening. Possibly they were lunching somewhere — spending the afternoon with friends in town. He rode direct to headquarters. Some of the staff might be able to tell, was his theory; and one of them justified it.

"Did I happen to meet Mrs. Garrison? Yes, I just saw her aboard the China."

"Aboard the China!" exclaimed Armstrong, with a sudden thrill of excitement. "D'you mean she is going?"

"Didn't ask her. They were hustling everybody ashore, and I had only time to give dispatches to the purser; but she was on deck with friends when I came away."

People wondered that day at the speed with which the tall officer, followed by his orderly, clattered away down Market street. In less than ten minutes Armstrong was at the crowded pier and pushing through the throng to the China's stage. Too late! Already it was swung aloft, the lines were cast loose, and the huge black mass was just beginning to back slowly from its moorings. The rail of the promenade deck swarmed with faces, some radiant, some tearful. Words of adieu, fluttering kerchiefs, waving hands, tossing flowers were there on every side. Two officers, Honolulu bound, shouted Armstrong's name, and a cheery good-by; but he did not seem to hear. A gentle voice, the voice of all others he most longed to hear, repeated the name and strove to call attention to his gesticulating comrades on the upper deck; but he was deaf to both. Eagerly, anxiously, incredulously he was searching along that crowded rail, and all on a sudden he saw her. Yes, there she stood, all gayety, grace and animation, stylishly gowned and fairly burdened with roses; and it was right at him she was gazing, nodding, smiling, all sweetness, all confiding, trusting joy; with just a little of triumph, too, and a tinge of sentimental sorrow in the parting. Apparently, it was all for him; for her blue eyes never faltered till they fixed his gaze, and then, kiss after kiss she threw to him with the daintily gloved little hand, and, leaning far down over the rail, lowering it toward him as much as possible, she finally tossed to him, standing there stern and spellbound, a bunch of beautiful roses she had torn from her corsage. It fell almost at his feet, for in his astonishment and rising wrath he made no effort to catch it.

A man, stooping quickly, rescued and handed it to him. Mechanically he said: "Thank you," and took it, a thorn pricking deep into the flesh as he did so; and still his eyes were fixed on that fairy form now surely, swiftly gliding away, and over him swept the consciousness of utter defeat, of exasperation, of dismay, even as he strove to fathom her motives in thus singling him out for such conspicuous—even affectionate—demonstration. Triumph and delight he could have understood, but not, not this semblance of confidential relations, not at least until he felt his arm grasped by a cordial hand, heard his name spoken by a friendly voice, and Mr. Prime's pleasant inquiry: "Have you no greeting for other friends?" Then the hot blood rushed to his face and showed even through the bronze as, turning, his troubled eyes met full the clear, placid gaze of Amy Lawrence.

JOURNALISTIC OPINION

McClellan and the Three R's.

Mayor McClellan's address to the Teachers' Convention is well worth careful reading. While his official position hampered his saying everything he wished, his criticism of the New York public schools by comparison with the country schools is true. It is surprising how boys and girls can spend several years at school and still know as little about spelling, reading, writing and arithmetic as the present-day products of the New York public school. If they know no more about sewing buttonholes, cooking, art, music, botany and other interesting subjects than they do about the three R's, the whole result of the schol system will be little more than a waste of the children's time and of the taxpayers' money. As Mayor McClellan puts it, there is nothing disgraceful about the three R's and nothing degrading in teaching them. Many men have succeeded in life even though they learned nothing else in school in school in childhood than how to read, write and figure. Even higher education is somewhat difficult to the man or woman who cannot spell the common English words and to whom the multiplication table is a stranger. While political considerations have induced Mayor McClellan to keep his hands off the public schools, it would be much better should he place the school board upon his official knee and spank into it the views which he has just expressed.—Evening World.

FEWER FOREST FIRES LAST YEAR IN JERSEY

GOVERNOR STOKES AT HEAD OF NEW COMMISSION.

From advance sheets of the forthcoming annual report of the State Geological Survey, it is shown that the forest fires were not so harmful in 1904 as during preceding years. Still the need of the new Forestry Commission is apparent, when it is noted that for 1904, 41,530 acres were burned over, at a loss to the people of $193,413. The loss for the preceding year was 85,046 acres burned over, at a loss of $305,744.

Last year the largest acreage burned was 11,600 in Ocean county; Atlantic came next, with 6,245 acres burned; then Burlington, with 5,810; Sussex, 4,300; Morris, 3,250; Cape May, 2,450; Passaic, 1,700; Cumberland, 1,525, and so on, down to Union county, where but ten acres were burned over. The money losses were: Ocean, $42,834.50; Burlington, $34,045; Atlantic, $26,020; Sussex, $17,525; Morris, $15,957; Passaic, $13,100, down to Union, with $21.

In addition to the direct loss of timber there is the indirect loss due to partial or complete destruction of the humus, the destruction of game, insect eating birds, etc. The causes of the fires were: Railroad locomotives, 25; farmers burning brush, clearing lands, burning safety strips around cranberry bogs, etc., 13; unknown, 11; hunters, 6; incendiary, 6; boys playing with matches, 5; smokers, 5; tramps, 5; charcoal burners, 2, and one each for feebleminded person, policeman and accident.

"It is evident," says the report, "that increasing efforts should be made to prevent the starting of fires, both by strict enforcement of the law, which provides for the punishment of those guilty, and by the creation of a better public sentiment, which will sternly rebuke a man who by his heedlessness or carelessness permits a fire to start. More care should be exercised on the part of the farmers in burning brush.

In less than half the fires of the year was there a determined effort made to stop them. In some instances railroad section men were on the ground, and they extinguished them, led by their foremen. In one instance the work of these men stopped a fire after burning over twenty-five acres, when, without their efforts, many hundred other acres would have been burned over. The survey has repeatedly pointed out that by the expenditure of a comestablish an chemn the State could vice, as has been done in many other states.

Governor Stokes is the head of the new State Forestry Commission, and he is an enthusiastic forestry man. Saving the trees has always been a hobby of his.

The Summer Refuge.

Scarcely are the gang-planks pulled ashore, when, with a start, the boat has left the wharf and is footing it rapidly down stream. Then you remember that the Sandy Hook line is the fastest out of New York, or any other harbor for the matter of that. There is yet something in store to thrill the man who has not seen the "sky-scrapers," standing together like a band of giants at a hunting, as they transcend the purple vapors of evening, and catch on their higher portions the rosy light from the setting sun. Then, as even more steadily than the Ancient Mariner, we drop "below the kirk, below the hill, below the light-house top," we have passed the Statue of Liberty, the Narrows themselves, and perceive the wooded shore of Staten Island running off mistily towards New Jersey. On the other side the lights of Coney Island sink in distance, and presently we are inside the long bar of Sandy Hook. What in the world could be more refreshing than this splendid sail at the beginning and end of a summer day.

From Atlantic Highlands the innumerable attractions of the coast from Highland Beach to Point Pleasant are within easy reach, and surroundings may be found to suit every taste. The express train service embraces Navesink, Normandie, Seabright, Monmouth Beach, West End, Long Branch, Elberon, Deal, Allenhurst, Asbury Park, Ocean Grove, Avon, Belmar, Spring Lake, Manasquan, Point Pleasant, Red Bank, Matawan, Freehold, and other resorts boasting well kept hotels. The coast is justly famous for its facilities for yachting, driving, automobiling and both salt and fresh water bathing. Besides the Sandy Hook route the New Jersey Central has an all rail route with stations at the foot of West 23d street, N. R., and at the foot of Liberty street, N. R. All trains are equipped with the latest designed Pullman Parlor cars and coaches. Upon application to C. M. Burt, General Passenger Agent, Central Railroad of New Jersey, New York city, a hotel book and sea shore time table will be sent you; they are free for the asking.

Miss Nellie Wilbee, of East Sixth street, who has been spending a year with friends in Hamilton, O., has returned home.

Miss Ulrich, formerly of East Fifth street, but now of New York, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Blatz, of Somerset street.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

"Dan" Connolly is the hardest hitting member of the local team.

"Billy" Beck will soon be given an opportunity to demonstrate his worth at Hoboken.

"Pete" LaMar is playing good ball for the Dover team, of the Lackawanna League.

Pitcher Linderman is not meeting with the same success this season that he did in previous seasons.

"The ways of the National Baseball Commission are peculiar," says the Hoboken Inquirer. "When the management of the Hoboken team sought to obtain the protection promised when $500 was deposited with the commission, it was not forthcoming, then the Hoboken Club withdrew and demanded its money back. Paying for protection that does not protect is not profitable, neither is it business."

Ned Hanlon still considers Joe McGinnity one of the greatest pitchers in the business. He also thinks that Baltimore had the greatest team that ever played the game, when Baltimore was winning pennants. "McGinnity is a great pitcher. He knows from the jon the otherwise rings he knows just what he's out there for. He uses his head every minute he's in the game, and he has a reason for every move he makes. Things may not always turn out as he plans them, but he knows just what he is about."

GOLF.

The Connecticut State championship will be decided this week upon the links of the New Haven Country Club, beginning with a qualifying round tomorrow.

Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, of East Front street, is constantly improving her game. She frequently visits the Baltusrol Golf Club course, which is a favorite with her.

Several members of the Plainfield Country Club organized a baseball nine on Saturday and played a game with the Englewood Golf Club. The local players have been very quiet about the result and their friends believe that they met defeat.

W. L. Glenney and Morris J. Dumont will play the remaining semi-final match in the club championship at the Plainfield Country Club this week, after which the winner of that match and Dudley H. Barrows will compete in the finals. F. O. Reinhart formerly held the championship for golf.

Ransom H. Thomas, president of the United States Golf Association, has appointed the following nominating committee to select the officers for the ensuing year: G. Herbert Windeler, Country Club, of Brookline, Mass.; Deveraux Emmet, Garden City Golf Club, and David R. Forgan, Onwentsia Club, Chicago.

TENNIS.

The boys of Netherwood met yesterday and resolved themselves into a club for playing tennis. They have decided to call the club the "Stingems." Among the members are Stuart Freeman, Joe Van Deventer, Howard Freeman and George Durar. A tournament in doubles will be started this afternoon on the club court in the rear of the Durar house on South avenue.

ROD AND GUN.

"Ferd" Motley, one of Plainfield's most ardent fishermen, spent Sunday angling in the quiet waters of the Kill von Kull, off Boynton Beach. He caught a tom cod and a Staten Island woodcock.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Waring, of West Seventh street, have been enjoying the delightful weather at Southampton.

Scared Passengers.

A big chunk of coal crashed through one of the windows of a westbound Central local at Cranford yesterday afternoon, and scared the passengers, among whom was H. C. Runyon, of this city, almost as much as if the train had jumped into a ditch. The window was directly behind Mr. Runyon, and the man in the seat alongside of it was painfully cut by flying glass. A mischievous boy is supposed to have thrown the missile.

$100 Loss From Fire.

Fire in the second story bedroom of the house at 547 South Second street, owned by William Newcorn, and occupied by Mrs. Melinda Jackson, colored, caused an alarm to be sent in from box No. 46 at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. There was $100 damage, $50 on the building and $50 on the contents. The cause of the fire is a mystery.

"SCOTTY" RUSHING EAST

New Bonanza King Known to Plainfielders After a Train Record.

CHICAGO AWAITS HIM.

Cab Drivers and Hotel Men in a Frenzy of Joy at Prospect of Getting Big Tips.

With every pocket stuffed, according to reports which have preceded him, with one thousand dollar bills, Walter Scott, the California miner, well known to Plainfielders, who has dug vast wealth from Funeral Mountain, Death Valley, is expected to arrive in Chicago at twenty-five minutes past twelve o'clock this afternoon, after a record breaking run over the Santa Fe Railroad from Los Angeles.

Mr. Scott was speeding across Kansas last night at more than a mile a minute in an attempt to make up thirty-five minutes which were lost earlier in the day. The special train is expected by railroad officials to do all that is asked of it, and it is believed that it will roll into the Dearborn street station on time to the second.

The schedule has been changed so as to call for forty-five hours and thirty-five minutes from Los Angeles, instead of the fifty-two hours required by the first schedule made up. The distance is 2,265 miles. If the Scott special arrives on time it will surpass all former records by several hours. The Peacock special in 1900 took twelve hours and twenty-one minutes longer to make the journey, while seven hours and fourteen minutes more were consumed by the Low special train in 1903.

The miner's train was thirty-five minutes late last night when it pulled into Dodge City, Kan., at thirty-one minutes past nine o'clock. A sample of the speed which is to be maintained across Kansas was furnished by a run from Dodge City to Kinsley, a distance of thirty-six miles, which was covered in thirty-one minutes. A clear track was given the special, and Santa Fe officials fully expected the train to be on time by this morning.

Remarkably fast work is being done by the Santa Fe at stations where necessary stops are made. At Needles, Cal., for instance, the train came to a full stop, changed engines and got under way again in eighty seconds. Previously, three full minutes have been considered very quick time for such a stop.

The time lost was dropped in the heavy mountain grades of the mountain country. At Kingman, Ariz., the train was thirty-two minutes late, and when it reached Albuquerque, N. M., at thirty-two minutes past nine o'clock this morning it was still the same length of time behind the schedule. Three minutes had been dropped when it reached Las Vegas, N. M., but that was the last loss.

Between La Junta and Dodge City the track is good, and fast time was made on that part of the run. The distance is 203 miles, and it was made in 194 minutes. After leaving Dodge City the train began to enter upon one of the finest stretches of roadbed the Santa Fe possesses in the West, and some unusually fast burts of speed were looked for.

Mr. Scott is accompanied by Mrs. Scott, a friend of his wife and his own "pal," the latter being a cur dog, the most forlorn in Los Angeles, that he picked up before he started on his record breaking trip. The dog is adorned with a $1,000 jeweled collar and installed in a baggage car, which he has to himself.

The arrival of the most spectacular spendthrift of the day is awaited with joyous anticipations by bellboys and waiters in Chicago hotels, for Mr. Scott was never known to give less than $10 as a tip, and sometimes he goes as high as $100. The police at the Polk street station are preparing to suppress a riot among the cabmen when Scott's special train rolls in and the fight begins for the "fare" that will mean a small fortune to the lucky driver.

Since he made his "ten strike" in the desert Scott has refused to spend a cent with a tailor. His blue flannel shirt, frayed trousers, and faded, threadbare coat he wears on all occasions, and resents any hints that it would be well to visit a tailor and invest some of his surplus gold on more proper garb.

Six years ago this mysterious young man, hard of muscle and tanned to a leather finish, was one of Colonel Cody's men, and the best "bronco buster" in the entire "Wild West" outfit. He rode bucking broncos for $60 a month.

During his last stay in Plainfield, Scott was very much on his "uppers" and borrowed $10 from John Powers, the North avenue tonsorialistt to get to New York. The money was returned soon after he went west but Powers will likely hear from him again.

Michael Kiely Buried Here.

Michael Kiely, aged 69 years, who died in New York, this week, was brought to Plainfield this forenoon and services were held at St. Mary's church, Father Bgean being in charge. The interment was in St. Mary's cemetery.

NEW PREMIUM LIST FOR INTER-STATE FAIR

CATALOGUE FOR 1905 SHOWS MANY IMPROVEMENTS.

The Interstate Fair premium list for the fair, September 25 to 29, is out and can be procured at the office of the association, in Trenton. The officers of the association are practically the same as last year, with the exception of the department devoted to the merchants' and trades' display.

The cover page of the catalogue is both neat and attractive. The central figure is a view down the pike in the rear of the grand stand, enclosed in a horseshoe. At the top is a horse's head and to the left a lady in riding costume. The cover is on a high class paper, especially adapted for the purpose.

In nearly every department additional prizes are offered this season, and a greater number of diplomas will be given than ever before. Department D, devoted to sheep and swine, has a new classification, and all departments have been revised and made more up to date. Department B has been combined with the horse show section of last year and the revision of the lists in this department promises a better variety of horses. A feature of this department the present year will be additional calssification for local horses.

The management of the association is endeavoring to make this, the eighteenth annual exhibit, surpass its predecessors, and with this aim in view every department is being strengthened. A list of the various departments and those in charge follows:

Department A, horses for speed, William E. Ford, superintendent; department B, horses for show and general use, Welling G. Sickel, superintendent; department C, cattle, Thomas B. De Cou, superintendent; department D, sheep and swine, Samuel T. Atchley, superintendent; department E, poultry, pigeons and pets, Samuel T. Atchley, superintendent; department F, merchants' and trades' display, C. Edward Murray, superintendent; department G, art and ladies' fancy work, J. T. Van Cleef, superintendent; department H, home and dairy products, J. T. Van Cleef, superintendent; department I, agricultural and horticultural products, Joseph S. Mount, superintendent; department J, farm machinery and implements, H. J. Irick, superintendent; department K, carriages and vehicles, H. J. Irick, superintendent.

RELIEF AT LAST

Cooling Showers Again Make Life Worth Living.

The promised relief from the almost unbearable hot weather of the past few days came this afternoon with a thunder shower which cooled the torrid atmosphere and made life worth living again. Although the heat was not as intense this morning as yesterday, it was still uncomfortable. Yesterday heavy showers passed all about Plainfield, but not a drop of water fell here and the temperature remained high throughout the day and night.

During the morning there was more breeze and much less humidity in the air and early this afternoon a shower caused the mercury to drop several degrees while the rain was most acceptable. The weather man predicts more showers for tonight.

LITERARY.

Too little has been written about the personal aspect of him who was first in peace, first in war, and first in the hearts of his fellow citizens. Many interesting bits of information are added in the Journal of B. H. Latrobe, extracts from which will appear in the July number of Appleton's Booklovers Magazine. Mr. Latrobe was a personal friend of Washington, and the architect of the Capitol. He was a soldier, civil engineer, philosopher, artist, humorist, poet, and naturalist, and an all-round remarkable character. The papers range from the years 1796 to 1820 and are not only of historical value, but lively and refreshing reading. A man as proficient in the arts of peace as in the arts of war, in the graces of mind and intellect as in the graces of architecture, could not fail to be interesting.

Succeeds Mr. Bowen.

Formal announcement of the appointment of W. W. Russell, of Maryland, to be United States minister to Venezuela, as the successor of Bowen, was made at the State Depart at Washington today. Mr. Russell was recently the minister to Colombia, but was called home to testify in the Bowen-Loomis controversy. The fact that he was to be sent to Caracas was announced some weeks ago.

"The Crown of Faithfulness" will be the topic of the prayer meeting at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church tomorrow night.

The topic for the prayer meeting at the First Baptist church tomorrow night will be "Calling From the End of the Earth:" "Never Out of Ear Shot of the Throne." Persons wishing to unite with the church by baptism, or letter, are invited to meet the pastor and deacons a half-hour before service.

St. Mary's Catholic church, Bayonne, was crowded Sunday, when the Rev. Father John J. Devlin celebrated his first mass. The sermon was preached by the rector, the Rev. Father Andrew M. Egan, who dwelt upon the duties of the priesthood. In the congregation were the widowed mother of the young priest, Mrs. Ellen J. Devlin, of No. 283 Avenue C, and other members of the family. The young priest has frequently assisted at services in St. Mary's church, this city. Father Devlin returned from Rome a week ago, having been ordained there. He was formerly an altar boy for Father Egan. In company with the Rev. Father Charles McCarthy, also a Bayonne boy, he attended Seton Hall College. Both young men won scholarships in the American College at Rome. Father McCarthy returned several months ago and has been assigned by Bishop O'Connor to St. Cecilia's church, Kearny.

"TEDDY" COYNE IS DEAD

Heart Trouble and Rheumatism Carries off Popular Assemblyman.

G. O. P. CHAIRMAN.

After Being Defeated Through Party Rebellion He Was Elected to Legislature Last Fall by Big Majority.

Assemblyman Edward S. Coyne died at his home in Elizabeth at 7 o'clock this morning. Heart trouble, superinduced by inflammatory rheumatism, was the cause of death. For several days his condition was critical and his death was expected momentarily.

During the past two years he was ill a great deal of the time, and two days before he was nominated for the Assembly last year he was taken ill with appendicitis and underwent an operation at the Elizabeth General

Edward S. Coyne.

Hospital. At that time it was scarcely thought that he would recover. He was elected by a large majority and was able to cast his ballot at that time.

His work in the Assembly was creditable, he having been instrumental in the passage of a number of excellent measures. He was generally popular and highly esteemed by everyone who knew him. He had the reputation of being generous to a fault and was always willing and ready to do a favor for his friends.

Last December he was taken ill with diphtheria while making a trip from New York to his home in Elizabeth, and was detained at home for nearly two months before he recovered. He was able to be about but a few months when he suffered an attack of inflammatory rheumatism.

Mr. Coyne was born at Mariners Harbor, N. Y., October 11, 1862, and was manager of the Manhattan Stove Works, New York city. He moved to Elizabeth when one year old, where he has since resided. He was graduated from the Morrell Street Public School at the age of fifteen, at which time he entered the employ of Eugene Munsell & Co., stove manufacturers, of New York city, serving them in the capacity of boy, clerk, bookkeeper and traveling salesman. He has had the honor to represent his company for a number of years in the National Association of Stove Manufacturers, where his personality was well known and appreciated.

Outside of his business Mr. Coyne had taken an active interest in politics and athletics. He represented the Tenth Ward of Elizabeth in the Board of Aldermen of that city for a period of four years, in which position he was acknowledged the minority leader. He was elected to the Assembly for the session of 1903, and served on Committees of Education, Home for Boys, Home for Girls, Soldiers' Home, Federal Relations, and Elections. Mr. Coyne was a candidate for re-election for the session of 1904, but was defeated by a vote of 345, together with the balance of the county ticket, owing to Republican treachery in this city.

Mr. Coyne successfully managed the baseball and football departments of the Elizabeth Athletic Club for many years. He was a member of the Central Baptist church, and a number of associations, including the McKinley Republican Club, Washington Lodge, No. 33, F. & A. M., Jersey City Lodge of Perfection, Salaam Temple, Mystic Shrine, A. A. O. N., Elizabeth Lodge, No. 289, B. P. O. Elks, Elizabeth Council, No. 170, Royal Arcanum, Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, of Elizabeth, Elizabeth Maennerchor, Elizabeth Athletic Club, Mattano Club, and Elizabeth Board of Trade.

He was elected to the Assembly for 1905 by a plurality of 4,987 over Hague, the highest candidate on the Democratic ticket.

Mr. Coyne's father was one of the founders of the Republican party and always took an active part in politics, like his son. Mr. Coyne is survived by a father and mother and four brothers. As yet arrangements for the funeral have not been completed, but it is believed they will be public.

SOMERSET FREEHOLDERS HOLD ROUTINE SESSION

ONLY ONE BID MADE FOR SOMERVILLE BRIDGE.

Very little was doing at the regular meeting of the Somerset County Board of Chosen Freeholders in the Court House at Somerville yesterday afternoon. A petition, signed by about 100 taxpayers, fo the improvement of the Washington Valley road, from Martinsville to Pluckamin, under the State Aid Road Act, was filed. The county is at present improving all the roads it can and cannot take up new ones because of a lack of ready money. It is probable that this road will be given a showing in the near future, when some of those no win course of construction are completed.

There was only one bid received on the Bridge street bridge in Somerville and it was decided to keep the competition open until next Tuesday afternoon in the Court House.

The County Collector was authorized to borrow $20,000 in anticipation of taxes.

The board will meet at the rubber factory at Rocky Hill next Monday afternoon.

ELKS' MEMBERSHIP ON THE INCREASE

FIFTY-THREE NEW LODGES ADDED—MEMBERSHIP IS NOW 200.040.

Buffalo, July 12.—The Elks attending the annual reunion of their order today began to combine business with pleasure. The opening session of the Grand Lodge at the Teck Theatre and the preliminary contests of bands for rich prizes at the Front were the features of the day's programme.

Following the open meeting the Grand Lodge went into executive session to receive the reports of officers and elect new officers for the ensuing year.

It was estimated that 1,800 representatives were present, only about 200 of the smaller Southern and Western lodges being unrepresented.

The report of Grand Secretary Fred E. Robinson contained the following:

"The success of the past year has exceeded all expectations and has been most gratifying. Fifty-three new lodges have been added to the long list, and those lodges already in existence have been materially strengthened by large accessions in membership. We have made an increase of 22,888 in membership, giving us today 988 lodges and a total membership of 200,040.

"The cash on hand May 31 was $116,902; the total assets $189,273; the liabilities only $4,656. The total suprlus was $184,617, against $169,192 in 1904."

COMPANY K WILL NOT GO TO CAMP THIS YEAR

STATE SENDS GUARDSMEN TO SEA GIRT BI-YEARLY—POLICY CRITICIZED

Company K will not go to camp this year. The State only sends the militiamen into camp every two years. The First, Fourth and Fifth Regiments go down this year. The State's refusal to allow the guard to go into camp every year is one of the things of which the guardsmen complain.

"The State is too stingy to send us to camp every year," said a Company K man last night. "The stingy policy marks the State's whole attitude toward and treatment of the guard, and in that lies the explanation of the weakness of the New Jersey soldiery. Take the suits they are issuing now, for example. A lot of the old men won't wear them they are so rank."

The guardsman seemed to be very bitter and thoroughly disgusted. But he talked only in a strain with which the reporter who heard him had become familiar in his rounds among the other militiamen.

West End Team's Changes.

The West End Baseball Association, of Somerville, at a meeting held last evening released Bachman, the first baseman, who made such a poor showing in Saturday afternoon's contest with the Star A. C., of Newark, and was largely responsible for the loss of the game, and Daly, the left fielder and erstwhile shortstop. George Allen, of Plainfield, who has been catching at Raritan, was signed to play first base, and Weatherwax, of Plainfield, will be in left garden. The Central R. R. team will play at Somerville on Saturday.

SPEAK-EASY MEN FINED

Three Plainfielders Punished by the Union County Court.

GET LIGHT SENTENCES.

More Cases to be Disposed of on June 19—Galbraith to Pay $200 and Costs.

Nearly all of the remainder of the Plainfield cases were disposed of by Judge Vail in the Union County Court, this morning, including the balance of the "speak-easy" cases. Peter Traynor, of North Plainfield, who pleaded guilty to illegal liquor selling, was fined $50 and costs and Thomas Brown and Dominick Parreti, who also pleaded guilty to the same charge, received like sentences.

Daniel Galbraith, of West Fourth street, who conducts a road-house at Fanwood, and who was found guilty of keeping a disorderly house and allowing gambling at the place, was fined $200 and costs. It will be remembered that the jury recommended clemency in his case. Galbraith formerly conducted a saloon on West Third street.

Eugene Britton, who was indicted on a charge of assault and battery on Fred Sheppard, and pleaded guilty, and Lewis Milligan, indicted on a charge of robbery, and who entered a plea of non vult, will be sentenced on Wednesday, July 19.

James Jefferson, colored, of Elizabear, indicted on a charge of stealing a horse and wagon about the Christmas holiday times, was released on a suspension of sentence through intercession in his behalf. In the case of Charles H. Thompson and Fanny Sapp, of Elizabeth, who entered a plea of guilty to a charge of adultery, and William Buddinsky, of Springfield, who entered a plea of guilty to a charge of assault and battery on his nephew, Adolph J. H. Miller, will be sentenced Wednesday, July 19.

The Bow-Wows' Enemy Busy.

Pierre Moore, who was appointed dog catcher at the last meeting of the Common Council, is now busily engaged in looking for stray canines who do not wear a muzzle. Thus far he has captured five such dogs, and they are detained at the pound, where the owners can have them by paying the usual fee. Persons who lose valuable dogs should first inquire at the pound, which is located at the sewage farm, and which is in charge of Charles Peterson. Within a few days Mr. Moore will have the regulation badge prescribed by law, thus displaying his authority.

A DYSENTERY EPIDEMIC

All the Physicians Are Kept Working Overtime. Now.

A DOCTOR'S ADVICE.

Be Careful What You Eat—Don't Drink Too Much in This Weather—Some Severe Cases Reported.

An epidemic of dysentery in various forms is giving the local physicians an unusual amount of work these days and in some instances the cases are quite serious, especially in North Plainfield, where three deaths resulted from this trouble last week. The cause of teh trouble is a mystery in a majority of cases, although the physicians are sure that it is due to a germ that enters the stomach. They say that certain kinds of water as well as what one eats is apt to cause a fermentation and result in bowel trouble.

One physician today reported that he has eighteen cases under treatment, another has fourteen and still another has thirteen cases, while it is safe to say that nearly every physician in the city and borough has patients suffering with the trouble.

A physician, in speaking of the matter today, said that he would advise people to be extremely careful as to what they eat and drink just now. He said that this is just the kind of weather for bowel trouble, and in the eating of fruits, vegetables and other things one cannot be too careful, and as to drinks especially, one should be cautious.

PHILA. TO NEW YORK IN NINETY MINUTES

AND THE TRAIN WILL PASS THROUGH PLAINFIELD.

From Philadelphia to New York in ninety minutes!

This is the marvel in rapid transit which the Philadelphia and Reading Railway Company proposes to make an every-day fact. The present schedule for express trains on both the Reading and the Pennsylvania is two hours, and, considering the delay for ferrying at New York, even this schedule was regarded by railroad men as one of the significant feats of modern railroading.

And now the Reading officers announce that they will clip an hour—25 per cent.—from this fast schedule.

Charles Dickens, in his American notes, speaks with some gratification of making the trip form New York to Philadelphia in six hours. These new flyers will make identically the same trip in one-fourth the time.

Sanitary School of Instruction.

The State Board of Health has chosen Dr. B. Van D. Hedges, of Plainfield; Professor E. H. Loomis, of Princeton University; Francis H. McGee, of Attorney General McCarter's office; R. B. Fitz-Randolph, State director of the laboratory of hygiene, and Dr. J. L. Leal, of Paterson, to consider the proposition of establishing a school of instruction for the sanitary officers of the State.

Clericus Meeting.

The Plainfield Clericus met as the guests of Rev. Arthur S. Peck, rector of St. Stephen's church, yesterday. The session was held at the rector's home in East Sixth street, and after the usual business meeting a collation was served. The topic of discussion was "How Far the Clergy Are Bound in Their Ministrations to Loyalty to the Prayer Book?"

In Justice Hand's Court.

In Justice Hand's court judgment has been secured by Charles W. Tallman against Charles E. Utter, and execution is to be issued. In the same court judgment has been secured by Isidor Schorr and Louis Larder against H. Feinberg.

Funeral of Lightning's Victim.

The funeral of Peter Chechrew, who was killed by lightning at Aldene Monda yafternoon, was held from his late home at South Plainfield this afternoon. The interment is to be made in the family plot at Perth Amboy.

Rev. Mr. Stevenson in Canada.

Rev. E. Vicar Stevenson, rector of Grace church, is spending his vacation at St. Catherines, Canada, and during his absence Rev. Erskine M. Rodman, rector emeritus, is in charge of the parish work.

Rector to Go Abroad.

Rev. Arthur S. Peck, rector of St. Stephen's church, has arranged to take a trip abroad in August. He will go for the sea voyage, hoping it will benefit his health.

A PARK AT NETHERWOOD

Plainfield Water Company Plans One at its Own Expense.

NOW BUYING PROPERTY.

Half the Needed Plot Already Secured and Proceedings to Be Taken to Secure Remainder.

At an original expense of fully $25,000 the Plainfield Water Supply Company has undertaken to purchase the entire plot of ground in the Netherwood section bounded by Frederick street, North avenue, Terrill road and Columbia avenue for the purpose of making it a public park. The work of buying the land, which is in a great many parcels, has been going on quietly for the past five months, and at the present time about one-half of that needed has been secured.

Options have been taken on others, and where owners hold their ground at an exorbitant figure condemnation proceedings will be started, the company's charter giving it this prerogative. It is hoped to have the whole section before the coming winter, and if so, the work of improvement will be started next spring.

The property within the streets named is 2,000 feet long and about 300 feet wide. It is encumbered by five houses, four of which have been bought in. At the upper end near Terrill road there are two stagnant ponds that have long been an eyesore to the company officials and nearby residents.

One of the first moves of the new owners will be to fill these in and then the whole plot will be graded, laid out with walks, trees and shrubbery and thrown open to the public. It is within easy reach of the trolley and will make a beautiful breathing spot.

The company already owns 2,200 feet of ground on the south side of North avenue adjoining the railroad, and has just bought a large plot on the north side of Columbia avenue, 1,010 feet long by 150 feet wide. This will give it a total width from the railroad of 700 feet, all of which will be laid out uniformly by an expert landscape architect. The property for the most part has been owned by Italians, who have had a tendency to erect small shacks and buildings that look far from well and which have a tendency to depreciate land values.

The proximity to the pumping station had much to do with the plans to effect the change.

MEHAREY INVESTIGATES LETTER BOX BREAKING

INSPECTOR MAY CAUSE AN ARREST IN BOROUGH.

Post Office Inspector Meharey was in the city yesterday to investigate the circumstances surrounding the smashing of a rural free delivery box at the upper end of Somerset street on June 28. There were no thrilling incidents connected with the breaking of the box, not even a letter being missing, but the post office is very strict in its supervision of the boxes, and every such occurrence is as rigidly investigated as if much damage and great loss were involved.

The box in question, it is now believed, was broken by some drunken man or michievous boy. There was no mail in it at the time. The department puts the R. F. D. boxes under the same protection as that accorded the street boxes in cities, and persons convicted of breaking them are liable to not less than a year's imprisonment and may be fined heavily in addition.

Inspector Meharey worked out a somewhat similar case in New Brunswick the day before yesterday. Some youths threw a lighted firecracker in a letterbox there on the Fourth of July, and the explosion set fire to the mail in it. A policeman who saw the smoke pouring out of the slot saved the mail from destruction by smashing the box. Meharey was put on the case the next day and Monday afternoon he placed the three young men who threw the cracker in the box under arrest.

An arrest in the North Plainfield case is not improbable, although it may not be made at once.

—Delicious peaches from Georgia and the famous Rocky Ford melons are features of Neuman Brothers' fruit display. Better order some for dinner.

—The Plainfield Water Supply Company is installing a fire hydrant on Park avenue, next to Miss Lincoln's flower store. This was petitioned for by the property-owners on the avenue.

FAMOUS SOLOIST FOR FRIDAY'S BAND CONCERT

LEADER LAVERE SECURES JOHN S. LEICK, THE GREAT CORNETTIST.

As an especial attraction for Friday night's band concert, Leader Ben LaVere has secured after considerable effort, John S. Leick, of Newark, one of the world's leading cornettists. He was formerly soloist with the Kilties and for the past three years has been with Innis' band, which played the entire season at the St. Louis Exposition. It closed a tour of the Pacific coast a short time ago and Mr. Leick returned home for a rest but consented to come to Plainfield tarough friendship for Mr. LaVere.

His solo Friday night, will be the "Whirlwind" concert polka, composed by the late Jules Levy, the great cornet virtuoso. It is one of the most difficult solos ever written. It has a cadenza which requires great strength of lips to perform and the polka is of a very brilliant nature. By many of his admirers, Leick is said to be able to equal Levy's rendition of it. He used this solo recently when playing before King Edward VII and Queen Alexandria.

FIREMEN TO MEET ON THE DIAMOND

PLAINFIELD AND BROOKLYN LADDIES TO CROSS BATS.

To swell the pension fund of the local fire department, Chief Doane's laddies will play a baseball game with a team of Brooklyn firefighters on the Oval July 19. Tickets of admisson will be sold, and the receipts will all go into the pension fund.

Chief Doane himself is managing the team and the enterprise. The pension fund has hitherto been strengthened only by voluntary contributions from householders or owners who have felt moved by gratitude to the department to send something as a mark of appreciation, and the Chief and his men want to give it a healthy boost. It is believed that the ball game will be a most popular and successful means of accomplishing the end.

The game will be a good one. The locals have some handy and active ball tossers in their ranks, and they have had three seasons of play behind them for the nucleus of fast team work. The nine that will come from Brooklyn will be a crack combination from the word go until jumping off time. It will be an All-Brooklyn nine, with the best ball players in the whole Brooklyn department in the lineup.

The Chief was not ready to give out his lineup yesterday, but promised to make it public in a day or two.

This is the second time only since the fire department has been reorganized that the men have set out to sell tickets for their own benefit, and they are entitled to a lot of consideration in their effort to make money out of the venture. The firemen's pension fund is deserving of all the support the public can give it. It is at least deserving of as much consideration as the many private and semi-private funds and treasuries to which the people of this city so readily give support. Not only, Chief Doane, but all the city officials, hope that the tickets will sell so rapidly that two or three issues will have to be struck off.

Preparing Park Property.

During the past two weeks surveyors have been engaged in completing their work on the property in the west end of the borough, recently acquired by a syndicate, and which it is proposed to improve with a handsome boulevard and a lake. It is said that among the improvements to be made will be a road running north and south to be used exclusively by automobiles. This will be laid out, it is said, alongside the proposed lake, and will be a short cut between a certain section of the borough and Plainfield.

A Good Time Assured.

If you go with the First Baptist church and Sunday school on its annual excursion to Asbury Park, July 20, you will surely have a good time. The train will leave Plainfield at 8 o'clock in the morning, returning leave the Park at 6:30. Reserve this date for your outing.

To Shoot Saturday.

Those members of Company K who didn't go down to the Sea Girt ranges on July 6, the date set for the company shoot, will shoot there Saturday. The members who didn't complete their scores on the sixth will go down also to finish up.

Salt Water Day.

Salt water day at Boynton Beach will be held on Friday, July 14.

LINCOLN CITS ORGANIZE

Form Improvement Association for Incorporation of Borough.

TO LEAVE TOWNSHIP.

D. J. Perkins and S. D. Drake Make Speeches — A Committee Appointed.

A large and enthusiastic meeting was held in the public school at Lincoln last night for the purpose of taking steps to adopt a borough form of government. S. D. Drake called the meeting to order and made a speech than won every one over to the idea of changing the form of government of that place.

D. J. Perkins was afterward elected president of what is known as the Borough Improvement Association, and M. S. Burnstein was chosen secretary. After the organization speeches were made by J. T. Vreeland, of East Bound Brook; M. F. Wirtz and Edgar Grauert, of Beechwood Heights, and Michael Gallagher, of Dewey Park, representing the four districts of the town.

Mr. Perkins said that he regretted the proposed secession of Lincoln from the township, holding that the fact that the people of New Market want a new $20,000 school house was largely responsible for the movement. He said the people of Lincoln have ample school accommodations and do not want to pay for others in other parts of Piscataway township.

Mr. Drake said that Lincoln is peculiarly situated, having every improvement, including gas, water, electric light, trolley cars, macadamized roads, a fire department, etc. Showing the importance of the town, he stated that every month the sum of $3,000 is paid to the New Jersey Central for freight hauling, and there is now $350,000 worth of assessable property in the town of one thousand population and that the place has every advantage of a city.

Dr. Pierce was represented at the meeting through a letter, in which he said that he favored the borough form of government, whereby the macadamized streets built by him at his own expense would be cared for, and he said that he would be willing to pay his share of the taxes.

The present tax rate at Lincoln is $1.41, exclusive of electric lights, and it is believed that with the proposed change the tax will be at least 5 per cent. less.

Much praise was given S. D. Drake, who is the pioneer citizen of Lincoln, for his work in locating the town of Lincoln and helping to make it a thriving center. The citizens at the meeting openly stated that they believed he had done his share of the work and they were now willing to do their part in running the place.

A committee, comprised of M. F. Wirtz, J. T. Vreeland, J. V. N. Polhemus and Michael Gallagher, was appointed to obtain facts and figures toward the establishment of a borough and report at a meeting to be held in two weeks. Later it was understood that the residents of that etrritory on the south side of the railroad east of Bound Brook are anxious to get into the proposed borough.

The borough is now assured, and at the meeting of the Legislature next winter efforts will be made to have that body establish that form of government for the town.

SIMPLIFIES THE WORK.

Reason for Official Changes in Public Service Corporation.

The recent changes made by the Public Service Corporation in this city, Bound Brook and Somerville means a simplification of business matters. Ralph P. Bache, who is now in charge of the electrical department here, has been given control of that department for the three towns, and S. K. Campbell, of this city, has been put in charge of the distribution of the gas for the same territory, while William R. Causebrook, the local agent for the company, will have charge of the commercial end of the business for the three places.

Heretofore each one of these officials has been obliged to report to one or more officials, and it has some times been confusing. With the changes noted, they will be held responsible and each department will have its regular quota of assistants, making the work easier for the heads as well as those under them.

Clerks Arranging Outing.

The clerks in the local stores who at one time comprised the Plainfield Retail Clerks' Association are arranging for a trolley trip to Boynton Beach some night next week.

—Don't forget the annual excursion of Franklin and Somerset Councils, Jr. O. U. A. M., to Asbury Park, on Saturday, July 22. The train levaes the shore at 9:30 at night.

CIRCUS TOMORROW.

Great Sautelle and Welsh Bros.' Shows to Exhibit Here.

The great Sig. Sautelle and Welsh Brothers' circus is due in this city tomorrow and will give two performances, afternoon and evening, at Fourth street and Darrow avenue. The shows need no introduction to Plainfielders, and it need only be said that they are better this year than ever before.

The process of constructing the great tents is always interesting, and the work tomorrow will be watched by large crowds.

At 6 a. m. the grounds will appear somewhat deserted, but by 10 o'clock the entire city of tents will have been erected and will be there in all its effulgent glory. It will arise as if by magic, however, as a matter of fact, there isn't a bit of magic to the whole process of construction. The work of building the circus city, although a colossal task, is performed with apparent ease by the architect, or boss canvasman, and his innumerable helpers. The building of the huge canvases is always an interesting and fascinating spectacle, and it goes without saying that hundreds of men, women and children will be on hand at the Sig. Soutelle and Welsh Bros.' show lot bright and early tomorrow to watch the tented city grow into its transient existence. The ubiquitous small boy will be there in great numbers, and he will see about everything worth seeing from the moment the very first wagon is driven onto the bare lot until the vast circus city is complete.

LONG BRANCH'S HORSE SHOW.

Four-in-hand Race Will be One of the Leading Features.

Everybody is taking a great deal of interestin the plans for the Long Branch Horse Show. The exhibition will open on July 26 and will continue four days. The classes to be shown this year number fifty-three, or ten more than in 1904. The prizes this year are larger than last year, and will aggregate $5,500.

One of the spectacular features of the exhibition will be a road race for four-in-hands from Seabright to the show grounds at Hollywood Park. The distance is seven miles, and the contest will bring out the staying qualities and road abilities of the teams. Alfred G. Vanderbilt and Frederick Lewisohn are among those who have made entries in this competition.

DR. STOKES'S STATUE.

Bronze Figure of the Former President of Campmeeting Association.

The eight-foor bronze statue of the late Rev. Elwood H. Stokes, for a quarter of a century president of the Ocean Grove Campmeeting Association, and which will be unveiled July 31, with imposing ceremonies, has arrived at Ocean Grove.

It is a very correct and lifelike piece of work and was chiseled by Paul W. Moris, of Connecticut.

Governor Stokes will preside at the unveiling ceremonies. Bishop Spellmeyer, formerly of New York, will probably deliver the morning address.

Dr. Carroll at Ocean Grove.

Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll, corresponding secretary of the Methodist Episcopal Missionary Society, gave an interesting address Monday morning at the Young People's Temple, Ocean Grove. His recent tour of four months' length through South America was his subject, and his belief in the ultimate success of the Panama canal as a highway for the nations was a bit of prephecy full of interest.

FORMER SENATOR'S SON MARRIES STENOGRAPHER

GEORGE V. SMITH A PRINCIPAL IN A PRETTY ROMANCE.

Lakewood, July 12—George V. Smith, a son of former State Senator George Grecley Smith, of this place, is one of the principals in a romanec which resulted in his marriage on June 18, to Miss Kathinka Stenz, a stenographer in the office of the People's Security Company, 277 Broadway, New York city.

The young woman was introduced seven months ago to George V. Smith, who had just been promoted to a position in the People's company, that made him her next higher officer. Inside of three months Mr. Smith popped the question and was accepted. Since their marriage they have been living in a pretty flat at 634 West 138th street, New York.

Mr. Smith, on December 13 last, was promoted from a position in the law department of the security company to the superintendency of the claims department. He was given a private office and in it he found Miss Stenz. Mr. Smith is twenty-eight years old.

Smith, upon going with the security company, which does business for about 10,000 labor unionists, studied law and at length graduated. Then his position came.

Miss Stenz was a sympathizer with unions and expressed deep sympathy for the wage-earners as she and her new "boss" went over the cases submitted to him. This is where Cupid got in his work of romance.

Mr. Smith and his black-eyed stenographer soon wew going to the theatre. Then she invited him to her home in 116t hstreet.

"The first night I called I proposed," said Mr. Smith, "and I was accepted."

They were married June 18, by Rev. Rivington D. Lord, of the Keap Street Free Will Baptist church, Brooklyn, at the pastor's residence, 595 Bedford avenue. Just a few relatives attended.

The father of the bridegroom represented Ocean County in the Assembly in 1884-85. He is a relaitve of the late Horace Greeley, and was in the dry goods business here, but has retired. He is vice president of the Lakewood Trust Company.

The Hotel Waldorf furnishes the best of accommodations for transient as wel las permanent guests. It is conducted by Henry Windham, who has wide experience.

Charles E. Vail, the Park avenue jeweler, carries a superior line of silverware, diamonds, watches, clocks and novelties, and he also sells the famous rimless eyeglasses.

Harry G. Adams, the representative of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Co., is hustling every day for new business. He can give you the best policy at your figures.

Open an account at the Dime Savings Institution today and begin to save your earnings. You will be surprised to see how the liberal interest will help to swell your account.

For expert electrical work, consult Allen B. Laing, of North avenue. He is thoroughly competent and employs only experienced men. He makes a specialty of connecting electrical fans.

It won't do a watch a bit of harm to have it examined now and then by an expert watch repairer. It prolongs its life and often is the means of detecting a defect that will eventually ruin it. L. Moraller & Son will tell you more about this matter if you ask them.

The City National Bank has exceptional advantages for the storage of valuables. The rentals are low and there are special rates for the summer. It is the best way of caring for silverware, cut glass and jewelry during your absence at seashore and mountain.

Patrons of S. Scheuer & Co.'s grocery on West Front street are constantly saving money, because the firm sells at such close prices. The goods are the best in the market, no sacrifice being made for the low prices. The meat department is one of the best and only the best cuts are offered customers.

Good News for "Smiling Jimmie."

With several donations made Judge Runyon and the profits from the recent minstrel show, the young men who interested themselves in behalf of "Smiling Jimmie" Montross, have $200 in hand for him. He will be presented with the amount this week at Muhlenberg Hospital, his condition having improved greatly.

Miss Elsie Rimmer, of Essex street, is entertaining a cousin from Rutherford.

TIMELY TOPICS DISCUSSED BY PLAINFIELDERS

—WRITTEN BY REQUEST FOR THE DAILY PRESS—

NO. 4—Chinese Immigration; a Reply to Walter T. Griffin, By Charles S. Sminck.

The Rev. Walter T. Griffen, in an address recently delivered in this city, appeared to favor the repeal or modification of the Chinese exclusion laws. His position seems to be more ideal than practical. In his broad charity and kindliness of heart he loses sight of the law of self-preservation which applies to nations as well as to individuals.

In point of economy of transportation the Pacific coast is probably nearer to the teeming millions of China than it is to the population of the United States east of the Mississippi valley.

On the question of the so-called "yellow peril" by peaceful invasion or otherwise the United States stands closer to that danger than the countries of Europe, and especially so should we repeal the exclusion act.

Modern steampships could land the Chinese by the thousands, and it would not be an entirely voluntary immigration, because the Chinese would probably establish commercial companies in this country, as they did some years ago, for the purpose of encouraging the immigration so that money could be made out of Chinese contract labor. Is the former Chinese minister to this country interested in one of these companies and is that the reason a boycott is being started on American goods?

Is the Chinese position ideal or practical? Are they looking for dividends from immigration and steamship lines? Our Mongolian friends are not so innocent as they look.

Suppose steamships crowded with Chinese should arrive monthly in the harbor of San Francisco equal in number to the immigrant steamships reaching the port of New York, how long would it take to make the great Pacific coast distinctly Chinese with the standard of Confucius strong and triumphant?

A large portion of this immigration would also drift to other parts of the country, and the Chinese section of the cities would be greatly enlarged, to their danger and dertiment.

In places in our own State the newly arrived immigrants from Europe are fast gaining the ascendancy, and this is mentioned not as a parallel but as an illustration to show how the Chinese would fill up whole valleys and sections, perhaps states, of the Pacific coast, representing the most lovely and beautiful land in our domain.

The immigration from Europe is not to be mentioned in the same breath with that from China. It is different. The immigration from Europe represents the home and the family as it is known to our laws. Can the same be said of the Chinese? Are they not a law unto themselves?

Under the influence of our public school system the children of the immigrants from Europe are being made a part of our great people by being taught to absorb our ideas of law and government. The problems presented by European immigration are in themselves very serious, and they are straining our institutions to the utmost without adding the dead weight of the Chinese problem.

The Chinese standard of civilization is lower than ours and the contest would be between the higher and lower forms of civilization, with the usual and final result of the lower pulling down the higher standard.

Among the thousands of Chinese in this country there are no homes or firesides, which are the cherished institutions of America and the guarantee for the Republic's future and permanency. Do we wish immigration like that? Will the lower pull down the higher standard of civilization? Visit the Chinese quarter of a large city and see for yourself. The relation of husband and wife are either unknown or degraded. The Chinese immigration to this country began nearly sixty years ago, and the white and yellow races have been side by side for more than an entire generation, and yet we have seen no assimilation.

The Chinese flock to their own peculiar and objectionable quarters, stick to their odd dress, build and worship in their own temples and have a code of law among themselves entirely independent of our police regulations and law. Does Dr. Griffen want immigration like that?

The Chinaman of today seems no nearer to our standard of civilization than he did sixty years ago. The white race have suffered, however, from the contact, as you will learn from your visit to the Chinese quarters of the large cities. You will find there degraded specimens of the white race, misnamed men and women. Does the lower pull down the higher? Your own sensations after visiting Chinatown will answer in the affirmative.

Dr. Griffen says: "I would see barriers put up against those who have committed crime, barriers against those who seek to escape from their duty, to pollute, to desecrate our land and law." From this statement of Dr. Griffen's, it cannot be that he really favors Chinese immigration.

The Chinese who are in the country ought to be treated with all the grace of Christian charity, and they should have the full protection of our laws, and measures taken to prevent injury to person or property from the mob violence of the lawless. The work the churches are doing among the Chinese of the country should be helped and encouraged. Students visiting the United States for the purpose of learning something to uplift their empire should be treated with courtesy and consideration. America can afford to be kind and generous to China, and during the past ten years we have been a good friend—for did not the diplomacy of Secretary Hay preserve the territorial integrity of the Chinese empire? Were not some of the leading countries of Europe looking with wolf-like eyes at Chinese territory?

Is China, or is she not, indebted to the United States for the integrity of her territory? If so, why do her statesmen permit a boycott at this time on American manufactures?

Perhaps it may be said with truth that the best people of China are not responsible for the condition of the lower classes and that it is the result of overcrowding and centuries of environment and that any movement having for its object the immigration of the lower classes is viewed with favor, as tending to produce a better condition at home.

Shall the United States become the dumping ground?

Is this to be the return for a valuable act of friendship?

The Chinese boycott would seem to indicate that Chinese opinion is that the people of the United States are mean and mercenary and that all you have got to do is to touch the American pocket and we will all run to cover. Is that a fact? Will Congress hasten to repeal or modify the exclusion act under the Chinese coercion of a threatened boycott? What will the American people say? Has not President Roosevelt pointed out that Chinese officials have illegally issued certificates to so-called students and merchants?

Was that an act of good faith?

The immigration which comes to us from Europe has been valuable, and by assimilation has become part of the American people—but after sixty years the Chinese are still Chinese.

Have we not a right therefore, both legal and moral, to protect our country through the instinct of self-preservation from an immigration which is and always will be anti-American, and which brings to the country surroundings which are the opposite of American home life?—to say nothing of the servile labor against which it is impossible for an American to live.

LOST JEWELS IN ELIZABETH.

Mrs. Crowe Left Them in Central Railroad Station.

Requests have been sent to the police of various cities to find, if possible, jewels valued at $500, which Mrs. E. R. Crowe, wife of an advertising broker in 1 Madison avenue, New York, left in a Central Railroad of New Jersey station at Elizabeth on Saturday, and which were not to be found, when an hour later she had a search made for them. Mr. Crowe has offered a reward.

The list of lost articles are four rings. All were left on a washstand.

Mr. and Mrs. Crowe, who are residents of New York, visited Elizabeth on Saturday, and from there took a train for Philadelphia. Mrs. Crowe forgot she had left her jewels in the station until she took off her gloves in Philadelphia.

A comparison of the work of the local team in the matter of making runs and hits against its opponents in the sixteen games played on Crescent Oval this season, is interesting on the eve of the Plainfield-Westfield series. The Daabsters have made a total of 125 runs and 134 hits as against 45 runs and 109 hits for the opposing teams. Thus it will be seen that the locals have twenty-five more hits and eighty more runs than their opponents. The whitewash brush was applied once by the All-Cubans, the score being 1 to 0. In only one game has the score of the outside team been one figure and that it was in the third contest with the Philadelphia Giants, the score being 11 to 6. Aside from that contest the highest number of runs made against the Plainfield team was five and they shut out the All-Nationals Fourth of July morning without a hit or run.

Ambrose Puttmann, who pitched one game for the Plainfield team last season and who has been with the New York Americans, has been released by Manager Griffiths. He will pitch for Jack Dunn's Providence team.

Acording to latest reports the Tri-State League is on its last legs, and will soon disband. Pitchers Wiggs, Dowd and Pierson have deserted the Altoona Club. Fancy prices is the cause attributed to the trouble.

"The Dove of Peace" of Recreation Park, Westfield, says that there will be plenty of big league material about the Metropolitan district the last of the week, so beware.

The fact that Westfield defeated Trenton 1 to 0 should not afford the Westfield fans much comfort, for the Mercer County team is not as fast as Plainfield this season.

Doescher, of the Brooklyn Nationals, is the only player among those in the three Greater New York major league clubs that has failed to make a hit this season.

The report that "Red" Waller is to receive an extra $100 for beating Plainfield on Saturday is denied by the Sage of Recreation Park.

Arthur Devlin, of the Giants, has stolen twenty-six bases this season.

Mike Donlin, of the Giants, has made 100 hits this season.

HERMIS STILL SWIFT.

Last Season's Champion a Winner at Brighton.

Hermis, the champion race horse of last season, still possesses his great flight of speed. He ran the full six furlong course, carrying 126 pounds, in 1.13 1-5 at Brighton Beach track yesterday and won a race.

It was his first race of the season. In a race at this track against Beldame a year ago, he pulled up so lame that many turfmen thought that his career as a race horse had ended. He improved when thrown out of training, but this spring he again showed signs of lameness and Trainer John Shields had to exercise great care in order to bring him to the post in good racing trim.

Homer L. Corhead, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., is visiting local friends.

Miss Mildred Spicer, of West Seventh street, is spending a few weeks at Asbury Park.

Edward Mosher, Jr., of Elmwood place, is convalescing from a severe attack of typhoid fever.

Plainfield, N. J., July 12, 1905.

An exchange says that Bowen was badly bruised by the administration. Badly used would have been nearer the truth.

The person who has not conveyed the startling news to another that "it is dreadfully hot" will please come forward.

What sense is there in merely imposing a fine on persons found guilty of conducting a "speak-easy" or other type of disorderly house? If this offense is to be broken up, the only way to do it is by making the punishment severe. If Judge Vail would send some of the culprits to jail for a good term, Plainfield would soon be rid of these unlawful resorts.

Union county has lost a good assemblyman and the Republican party has lost an energetic chairman in the death of Edward C. Coyne. "Teddy" Coyne, as he was popularly called, had probably more friends in politics than any other man in the county. His big heart and square methods won for him friends of the kind that cannot be bought with money and they did not wait until his death to appreciate him.

There can be no better charity than that of caring for the babes of the poor during these hot days. In many instances it means that precious little lives are saved and in all cases it means that they are made healthier. If you wish to promote this undertaking just send a contribution to The Daily Press office and it will be acknowledged and transmitted to the baby camp committee of the City Union of King's Daughters.

ORANGEMEN'S DAY.

Battle of the Boyne Exactly 215 Years Ago.

This is the day the Orangemen celebrate. Two hundred and fifteen years ago William III gave battle to the troops of King James II on the banks of the Boyne river, three miles west of Drogheda. William's losses were 500 and James' were 1500.

Every year the battle of the Boyne water is fought over again, not on the Boyne, but anywhere in the world that a wearer of the green and a staunch Orangeman happen to come together on the anniversary of that celebrated battle. Sometimes other nationalities creep into the controversy.

PLAINFIELD-WESTFIELD BASEBALL LAST SEASON

LOCALS HAD MUCH THE WORST OF EVENTFUL SERIES.

A review of last year's series of baseball contests between Plainfield and Westfield does not afford a whole lot of comfort for the Plainfield fans, owing to the many ups and downs of the locals, but it will lend interest to the opening of the series on Saturday. Last season there were eleven contests, and including the one given to Westfield by forfeit, the Denmanites have a credit of seven victories, while Plainfield won four games. The scores were always close, and in three games the Westfielders were shut out by scores of 3 to 0, 6 to 0, and 2 to 0, while the fourth game came to Plainfield by a score of 6 to 4.

Plainfield made a total of 29 runs and Westfield tallied 37. Plainfield was whitewashed twice by scores of 3 to 0 and 1 to 0. "Letty" Davis pitched three contests for the locals, losing the first by a score of 7 to 5, and the second one was the forfeited game, 9 to 0, and the third by a score of 8 to 6. After that the Plainfield team depended on Jack Cronin, Virgil Garvin, O'Neil, Puttmann, Battam and "Chick" Frazer as slab artists, and they met with varied success. Garvin did well at first, but afterward was unable to win a contest, while O'Neil, of the St. Louis Nationals, was a miserable failure. Frazer won his game, as did also Cronin and Puttmann. The local fans are confident that this year's series will be vastly different, for they believe that the present team is 100 per cent stronger than last year's aggregation.

Sewer Commissioners Busy.

The sewer commissioners, Robert A. Meeker, John W. Murray, Jr., and S. P. T. Wilbur, are now engaged in going over the figures and details connected with the work of assessing property owners for the proposed sewer extension. The commissioners will meet tonight to continue this work and on Saturday afternoon they will go over the territory through which the extensions are to be made. They expect to complete their work before August 1, when the Common Council meets.

Baby Camp Reception.

There will be an informal reception at the King's Daughters Baby Camp on the mountain this afternoon from 2 to 6 o'clock and stages will meet the trolley cars at the end of the Somerset street line to convey guests to the camp. If the weather is unfavorable for the reception another date for it will be announced.

Captain and Mrs. Chauncey Humphrey are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Waring, of Park avenue. They will go to California in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry K. Dumont, of Grove street, left today for "The Pines," Windham, Greene county, New York, where they will remain for two months.

'SCOTTY' BREAKS RECORD

Former Plainfielder Smashes all Previous Running Time on Santa Fe.

KISSED BY WOMEN.

Gives Away Bills to Porters and Trainmen — Maybe an Advertising Scheme.

Tousled and red faced, without coat or vest, evidently enjoying the notoriety that preceded him and that attracted a throng of the curious to the railroad station, Walter Scott, or "Scotty," miner and alleged man of millions, who was formerly a resident of this city, reached Chicago just before noon yesterday, having made a record breaking run from Los Angeles, on the Santa Fe, in forty-four hours and fifty-four minutes.

With his mongrel dog and his wife, he is now quartered at the Great Northern Hotel, in Chicago. He will go on to New York, probably tomorrow, but his plans for going eastward had not been definitely determined late last evening.

After seeing Scott for several hours Chicago is not quite sure whether to take him for what he has been represented in despatches from the West or whether to set him down as the instrument of a clever advertisement of mining stocks.

From a Los Angeles newspaper the following despatch preceded Scott yesterday:

"No one here has seen Scott's mine, which is said to be in Funeral Range, Death Valley. He was grub staked by Julian M. Gerard, second vice-president of the Knickerbocker Trust Company, New York, a half owner. His friends say the special train is a cowboy freak."

The miner agreed to pay the Santa Fe a bonus of $500 over the $5,000 price if taken to Chicago before three o'clock yesterday afternoon. This time was cut three hours and six minutes and the cost of the flying trip through eight states was made $5,500.

The record previous to yesterday was fifty-two hours and forty-nine minutes, made last August for Henry V. Lowe.

Scott, leading his dog, was literally varried by the crowd to the end of the station platform, and before he had walked twenty feet he was kissed by one woman, who gave him a loud smack on the lips. She only retreated when Mrs. Scott came to her husband's side. Scott made a speech. He said: "The Santa Fe got me here ahead of time. I am glad to be with you all."

The crowd surged about him and the newspaper photograhpers had a hard time trying to focus their cameras. Scott wore a pair of dark trousers, a blue flannel shirt with a four in hand tie. He got away from the crowd, shot hastily through the freight shed into a Wells-Fargo express wagon and was driven to the Great Northern Hotel. He gave Sergeatn Tyrell $10, which was "for drinks for the boys," and Emil Strake, the driver of the wagon, received an equal amount for driving him through the mob which pursued him.

After Scott got settled in his room he ordered up four quarts of whiskey for his male friends and champagne for his women guests. He pushed the waiters aside, and picking up two quarts of whiskey, one in each hand, poured from the two bottles simultaneously.

The fastest speed acquired was between Chillicothe and Coal City, Ill., a distance of seventy-one miles, at the rate of 63.5 miles an hour. From La Junta to Syracuse it covered a distance of 108.8 miles at a rate of 63.6 miles an hour. The entire distance on the division between La Junta and Dodge City—202 miles—was made in 194 minutes, including a delay of ten minutes for repairs.

In its flight from California the special passe dthrough eight states, and engines were changed at twenty division points. This required the services of twenty crews to pull in the train, for which Scott enjoys the privilege of paying $5,500.

When seen last night Mr. Gerard admitted that he had grub staked Scott in California in 1899. Further than this, however, Mr. Gerard did not care to discuss the case.

THE FORUM.

Scholastic Championship.

Editor, The Daily Press:

I see that in a communication to the Elizabeth Times the manager of the Battin High School baseball team puts in some sort of an indefinite claim to the title of high school champions for his team. His claim he bases on the grounds that the Plainfield High School refused to play them and that Battin High School in a contested series defeated the Cranford High School team.

The Plainfield High School baseball team on the strength of the fact that its only defeat, at the hands of a school team, came from Brooklyn Boys' High School team and with a margin of only one run, claimed the little which Battin High School now presumes to.

Battin High School would never be allowed the title by comparing their completed schedule with the Plainfield High School schedule. They get around this point by stating Plainfield's unwillingness to play them.

Battin High School has lived up to its athletic reputation by making this claim after the Plainfield High School had completed its baseball season. Plainfield broke off all its athletic relations with Battin High School because they did not use bona fide players or play square baseball in past seasons.

I make these statements because it is not right to have those ignorant of the true facts of the case misled.

Very truly yours,
Howard G. Lapsley,
Mgr. P. H. S. B. B. T.

The choir of the First Baptist church will give a special musical service on Sunday night, under the direction of Howard Case, organist.

The Hebrews of this country have come to the conclusion that the only solution of the question of the preservation of the Russian Jew and the prosperity of their people in that country lies in depopulating the great Russian Empire of the members of their race. To accomplish this end a movement has already been started in this country, which, it was stated yesterday by leading members of the Jewish Chautauqua meeting in Atlantic City, would take from Russia 600,000 Jews, who would be transported to Palestine, while 400,000 other Russian Jews would be brought to this country. Dr. Kaufman Kohler, president of the eHbrew Union College, Cincinnati, thinks it is impossible to tell, owing to the chaotic condition of Russia, whether the Jew is to derive a benefit from the outbreaks in Russia, or whether he is to be forced to endure still greater hardships.

President McCall Answers Thomas W. Lawson.

President John A. McCall, of the New York Life Insurance Company, has issued an answer to various criticisms that have been made upon his company, especially to Thomas W. Lawson's charge that personal profits are made by the trustees out of the New York Security and Trust Company. The document takes the form of a letter to the Insurance Commissioners of Tennessee and Kentucky answering questions propounded by them

In the July number of Everybody's Magazine Mr. Lawson wrote as follows:

"Do you imagine for a moment that such transactions as I set forth in connection with the New York Security and Trust Company, in which the interest of the New York Life was sold to a syndicate of its own directors for a sum far below the market value of the shares, was put through without the connivance of President McCall and Vice President Perkins?"

THE DISTRIBUTION OF THE IMMIGRANTS

THE TRENTON TRUE AMERICAN DISCUSSES THE SUBJECT.

The Executive Committee of the National Civic Federation has decided upon the call for a national convention to consider the proper distribution of immigrants. It is understood that to aid in this matter of locating practically one million individuals, who come to this country, each year, the Governors of the various states will be requested to send delegates to the proposed convention.

It is to be hoped that Governor Stokes will give due consideration to this important subject.

The True American has frequently called attention to the fact that this State, with Ellis Island at her door, offers to a certain class of immigrants opportunities of the highest importance. Governor Stokes has given especial attention to the matter of reclamation of waste land, particularly in South Jersey, is acquainted with the local phase of the problem of irrigation, and has been a close student of the subject of forestry.

Among the mass of immigrants there are undoubtedly those who could aid in clearing and developing the thousands of good upland and lowland in the "Pines," and who would become wage earners and income producers within a zone whose southern radius would not extend over one hundred miles from New York city.

The object lesson is not wanting. In Governor Stokes' home county of Cumberland, Italians have established their berry farms at Vineland; in the adjoining county of Cape May, the Baron de Hirsch settlement of Hebrews at Woodbine, has converted a desert into a paradise. The Germans of Egg Harbor make wines rivalling those of France, for the product of which nation, under other labels, it is frequently sold. The German and Italian market gardens near Camden are famous far beyond Philadelphia.

The New Jersey problem presents nothing of spectacular interest to the foreigner newly landed on our shores, and it will therefore be somewhat difficult to divert a south-flowing stream of immigration. As suggested, only a class of new comers will be useful in this State, being those having special aptitude, or a willingness to learn. A certain amount of stability will also be required on the part of the immigrants.

Of such New Jersey can assimilate all that can be induced to remain within her borders. It is, however, to be hoped that this State will be represented at the immigration convention, and that Governor Stokes will see the wisdom of appointing men or women, as delegates, who understand the purposes of the convention, and recognize the special needs of the State.—Trenton True American.

AMUSEMENTS.

The changes recently made at the Eden Musee make it one of the most interesting summer amusement places in New York city. The interior is kept delightfully cool by artificial means, and the Winter Garden has been rearranged and decorated with palms and ferns, so that it has all the charm of a Roof Garden. Nearly all the wax figures and groups have been given summer costumes, neatly pressed, so that there is dignity, style and comfort on every hand. The Czar of Russia and Mikado of Japan have been given the most prominent places in the group of "Rulers of the World," and are apparently discussing terms of peace. Several new mechanical wax figures have been added, and nearly every day sees some accession to the group of "People Talked About." Among the new moving-pictures are scenes in foreign countries, incidents of travel, comic subjects and mysterious pictures. The afternoon and evening concerts by the Leipsiger Orchestra have a charm and dash that pleases lovers of music. The programmes are varied and interesting.

Say Jury System is Defective.

Trenton, July 12.—The Legislative committee of the Mercer County Bar Association met in the office of Senator Barton B. Hutchinson Friday afternoon and continued its investigation of the charges that New Jersey's jury system is defective. Lawyers William M. Jamieson and Martin P. Devlin and a few laymen were before the committee and told what they knew about the matter. The committee gave the subject careful consideration and decided that in view of its importance and the uncertainty as to the powers of the committee in the matter of taking testimony for the furtherance of its investigation it would be best to refer the whole matter to the Bar Association as a whole. A communication to this effect will be sent to President Bayard Stockton, who, it is expected, will call a meeting of the association for an early date.

PREACHED ON TAINTED MONEY.

Rev. R. B. Urmy Points Out Middle Ground in Dealing with Question.

Rev. Ralph B. Urmy, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, Morristown, preached Sunday night on the subject of "Tainted Money," the topic being one of a series of midsummer sermons. The reference to money serves, by the way, to recall the fact that only a fortnight ago Mr. Urmy declined a raise of $300 a year in his salary. The church, he told his board of trustees, has recently been to a heavy and unusual expense in renovation and repairs, and he did not feel at liberty to accept an increased salary until the debt is paid off.

He chose as his topic Sunday evening a part of the forty-first verse of the twelfth chapter of Mark, "And Jesus sat over against the treasury, and beheld how the people cast money into the treasury."

After introductory remarks, showing that the financial support of the church is a feature of religious duty and worship, he said that the question of the acceptance of various financial contributions that is now raised, while not met anywhere in the Bible, is not a new one. The same question arose as to the propriety of accepting money from slaveholders, and after that as to the pecuniary gifts of the liquor traffic, and just now it is raised through the gifts of a very wealthy man. Extreme positions are taken on the subject, many advocating the acceptance of everything that is offered, while others assert that no money that can be questioned in any way should be accepted by the church. The speaker thought there was a middle ground that was safe and the only tenable one. The church cannot maintain a court of inquiry or any satisfactory position of that kind. It cannot examine rigidly into its gifts, that may come to it through the contribution plate or anonymously, and a wicked man has a right to give his money to any good cause. If one gift is investigated all should be, and that is manifestly impossible. The church should, however, always decline to accept money where the donor has no right to it, such as a self-confessed thief who may make a proffer of money. The church has no right to become a sharer in his crime, as it would not have the right in the case of money secured by blackmail or any confessed method of dishonesty or immorality.

There is also the matter of the man or incorporated company that may have a legal but not a moral right to accumulate and donate money, such as the Louisiana lottery. It would not, the speaker said, in his estimation, be proper to accept and apply to church work, money so acquired. The church cannot recognize vice, nor can it accept funds through which it may in any way be compromised. Better than millions, better than noble temples, better than temporal successes, is a church that can express itself freely on all subjects of immorality, illegality and iniquity.

The cattle upon a thousand hills, the oil that flows in wondrous streams below the surface of the earth, are the works of His hands, and if given to the church with the questions already raised eliminated, they should be used for the advancement of His kingdom.

HAY FEVER AGAIN.

Massaging Your Nose One Remedy for This Distressing Ailment.

Hay fever patients have hope before them in the series of experiments that have been undertaken in the laboratories of Germany. The recent results urge that the sufferer bare his arm and be vaccinated with a serum made from the pollen of plants and later have the mucous membrane of the nose massaged, says the Chicago Post. This cure has been worked by Professor Denker, of Erlangen. Chicago doctors say that it is wise for hay fever victims to take time by the forelock and begin at once to build up the health with tonics, and if robust conditions prevail in the system at the date fixed for the first hay fever paroxysm the attack may be warded off and escape possible, or if it comes the attack will be a light one.

Sneezing days begin as soon as the pollen on the grasses ripen. Sufferers from nose cold have had their hours of discontent ever since the first bud unfolded its leaves in the garden. Their disease is much the same as hay fever, so authorities state, and it is probable that a like sensitiveness to dust and atmospheric conditions exists in both cases. Rose cold comes as soon as the flower perfume is diffused in the air. It is accompanied with watery eyes, sneezing, general discomfort and a much swollen and inflamed nose. Peach fever, beginning later in the year, is akin to both hay fever and rose cold. The name probably suggested itself at the season when peaches were ripe and the first attack of this unhappy influenza set in.

DETAILS OF DRESS.

Some Eccentric Novelties of the Season—Bodice of Sash Ribbon.

Green gloves, violet pumps and purple parasols are a few of the eccentric novelties in summer dress.

A whole bodice may be made of sash ribbon put together with fancy stitches or with insertions of lace.

The new lisle thread gloves are lined with china silk. This lining is cool and comfortable to wear, but the gloves when soiled are practically worthless.

The hand bags that every modish woman carries are only in correct form when they match or harmonize with the costume.

Smartest of tan footwear is the low shoe of dark tobacco brown suede with a flat brown ribbon bow.

With morning gowns particular women are wearing the simplest kind of lingerie petticoats trimmed with a deep scalloped ruffle, above which appear French dots.

The all black hat is making its appearance again. It is too smart to be long out of the running.

One of the new ideas in French gowns is a panel effect reaching from the yoke to the hem of the creation.

The princess model in sheer lingerie fabrics is one of the latest modes.

Cool and attractive are the ecru batiste robes having the skirt and waist fronts embroidered in the Bagdad style. This batiste is not of the transparent kind; neither is it thick or close in weave, but of a good texture for wear in the morning.

The summery, airy sunshade herewith illustrated is of pale green silk lined with puffed green chiffon. The handle is a crook shape carried out in whitewood, ornamented with a chou of chiffon. JUDIC CHOLLET.

FORECAST OF FASHION.

A New Tint In Light Gloves—Pongee In a Strange Guise.

Every woman who wears long white gloves with her short sleeves knows how expensive it is to always have them immaculately clean. There is a delicate ficelle tint almost white that is very becoming to the hand and not so glaringly aggressive as white when in a soiled condition.

There is a new pongee material which has sprung up like a mushroom in the night. Its name is rather misleading, for it no more resembles pongee than it does chiffon, but is more like shantung silk. It is a mixture of cotton and rougher silk yarns. Anyway it is a fascinating fabric and takes most heavenly tints of begonia pinks, damask rose, watteau blue, moutarde and butter color.

For the afternoon drive is a pretty little cape made of a new soft weave of silk. The front of the cape is shaped like a bolero and the back falls in a couple of straight plaits. The wrap is completed with a wide turned back collar of raised embroidery.

A delightfully smart purple linen frock has a short circular skirt simply made with lapped seams and strappings. The little cutaway coat has an old rose velvet collar with a suspicion of the velvet under the linen cuff. A lawn blouse of the same shade with white valenciennes insertions and a rose leather belt is worn with the gown. A purple straw hat trimmed with ribbon and shaded pink roses completes the costume.

Many linen cutaway basqued coats, particularly scarlet ones, are worn with white skirts.

The tendency in hat shapes is more and more eccentric. One example is like a pancake folded in two worn across the head, the space at the back filled in with masses of flowers, while scarcely any trimming adorns the hat itself.

The pretty blouse illustrated is of embroidered blue muslin. The pointed yoke is crossed with entre-deux of valenciennes lace. The fullness is gathered with a heading about this emplecement. The sleeves have a lace trimmed cuff below a deep p[illegible]

CHAPTER XIV.

Mid October. The Queen of the Fleet, the finest transport of the Pacific service, thronged with boys in blue at last ordered on to Manila, lay at the wharf at Honolulu, awaiting her commander's orders to cast loose. In strong force and with stentorian voices, the Primeval Dudes joined in rollicking chorus to the crashing accompaniment of their band, and, when they could take time to rest, the crowd ashore set up a cheer. The Hawaiian national band, in spotless white, forming huge and melodious circle on the wharf, vied with the musicians from the states in the spirit and swing of their stirring airs. "Aloha Oe! Aloha Oe!" chorused the surging throng, afloat and ashore, as wreaths and garlands—the leis of the islanders—were twined or hung about some favorite officer or favored man. The troops still held to service in Hawaii shouted good-will and good-by to those ordered on to the Philippines. The Dudes of the Queen, and the lads from the prairies and the mountains on other transports anchored in the deep but narrow harbor, yelled soldierly condolence to those condemned to stay. The steam of the scape pipe roared loudly and belched dense white clouds on high, swelling the uproar. Dusky little Kanaka boys, diving for nickels and paddling tireless about the ship, added their shrill cries to the clamor. The captain, in his natty uniform of blue and gold, stepped forth upon the bridge to take command, and raised his banded cap in recognition of the constant cheer from the host ashore and the throng of blue shirts on the forecastle head. Then arose another shout, as a veteran officer, in the undress uniform of a general, appeared upon that sacred bound, and, bowing to the crowd, was escorted by the captain to the end overlooking the animated scene below; and then the signal was given, the heavy lines were cast off and hauled swiftly in, the massive screw began slowly to churn the waters at the stern, and gently, almost imperceptibly at first, the Queen slid noiselessly along the edge of the dock, to the accompaniment of a little volley of flowers and garlands tossed from eager hands, and a cheer of godspeed from the swarm of upturned faces. And then there uprose another shout, a shout of mingled merriment, surprise and applause; for all on a sudden there darted up the stairway from the crowded promenade deck to the sacred perch above, defiant of the lettered warning: "Passengers are not allowed upon the bridge," a dainty vision in filmy white, and all in the next moment there appeared at the general's side, smiling, bowing, blowing kisses, waving adieux, all sparkle, animation, radiance and rejoicing, a bewitching little figure, in the airiest, loveliest of summer toilets. The Red Cross nurses on the deck below looked at one another and gasped. Two brave army girls, wives of wounded officers in the Philippines, who by special dispensation were making the voyage on the Queen, glanced quickly at each other and said—nothing audible. The general, lifting his cap, but looking both depreciation and embarrassment, fell back and gave his place at the white rail to the new arrival, and colored high when she suddenly turned and took his arm. The captain, trying not to see her or to appear conscious of this infraction of a stringent rule and invasion of his dignity, grew redder as he shouted rapid orders and swung his big, beautiful ship well out into the stream. The guns of the Bennington boomed a deafening salute as the Queen turned her sharp nose toward the open sea; and almost the last thing Honolulu saw of her human freight was the tiny, dainty, winsome little figure in white, waving a spotless kerchief in fond farewell. Once clear of the narrow entrance the big troopship headed westward toward the setting sun, shook free the reins, as it were, and, followed by less favored craft, sped swiftly on her way, Witchie Garrison, the latest addition to the passenger list, entirely at home, if not actually in command.

Leaning on the general's arm an hour later and deftly piloting that bewildered veteran up and down the breezy deck, she came, just as she had planned to come, face to face once more with Stanley Armstrong. Well she knew that under the escort of that exalted rank she was safe from any possibility of cross question or interference. Well she knew that had he heard of her sudden determination to go to Honolulu she could not have escaped stern interrogation, possibly something worse; and her heart failed her when she realized that the man who had gauged her shallow nature years before, now held a lash over her head in the shape of the paper that mad vanity had prompted her to write and send to the officer of the guard the day that Stewart sailed. What madness it was, indeed, yet how could she have dreamed it would fall into the hands of the man of all others she feared and respected—the one man who, had he but cared, could years ago have had her love, the man who, because he cared not, had won her hate! And, now that he held or had held this paper—nothing less than a forged order in her husband's name as aide-de-camp to Gen. Drayton, she could have cowered at his feet in her terror of him, yet braved him with smiles, sweetness and gayety, with arch merriment and joyous words, quitting for the moment the general's arm that she might extend to him both her little white-gloved hands. Gravely he took the left in his left while with the right he raised his forage cap in combined salute to the woman and to his superior officer. Gravely and almost instantly he released it, and listened in helpless patience to her torrent of playful words; but his eyes were on the general's face as though he would ask could he, the general, know the true character of the woman he had honored above all her sisterhood on board, in thus taking her to the bridge whereon neither officer nor man nor nurse nor army wife had presumed to set foot in all the six days' run from San Francisco; as though he would ask if the general knew just what she was, this blithe, dainty, winsome little thing that nestled so confidingly—indeed, so snugly—close to his battered side, and who had virtually taken possession of him in the face of an envious and not too silent circle of her own sex. Truth to tell, the chief would rather have escaped. He was but an indifferent sailor, and the Queen's long, lazy roll over the ocean surges was exciting in his inner consciousness a longing for cracked ice and champagne. He had known her but the few days the Queen remained in port, coaling and preparing for the onward voyage across the broad Pacific; but a great functionary of the general government had told him a pathetic tale the very day of his first peep at the Royal Hawaiian hotel, and given him a capital dinner at that famous hostelry, whereat she appeared in charming attire, and in a flow of spirits simply irresistible. Her sallies of wit had made him roar with delight; her mimicry of one or two conscientious but acidulated dames who had come over on the Queen, bound as nurses for Manila, had tickled him to the verge of apoplexy; but when later she backed him into the coolest corner of the "lanai" with the plash of foun in close at hand, and the sweet music of Berger's famous band floating softly on the evening air, and told him how her father had loved to talk of his, the general's, dash and daring in the great days of the great war, and led him on to tell of his campaigns in the Shenandoah and the west, listening with dilated eyes and parted lips, the campaigner himself was captivated, and she had her will. A great senator had told him how she had come thither to nurse a gallant young officer in her husband's regiment, how she had pulled the boy through the perils of brain fever until he was now convalescent and going on to rejoin his comrades in Manila, and she, she was pining to reach her husband now serving on Gen. Drayton's staff. Other women were aboard the Queen; could not Gen. Crabb find room for her? It is hard for a soldier to refuse a pretty woman or a prominent member of the committee on military affairs. There was not a vacant stateroom on the ship. Officers were sleeping three or four in a room, so were the Red Cross nurses; and the two army wives already aboard had been assigned a little cubbyhole of a cabin in which only one could dress at a time. There were only two apartments on the big craft that were not filled to their capacity—the room occupied by that sea monarch, the captain, and that which, from having been the "ladies boudoir," had been fitted up for the accommodation of the general. The piano had been wheeled out on deck, the writing table stowed away, and a fine new wide brass bedstead, with dainty white curtains and mosquito bar, a large bureau and a washstand had been moved in, and these, with easy-chairs, electric fans, electric lights and abundant air, made it the most desirable room on the ship. Even Armstrong, colonel commanding the troops aboard, was compelled to share his little cabin with his adjutant, and the general's aides were bundled into a "skimpy" box between decks. There really seemed no place for Mrs. Garrison aboard, especially when it was found that the passenger list was to be increased by three, a surgeon and two officers going forward from Honolulu; and one of these was our old friend and once light-hearted Billy Gray, now nearly convalescent, but weak and, as all could see, feverishly eager to get on to Manila.

FORESTERS TREINNIAL.

Supreme Court of the Order Will Meet in Atlantic City July 31.

Members of the Independent Order of Foresters are looking forward with considerable interest to the triennial session of the Supreme Court, the highest governing body of the order, which will be held at Atlantic City, beginning July 31 and continuing for one week. Delegates from all parts of the globe are expected to be in attendance, and while there is nothing of any very great import to be submitted, the session, it is expected, will attract widespread attention on the part of the Foresters.

There are about 230 delegates comprising the supreme court, representing the order in almost every civilized country. This body meets once every three years for the purpose of adjudicating all legal or other questions which might arise in the order. The last session was held in Los Angeles.

The arrangements for the meeting are in the hands of the officers of the supreme court, all residents of this section of the country and two of whom are Plainfielders. They are: High Chief Ranger David T. Howell, of Newark; high physician, Dr. A. J. Mitchell, of Newark; high treasurer, Walter Williams, of Jersey City; high counselor, Asa F. Randolph of Plainfield; high vice chief ranger, Frederick Storm, Jr., of Jersey City; past chief ranger, Henry H. Lewis, of Plainfield, and high secretary, F. A. MacKenzie, of Elizabeth. Preparations are being made for the reception of the delegates, and a programme is being arranged for the week's stay at the shores.

The State high court of the order in New Jersey will convene on the last Wednesday in September, at which all the local courts in the various communities will be represented.

ALMSHOUSE BILL PASSED.

Governor Signs Measure Meant to Benefit Hudson County.

Assembly bill No. 35, which is an act to authorize the erection of new buildings in counties of this State for almshouse purposes, was signed by Governor Stokes yesterday. The bill gives the privilege to any board of chosen freeholders in the State to adopt resolutions for an almshouse or to erect new buildings for almshouse accommodations.

The measure further provides that if the tax levy in order to provide the funds wherewith to erect such buildings, would be too burdensome to taxpayers, the freeholders may be empowered to issue bonds, which shall not be in the aggregate more than one-tenth of 1 per cent. of the total amount of the real and personal property assessed for taxation in the county. The bill was passed for the benefit of Hudson county.

ARCANUMITES IN REVOLT

Many Chapters Band Together to Fight New Assessment Plan.

A DETERMINED FIGHT.

Joint Protestants to Formally Open War on Saturday Night at Nutley—Movement Growing.

Members in New Jersey of the Royal Arcanum, of whom there are 25,000, are, in the main, in sympathy with the opposition to the re-rating of the insurance assessment plan of the order, which was adopted at Atlantic City by the Executive Committee of the Supreme Council.

The antagonistic movement is growing, according to the assertions of those at the head of the order in the New Jersey councils. Within a few days the plans of the opponents will have ripened so that a campaign for the withdrawal of the Executive Committee's plan will be actively waged.

The lead in the opposing movement has been taken by Kempton Council, of Nutley. This body declared that while it recognized the necessity of a readjustment of the rates of assessment, it condemned a change that would mean the crowding out of members over the age of sixty-five years. The plan adopted, according to the interpretation placed upon it by the members of Kempton Council, would produce this result, and it was condemned as being contrary to the spirit of the organization and a stultification of one of the cardinal principles of a fraternal order.

Not content with adopting condemnation resolutions, the Nutley Council declared for an open war against the new plan, and placed the fight in charge of a committee of three members—Past Regents Samuel Silverberg and Thomas N. Ritchie and Llewellyn E. Pratt. They were authorized to invite all the other local councils to appoint similar committees, the whole to constitute a council of war to force the Supreme Council to modify or change its new plan of assessment in such a manner that aged members may be given a share in the benefits of the fraternity.

The action of Kempton Council has met with popular response from other councils. Seven Newark councils joined with Kempton, most of them appointing committees to take up the joint fight. Following this, councils in Paterson, Passaic, Orange, Jersey City, Elizabeth, Rahway, New Brunswick and other centers did the same thing.

The first meeting of the point committee will take place next Saturday night at the headquarters of Kempton Council, in Masonic Hall, Franklin avenue and High street, Nutley. It is intended then to formulate a course of action which will include a declaration that the new rate plan is inequitable; that the prosperity and even the life of the order is threatened by the alleged discrimination against older members, and a call will be made on the Supreme Council to reconvene and reconsider the adoption of the new rate.

It is asserted that the proposed action of the subordinate councils has the sympathy of a great majority of the members, and the idea that the opposition is led by the old members, who will be the sufferers if the new rate is enforced, is refuted by the assertion that while the re-rating proposes to bring cheaper assessments to the younger members, it is the latter who are most severe in condemning it, many of them having declared, in the council meetings, that they will be willing to subscribe to a substitute plan that will increase their payments while it will lighten the burdens of the older Arcanians.

RAN INTO OPEN SWITCH.

Engine and Combination Car Derailed and Woman Badly Hurt.

A Central Railroad passenger train, bound for New York, ran into an open switch near Matawan at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, derailing the engine and combination baggage and smoking car.

No one was seriously injured, though Mrs. A. S. VanBuskirk, of New York, was quite badly hurt by being thrown against the side of the car. She was able to continue on her journey to New York.

MATHEWSON GOT STRIKE-OUT RECORD USING SPEED THAT BURNED THE GLOVE

"Christy Mathewson has as much speed as any one ever peddled, control that can't be phased and a shoestring drop," says Frank Bowerman, the catcher. "The day he got the strikeout record he was using speed that burned the glove. One of the officials put me wise that Christy had the record tied, and I went down to the box to tell him to get Jake Beckley, who was the last man up.

"'I guess I can do that all right,' said Christy, and I trotted back to try to get Jake to help in the play.

"'I'm not makin' records for anybody,' said Beckley.

"I signaled for a fast one, and before Jake had his bat swung up I was handing it back. Then another one just the same.

"'Pretty fast,' grunts Jake. Then I signaled for one of those slow, straight drops. So help me, it came over the plate high enough for a strike and I had to get it on the pick-up. Then I tapped Jake and said 'Toddle back to your bench; you're done.'"

SMALL PIG, BEING GIVEN UP FOR LOST BY FREEHOLD MAN, IS FOUND IN MILK CAN

But for the timely squeal of a small pig on the farm of Thomas Reed, near Imlaystown, Sunday, a certain milk dealer at one of the coast resorts would have astonished his customers Monday morning when he went to deliver the morning milk by exhibiting a young porker in one of his milk cans. Mr. Reed missed one of his young pigs and had searched the farm over. He finally gave the porker up as lost, and thought that a wild animal had taken it. While doing his morning chores about the building he heard a peculiar noise emanating from the far corner of a shed, and on investigation found his porkship snugly tucked in the bottom of a milk can.

The dates for the additional five games arranged this week are as follows: August 19, at Westfield; August 26, at Plainfield; September 2, at Westfield; September 4, (Labor Day), at Plainfield; September 9, at Westfield; September 16, at Plainfield.

It will be seen that while Westfield has the first game at home, Plainfield gets the Labor Day game, as well as the last contest, on Crescent Oval.

The lineup of the Plainfield team for Saturday's conest will be as follows:

Kiernan, ss; Turner, cf; Dalton, 2b; Connolly, rf; Cregan, lf; Leonard, 3b; Driscoll, 1b; O'Neil, c; Deegan or Beck, p.

The Westfield lineup will be the same as last Saturday at Trenton, according to Manager Denman. This includes these players: Waller, p; Cotter, c; Rochford, 1b; Kellogg, 2b; Smithson, ss; Barry, 3b; Mallen, cf; McGoey, rf; Bertwhistle, lf.

The only changes in the local team will be "Tuck" Turner at center and Dalton at second base. The latter formerly played with New London, and has a fine record as a fast fielder and a good batter. In the Connecticut State League his batting average was .260. Beck will undoubtedly be called on to do the pitching as Manager Daab has full confidence in him. He does not consider Westfield as a heavy a hitting team as the All-Cubans or Priladelphia Giants, and Beck's work with these teams was first-class.

In addition to the Westfield games, Mr. Daab has scheduled a game on Saturday, August12, with the All-Cubans, and on Saturday, September 23, Dover, of the Lackawanna League, with Duequette and Lamar, as battery, will be here for a contest. The other dates have not yet been filled.

Tomorrow's Weather—Hot.

Don't suffer in this awful weather when you can enjoy a day of cool sea breezes besides a delightfully pleasant ride to the shore. Close up the house tomorrow morning and go on the 8 o'clock joint excursion from North avenue to Asbury Park. The outing is under the auspices of the Crescent Avenue, Grace, Holy Cross, St. Stephen's, Seventh-day Baptist, Heavenly Rest churches and Bethel chapel.

There will be a continuation of play for the Gaston cup, women's weekly competition at the Plainfield Country Club, tomorrow. Just now Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers leads with a good sized majority of points.

ROCKEFELLER REPLIES.

Miss Tarbell's Arraignment Called Misleading and Untrue.

Ida M. Tarbell's article in the July "McClure's" on "John D. Rockefeller: A Character Study," has evidently struck home. A "statement" was given out yesterday by Mr. Rockefeller's attorney, Virgil P. Kline, of Cleveland, in which a part of Miss Tarbell's article—that relating to the Corrigan suit—was said to be "partial and misleading," and full of "insinuations unwarranted by the facts."

Mr. Kline was one of the counsel for Mr. Rockefeller in the case in question.

Mr. Kline further alleges that:

The writer of the article must have taken the charges made in the petition against Mr. Rockefeller, instead of the testimony which appears in the case, or she could have reached no such conclusion as is expressed by her. Miss Tarbell puts in quotation marks, as though she were reciting the evidence in the case, in several instances, what nobody ever testified to, and of which there is not the slightest hint in the record.

In his statement of the case Mr. Kline related how Mr. Corrigan, at various times, became indebted to Mr. Rockefeller in various sums, aggregating in all more than $415,000, and that fairly to liquidate his just indebtedness the regular business screws were put on the defaulting debtor and the money collected from various holdings of Corrigan in Mr. Rockefeller's hands.

Mrs. Walter Apgar, of East Fourth street, is visiting relatives in Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reuter, of New York, are spending a week with the former's sister, Mrs. Frank Neidig of Manning avenue.

Mrs. George White, of Willow avenue, who underwent an operation at her home yesterday, is much improved and her recovery is assured.

RUSHING THEATRE WORK.

Putting in Gallery and Place Will Soon be Finished.

Satisfactory progress having been made in the reconstruction, Managers Counihan and Gelatt, of the new Plainfield theatre, are today billing the city for the opening of the new playhouse on August 24 with George Ade's comedy, "The County Chairman." The contractors have been rushing the work with all speed and there is now no danger of any delay in this direction.

The iron girders for the balcony are in position, the brick wall between the auditorium and lodge rooms is in position and the gallery will be put up this afternoon. Because of the advance made, the proprietors have been able to plan the decorations and they were made known for the first today:

The seats, carpets and draperies will be in a soft red while the ornamental plastering in the auditorium and lobby will be in white and gold. Frosted electric bulbs will be all about and the sounding board will be decorated with a beautiful panel in oil 10 by 36 feet. There will also be panels over the boxes and the upper part of the lobby.

DRYDEN DENIES CHARGE.

Never Participated, He Says, in Dealings of the Equitable Society.

The attention of United States Senator John F. Dryden was called yesterday morning to an editorial in a New York paper, in which it was charged that he was, as president of the Prudential Insurance Company, a participant in certain stock dealings by the Equitable Assurance Society officers and directors. Senator Dryden said:

"There is nothing in the story. I have never been connected with any of the Equitable transactions, and personally I knew nothing about them. I have bought stocks and paid for them, as other men have done in companies."

The New York paper published the testimony taken at the investigation of the Equitable by Superintendent Hendricks, of the New York State Insurance Department, in which James H. Hyde and other Equitable officials told of the use of the company's money in syndicate stock transactions.

PREFECT ASSASSINATED.

Moscow's Police Chief Surrenders His Life.

Moscow, July 12.—Major-General Count Shuvaloff, Prefect of Police, was assassinated in his official residence yesterday by a man who easily gained access to him by pretending he had a petition to offer.

The assassin fired three shots at least, and two struck Count Shuvaloff, who died in half an hour.

His murderer was seized immediately. His identity is not known yet, nor can his motives be understood. The Prefect was lenient, conciliatory to the disaffected and widely popular.

Shuvaloff was the victim of the facility of approach by petitioners which even the highest Russian State functionaries formerly permitted, but abolished because it proved fatal to many of them. The Prefect of Police made it a point to respect the right of petition, to adhere to the Orient's immemorial custom of receiving personally every one who had a complaint or a request to make.

The assassin is about thirty years old. He was decently, but not too cleanly, clothed. He certainly is not a workingman and apparently not one of the educated class. He took his place in the line of petitioners and gradually got nearer and nearer Count Shuvaloff until he was next but one to him.

DENOUNCES BOOK "TRUST."

Court Refuses to Stop Macy's from Selling at Cut Prices.

A decision was handed down yesterday in the United States Circuit Court by Judge Ray, in an action of Charles Scribner & Sons and the Bobbs-Merriell Co. against R. H. Macy & Co. for an injunction to restrain Macy's from selling copyright books at less than the retail prices fixed by the Publishers' Association, which will have a far-reaching effect on all trade combinations.

Stephen H. Olin and ex-Attorney General W. H. H. Miller appeared for the complainants, and ex-Secretary of the Treasury John G. Carlisle and Edmond E. Wise for the defendants.

Judge Ray gives a sweeping decision in favor of R. H. Macy & Co., dismissing the complaint and severely criticising the combination of publishers and booksellers, which he holds to be in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

PREPARE FOR CAMPAIGN

Acting Chairman Smith to Give Notice of Appointment of Delegates.

ELECTING OFFICERS.

To Have Names Submitted at Meeting of County Election Commission in August—The New Law.

On account of the death of Assemblyman Edward S. Coyne, who was chairman of the Republican County Committee, Vice Chairman Frank Smith will send to each of the city, borough and township committees this month notice of how many delegates are to be selected by each to the Republican convention in September. This action was decided on at the meeting of the county committee last evening.

It was suggested that the names of the election officers for each district be prepared as soon as possible in order to be submitted to the county commissioners of election at their next meeting. These names should be sent in before the next meeting of the commission in August.

The members of the commission who have just been renamed by Governor Stokes are John W. Murray, Jr., of Plainfield; C. Addison Swift and Robert H. McAdams, Elizabeth; John L. Crowell, Rahway. J. W. Murray, Jr., had still a year of his term to serve under the old law as a member of the defunct County Board of Elections, but he has been reappointed under the new law for a full term of one year, beginning on August 1. C. Addison Swift's term would have expired on August 1. He has been appointed for two years. Crowell has been named for one year and McAdams for two years.

Under the old law this body was known as the County Board of Elections, and was made up of two Republicans and two Democrats. While in practice the board is still composed of two members of each of the big political parties, there is, theoretically, no such qualification. The law now provides that the commission shall be composed of two members from each of the two parties polling the largest number of votes, which covers the objection that Prohibitionists and Socialists are not eligible. They are eligible, wherever they are one of the two dominant parties.

The old law was never declared unconstitutional, but the fact that it set up a political qualification was considered a defect. The point was raised in the case of the New Brunswick election officers, indicted last November because they refused to receive the ballots of the voters in an election district in New Brunswick. The Democratic members of the board refused to receive the votes of certain Rutgers students, and then the Republican officers declined to accept the ballots of men thought to be Democratic, and the consequence was that the booth was closed for the day and a large number of citizens were disfranchised. The new law was framed to cover the objection raised by Mr. Strong.

Republican Excursion.

The excursion committee reported that all arrangements had been completed for the big outing of the Union County Republicans on July 29. The excursionists will leave Elizabeth on the steamer Isabel from Chancellor dock at 9:30 o'clock, and sail up Long Island Sound to Point View Island, where dinner will be served. On the return trip the Isabel will sail past Coney Island before coming to Elizabeth. There will be a band on board and several noted Republicans have been invited to go on the outing.

Surprised Their Friends.

Miss Emma Heugler, of Scotch Plains, and George Green, of West Third street, have surprised their friends by announcing their marriage, the affair taking place two weeks ago Sunday, at Metuchen, while the young couple were out on a pleasure trip. Mr. and Mrs. Green are residing for the present at the groom's home on West Third street.

Only 92, But "Whew!"

Persons who suffered greatly from the heat yesterday will be interested to know that the highest temperature recorded yesterday by Weather Prophet John Nagle was 92 degrees. The lowest this morning was 70 degrees. Mr. Nagle accompanied the excursionists to Asbury Park today, leaving the thermometer to take care of itself.

Keep It in Mind.

Reserve Saturday, July 22, for an outing at Asbury Park with Franklin and Somerset Councils, Jr. O. U. A. M., of this city, and you will have a good time.

Missionary Alliance.

The Missionary Alliance meeting will be held in the W. C. T. U. rooms tomorrow night at 7:45 o'clock.

TWO TROLLEY POLES FALL; REASON UNKNOWN

FOUR HUNDRED FEET OF WIRE GO DOWN WITH THEM.

Trolley car No. 1200, on its way to the car barn on Fourth street, was bowling along Grant avenue between the railroad bridge and South Second street at midnight last night, when the sound of things busting and falling in all directions startled the crew. The motorman stopped the car with the emergency brake, and he and the conductor jumped off to see what was wrong.

Two of the heavy iron poles, on opposite sides of the street, were lying in the street, broken near the base. Four hundred feet of wire sagged loose. The car was on the track, the trolley wheel was uninjured, and nothing within sight offered any reasonable explanation of the breakdown. All the trolley men could think of was the poles might have rusted away to the breaking point. It took the repair men until after 3 o'clock to straighten out the tangle.

INSTRUMENT COMPANIES MAY CONSOLIDATE

STANDARD CONCERN TO MERGE WITH ROCHESTER FIRM.

Plans are now under way for the consolidation of two important industries, one of which is located in this city. The Standard Surgical Instrument Company, located at East Fourth and Washington streets, is about to form a combination with a similar institution conducted by Taylor Brothers, at Rochester, N. Y., and if the deal goes through, it will mean far more work for the local plant and the employment of a larger force.

The Plainfield concern manufactures clinical thermometers, needles and syringes, while the Rochester plant turns out thermometers and needles. There is also a third plant in Brooklyn run by the Standard company, and in case the New York State business is consolidated with the local one, it will also include the Brooklyn plant. At present a force of twenty-five men is employed at the local plant but as soon as the combination is formed it is expected that the force will be increased to double the present number.

The Standard Surgical Instrument Company has the control and manufacture of a clinical thermometer, a patent of one of the employes, which has shown the highest test obtainable at Washington. The patentee was recently offered $10,000 in cash and a guaranteed position of $40 a week for five years, by a rival concern, one of the largest in this country, but he refuses to sell. His present income he considers far more advantageous. The feature of the thermometer is that it has a double bulb at the bottom and with a slight shake the air passes out quickly, while with other makes it is necessary to give several hard shakes to rid the instrument of air.

COUNTRY CLUB TENNIS.

Lull in Play Until Tuesday, September 5.

During the early part of the season tennis has been quite a feature at the Plainfield Country Club, the opening event being the mixed doubles championship under the auspices of the East Jersey Lawn Tennis Association, three days play. Since then there have been women's handicap singles, boys' singles, senior mixed doubles and girls' singles. There will now be a cessation of play until Tuesday, September 5, when the junior mixed doubles will be played for cups presented by Henry L. Hall. Boys and girls under 18 years of age are eligible.

This play will be followed by the women's singles for the club championship and a cup presented by Henry L. Hall, from September 7 to 9, concluding with the men's singles for club championship for a cup presented by George P. Mellick, on September 9 and 16 at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

To Speak to Mill Hands.

Everett Colby, candidate for the Republican nomination for Senator in Essex county, who is conducting a spirited midsummer canvass, has adopted a plan of getting directly at the voters. The speakers' committee of the Colby organization is arranging for noonday meetings, to be held throughout Newark, in vacant lots, near large factories. A portable platform will be constructed, to be carried from one place to another. Mr. Colby, Frank H. Sommer, John S. Gibson and other speakers will make addresses. Some form of entertainment will be given.

A POSTOFFICE DYNAMITED

Burglars Wreck the Building at Lincoln, but Take Nothing.

THROWN FROM BED.

Two Neighbors Rudely Shocked by Force of Explosion—$800 Worth of Stamps Left Untouched.

The large safe in the post office at Lincoln was dynamited at 3:30 o'clock this morning, the building being wrecked. Fritz Brugger, superintendent of the Atlas Works, who lives next door to the office, was thrown out of bed by the force of the explosion. M. S. Bernstein, who lives on the other side of the office, also received a severe shock.

Although the safe was blown open, and over $800 worth of stamps and valuable papers exposed to view, not a single thing was taken, so far as can be learned, not even a postage stamp.

Postmaster S. D. Drake was notified soon afterward, and his investigation proved that the robbers entered the office through a back window, which was pried open. Two jimmies and other tools used by the burglers were found near the building. All the windows of the building were blown out by the concussion.

A remarkable feature of the explosion was the fact that the only things not damaged in the office were two photographs of Postmaster Drake, one in a G. A. R. uniform and the other in a Veteran Zouave suit, which hung over the safe.

The safe, which was destroyed, Mr. Drake has had for fifteen years, and he paid $175 for it. He has notified the post office authorities at Washington and is awaiting instructions. There is no clue to the perpetrators of the act.

MR. AND MRS. HINMAN FIVE YEARS WEDDED

WOODEN ANNIVERSARY THE OCCASION FOR CELEBRATION.

The fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Grove Porter Hinman, was celebrated last night at their home, 720 Kensington avenue. Rev. and Mrs. Lewis Bond, parents of Mrs. Hinman, who were in the missionary service in Turkey and were prevented from attending any of their children's weddings, united last night with other relatives and friends, in the delightful reunion. There were guests from New York, Brooklyn, Newark, Cincinnati and Dunellen.

Instrumental music was a feature of the evening and the house and porch were tastefully decorated with flowers. An old-fashioned rustic well-sweep performed excellent service in supplying lemonade. When the wedding cake, made five years ago, was cut, one of Plainfield's pastors received the gold ring in the slice of cake chosen by him. Mr. and Mrs. Hinman received many wooden gifts.

SCARED THE HORSES.

Some Excitement Attends Morning Walk of Elephants and Camels.

On their way to the show grounds early this morning two elephants and two camels belonging to the Sautelle and Welsh Bros.' circus stirred up a lot of excitement at Fifth street and Plainfield avenue. The animals were being led down Fifth street, and at Plainfield avenue they were wheeled for a turn. Fifth street is quiet early in the morning and nothing happened along there, but Plainfield avenue is a road frequented by Piscataway folks on their way to the city, and four wagons were coming toward the corner as the circus animals hove into sight.

Every one of the horses promptly balked. They could stand trolley cars and tooting engines, but things with tails at both ends and other things with little mountains on their backs and wobbly necks were away over the limit.

The drivers could do nothing with them, even after the circus men made the elephants and camels go to one side of the road and stand very quietly. The drivers were all compelled to turn completely about and go another way. When the street had been cleared of every other animal but the circus kind, excepting a little dog who barked bravely at the elephants, the coircus men drove their charges on.

Justice Mosher's Court.

Springarn Bros., of New York, have brought suit on contract against Laura P. Burd, doing business as Mrs. J. P. Burd, for $48.93. The hearing will be held before Justice Mosher July 17. George Ball is the plaintiff's lawyer.

BROTHER-IN-LAW BROKE UP THE KANES' LUNCH

KANE BROKE HIS THUMB—COP BROKE UP THE ROW.

Bicycle Policeman Higgins was wheeling along East Fourth street, near Richmond street, at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when he heard sounds of rioting and distress. He traced them to the home of Thomas Kane, where he found Kane, Mrs. Kane and the latter's brother, James Filmore, in a free-for-all scrap of magnificent dimensions.

As the cop came in sight, Mrs. Kane went down and out from a blow in the stomach. Kane had a broken thumb and was generally bunged up, and Filmore was a sight. The Kanes and all the neighbors who were cognizant of the facts blamed Filmore for the row. They said he invaded the Kane home while the family were at lunch and started the scrap out of hand.

Higgins placed him under arrest, and ordered the Kanes to court to press the complaint. This morning Acting Judge Daniel postponed the case until Monday morning, when Judge Runyon, who is practiced in handing out square deals in family scraps, will be on hand.

SHE NEARLY REACHED THE CENTURY MARK

MRS. SUSAN CURTIS WHITNEY DIES AT THE AGE OF 97 YEARS.

Mrs. Susan Curtis Whitney died at her residence, 748 West Front street, yesterday afternoon, aged ninety-seven years. She was born at Suffield, Conn., April 9, 1808. She was married to Benjamin Whitney, of Bridgeport, Conn., October 14, 1836. He died in August, 1898.

Mrs. Whitney lived in this city for seven years, was a member of the First Baptist church. Up to March 27, last, she had comfortable health with the enjoyment of all her faculties. Then she suffered a slight stroke of paralysis and gradually grew weaker till the end came.

She is survived by six children, four of whom live here, one daughter at Bridgeport, Conn., and one son at Flemington; also seven grandchildren, all of whom are professing Christians.

The funeral services will be held from the late home tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, and will be in charge of Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, of the First Baptist church. Interment will be Saturday morning in New Brunswick, where the departed lived for a time.

COYNE FUNERAL TOMORROW.

Services Tomorrow Afternoon at His Late Home.

The funeral services of Assemblyman Edward S. Coyne will be held from his late home, in West Jersey street, corner of DeHart place, tomorrow afternoon at 2o'clock. Rev. Everett K. Tomlinson, pastor of the Central Baptist church, Elizabeth, of which Mr. Coyne was a member, will have charge of the services.

It was thought that the service might be held in the Central Baptist church, but it was the wish of the family that they be at the home.

Miss Force Entertained.

Miss Edna Force entertained a number of friends at a lawn party at her home on West Fourth street last night. The early part of the evening was devoted to croquet, and later phonograph selections, piano solos by the Misses Porter and Duckworth, and recitations by Miss Edythe Leek were enjoyed. Refreshments were served on the lawn, by Mrs. Arthur McVoy and Mrs. H. C. Lister. Among those present were the Misses Annie and Elizabeth Porter, Rose Hook, Edythe Leek, Lillian Duckworth, Loretta LeFleur, Nettie Stillman, Mollie Traynor, H. B. Sweeney, and others.

Church Changed to Flats.

What appears to be the final chapter in the history of the Filmore Avenue Baptist church property is the proposed scheme of the owner, Alex Kane, to convert the building into two flats of eight rooms each. The Plainfield Water Supply Company will run a main into the street and supply all the residents with water. Mr. Kane will commence the work of improvements within a few days.

Fire Alarm Break.

A break on the North avenue circuit sounded two blows on the fire whistle this morning. It was located and mended.

—Grape juice is an ideal summer drink and it is easily and quickly made. The White Label brand, sold by Neuman Brothers, gives the best results.

BABY CAMP INSPECTED

Many Visitors at the Institution of City Union of King's Daughters.

SOME DONATIONS.

Twenty-three Little Ones Now Being Cared for—Need of Larger Quarters Is Felt.

Over one hundred people attended the informal opening of the King's Daughters' baby camp on the mountain yesterday afternoon, and the affair was a great success. The guests, many of whom knew little of the work being done at the camp became enthusiastic and during the afternoon a considerable amount of money was left on the table by different ones. There are twenty-three children now in camp, ranging from nine weeks to nine years of age, and it is impossible to care for another child at present. It is plainly evident that by another year an additional dormitory will have to be built to accommodate the increasing numbers.

Miss Olive DeLany, as city nurse, is in charge of the work at the camp, and her mother, Mrs. DeLany, is the matron. Under their direction the camp is well conducted.

Among those present yesterday were representatives from every one of the local Circles of King's Daughters. During the afternoon the camp committee received and lemonade and wafers were served. Those receiving were Mrs. A. E. Faber, Jr., chairman; Mrs. F. W. Jones, Mrs. J. M. Shellabarger, Mrs. C. C. Burke, Mrs. E. J. Feickert, Mrs. F. W. French, Miss Rafferty, Mrs. C. H. Rugg, Mrs. Hermann, Miss Titus, Mrs. F. G. Mead, Miss Minnie Marsh and Mrs. Anna Most.

In addition to the money contributions, the camp is just now in need of cradles and hammocks and such donations will thankfully be received.

"SCOTTY" IS TIGHT ACROSS THE CHEST

FORMER PLAINFIELDER, NOW A CROESUS, HOLDS ON TO HIS WAD.

If the Bowery and the Lane of White Lights began to have visions of a blue-shirted miner with leather breeches sifting gold onto the pavement and buying reservoirs of wine with which to flood the gutters of the town, take this from Chicago: "Walter Scott, the Death Valley Monte Cristo, is a tight wad."

Even this should be qualified further. Mrs. Monte Cristo carries the bank roll, says the Evening World, and has it perpetually under clamp. She is the banker for the Funeral Mountain Croesus and has simple and rugged ideas on spending money.

When "Scotty," who is a former resident of this city, started on his way to the Lake Metropolis in a $5,500 special, it was flashed along the wire that he dumped out barrels of money wherever he stopped; that he bought $1,000 diamond collars for "yaller pups" and tossed yellow centuries to every cabman that carried him a block.

It was heralded that he would leave Chicago in the same skyrocket manner in which he burned up the rails coming in. Mirabile dictu! He is consulting time tables and considering whether or not he shall merely take the eighteen-hour flyer or a more sedately moving train.

The yellow cur's diamond collar has evanesced as if the pipe had suddenly gone out. Walter Scott hasn't even feigned a ten-cent piece let alone burn a wad of centuries. He and his wife seem to be great pals, going about like other sensible young people who have money to spend and know how to spend it.

She wears no diamonds. In fact, the only jewel she affects is a plain gold brooch said to have been made of a nugget "Scotty" found in Death Valley.

Colored Couple Scrap.

Helen Butler and Miles Butler, her husband, colored, were arrested last night by Patrolman Saunders, charged with fighting and general disorder. Sadie Forman was arrested as a witness. It is alleged that Helen and Miles fought over the latter's fondness for Sadie. Miles and Helen do not live together. The case will be heard by Judge Runyon Monday morning.

Child's Funeral.

The funeral of Dorothy, the year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Terry, of Chatham street, who died yesterday, will be held this afternoon, at 4 o'clock. The interment will be at the Methodist cemetery.

28 CARLOADS OFF FOR THE SEASHORE

TRAIN TWO SECTIONS TAKE PLAINFIELDERS TO ASBURY PARK.

It required two sections, comprising in all twenty-eight cars, to take the Plainfield excursionists to Asbury Park this morning. The first section was filled to the limit, but in the second section there was plenty of room. The outing is held under the auspices of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian, Grace, Holy Cross, St. Stephen's, Heavenly Rest ,Seventh-Day Baptist churches and Bethel chapel.

The first section left Plainfield at 8 o'clock, and the second train got away about fifteen minutes later. There were no accidents at the start and so far as could be learned no one was left, except those who did not plan to go to the seashore for the day. There is every indication that the excursion will be a success as the patronage outside the churches was large.

THREATEN DISRUPTION OF A. R. A. COUNCIL

ONE-FIFTH OF FANWOOD MEMBERSHIP DROPS OUT.

One of the first R. A. councils in this part of the State to feel the effect of the recent action of the Supreme Councils in changing the rate of assessment in the order, is Fanwood Council, No. 744, of Scotch Plains. At the semi-monthly meeting of the council held Tuesday night, nearly one-fifth of the total membership of the council was either suspended for non-payment of assessments or resigned, having lost confidence in the order.

Out of a total membership of the roll. The change came to Fanwood at a time when the council was making great strides in the work of getting new members into the order. Last year an increase of thirty-three per cent. was made in the membership. This placed Fanwood among the honor councils of the State. When the change in rates was announced by the Supreme Council much dissatisfaction was expressed among the members, but Tuesday night's meeting the first real rebuke as it were, by the members, to the Supreme body of the order was expressed by the resignation of a number and the failure to pay the current June assessment when due, which meant suspension to the delinquents.

MISS STACKHOUSE WEDS.

Becomes Mrs. R. Wilson Derby in Philadelphia.

Miss Elizabeth Stackhouse, formerly of East Sixth street, and R. Wilson Derby, also a former resident of this city, were married at 12:30 noon on Tuesday at the Hotel Rittenhouse, Philadelphia, by a relative of the bride from Western Pennsylvania.

The bride was gowned in ivory messaline, with princess lace trimmings, and she carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas. There were no attendants. The Lochengrin wedding march was sung by Miss S. Etta Raybert, an intimate friend of the bride.

The wedding was a quiet one, being attended only by the relatives and intimate friends. There were guests from Shamokin, Pittsburg, Schelburg, Mt. Carmel, Pa., Plainfield, Perth Amboy, Medford, this State, and Gulfport, Miss.

Mr. Derby is a member of the firm of Greacen-Derby Engineering Company, of Pennsylvania, and is located at Perth Amboy, where he and his bride will live after a wedding trip.

Auto and Bike Collide.

George E. Greenleaf, of West Front street, driving his automobile, No. 381, collided with a boy on a bicycle at Park and North avenues, this morning. The lad was evidently trying to shoot across the street ahead of the machine, and was so close to Mr. Greenleaf that he could not avoid a collision. Mr. Greenleaf took the boy's wheel to the repair shop and paid for all damages. The boy was uninjured.

Another "Athletic Entertainment."

There was a one round bout on Mountain avenue, North Plainfield, Sunday afternoon, last, between "Kid" Broker and "Kid" Bouncer. The latter knocked Broker out in the first round and he was laid up at his home for two days. The mill was a lively one while it lasted and the supporters of each man became very enthusiastic while the heavy blows were being exchanged.

A Day at the Shore.

Spend a day at the shore with the good people of the First Baptist and Faith chapel Sunday Schools Thursday. You will be sure to have a pleasant time.

MR. GILBERT DECLINES

Following Mr. Fisk He Refuses to Enter the Race for Senatorial Nomination

LETTER TO DAILY PRESS

Though He Feels Gratified at Public Demand for Him, Former Mayor Will Not Be a Candidate.

Although urged to announce himself as a candidate for the Republican State Senatorial nomination, former Mayor Alexander Gilbert declined to do so. His formal public declination was sent to The Daily Press as a means of making the fact known to the prominent members of the party who have been anxious to boom him for the honor.

Mr. Gilbert's refusal to become Plainfield's candidate at the convention again puts the politicians at sea. James T. MacMurray, of the local administration forces, who met with former County Chairman Hamilton F. Kean and former Mayor Charles J. Fisk, one day last week, regarding the suggestion that Mr. Gilbert be made the candidate, had nothing to say when seen today. To a Daily Press representative he intimated that there would be some developments in the course of a fortnight.

When Mr. Fisk declined to run on account of his health and pressure of business affairs, he was one of a number of prominent men to urge the selection of Mr. Gilbert, and, according to report, it was settled at that conference to boom the latter.

As matters stand now, it looks very much as if either Ernest R. Ackerman or Judge William N. Runyon will be named. Both have said that they are not candidates for the nomination, but it was understood that certain conditions might arise whereby either or both would come out for the race. Mr. Runyon is now in Buffalo attending the Elks' convention, and when he returns tomorrow it is quite likely that many of the ward leaders will urge him to become a candidate.

FURY BUYS HOTEL.

Somerville Man Gets the Hotel Sterling at Trenton.

Charles J. Fury, of Somerville, bought the equipment and a seven year lease of the Hotel Sterling, at Trenton, for $6,000 yesterday at the receiver's sale. Mr. Fury will put Edward Mahoney, now proprietor of the Lafayette, in charge of the hotel.

The sale was warm, lawyers representing creditors and stockholders fought to have a postponement in order that a more satisfactory wind up of the affairs could be had. Interruptions during the sale were frequent and keen verbal battles between the receiver and the lawyers fighting for a postponement delayed the sale.

After a little more dickering Colonel Van Cleef asked for bids, and the Fury bid was the only one received.

Mr. Fury, according to the condition of the sale, must pay ten per cent. of the purchase price down.

When the call comes up for confirmation by the court Messrs. Valentine, Walker and Backes will fight to have it set aside.

Mr. Fury will take possession as soon as the sale is confirmed.

S. P. C. A. Disbands.

The Elizabeth Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has disbanded. The disbanding of the society is a result of the unfortunate controversy as to the enforcement of the dog ordinance in Elizabeth. The S. P. C. A. has been in existence there for thirty years, during which time it has done much humane work in behalf of the dumb animals. The time, energy and money given by Edward P. Edwards and J. C. Cole, respectively the president and secretary of the society, will never be known to any but themselves. Their self-sacrificing labors have done much to prevent cruelty and to mitigate the sufferings of horses, dogs and other animals—the victims of carlessness, thoughtlessness or brutality.

Gaston Cup Play.

The weekly play for the Gaston cup, women's weekly competition, at the Plainfield Country Club, yesterday, brought out two contestants, who returned scores. Miss Alice Titus won three points with a score of 140, 27—113, and Miss Martha Robert received two points with a score of 128, 20—108.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

The commitment of Wm. H. Klein, sent to jail for sixty days by Justice of the Peace Von Minden, of Dunellen, for "lounging in the open air and refusing to give a good and reasonable account of himself," seems to be made out in proper form, and Sheriff Carman says that he will have to hold Klein unless the commitment is attacked. "It does seem," said the sheriff, "that when the thermometer is around the nineties, lounging in the open air, even in Dunellen, ought not to constitute a jail offense."—New Brunswick dispatch in Newark News.

The Board of Education's meeting in the borough hall Tuesday night was attended by all the members with the exception of Messrs. Hamilton and Dayton. John Kenney was awarded the contract for painting the Whittier building and John Hubbard secured the contract for erecting the new chimney on the same building. Harry Swackhamer secured the contract for delivering fifty tons of coal before the school year begins. The remainder of the business transacted was of a routine nature.

W. H. Taylor is confined to his bed with a threatened attack of blood poisoning through barking his leg on a keg in the cellar of his hotel. The leg has swelled to almost twice its natural size and is very painful. Dr. Gaston is in attendance.

Robert Pierce, manager of the Watchung Water Company's system, is seriously ill at his home in New Market.

Charles Pollard, representing the New Jersey Central's publication, the Suburbanite," was in town yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Miller and son Le Roy, of Walden, N. Y., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Hetfield.

Wesley Hughes, of Metuchen, is spending his vacation with Mrs. W. H. Stites.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD

The imposing of a $200 fine by Judge Vail upon Daniel Galbraith, convicted of running a disorderly house, does not meet with the approval of the residents of Graceland, as it was hoped the court would also revoke the lincense. The residents who recently petitioned the Fanwood township committee asking that body to do something toward helping to abate the Sunday disorderly scenes which they were obliged to witness every Sunday, the orgies beginning Saturday night and continuing until the early hours of Monday morning. The township committee were powerless, but advised the residents to secure the necessary evidence and lay it before Prosecutor English before this could be done and indictment was found by the Grand Jury upon a previous charge. This, the residents believed, would at least give them some relief, but in this they have been disappointed, for a short time only did the Sunday nuisance cease. The hotel men found that without running a wide open Sunday house two roadhouses within an eighth of a mile of each other could not exist, so things started once more. The Manhattan Club, conducted by Louis Coombs, has added baseball as one of the Sunday attractions, and still no one comes forward to take the necessary steps to put an end to such practices as the Graceland residents are at present obliged to endure.

Manager Denman, of the Westfield team, continues to wear that confident smile and is confident that Mt. Ararat will take the first game in the series with Manager Daab's team. Charley has had such dreams before, so will be just as certain of victory in the second game of the series, whether his team wins the first or not.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., meets in the library rooms tonight. Twilight is arranging to send a large delegation on the Plainfield Juniors' excursion to Asbury Park July 22.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kalloway, who have been visiting Mrs. Kalloway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Coddington, of the borough, have returned to their home at Stelton.

The "Old Guard," the baseball cranks of the past and present, will hold a clam bake and outing Sunday, July 23.

Mrs. H. C. Smith, of the borough, is visiting friends in New Brunswick for a few days.

This is circus day in Plainfield, so the local small boy and his big brother are happy.

Daniel Randolph, of Plainfield, was the guest of friends in towny esterday.

Charles Housell, of Bound Brook, has been visiting friends in town.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The lawn social of the Christian Endeavor Society was favored last night with cool breezes and fair weather. The light of the moon and Chinese lanterns aided in the success. The refreshments on sale were not sufficient for the demand.

A few dollars spent in cracked stone would fill up the large holes on Plainfield avenue where water stands after every show, to annoyance of travellers in clean carriages.

The funeral of Peter Chechur, the man killed by lightning, was held yesterday afternoon at his late residence.

Mrs. Oscar Farley, of Jersey City, has returned home after a few days' visit with her father and mother here.

Howard Teeple, of Ocean Grove, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Teeple, yesterday.

Miss Annie Hamilton, of Ford's Corners, is visiting her brother, William Hamilton.

Camp 41, P. O. S. of A., will meet tonight in regular session.

AMUSEMENTS.

Captain Arthur Waldo Lewis, the soldier, who originated the Boer War spectacle now at Brighton Beach is an unique figure in the show world. His successful reproduction of the decisive battles in the South African War will be followed soon by a spectacle of still greater magnitude. His rise from a trooper in a regiment of irregular Canadian cavalry to a magnate in the show business in a comparatively short time won for him the confidence of those whose assistance he requires for the new project now being planned. Captain Lewis succeeded where others failed to secure the services of the Boer War heroes, who now enact the battles in which they took part five years ago. Both armies scoffed at his proposals to present a war spectacle to the American people.

Incubator chicks every fifteen minutes is the latest novelty installed at Luna Park, Coney Island. Ever since the advent of the "artificial hen" showmen have been endeavoring to perfect a plan whereby the public could be treated to the sight of a continual hatching of young chickens, where they could be seen breaking through the shell at small intervals of time. Hugh S. Thomas, chief electrician at Luna Park, devised a scheme which has accomplished the desired results. The incubators, enclosed in glass, skirt the broad promenade and contain 6,000 eggs, which have been placed in the patent hatchery at short intervals during the last three weeks. This week the little chicks began to put in an appearance. Patrons can bring their own eggs to be hatched out and the little chickens will be farmed out in various places near the Park.

Sam Bernard and "The Rollicking Girl" are gladdening the summer nights for New Yorkers and making the Herald Square Theatre the most popular warm weather amusement resort this town has ever had. They continue to attract record breaking crowds and to be sought after and talked about as only tremendous and enduring favorites could be. They will round out their second month of Metropolitan triumph this week. Sam Bernard and Hattie Williams and Joe Coyne, as the chief merrymakers of the clever army of eighty entertainers, singers, dancers and comedians that make this big show "go" have again established their right to be known as musical comedy artists of the very first rank. Mr. Bernard teems with fun in the role of Schmaltz, the wigmaker. In his every line and movement there is a laugh. He never had such opportunities for laugh making, and misses none of them. Hattie Williams is perfectly at home in the jolly, rollicking part of "the girl." She adds to the degree and quality of the enjoyment. Her song hits, "Friends That Are Good and True," "Tricks" and "The Girl in My Own Town," are delightful memories of the production that the audiences take home with them. Each of the songs is encored nearly a dozen times. In the galaxy of entertainers are Joe Coyne and Aimee Angeles, whose singing and dancing count for a great deal.

Joseph McIntyre, of Watchung avenue, has gone to Cresson, Pa., for the summer.

Arthur Morrison, formerly of this city, but now of Independence, Kan., is visiting in town for a time.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Codington and family, of Sandford avenue, will spend the month of August in Maine.

Miss Kelley, of Woodhull & Martin's store, will have her two weeks' vacation in August. She will go to the seashore.

Jedediah Smalley, of Craig place, who has been at the hospital under treatment for an injured knee cap, has been discharged.

STATE HOME FOR BOYS IS CROWDED

PARENTS ANXIOUS TO GET RID OF THEIR CHILDREN.

New Brunswick, July 13.—The excessive hot weather which has made the care of children burdensome has led to the overcrowding of the State Home for Boys at Jamesburg. It seems as if there is a rush from all parts of the State on the part of parents to get rid of their children and have them cared for by the State in this institution.

It was reported today to Sheriff Carman, who has three boys in jail here awaiting commitment to the Reform School by the Superintendent of the State Home, that six boys arrived there this morning and there were sixty lads there now above the number that could be accommodated. The supply of commitment blanks has run out because of the increase in the number of boys being sent there.

Judge Strong yesterday committed Elijah Dunham, a colored boy, to the Home, but could not sign the papers because there were no blanks with County Clerk Conger here or at the Home to fill out. The other two boys awaiting commitment here are Benny Cinquigrani and John Sarada, of Perth Amboy.

Mrs. Dunham appeared against her son and said he stayed away from home and was out late at night. He had also taken money from her. He did not obey her commands. The boy's father brought him a bag of cakes and seemed to be more friendly toward him than the mother. The mother hardly looked at her boy while she was in court.

Benny is held for theft of $9 from a fruit dealer and an effort is being made to find the parents of the Perth Amboy lad who was committed to jail for thirty days for disorderly conduct. So far no trace has been secured as to where the boy's parents are. They must sign the papers to get him committed to the Reform School.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

This is the season to give Thorp's foot relief a good trial. It affords great relief to tired, perspiring feet.

This is the time of year to have your house papered and painted, and I. N. Wyckoff, of West Front street, is the man to do the work.

John Herrmann, the Somerset street stair builder, has had many years of experience and would be pleased to quote estimates at any time.

William Hand & Sons, of East Second street, do all kinds of carting, moving and hauling, and besides the firm maintains a first class storage place.

Now is the time to make purchases of shrubbery from the Belleview nursery. They are selling out a large stock at much below the usual cost.

You won't have to worry about the heat if you drop in at G. Mastondonato's ice cream parlor on Liberty street and indulge in a plate of the frozen delicacy.

Send your order for ice cream to T. P. Kolb, West Front street, over 'phone 295-R, and it will be delivered at any time you wish. Kolb makes a specialty of supplying ice cream for weddings, parties and picnics.

For the best of everything in the smoker's line, the place to go is J. P. Kirch's emporium on North avenue. He maintains a full line of cigars, tobaccos and cigarettes. Hhis prices equal those charged by the big New York houses.

Charles Stranzenbach has now secured control of the Crescent meat market on Watchung avenue at East Fourth street and is prepared to supply Plainfielders with the best Jersey meats and poultry. All orders will be delivered free to any part of the city.

If you want a first class lawn mower, garden hose, or implements or builders' materials, A. M. Griffen's store is the proper place to get them. For years Mr. Griffen has been a leader in his line of business, and he contracts for plumbing, tinning and all kinds of heating plants.

Woodhull & Martin, of East Front street, are now in the full swing of a mid-summer sale of a large stock of desirable goods, including household furniture, kitchen utensils, hammocks, refrigerators, lawn settees and swings, as well as a fine line of summer dress goods of the latest pattern and proper weight. The firm makes a point of keeping every department well stocked with the bets goods and as for the price, you could do no better in New York.

Gas Mains in Metuchen.

Whelan is the treasurer.

FORESTERS ARE TO MEET

Supreme Court Will Assemble in Force at Atlantic City, July 21.

Members of the Independent Order of Foresters are looking forward with considerable interest to the triennial session of the Supreme Court, the highest governing body of the order, which will be held at Atlantic City, beginning July 31 and continuing for one week. Delegates from all parts of the globe are expected to be in attendance, and while there is nothing of any very great import to be submitted, the session, it is expected, will attract widespread attention on the part of Foresters.

There are about 230 delegates comprising the Supreme Court, representing the order in almost every civilized country. The body meets once every three years for the purpose of adjudicating all legal or other questions which might arise in the order. The last session was held in Los Angeles.

The arrangements for the meeting are in the hands of the officers of the Supreme Court, all residents of this section of the country and two of whom are Newarkers. They are: High chief ranger, David T. Howell, of Newark; high physician, Dr. A. J. Mitchell, of Newark; high treasurer, Walter Williams, of Jersey City; high counselor, Asa F. Randolph, of Plainfield; high vice chief ranger, Frederick Storm, Jr., of Jersey City; past chief ranger, Henry H. Lowrie, of Plainfield, and high secretary, F. A. MacKenzie, of Elizabeth. Preparations are being made for the reception of the delegates, and a programme is being arranged for the week's stay at the shore.

The members are planning a trip to Atlantic City on Thursday, August 3, when a reception will be tendered them by the Supreme Court during the afternoon. In the evening they will attend a function at which there will be ample entertainment provided.

The State High Court of the order in New Jersey will convene on the last Wednesday in September, at which all the local courts in the various communities will be represented.

The Independent Order of Foresters received its birth in Newark in 1874. It began with less than 400 members. It was then an assessment order, but in 1881 this plan was abandoned and the level premium system adopted. The present membership is about 232,000. Of this number New Jersey boasts of 10,000. The accumulated surplus on hand last month was $8,849,000.

CHURCH TO WELCOME THEM IN NEGLIGEE

CHURCH WILL GREET BAREHEADED WOMEN AND MEN IN SHIRT WAISTS.

The hot weather of last Sunday made a noticeable difference in the attendance at the churches at New Brunswick. Many men and women stayed away and scores of empty pews could be counted in all the churches at both the morning and evening services. There was also a great falling off in the attendance at he Sunday schools and the officers of some of them are debating whether it would not be wise to close up for the balance of the summer.

Rev. J. F. Shaw, in the New Brunswisk First Methodist church on Sunday evening, during the prelude to his sermon, told the congregation that he would be glad to see the women attend the services without wearing hats, and he told the men that if they wished they could come during the hot weather in their negligee shirts without coats. He wants them to come to church, but he also wants them to be comfortable. If the hot weather prevails next Sunday it is probable that many will accept the invitation.

A Popular Book.

The new or summer edition of the telephone directory now being distributed is the most satisfactory in every particular of any ever issued by the New York & New Jersey Telephone Co. It contains a list of over 200,000 subscribers, all in and around New York. With such a list it becomes a valuable general as well as telephone directory. The getting out of this books means a tremendous amount of work, about 250 tons of paper is required for the edtion and twenty freight cars are needed to transport the stock from the printers in Philadelphia. The big increase in this list brings up the number of subscribers in the Bell system throughout the country to something over a million. These figures prove the growing demand for the service and the fact that "the telephone's the thing," and that no family or business place should be without it. As a reference or address book the new directory is worth pretty nearly what is charged for a year's telephone service at the present low rates.

"BILLY" NASH GIVES TALK ON BASEBALL

EX-CAPTAIN OF BOSTON NATIONALS, A FREQUENT VISITOR HERE.

There are many old baseball fans who will remember "Billy" Nash, of the Boston Nationals of the old days, and they will be interested to know that he visits Plainfield every week, being located in Perth Amboy and having business that calls him here regularly. For nearly fifteen years Nash was captain and third baseman for the Bostons, where he made an enviable record of which any player might be proud. Today he feels just as young as ever, and says that he believes he could go out and put up a good game, although he has not played in many years.

When he was in the game, Nash had the reputation of being one of the best infielders in the business. When asked if he thought the game today is faster than in the old days, he said he did not think it was. He said that the plays then were just as fast and as for the pitchers he believed they had more strength of endurance than today. It was a frequent occurrence then for a player to pitch fifteen innings and over, while nowadays in such a contest two and three pitchers are used.

Nash is just as much interested in the game as ever and always attends when possible. He believes that Plainfield has one of the best teams in its class in the country and says that it should have no trouble in defeating Westfield in the coming series. In referring to some of the old-timers, Nash says that very few are living today, and of those who are, only a small percentage saved enough to live comfortably. Last season a benefit performance was given by two teams to help a man, who twenty years ago was one of the leading players and manager and who made a fortune in the game.

STOESSEL'S TROUBLE.

One Rumor That General is Under Arrest.

St. Petersburg, July 13—Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel, whose defense of Port Arthur was so highly praised, is again in trouble. It is even published that he has been put under arrest in his own home at Tsarkoe-Selo, following discoveries made by the commission investigating the defense and capitulation of Port Arthur, together with the events immediately following, and that the sword of honor bought for him by French admirers will not be presented.

GOLF.

Within a month the prominent golfers of the country will be wending their way to Chicago, where they will strive for the National championship. It is not known whether F. O. Reinhart will play or not, as he has not been devoting much time this season to the game, but there will be a good sized eastern delegation to oppose the western cracks.

It is conceded by those in the east that Walter J. Travis, known as the "old man," will be the most formidable player for the championship honors and outside of Chandler Egan, there is no other player who is considered strong enough to make a good bid for the place. There is likely to be representatives from Morris County and a number of the big clubs in the vicinity of New York.

The wedding was attended by a few friends from this city.

Tumbled Through Coal Hole.

While a quantity of coal was being unloaded at the electric light station of the Public Service Corporation, yesterday morning, J. K. Arnold, Jr., an employe at the station, accidentally slipped while standing on the trestle and passed through a long chute filled with coal into the engine room. Aside from being covered with coal dirt, he was not hurt, although he had a lively shakeup.

The Elks took to water yesterday at the parade in Buffalo. It rained all day.

For Senator—
Charles Joel Fisk declines
Edward C. Coyne dies
Alexander Gilbert declines.
—Next.

Elizabeth woman cannot resist temptation to steal. Her name should be presented to the Equitable trustees before the list of new directors is completed.

Advertising is the greatest motive power of business today. But tomorrow it will be the only power. The manufacturer who does not advertise is, as a class, just as certainly doomed to extinction as the small retailer. The lesson of these things is obvious.—Exchange.

Wily Depew has the nerve to say that he resigns from the Equitable because of his advanced age and desire for more leisure time. 'Tis a pity that he and other men of the type cannot be convinced that the U. S. Senate is no place for multi-millionaires with loose consciences.

WILSON TO QUIT.

To Leave Cabinet as Result of Scandal Over Cotton Leak.

Washington, July 13.—Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, it is almost certain, will retire from the Cabinet as a result of the cotton-leak scandal—not because he is implicated in the slightest degree, or because his integrity is questioned. Developments have convinced President Roosevelt that neither Secretary Wilson nor Statistician Hyde knew what was taking place under their noses. The President is far from being pleased with the outcome of the first investigation, as it was by no means searching enough.

Solicitor General Hoyt, the acting Attorney General, after an examination of the papers in the cotton-leak case, has concluded that former Associate Statistician Holmes, as well as his associates in the scandal, can be successfully prosecuted. Mr. Hoyt yesterday advised Attorney General Moody of his opinion and turned the papers in the case over to United States District Attorney Beach, with instructions to present the matter to the Grand Jury.

WEST ENDS INDIFFERENT.

Still Considering Three Games With Plainfield.

The West End Athletic Club, of Somerville, held a meeting last night and discussed matters relative to a Plainfield-Somerville series of games. While some of the members expressed the opinion that such a series will not be possible, many others think differently, and they are working with that end in view. The club has a pretty fast team now, and it has been assured of the support and help of George Wiltse, of the New York Nationals, in getting a nine strong enough to meet Plainfield.

The club's idea is to have a three-game series, believing that it would arouse great interest and enthusiasm among the Somerset county fans, as well as those in this city. Bogart Conklin, manager of the Somerville team, will soon communicate with Manager Daab for the purpose of arranging the series.

Lawn Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McVoy, of West Fourth street, entertained a number of friends at a lawn party last night. Games, phonograph selections and refreshments were the features.

Fresh Air Meeting.

The weekly prayer service at Netherwood Fresh Air Home this evening will be in charge of George F. Taylor, of Brooklyn. There will be special music. All are cordially invited.

THE FORUM.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Permit me, through your columns, to express my appreciation of the compliment paid me by my friends in suggesting my name as a candidate for State Senator. In justice to those who have so kindly considered me in this connection it is proper that I should say, that while I feel very much flattered I cannot consent, for various reasons, to have my name presented to the convention. To be a Senator of the State of New Jersey is indeed a very great honor. It opens up to the man who fills the position worthily, opportunities to render great service to the State. This of itself should be sufficient to stimulate one's ambition to enter the race. I regret that I am not prepared to do so at the present time.

Very truly yours,
A. Gilbert.

Plainfield, July 12, 1905.

TRADITION PICKED.

Has Improved Since Sysonby Beat Her at Sheepshead.

Tradition, the best three-year-old filly in training except Artful, will start today in the Brighton Oaks. Although she is asked to carry 124 pounds, from eight to fifteen pounds more than any other entry, she ought to win. When she was beaten by Sysonby she was not in her true form. Since then she has improved very much, and unless she has bad racing luck she should gallop home the winner. Coy Maid is her most dangerous opponent, and she ought to be second. Schulamite may be third.

The opening race is very much on the grab-bag order. The horses are of poor quality, and the result will depend largely upon the start. The boy that hustles his mount off quickly will have a big advantage. Fulbert, Penguin and Pamela look like the three best, and they may finish in the order named.

Phantom has only to keep on his feet to win the steeplechase. In his last race he showed conclusively that he was a good cross-country horse. If he had been handled better he would have beaten Sandhurst. Today Ray, the best steeplechase rider in America, will ride Phantom. Knight of Elway may be second, and Graceaway third.

The Mighty looks like the winner of the third race. This horse is fat. He should have won his previous race. A poor start and bad riding caused his defeat. Czaraphine may be secand, and King Pepper third.

If you visit this region once, you will be sure to go again. LITERARY.

The leading article in the July issue of Human Life, by Alfred Henry Lewis, the editor, ha sthis significant title: "The Man-Fishing of Life Insurance." It is the story of Hyde, the man of froth and the disgrace of the Equitable. In the opening paragraphs Mr. Lewis says: "Life insurance is the art of angling for men. The companies fish for the father and bait their hook with the child. Among those who most successfully fished was the Equitable. So excellent was it at this angling that it has over six hundred thousand fish, known in life insurance as policyholders, swimming in its live boxes. This is aside and apart from those thousands upon thousands who, during the forty-six years in which the Equitable has whipped the streams of humanity for its prey, have died and been disposed of.

Circus Helps Dog Catcher.

The circus brought prosperity to Pierre Moore, the dog catcher, this morning. He followed the line all the way to the show grounds, nabbing stray canines attracted by the excitement. He got three or four.

SMALL BOY HAPPY —THE CIRCUS IS HERE

SIG SAUTELLE AND WELSH BROS. BIG SHOW IN TOWN.

This is a big day for the small boy of Plainfield. It is circus day, and a large crowd is in town for the event. The erection of a city of white tents was the sight that greeted the large crowd of people assembled at the Fourth street circus grounds this morning.

The much heralded Sig. Sautelle and Welsh Brothers combined railroad shows came to town at an early hour over the Central Railroad by special train, consisting of twenty sixty foot double length cars. It is the first show of the season, and the ubiquitous "kid" and his curious sister were early on the scene to see the expectant elephant. The animals, horses and wagons were unloaded in a very short space of time and at once removed to the circus grounds. Everybody in Plainfield and Union county knows by this time that the Sig. Sautelle and Welsh Brothers' shows are, as the management claims, "a circus of quality," and the result is that they never fail to draw big crowds. The street parade was given this morning about 10:30 and was nearly a mile in length. It was a clean, attractive and up to date pageant and was witnessed by hundreds along the line of march. It was indeed a splendid one. Horses, wagons, golden chariots, animals—everything from foremost to rear was in the best order. That pride was taken in the equipment is evident. The unusually large number of open cages, the generosity of the whole exhibition, in fact, was most favorably commented upon. The attendance at the opening performance this afternoon was large and the entire programme was received with storms of applause. The features that received the most attention are the clever bareback riding by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cousins and the Bell Sisters, the remarkable work of the acrobatic Snyder Brothers, the sensational aerialists; the Tessier troupe and Hubert Cooke's juggling jockey act. The menagerie contains a lot of select specimens, including a bunch of baby lions recently born; there are also a pair of caribou or Philippine water buffalo; a flock of ostriches, a pair of gnu or horned horses, a pair of black tigers, a pair of royal striped hyenas, several zebras, besides numerous lions, tigers, leopards, elephants, camels, etc. This zoologic exhibit is worth seeing. The menagerie is a marvel of neatness and good order, and the animals all look fine.

The performance this evening will start at eight o'clock, which will be idential with the afternoon exhibition. The management guarantees no curtailment whatever. At 6:30 this evening Capt. Dave Latlip, of the Brooklyn, N. Y., fire department, will give as a free outside exhibition his famous dive for life from a 100 foot ladder into a net below. It is said to be a most sensational attempt. The Sig. Sautelle and Welsh Brothers' shows are to be commended especially for the promptness on their part in preserving good order about the grounds and tents. The arrangements today were perfectly satisfactory and could not be improved upon. There is also an air of refinement about this show that is refreshing indeed. The Sig. Sautelle and Welsh Brothers' shows will always be welcome here.

Tomorrow the circus will exhibit at Bayonne, and at Elizabethport on Saturday.

Central Conductor Dead.

Luther Parks, seventy-five years old, the oldest conductor in the employ of the Central Railroad, died suddenly at Phillipsburg yesterday. Death was due to a stroke of apoplexy. Mr. Parks had been in the service of the road for forty years. He was apparently in good health up to the time he was stricken. He leaves a wife and three daughters.

Benjamin Kissam and sons, Philip and Luther, of Boardman, a small lumber town near Wilmington, N. C., are visiting at the home of Mr. Kissam's sister, Mrs. Milton C. Barkalew, of Duer street.

AT STATE CAMP.

New Jersey Executive Will Review at Sea Girt Today First Regiment.

Camp Edward C. Stokes, Sea Girt, N. J., July 13—After laying aside temporarily his duties as Commander-in-chief of the National Guard of New Jersey, Edward C. Stokes, the Governor, returned Tuesday.

There will be a change in "Governor's Day." Heretofore Thursday of each week has been set aside for the review. This week Governor's Day will be Friday, when Mr. Stokes will review the First Regiment.

Lieut.-Col. J. F. Clime, of Burlington, of the Second Regiment, Major Frederick Gilkyson, of Trenton, Assistant Adjutant-General on the Second Brigade Staff and Capt. J. M. Rogers, of Trenton, Adjutant of the Second Regiment, are among the visitors in camp.

Franklin Murphy, former Governor came here yesterday afternoon from Elberon in his automobile.

He paid his respects to Governor Stokes and also called on Gen. E. A. Campbell. Mr. Murphy remained to see the evening parade, which was also viewed by Major-Gen. P. F. Wanser, of Jersey City; Col. D. F. Collins, of Elizabeth, and Col. E. W. Hine, of Paterson.

TO FIND NORTH POLE.

Peary Gets Additional $25,000 from Morris K. Jesup.

More financial clouds were brushed away yesterday from the horizon of Commander Robert E. Peary's North Pole aspirations. Morris K. Jesup contributed an additional $25,000 to the arctic expedition of the schooner Roosevelt. Gen. Thomas H. Hubbard gave another $10,000, and promised to be one or several to contribute $25,000 more to be distributed among the crew in case of success. Thompson & Dundy promised to give a benefit performance at the Hippodrome in the event the North Pole should be discovered within eight months, contributing $25,000 as a prize for the crew.

Everything looks bright now for the interpid commander, and it is probable that ere he sails north in a few days the wages for the crew of the Roosevelt for two years to come will be banked for the benefit of their families.

Since Commander Peary came to New York on July 2 $51,000 has been contributed to the Peary Arctic Club for the enterprise and $50,000 more offered conditionally.

"HIS FRIENDS, THE ENEMY."

Ex-Confederate Soldier Gives Money to G. A. R. Encampment Fund.

One of the recent contributions to the G. A. R. department encampment fund was from Henry Watson Dunn, superintendent of the Delaware and Raritan Canal. In sending the donation Mr. Dunn sent the following to County Clerk C. H. Baker, of the Trenton citizens' committee:

"An ex-Confederate encloses his check to help his friends, the enemy, in their celebration."

Mr. Dunn, who was born in Virginia, went to the front at the age of eighteen. He joined a company of heavy artillery, which was later merged into the Nineteenth Virginia Battery, and was in the war when the army surrendered. Mr. Dunn is a member of a Confederate veterans' camp of New York, which holds campfires every month in the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

COUSIN EVA WINS.

Mare Takes the Venus Stakes at Brighton.

Cousin Eva won the Venus Stakes at the Brighton Beach track yesterday through a rough and tumble ride by her pockey, Tommy Burns. This race was the event of the program and was worth $7,500.

It was the first race that Cousin Eva has won this season. Jockey Burns rode rough shod over the rights of the other riders, and by reckless work in the saddle not only interfered with several horses, but jeopardized the lives of the other boys.

Washington Rock Picnic.

Mrs. Fred C. Williams, the Misses Randolph, of Randolph road, George Merle and John Riskus, of New York, spent yesterday at Washington Rock, on a picnic.

Elizabeth Getting Old.

Elizabeth will be 240 years old on July 29. At least that date will be the two hundred and fortieth anniversay of the arrival of the ship Philip, bringing here Captain Philip Carteret, with a commission from Lord John Berkeley, and Sir George Carteret, who had bought the territory from the Duke of York. He found a few settlers here, and they produced the Indian deed by which they claimed their right of settlement. Carteret made concessions, and he went up from the place of landing to th esettlers' homes with a hoe on his shoulder, thereby intimating his intention to become a planter. On that day Carteret named the settlemend Elizabeth Town, in honor of Lady Elizabeth, his brother's wife. Perhaps some time Elizabeth will celebrate her birthday, and the recent successes of the Revolutionary anniversary celebrations gives assurances of her ability to do it just right.—Elizabeth Journal.

Worthy of Consideration.

It savors of ingratitude for the Democrats of Somerset to even suggest the nomination of any other man than Samuel S. Swackhamer for Senator, if Senator Childs refuses another term. There is some talk in Somerville of naming Nelson Dungan, who sizes up to Senatorial standards, but in the last campaign Dungan somehow loitered in the rear while Swackhamer was in the thick of the fray. If the nomination is to go as a recompense for service, then Swackhamer ought to have first consideration.—New York Press.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning July 16.
By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—The message of the flowers.—Matt. vi. 28-34; Jas. i, 9-11.

The universe speaks of God. "The heavens declare the glory of God, and the firmament showeth his handiwork." But not only in its greater parts does the universe speak of God and teach us useful lessons concerning Him, but in all its parts this is also true. The dewdrop as well as the star tells us that God is and speaks of his power and His goodness.

Religious teachers have always taken advantage of the fact that nature is simply unwritten theology. From earliest times truth concerning God has been illustrated by the beautiful things in the world about us. In almost every natural phenomenon lessons have been learned of God, and in all nature messages have been received from God. This being true, it is assured that men would have seen messages in the flowers. If, as the poet says, there are "sermons in stones," much more can we expect to find messages in the flowers, nature's most beautiful adornment. The flowers have a language. They convey messages from man to man, and much more do they speak and teach of Him who made them and decked them in all their beauty and gave to them their sweet fragrance.

1. The flowers teach a lesson on faith. "Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow." How do they grow? No one knows or can explain the mystery of their growth. We know that they grow, but no one can explain their growth. In the realm of religion as in the realm of nature there are many things that we cannot explain or understand, but we can believe in them. "We walk by faith and not by sight." Religion is of faith, nor is it unreasonable to believe what we cannot fully comprehend. We know that the muscles of the arm are under the control of the will, but how the mind acts upon the body in using the muscles of the arm no man knows. The fact is evident; the philosophy is unfathomable. By religious experience we know many things that we cannot explain, but we can believe them and wait for God to make them plain to us.

2. The flowers teach a lesson on divine Providence. The lilies grow without toiling or spinning because God cares for them, and if He care for the lily, which today is and tomorrow is cast into the oven, shall He not much more care for His own children? If God takes care of the flowers we can rest assured that He will care for us. "Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or What shall we drink? or Wherewithal shall we be clothed? * * * for your Heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things." And, knowing our needs, He will supply them.

3. The flowers teach a lesson on the transitoriness of human life. "As the flower of the field he [man] shall pass away." The flower soon fades and dies. Human life at its best is brief. Let us therefore make the best of it. May the Lord "so teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom."

Origin of the Welsh Revival.

The following paragraph from an article in the Outlook credits Christian Endeavor with the origin of the Welsh revival. It gives some facts of great interest:

"The impulse toward God which was moving the subconsciousness of the whole Welsh nation had shown itself very strongly in a certain church in Cardiganshire in the spring of 1904. The minister had been praying in a special manner for a revival both in his own heart and among the young of his church. At a Christian Endeavor meeting a young girl who had been passing through a period of struggle and doubt made public and joyful announcement of her love for Jesus. It was then that the revival, as such, began. A party of these Endeavorers, fired with zeal and joy in their newly gained power, went from place to place speaking to their fellows. They came to the village in which Evan Roberts was staying, and it was at one of their meetings that he had the vision to go to his own village."

From the Loyalty Islands.

An interesting letter from New Caledonia, L. I., says that out of a total population of 6,092 there are now 1,988 Endeavorers, 451 of whom are Juniors, an increase of 495 in the past year. They have raised nearly $8,000 for missions. For several years they have tried to start a mission in the northern island, but were not permitted. This year they have got a good foothold and now have 2,694 adherents, with a membership of 543.

In Foreign Key.

The Bombay Christian Endeavor society, organized Jan. 1, 1885, is the first in all India. It is, after all these years, a growing power. Last year its members preached to about 18,000 people at fairs, distributed about 15,100 tracts, conducted fourteen Sunday schools regularly and visited the hospitals every Sunday. They use a megaphone preaching in the noisy streets.

When Rev. Horace Dutton went to Italy in 1902 he found only one Christian Endeavor society in all Italy, that in the Baptist church at Piazza, in Lucina, Rome. Now Italy has seven.

Rev. William Carey, great-grandson of the famous pioneer missionary, said recently, "I have no hesitation in saying that Christian Endeavor is the highest and best thing that God has sent to us in India, and it has speedily become an influence for good."

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

July 16: "The Message of the Flowers"—Matt. vi, 28-34. Jas. i, 9-11.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, Ph. D.

The message which the flowers speak most plainly to many is one of beauty and the delight in fragrance. This is prominent at the present time, when we use such quantities of them in decorations for weddings, receptions and as tributes of affection at funerals.

Nor is this message one to be lightly prized. To many a heart oppressed with burdens almost unbearable what relief is afforded by the timely gift of a spray of roses or a fragrant bunch of carnations from the greenhouse or a handful of blossoms from the humble home garden of some flower loving friend!

One of the sweetest Christian ministries is that which distributes through our cities during the hot weather flowers sent in from the country for hospitals and cheerless tenement homes. More of our leagues might well assist in this most beneficent of charities. It is a blessing to those who receive the fragrant blossoms and even a greater benefit to those who carry them to the helpless and well nigh hopeless ones.

There are many village communities where this work should have attention. Let our country leagues search out the sick and poor and aged of their own communities and during the summer at least carry into these homes flowers from field and garden to give cheer and Christian remembrances. It is well if the chapter should furnish the flowers for the pulpit Sunday mornings and then distribute them among the families where there are sick and bereaved ones.

But the message of most importance is an altogether different one from this. Jesus used the flowers to show that God had oversight and loving care to provide for His own. If His care clothed the wilderness flowers with beauty when no eye would look upon them and their fragrance be flung on the desert air, does it not speak of a heart so true to us that we need have no anxiety regarding His provisions for us? As flowers just grow and develop their God given nature and in so doing display beauty most marvelous so should we without deeply anxious thought do the duty that lies at hand and trust in the guidance of God our Father.

Our beauty is not to be that of outward adornment of dress, but with all modesty live the simple life and have the beauty of the meek and quiet spirit.

Keep your eyes open for a month and note those whom you meet. Contrast the appearance in face, manners and speech of those who are devoting their energies to fashion, style and social demands with the bearing of those who, while giving all needed attention to proper dress and bodily appearance, are giving their real care to the earnest work of the inner living and life of loving helpfulness. Which do you like best? Which kind would you rather be yourself? True culture is a matter of heart and not merely one of bending back and posture of hands and feet.

Real beauty is not external in face or form, but an inner grace that transfigures and glorifies even an ungainly figure by power of love.

Heaven.

Is not heaven rest? says some weary one. Yes; the rest of joyous, unimpeded service, the rest of those who serve Him day and night, the rest of those who run and are not weary, who walk and are not faint. The soul which has been crowded out of her proper place by ruthless circumstances or angry competition will breathe freely in that ampler air. There will be no jostling on the streets of the city of God. In company with the great multitude which has tasted the sorrow of defeat we shall walk about the fields of light. What here we have yearned for there we shall enjoy. What here we have dreamed there we shall dare and do in endless unconstrained service, advancing from knowledge to knowledge and from glory to glory.—Professor John Edgar McFayden.

Your Reward.

Your work will bring you love. You may meet with much ingratitude. Some to whom you look for sympathy may pierce your hand like a broken staff. Your heart may be wounded by the serpent's tooth of unthankfulness, yet if you truly labor with the devoutness of an apostle and the heroism of a martyr you will come into a large estate of love, and your name will be fragrant throughout the eternal summer of the heavens.—Joseph Parker.

The Song of a Grateful Heart.

I thank Thee, Father, for the love
With which my days are crowned;
I thank Thee for the care with which
Thou dost my life surround.
I thank Thee for the faculties
With which I am endowed
And for the peace within my heart,
Which sings its thanks aloud.

I thank Thee that each morn I wake
From pain and sickness free;
I thank Thee for the privilege
Of faith and trust in Thee.
I thank Thee for the knowledge that Thy presence is so near
And that I know, despite my faults,
My Saviour holds me dear.

I thank Thee for the privilege
Of comforting the sad
And sharing with the needy ones
Thy gifts which made me glad.
I thank Thee for the memory
Of dear ones gone before,
Singing Thy praise with Thy redeemed—
Safe, safe forevermore!

Dear Lord, Thou know'st I cannot count
Thy mercies, though I would,
They are so many and so free,
So wondrous and so good!
But Thine all searching eye doth read
My gratitude for all,
And may my trust be stayed on Thee
Whatever may befall.

In the matter of the application of Ann E. Chapin to have a mortgage cancelled of record. Order to Show Cause.

It appearing by due proof that the said applicant, Ann E. Chapin, did, on the twenty-eighth day of March, Eighteen Hundred and Eighty-Two acquire by deed of warranty from Elias R. Pope and Hannah E. FRIBBLES OF FASHION.

Irish Lace Bolero Jackets Very Fashionable—The New Alice Blue.

Irish lace boleros are the smartest things to wear with skirts of butcher's or handkerchief linen. The new bolero is a gypsy jacket cut in one piece or fitted under the arms. As Irish lace is expensive, attractive little boleros built on the new lines are made of different laces and embroideries deftly put together on the same jacket.

Dotted swisses are always favorites for odd shirt waists. The all white is possibly the daintiest, although there are several attractive floral designs. One pretty pattern has a white ground dotted with black and sprinkled over with lavender orchids. Another has alternate dots of black and green. This swiss makes lovely whole gowns made up over green lawn or china silk. It costs $1.25 a yard and is called St. Gaul swiss.

Chinese shoes that are tiny enough for the average baby are made into cunning little receptacles for holding cologne.

There is a new shade very popular this summer called "Alice blue." It is a very pale, almost faded, gray blue. This color disports itself in ribbons, flowers and silks.

The dainty frock pictured is of yellow batiste. The full skirt has about the bottom three fitted flounces of batiste overlaid with fine white embroidery. A bertha of embroidery, ruffling and insertion trims the bodice, which is fastened with choux of mauve taffeta, which also make the folded girdle.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

WHAT TO WEAR.

Imported Gowns That May Be Easily Copied—A Smart Afternoon Cape.

The new black silk muslin is printed in large sprays of roses and leaves in exceptionally pretty patterns.

A beautiful mauve crepe de chene gown is made with accordion plated skirt and bodice, the latter finished at throat and wrist with lingerie cuffs and collar. The hat worn with the gown is a large drawn mauve muslin affair trimmed with soft tinted pink roses.

An attractive black and white checked gown has pointings and a narrow waistcoat of crimson taffeta buttoned with tiny pearl and gilt buttons. The cuffs of finest lace are run with baby ribbon and plaited. They are worn as "toby frills" on the outside of the coat sleeves and jacket neck fastened with smart pearl and gold studs.

An imported French toilet just sent over is of black and white checked etamine over a cerise transparency. The skirt is trimmed at the hem with narrow V shaped bands of black velvet piped with white. The yoke and inner vest of white guipure is relieved at the throat with black, white and cerise embroidery.

Purple linen is a new shade of this popular material. A gown of this color is very fashionable trimmed with old rose—a very abrupt contrast, to be sure, but most effective.

The corset cover in the cut is especially designed for wear with thin summer gowns. It is made of finest nainsook, shaped without seams, and slips on over the head. The top of the cover is trimmed with a ruffle of valenciennes lace, and below this are insertions of lace set closely together and pointed at the ends. A line of insertion and ruffle of lace with bretelles of ribbon finish the waist.

[Copyright, 1899, by F. Tennyson Neely.]

All this was explained to the senator. It was even suggested that there was room for Mrs. Garrison on the Louisiana, a safe old tub, if she was slow; but Mrs. Frank looked so pathetic and resigned when this arrangement was suggested that no one had the hardihood to actually dwell upon it, and the senator said it was a shame to think of it. With whom of her own sex could she associate on that long, hot voyage ahead of them? Why not transfer some of the Red Cross nurses to the Louisiana? Mrs. Garrison had no objections, but they had; and the surgeon in charge made prompt and vigorous protest. He knew Mrs. Frank, and she knew him and did not in the least despair. She still had a plan. There was a cozy dinner one evening—just the evening before the departure of the Queen, and the gallant captain of the ship, the veteran general, the quartermaster in charge of transportation, the member of the senate military committee, some charming girls—but none so charming as Mrs. Garrison—were of the party. There was some sentiment and much champagne, as a result of which, at one a. m., the big-hearted sea monarch aforementioned swore by the bones of his ancestors in the slimy grasp of Davy Jones that that sweet little woman shouldn't have to go a-begging for accommodations on his ship. If the general would condescend to move into his room, by thunder, he'd sleep up in his foul-weather den next the chart room, and Mrs. Garrison—God bless her!—could take the general's room, and be queen of the ship—queen of the Queen—queen of queens—by Jupiter! and here's her health with all honor! A soldier, of course, could be no less gallant than a sailor, especially as the captain's room was a bit better than the "Boudoir," and had an ice chest and contents that the veteran campaigner was bidden to consider his own. The agreement was clinched that very night before the party broke up; and little Mrs. Frank shed tears of gratitude upon the general's coat sleeve and threw kiss after kiss to the handsome sailor as she hung over the balusters of the broad veranda and waved them away in their swift-running cabs, and then danced off to her room and threw herself on the bed after a mad pirouette about the spacious apartment, and laughed and laughed until real tears trickled from her eyes, and then gave orders to be called at seven o'clock. She meant to be up and aboard that ship with all her luggage before sense and repentance could come with the morning sun—before either soldier or sailor could change his mind.

To the amaze of the women already aboard, to the grave annoyance of Col. Armstrong, to the joy of poor Billy Gray, and the mischievous merriment of several youngsters on the commissioned list, Mrs. Frank Garrison, the latest arrival, became sole occupant of the finest room on the ship; and it was a bower of lilies and tropical fruit and flowers the breezy day she sailed away from the bay of Honolulu.

No time need be wasted in telling the effect of this "assignment to quarters."

Prolific a source of squabble as is the custom ashore it becomes intensified afloat, and, when coupled with it came a shaking up and rearrangement of seats at table, all hope of harmony vanished on the instant. The two brave young army girls still retained their seats at the captain's table; but two most estimable young women, Red Cross nurses, were dropped therefrom and transferred to that of the second officer on the port side, much to the comfort of a rather large percentage of their sisterhood who had regarded their previous elevation with feelings of not unmixed gratification. Then officers who had been seated with the general's staff had to vacate in favor of Mrs. Frank and Dr. Prober and Lieut. Billy Gray, whose father and the chief were long-time chums, and the Red Cross nurses who had been at the first officer's table fell back to that of the third. It was every bit as good as the other, but it didn't sound so, and they couldn't see it; and there were faces sour as the product of the ship's baker when that evening all hands went down to dinner, and the silence maintained, or the ominously subdued tone of the talk, at the other tables was in marked contrast with the hilarity that prevailed where sat the gray-haired, ruddy-cheeked old chief and the laughing coterie that listened to the fun that fell from the lips of Witchie Garrison. Armstrong, silent and somber, at the captain's right, looking forward from time to time, saw only one face at the general's table that was not lighted up with merriment; it was the face of the boy he envied, if envy of this kind ever entered into his heart, and he wondered as he looked at Billy's curly head what could have come over that glad young life to leave so deep a shadow on his handsome face.

One night, just one week later, Armstrong's eyes were opened. More than once in the meanwhile he had invited the young officer's confidence, and Billy, who three months earlier had been all gratitude and frankness, protested there was nothing on his mind. He had been very ill, that was all. As to

He knew Gray's voice at once.

Canker's charges they were simply rot. He hadn't the faintest inkling what had become of the purloined letters any more than he had of the whereabouts of his Delta Sig friend, young Morton, now officially proclaimed a deserter. But Armstrong heard more tales of Witchie's devotions to him in his illness, and the slow convalescence that ensued, noted how the boy's eyes followed her about the deck, and how many a time he would seek her side, even when other men were reading, walking or chatting with her. Armstrong looked with wonderment that was close allied to incredulity and pain. Was it possible that this blithe lad, who had won such a warm interest in the heart of such a girl as Amy Lawrence, could be forgetful of her, faithless to her, and fascinated now by this selfish and shallow butterfly? It was incredible!

But was it? The days had grown hotter, the nights closer, and the air between decks was stifling when the sea rolled high and closed the ports. Officers had taken to snoozing up on deck in steamer chairs. By an unwritten law the port side of the promenade deck was given up to them after 11 at night; but the women folk had the run of the starboard side at any hour when the crew were not washing down decks. Armstrong had been far forward about two o'clock one breathless night to see for himself the condition of things in the hospital under the forecastle. The main deck was crowded with sleeping forms of soldiers who found it impossible to stand the heat below; so on his return, instead of continuing along the gangway, he decided to climb the iron ladder from the main to the promenade deck. It would land him at the forward end of the starboard side. There he could smoke a cigar in peace and quiet. It was high time everybody was asleep.

But as his head and eyes reached the level of the deck he became suddenly aware of a couple huddled close together in the shelter of a canvas screen, and under the steps leading aloft to the bridge. He knew Gray's voice at once, and Gray was pleading. He knew her tones of old, and she was imperative, and listening with obvious impatience, for, almost at the instant of his arrival she spoke, low, yet distinctly: "Do as I say; do as I beg you when we reach Manila, and then come—and see how I can reward."

TROLLEYS BEHIND AGE

P. S. C. President Admits That West is Far Ahead of Us in Its Service.

Completely rested and in splendid spirits after a fortnight's trip through the Middle West, President T. N. McCarter, of the Public Service Corporation, has returned to his work, brimful of new ideas for improving the local trolley system and adding to the interurban branches. Mr. McCarter went West with the sole purpose of learning all he could of high speed interurban electric traction, with a view to putting such knowledge to practical use when the projected line from Park place, Newark, to Manhattan is materialized.

While the deductions of his experience have not yet been committed to paper—for Mr. McCarter will make an exhaustive report to the executive committee of the corporation he heads—it is certain that he will acknowledge that the West is far ahead of the East so far as high speed electric traction is concerned. He will also admit that the local system in Fort Wayne, Ind., is the finest he has ever investigated, and that, in many respects, the system of his company will have to be improved before it can compare favorably with some features he saw. Incidentally he lunched with Mayor Tom L. Johnson, of Cleveland, the leading spirit in the municipal ownership movement, so far as traction systems are concerned, and exchanged ideas with him about perpetual and limited franchises and taxation. While he disagreed with Mayor Johnson in almost everything, Mr. McCarter declares that the Mayor is a charming man, with many splendidly practical ideas, but with fundamentally wrong ideals.

"I went from here to Fort Wayne by train," said Mr. McCarter, "and was met by William K. Schoepf, president of the Cincinnati Traction Company, and one of the ablest traction men in the country. Walton Clark, of our executive committee, accompanied me, and we took Mr. Schoepf's private electric car and went over the tracks of the Indiana Traction Company to Logansport, a distance of about seventy-five miles, over a superb line, mostly over private rights of way, save where the line enters a municipality, when it ran over the local tracks. We averaged fifty-five miles an hour between the two treminals, and so splendid are the tracks and roadbed that we shook less than if we had run ten miles over an ordinary system. Then we went on to Indianapolis, another eighty miles.

"The latter line is even finer. The roadbed is of railroad construction, with ninety pound T-rails, mainly single track, with overhead wires, fed from a central station with frequent sub-stations. In Indianapolis we inspected the new union interurban trolley terminal, which is in reality a regular station, such as the steam roads use. To one side of the train shed is a nine story office building of the company, the main floor being occupied as a waiting and baggage room, through which passengers pass to the shed, where electric trains start for all parts of the State. The whole system is unique in its up to dateness, especially as regards the 'limited' which it runs. This train is composed of Pullmans and smokers, and an extra fare is charged for the higher speed maintained.

"Next we went by rail to Cincinnati, where we stayed three days. Then we went to Cleveland and inspected the high speed lines there. I took luncheon with Mayor Johnson and discussed municipal ownership, franchise and taxation with him. While we disagreed on almost all major points, I found him a charming personality and full of practical ideas. From Cleveland we went to Toledo, and on to Detroit, where I learned much about franchises, for the local roads are much perturbed just now by the frequent expiration of theirs. Milwaukee, Minneapolis and St. Paul came next in our itinerary, our last place being Chicago. The latter city's lines are very inferior and seemingly badly managed.

"My deductions? They are too many to enumerate, but I will say that I have learned much, and that we will put many improvements into execution as soon as we can. It is no easy thing to rehabilitate an entire system so large as ours, but it will be done as rapidly as possible, and in the most modern and best way.

"Regarding the Newark-Manhattan sub-surface line, there is nothing new. We have not yet decided as to what system of transmission of power we shall use, nor has the exact route

LITERARY.

Mrs. Burton Harrison's name has always been identified with particularly entertaining fiction, and for many years she has not given us so capital a piece of work as "The Carlyles," the long novel which opens the August number of The Smart Set. It is by far her most important story, and is a distinct departure from her former novels. The scenes are laid in and around Richmond, during the stirring days of 1865, and the introduction of several historical events adds greatly to the interest of a splendid dramatic love story. No novelist dealing with the Civil War period has succeeded in creating a more realistic atmosphere or characters more convincing.

Fans who intimate that the Plainfield-Westfield series is "fixed" do a great injustice to the management and the national game.

The Boston Americans are after Armbruster, the New London catcher. He played on the Plainfield team in several games last year.

Cosgrave will return from his vacation in time to play in the second game of the Plainfield-Westfield series at Crescent Oval. His coaching is a feature.

A fan says that he visited Recreation Park recently and noticed that grass is growing in the diamond. It is to be hoped that it will be removed before Saturday.

Recreation Park, Westfield, has been decided upon as the place for holding the first session of the peace conference, and there is every indication of a lively time.

Jack O'Neil has been doing fine work behind the bat this week at Toronto. He is playing with the Newarks. He will be back in time to help Plainfield defeat Westfield on Saturday.

It was Scanlon, of the Brooklyn Nationals, and Jack Warner, of the St. Louis Nationals, that comprised the battery against the Hoboken Club on Sunday. Ritter, Batch and Lewis, also of Brooklyn, played with the All-Nationals. George Allen, of Scotch Plains, played part of the game, but McGrath did not like his work, and took him out.

A baseball team representing the Plainfield Country Club played the second team of the Englewood Field Club on the grounds of the latter on Saturday, winning by a score of 4 to 0. The pitching of Rushmore was a feature of the game. He allowed Englewood but four hits. The Plainfield Country Club was represented by the following players: W. Schoonmaker, cf; Ralph Schoonmaker, ss; Miller, 2b; Guernsey, c; Rushmore, p; Geo. Dupee, 3b; W. Brown, 1b; M. J. Dumont, rf; Pond, lf. This is the first time the Englewood team has been beaten in two years.

Because of his color, Matthews, the Harvard short stop, is objected to at Burlington, Vt., and he may decide to play elsewhere. Apperius, the Georgetown captain, refuses to play with Burlington while Matthews is in the game. There are many other college players in the league masquerading under assumer names, and they are inclined to side with the captain. Matthews is not popular since it has become known that he has been playing professional ball for a number of years and then coming to Harvard to pose as an amateur. The Matthews matter will be aired at Harvard this fall.

FIGHT 'PHONE TRUST.

Independent Company to Operate Along the Entire New Jersey Coast.

An independent telephone company that will unite with the other independent companies in the New England, Middle and Southern States in opposition to the Bell companies filed articles of incorporation in the Hudson county court house at Jersey City. The name of the new company is the Coast Line Telephone Company of New Jersey, and its capital stock is put at $10,000,000. Simultaneously, it is stated, articles of the Coast Line Company were filed in South Dakota.

The latter is capitalized at $1,000,000. The New Jersey company is to be a constructing company and the South Dakota company an operating company. The president of the construction company is D. A. Reynolds, of Manhattan, manager of the Atlantic Telephone Company, and the head of the operating company is Elias S. Beach, also of Manhattan.

The articles were files in Jersey City by Counsellor William Midlidge, who stated that the new company would cut rates and put the telephone within the reach of almost every person and make it as common in the East and South as it is in the West, where low rates prevail.

MISSING EXPRESS PACKAGE.

It Contained Money and Check and Mysteriously Disappeared.

The Newark police are endeavoring to aid the local manager of the United States Express Company in finding a package in which were $300 in cash and a check for $336.64 on the Union National Bank. The package disappeared a few minutes after it was placed securely, it was erroneously supposed, in a desk in the Broad street establishment of the company.

The package was given in care of Josiah R. Cooke by Walter C. Walsh, Newark passenger agent of the Central Railroad of New Jersey. It was accepted by Harry G. Van Ness, a clerk, who gave Mr. Walsh a receipt for it. He placed the package in the same drawer with another containing $900 in cash, and both were to be shipped together a few minutes later. Fifteen minutes after Van Ness put the package away a third money package containing $600 was received. It was then that Van Ness learned that the Walsh package had disappeared.

TWO RAILROADS TO USE ELECTRICITY

PENNSY AND JERSEY CENTRAL TO CHANGE POWER.

The Pennsylvania Railroad, on its main line and branches between Jersey City, Washington and Pittsburg, is to use electricity as a motor power. Developments in the railroad world have brought to the front newer and heavier demands upon the resources of the company. Millions have been spent in the overhauling and strengt spent in the overhauling and strengthening of the roadbeds and the erection of large shops and roundhouses, notably at Trenton and Morrisville, Pa. The enormous increase in freight traffic had been so rapid that the company found it difficult to handle its business. Within the last two weeks, however, all freigth blockades have been removed and the officials of the road were congratulating each other upon the facility with which the business of the company was carried on when the newer problems referred to were presented.

As a result the engineering and motive departments of the corporation are again busy perfecting plans for further improvements that will involve changes along the main arteries of through Western and Southern traffic, as well as local innovations on a scale that will call for the expenditure of more millions.

The new station to be erected in Elizabeth will be recognized as but one of many side issues in the general scheme now in contemplation.

The Central Railroad is considering plans involving the use of electricity as a motive power. With the Pennsylvania Railroad electricity as a motive power is one of the most important objects to be attained in the working out of the plans now in hand in the main offices of the company at Philadelphia. The statement that the steam locomotive has had its day, so often repeated, will soon be realized, and it is not unlikely that within the next five years electricity will be the motive power in use between New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington.

"And if it is practicable on those branches of the road, why not on all of the other branches?" said one of a number of railroad officials, discussing the subject.

One of the first results of the completion of the tunnel under the Hudson River to the new Pennsylvania Railroad terminal in New York will be the running of trains by electricity directly from Newark under the Hudson River, and thence via the Long Island Railroad to all parts of Long Island. The equipping of the Long Island Railroad for electrical propulsion is but a part of this general plan for the retiring of the steam locomotive. The approach to the tunnel on the New Jersey side will practically begin at Newark, where, it may be asserted on pretty good authority, a large power house will be erected. Another immense distributing center of the electrical force necessary will probably be reader on the meadows either east or west of the Bergen Hills. The company is endeavoring to maintain the greatest secrecy concerning its plans for the future, but the further development of the scheme of electrical motive power steadily westward may be anticipated once the plans are fully carried out between Newark and Long Island.

HAIR SAVES LIFE.

Sold Her Locks to Raise Money to Take Sick Parent to Mountains.

Amy Reisdell, 13 years old, of Pearl street, Elizabeth, walked into the barber shop of Charles Williams on Elizabeth avenue in that place on Monday afternoon and ordered the barber to cut off her long golden hair, which hung in flowing curls below her waist. She asked the barber to save the tresses, as she wished to take them away with her.

When Williams questioned her as to why she wished to have her beautiful hair taken off she told him a pathetic tale of a sick mother and a little brother at home whom the physician in attendance had ordered to the mountains if they wished to live; but they had no money, and Amy expected to get a hundred dollars for her hair. She boarded a trolley car a few days ago, and as she sat down she heard a well-dressed lady opposite say that she would give a hundred dollars for a head of hair like that. The little girl followed the lady to her home after alighting and made sure of the place where she lived.

Yesterday, with her head shorn, she went to the same house and offered the hair that the barber had clipped from her head the previous afternoon with her explanation. The woman informed her her remark had been misunderstood, as she had meant, of course, that she would give a hundred dollars had nature adorned her with such a head of hair. But he lady interested herself in the case, and through charitable neighbors it is now probable that little Amy, her mother and brother will be sent to the country for the summer.

HEALTH BOARD ORDERS WATERS ANALYZED

BOROUGH AUTHORITIES SEEK TO TRACE SOURCE OF DYSENTARY EPIDEMIC.

The North Plainfield Board of Health has decided to analyze the various waters used for drinking purposes in the borough in an effort to find out if the epidemic of dysentery that is prevalent over the brook is traceable to that source. This step was ordered at a meeting of the Board last night.

Considerable discussion of the epidemic and the causes assigned to it was held. The Board it not at all certain that the drinking water had anything whatever to do with the prevalence of the attacks, but it is deemed wise to look into the matter closely, and if any steps can be taken to check the epidemic, to take them without a moment's delay.

Dr. Dundon, secretary of the Board, gathered samples of water this morning. He will analyze them at once and report.

Had an Epileptic Fit.

Junious Flippins, colored, employed by Boice, Runyon & Co., had an epileptic fit early this afternoon while working in the firm's lumber yard. Dr. T. S. Davis was summoned and gave temporary treatment, and in the meantime the ambulance was sent for and the man was removed to his home at 633 West Third street. He has ben employed by Boice, Runyon & Co. about three months. At first it was considered a case of heat prostration, and fellow-workmen noticed him fall. Just previous to that time one of the men advised Flippins to quit work seeing that he did not feel well. The man regained consciousness while on his way home, and his condition is not considered serious.

Perth Amboy's "Citizens."

The Perth Amboy Chronicle says: The Plainfield Daily Press is real mean toward New Brunswick, saying that city "is disappointed over the census returns. Mystery is that the Middlesex town is able to hold on to so many people. Why is it?" Then the Press crows: "According to the census returns, Plainfield has nearly doubled its population in the last twenty-five years. In 1880 there were 11,300 people in the town, and now there are 18,478." It will not be long before Perth Amboy has as many people as the two of them.

A Bit Thick.

Simple—Did you have any fog up your way?

Bowlong—Fog? I should think we did! Why, a Frenchman living next to me was so choked by it that he drove a nail into it out in his back garden and hanged himself! It's a fact! And when the fog lifted, by Jove, it carried off the nail, rope, Frenchman and all—it's the truth, and I can show you the garden where it happened.—Ally Sloper.

E. S. COYNE IS BURIED

Large Gathering of Officials and Other Personal Friends at the Obsequies

SERVICES AT HOME.

Judge Cross and Hamilton Kean Among Honorary Pall Bearers —Resolutions of Respect Adopted.

The funeral of Assemblyman Edward S. Coyne were held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the late home in West Jersey street, corner of DeHart place, and were attended practically by all of the county officials, as well as the officials of this city, Elizabeth and other towns in the county. Rev. Dr. Everett K. Tomlinson, pastor of the Central Baptist church, of which Mr. Coyne was a member, conducted the services, which were short and simple in character.

There was a wealth of floral offerings from the organizations to which Mr. Coyne belonged. In accordance with the wish of the family, the members of these organizations attended as individuals, it being their desire that the services should be as unpretentious as possible. The floral tribute from the Union County Republican Committee was a vacant chair.

The honorary pall bearers selected for the funeral were Hamilton F. Kean, Franklin Brooks, Frank H. Davis, Hon. Joseph Cross, C. H. K. Halsey and Charles P. Russ.

The Union County Republican Committee met at Elizabeth last night to take action on the recent death of Assemblyman Edward S. Coyne. Vice-Chairman F. H. Smith, of this city, was in the chair. The request of the family was that the many organizations to which Mr. Coyne belonged attend the funeral services to be held from the late home this afternoon as individuals and not in a body.

The committee adopted resolutions concerning the death of Mr. Coyne and the secretary was instructed to send a copy of them to the family. The committee on resolutions comprises Former Assemblyman William Newcorn, Chester M. Smith and William F. Hall.

The Colored Republican County Committee met in Elizabeth Wednesday night and adopted resolutions of condolence.

MRS. HAHR'S COMPLAINT LEADS TO DAMAGE SUIT

LEWIS DUNAVAN ASKS $3,000 FOR PROSECUTION AND ARREST.

Sheriff B. Frank Coriell today served on Felix J. Hahr and his wife, Catharine Hahr, of West Fourth street, in a suit for $3,000 brought against them by Lewis Dunavan, a member of the city fire department stationed at West End house, No. 3. The complaint alleges false arrest and malicious prosecution and sets the October term of the Supreme Court as the date for hearing.

The suit is the outcome of various troubles which the parties concerned have had recently and which led to Dunavan's arrest on Mrs. Hahr's complaint of assault and battery on May 20. His trial was set down for May 25, but at that time Mrs. Hahr's counsel, S. S. Swackhamer, asked for an adjournment of thirty days. It was granted and on the new date neither the counsel or Mrs. Hahr appeared and the complaint was dismissed.

Dunavan then consulted his counsel, Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., and the damage suit is the outcome. The complainant and defendants reside in adjoining houses on West Fourth street.

Carpenters Quit Job.

Offers of higher wages in Bound Brook led all the carpenters employed by Contractor Arnett on the new houses being erected at Richmond and East Front streets to quit the job in a body Saturday night. Carpenters, it appears, are badly needed in a big plant in Bound Brook, and the men were offered fifty cents a day more with a guarantee of four years' work.

Judged by Newark Ways.

If the basis of Judge Runyon's claim for the Senatorial nomination in Union county is, as stated by his friends, that he is entitled to something more than $50 a month from the public treasury, then there is no use for his Plainfield supporters to organize. The money question is not going to cut any ice this year.—Newark News.

Misses Martha Steda and Milla Eyre, of Hamilton, Ohio, are spending a few weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Gesswein, of East Fifth street.

OFFSET KNOCKS OUT $200 CONTRACT CASE

DEFENDANT GETS VERDICT FOR $50 IN BROKAW AGAINST FULTOD.

An offset filed by the defendant completely destroyed W. H. Brokaw's contract suit against LeGrande Fulton in Justice Mosher's court yesterday afternoon. The jury to whom the case was submitted brought in a verdict of $50 for Fulton.

Brokaw, a contracting carpenter, claimed $200 due on a house erected for the defendant. His original claim was for $253, but he waived the $53 to enable him to bring suit in a small cause court. Fulton is a painter, and he took the contract from Brokaw for painting his own house. On this contract he presented a claim for $305. This left Brokaw, according to the claim, $105 in his debt. The painter's offset was proved, and after twenty minutes' deliberation the jury brought in the verdict for $50, allowing, evidently, for the $53 Brokaw has waived in bringing suit.

Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., was counsel for the defendant, and V. W. Nash, Jr., appeared fo rthe plaintiff.

READY FOR FRAY WITH WESTFIELD

PLAINFIELD MEN IN FINE FETTLE FOR TOMORROW'S GAME.

Provided the weather man is favorable, lovers of baseball will have the opportunity tomorrow at Recreation Park, Westfield, of seeing the first contest of a ten-game series between Plainfield and Westfield. The unfortunate delay in getting theset teams together has only made the interest more intense and the first clash is sure to be filled with ginger from start to finish. At present both sides are claiming victory and it would be foolish if they did not think their side would win.

Plainfield, however, has a team this season of which it can feel proud and it can depended upon to bring the honors to this town. Every man from Captain Driscoll down knows the game, can play it both in the field and at the bat. The team has been putting up a remarkable exhibition this year and there is no reason to believe that it will be otherwise tomorrow.

Unless there are good reasons for a change, Beck will pitch and he will be ably supported by Jack O'Neil at the receiving end. On first base will be "Dave" Driscoll, the best first sacker outside the big leagues, who can hit the ball and field it like lightning. At second will be Dalton, who Captain Driscoll says is all right. At short will be "Happy" Kiernan, always steady and reliable. If he makes an error there are good reasons for it and he can field and bat with anything along the line, and as for "Mike" Leonard, at third, he asks no odds of anyone. He has been playing a phenomenal game and will do a whole lot in winning the game. The outfield is gilt-edge, with Cregan in left, Turner in center and Connolly in right. They can be depended upon to take care of the fly balls and spoil runs. With such a team, the local fans can surely pin their faith in a victory tomorrow.

While it is not believed that Westfield is as strong as Plainfield, the Denmanites are sure to put up the best ball they know how and they will make their opponents hustle every minute. According to the programme, Waller, the only one in his class, and Paddy Cotter will form the battery, while "Mike" Rochford will guard the initial bag. Manager Denman has the nerve to say that he is better than Driscoll, but no one believes it. Kellogg will look after second base, while Smithson will be at short and Barry at third. The entire infield is good and will strain every point to hold down base hits. Bertwhistle, Mallen and McGoey will look after the outfield and everyone knows that they cannot compare with Plainfield's outer-guard, but they are fast and will do their best. Of course, Mallen will inject his "hot air" into the game and that will be one of the features. The contest will be called at 4 o'clock sharp and Umpires Henning and Merity will officiate. Go early, get a good seat and support your own team.

Florence Van Nest Buried.

The funeral of Florence Van Nest, the five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Van Nest, of Watchung avenue, was held yesterday afternoon. The service was in charge of Rev. A. C. McCrea, of the First Methodist church. Interment was made in the North Plainfield cemetery.

NO SPECIAL ELECTION

But Law Says Assemblyman Shall Be Chosen to Fill Vacansy.

IT COSTS TO MUCH.

Union County Paid $19,000 to Place Perkins in Embree's Job—No Necessity for Successor to Coyne.

It is not considered at all probable that there will be any special election held to fill the vacancy in the General Assembly caused by the death of Edward S. Coyne, although when George H. Embree died a special election had to be held to fill the required representation for Union county. Then the Legislature was in session and it had a busy term before it. Now the Legislature has adjourned.

The terms of Assemblyman are for one year, and therefore the term of Mr. Coyne would have expired shortly after the first of the year. If Governor Stokes saw fit he could, under the law, issue a writ for a special election, for section 135 of the General Election laws of 1904 reads:

"Whenever any vacancy or vacancies shall happen in the representation of this State in the House of Representatives, it shall be the duty of the Governor forthwith to issue a writ of election to fill such vacancy or vancancies, unless the term of service for which the person or persons whose office or offices shall become vacant will expire within two months next after the happening of such vacancy or vacancies."

The cost of the special election to fill the vacancy caused by the death of George H. Embree was something like $19,000. At that time it was thought that the election was a needless expenditure, and there is a strong feeling that there is no necessity of a special election to fill Mr. Coyne's place, in view of the fact that there is but little probability that a situation will arise before the expiration of Mr. Coyne's term which would call for a special session of the Legislature.

It will be remembered by those who followed the discussion as to whether the last special election was absolutely necessary according to the strict interpretation of the law, that the Attorney General at that time expressly stated that the word "shall" as it applied to the Governor issuing a special writ of election, was mandatory.

The situation with regard to the present exigency is quite parallel. The State Constitution has this to say in reference to this matter:

"Each House SHALL direct writs of election for supplying vacancies, occasioned by death, resignation or otherwise; but if vacancies occur during the recess of the Legislature, the writs MAY be issued by the Governor under such regulations as may be prescribed by law.

In Article 5, under the head of Executive and in the twelfth section it says: " * * * When a vacancy happens during the recess of the Legislature in any office which is to be filled by the Governor and Senate, or by the Legislature in joint meeting, the Governor shall fill such vacancy and the commission shall expire at the end of the next session of the Legislature unless a successor shall be sooner appointed. * * * "

Now the question has been brought up as to whether it is mandatory with the Governor to issue writs for a special election. According to the opinion of Attorney General McCarter, when the last special election was held, if the Governor does not order a special election he will be evading the law, and if he does order the special election the outcome will be practically a needless waste of money, which will have to be borne entirely by Union county.

Counsellor George Ball was the attorney in the transfer of the necessary papers.

WANTS $10,000 FROM THE TROLLEY COMPANY

HARRY RYAN SEEKS COMPENSATION FOR INJURIES RECEIVED IN APRIL.

Harry Ryan, engineer at the Rushmore Dynamo Works, has instituted suit for $10,000 damages against the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Traction Company and the Public Service Corporation. The action is brought in the Supreme Court at Trenton, through Counsellor William Newcorn.

Ryan seeks compensation for injuries sustained in an accident at Watchung avenue and Fourth street April 25. It is alleged that he was thrown and dragged by the sudden starting of the car as he was on the point of boarding it, and that his hurts developed into spinal meningitis, leaving him in serious condition. It is claimed that he is still lame from the effects of the injuries.

DUNELLEN CITIZENS AROUSED OVER WATER

SUPPLY SCARCE FOR OVER A MONTH—PETITION TO COUNCIL.

Indignation over the service accorded them by the Watchung Water Company is stirring the citizens of Dunellen more and more each day. The conditions for the past month have been growing worse instead of better, in spite of repairs at the Greenbrook pumping station, which were supposed to remedy the difficulty. Unless the service is bettered, action by the borough council is likely.

When the scarcity of water was noticed first, about six weeks ago, it was attributed by the water officials to the scarcity of rain. Then they discovered that the flue of their plant was not in good condition and hazarded the opinion that this might be the cause. They announced that the flue would be repaired and promised better service as soon as it was attended to. This was more than two weeks ago, and the service is still of the most inadequate character.

Early in the trouble the water almost ceased to flow entirely for two weeks, and again on Sunday it failed completely. At no time during the past month has it been more than the merest apology for service, and the citizens have become thoroughly aroused.

A petition is being circulated among the householders and property owners asking the council to investigate the matter, and take such steps as may be calculated to compel the company to remedy the conditions, if the latter spring from negligence or incompetence, or, in any event, to force the company to make allowance for the lack of service in the bills presented.

The lack of pressure causes much uneasiness among the fire officials. There is actually so little force to be depended upon in the hydrants that the firefighters, under present conditions, would have to depend on bucket brigades and well water, or call on the Plainfield steamer, in the event of a blaze. The seriousness of this aspect of the matter cannot be overrated.

Told of Y. M. C. A. Abroad.

A meeting of the Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A. was held last evening. Officers and directors present: Ernest R. Ackerman, Albert B. Beers, Joseph W. Gavett, William D. Murray, Dr. Norman H. Probasco, Robert H. Radford, Orro S. Rogers, Nelson Runyon, Curtis M. Thorpe and Stephen H. Tugwell. President Gavett presided. Mr. Ackerman gave an interesting account of the foreign work of the Y. M. C. A. as it had come under his observation in India and Japan. Encouraging reports of committees were received and routine business was transacted.

Water Fall 1.05 Inches.

The downpour of rain yesterday afternoon, according to Weather Prophet Nagle, reached 1.05 inches, the heaviest in some time. A somewhat remarkable feature was that while the water fell in torrents here, there was only a few drops in the vicinity of the hospital and the Plainfield Country Club. Very little rain fell at Dunellen, South Plainfield or Washington Valley.

ARCANUMITES TO SECEDE

Plainfield Council Takes Initiative Towards Formation of a New Order.

TO ACT AT ONCE.

Regent Lowry to Appoint a Committee of Five—Rates to Be Readjusted.

Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, took the initiative at its meeting last night toward securing a satisfactory adjustment of the troubles in the order in this State, through the appointment by Regent Robert H. Lowry of a committee of five to confer with a similar committee from other councils in the State for the purpose of forming a new order and readjusting the rates.

This action has been under consideration for several weeks past, the members having taken the cue from other councils in New York and Connecticut, who threaten to withdraw from the Supreme Council and reorganize unless the old rates are re-established. Mr. Lowry will appoint his committee within a few days and then steps will be taken toward holding a conference with other committees.

Thirteen members of Plainfield Council, refusing to pay their assessments in accordance with the increased rates, were dropped from the roll last night, and it is expected that others will do likewise. At a recent meeting the sum of $500 was transferred from the Council treasury to the treasury of the Royal Arcanum Club, comprised of members of Plainfield Council. The money will be devoted to entertainment purposes.

It is the opinion of the local members that there are lively times ahead for the order, and Plainfield Council is going to prepare for it.

THEATRE IS O. K.

Building Inspector Sees That Plans Are Complied With.

Signing himself, "A friend," a Plainfielder a few days ago, wrote Building Inspector Doane, calling his attention to a supposed defect in the construction of the gallery in the new Plainfield theatre. The writer, without any attempt at criticism, expressed the belief that there were not sufficient supports and that the matter had better be attended to before the work had progressed so far that it could not be done without great trouble and expense.

Not being able to reach "A friend" otherwise, Inspector Doane has asked The Daily Press to thank him for his letter and at the same time make it known that the matter he speaks of has been amply taken care of. The gallery, in addition to the usual iron columns, is to be strengthened by heavy, iron brackets, making it capable of bearing many times the weight it will have to hold. The brackets are now in position on the east side of the building and can be seen easily from the lower floor.

FOSTER M. VOORHEES SEVERELY INJURED

FORMER GOVERNOR'S HORSE FELL ON HIM WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

Former Governor Foster M. Voorhees was thrown from his horse while out horseback riding Wednesday afternoon, at Elizabeth, as told in yesterday's Daily Press. Although not seriously injured, the result of his experience will confine him to the house for several days. The governor had been out on his usual afternoon ride, and while passing through the Pennsylvania arch at 5 o'clock, on his way home, the horse became frightened, either by the rumble of a passing train or by a piece of paper blown by the passing wind.

The horse shied and jumped aside, then lost his footing and fell over on his side, carrying his rider with him. Mr. Voorhees received several cuts and abrasions, also a deep cut over the eye, an abrasion on the cheek and a cut on the chin. One of his hands was badly bruised. The worst injury was on one foot and knee, caused by the horse falling on them. There is a deep cut above the ankle.

THEATRE PROJECT WAS STARTED BY MEHAREY

POSTOFFICE INSPECTOR THE MAN WHO INTERESTED COUNIHAN.

Credit for the establishment of the new theatre here is due to Postoffice Inspector Meharey, who has just been here on a box-smashing case, according to a story told by Postmaster E. M. Eird. Meharey is the man who called Manager Counihan's attention to the city as a good unworked theatrical stand, and got him interested in putting up a playhouse.

It was when Meharey was here on the Reville case, early in the year, that his attention was called to the needs of Plainfield in the amusement line. The case kept him busy in this neighborhood for three or four days, and early in his work on it he told Postmaster Bird he was thinking of bringing his family here and staying overnight.

Mr. Bird invited the inspector to take dinner at his house, and Meharey was just on the point of accepting when he bethought himself of after-dinner amusement.

He was astonished to learn that the city had no playhouse.

"What! a town of this size and nothing at all in the way of a theatre? I guess we'll go on to Philadelphia. But this place surely ought to have a theatre. I'll look into this."

Mr. Bird thought the latter observation was an airy nothing, but a few days later Mr. Counihan came to his office with a letter of introduction from Meharey, who is his brother-in-law. He wanted to know all about the theatre situation here. Mr. Bird told him.

Naturally, the old Music Hall was the first thing brought up. Mr. Bird introduced him to William M. Stillman, and a deal for the lease and reopening of a remodelled Music Hall came very close to consummation. At the last moment, almost, the deal fell through. Mr. Counihan by that time was convinced that the thing he most desired was a theatre in Plainfield, and he looked over the field again.

"Is there nothing else in the way of a readymade theatre site?" he asked.

Mr. Bird then suggested Washington Hall. Mayor Smalley heard of the Philadelphian's visit and lost no time in hunting him out, hoping to have a theatre located here. Mr. Counihan looked over the hall, pronounced it good, made the deal with the Elks, and on October 24 the fruit of a postoffice inspector's enforced trip to Philadelphia for an evening's entertainment will blossom in the shape of a perfectly appointed playhouse.

Those present were Mary Caulfield, Jennie Higgins, Anna Higgins, Mary Burns, Lucy McShon, Ida McShon, Margaret Higgins, Henrietta Flynn, Clara Weber, Nellie Higgins, Willie Smith, John Moore, Roy Uhler, George Smith, Thomas Rogers, Willie Sole, Emily Rogers and Albert Marsh.

"MARTY'S" GREAT GOLF

Seventeen-Year-Old Lad Surprises Gallery in "Prof" Tournament.

BEATS THEM ALL

Plainfield Boy Makes Lowest Score in Preliminary Round at Van Cortland Park.

Martin O'Loughlin, the professional at the Plainfield Country Club, returned the lowest score yesterday morning in the opening play in the professional tournament at Van Cortland Park, New York. The best score of the morning round was made by O'Loughlin, who is an American-bred professional of only seventeen years. He never had any coaching in the game.

When it is considered who he had to meet in this tournament, his work is phenomenal. There was George Low, Will Anderson, Isaac Mackie and a host of other strong professionals who have had more experience and have been playing the game for a long time.

O'Loughlin returned this card in the morning:

Out	4	4	4	5	3	3	4	5	7	—39
In	5	4	4	4	5	3	4	5	5	—39—78

The good showing made by the curly-haired youth brought out a gallery at his heels in the afternoon, which proved the boy's undoing. O'Loughlin is not used to the limelight and missed puts more than once through nervousness, closing with an 82. Joe Doehel, another home-bred, who played with O'Loughlin, beat him out a stroke in the afternoon. However, this places O'Loughlin in eighth place, and with consistent playing in today's two rounds, he should be able to win some of the prize money.

O'Loughlin was tie in the afternoon with Herbert Strong, of Cambridge, England, each returning a total score of 160 for the day's play.

The local young man had his first experience in golf at the Plainfield Country Club three years ago, being an assistant to the club professinoal. A little later he succeeded the professional and his work ever since has been satisfactory. He plays the game during his spare time and his improvement has been the wonder of all the members. The boy is certainly the best so far of the home crop and gives every promise of taking a prominent position in the top rank.

Play in the concluding thirty-six holes began at 9 o'clock this morning, and the afternoon round started at 2 o'clock.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

Minor troubles with the loop culminated in the heavy rain yesterday afternoon in a sinking of the roadbed so serious that traffic over the new terminal turn was entirely suspended. More or less sinking of the dirt and ballast and spreading of the rails has been experienced since the loop was opened, but the close imitation of a cloudburst yesterday afternoon knocked the tracks completely out of plumb. All the cars that took the turn after the rainfall reported trouble at headquarters and when, at 4 o'clock, one of them jumped the track, the loop was put out of commission. Superintendent Brown and Division Superintendent Maguire hustled to the scene with a carload of laborers, and ordered rush work in getting the terminal back in shape. Mr. Brown said he expected more or less trouble of the sort at the start and wasn't surprised. "It will be all right when we tamp down the roadbed," he said.

Although nothing definite has come from the movement to compel the safeguarding of the Chestnut street crossing yet, the councilmanic committee appointed to stir the railroad into activity is keeping the matter before the Central officers. One of the members said last night that action of some kind was likely to be taken any day. The committee has asked the railroad men to name a time and place for a conference on the question, and is now awaiting an answer. "We are hanging right to them in this thing," said the committee member referred to, "and will continue to hang on until something definite is said or done by the railroad one way or another. It is time some attention was paid to the matter."

A bruise on the leg, regarded at first as of little consequence, has developed into a case of sepsis so serious that C. D. Taylor is in danger of losing the limb. The leg is so badly affected that it will be a week at least before he will be able to use the leg, even should the doctor check the threatened gangrene.

FOUND OLD PENNY.

English Coin of Colonial Days, Probably Valuable, Dug Up in Dunellen.

Magnus Johnson, one of the workmen engaged in laying new walks along the Dunellen public park, noticed a flat shaped lump in a shovelful of dirt yesterday morning. He scraped some of the dirt off and disclosed a thick coin. Some more scraping brought to light the fact that the coin was an English penny, minted in 1787, when George the Third was still on the throne.

The coin is in a good state of preservation, and Johnson is in hopes that it has a value in numismatic circles. How the coin got to Dunellen is a mystery. It is not so improbable that it has been buried in Dunellen dirt since Colonial days, because that section was pretty well dotted with farms at that time.

—John H. Tier, Sr., of Bnak place, is greatly improved from a severe illness.

—The Harburger property at West Front street and Giraud avenue, is being generally improved and the house being painted. It is said that a New York family will occupy the place this summer.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

Jake Wall says that he will wait until after the game before making a wager.

The team will miss Cosgrave's coaching, but Driscoll and Leonard have promised to do his share.

The New York Giants have not such a walkover for the pennant as some people supposed they did.

Jack O'Neil wires to a Plainfield fan that he is in tip-top condition for tomorrow and that Plainfield will surely win.

An effort is being made to secure "Kid" Nichols, the star pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, for the Philadelphia Nationals.

Some fans believe that the New York Giants and Philadelphia Athletics will play the post-season series for the championship.

Although Keeler's bat is the smallest one used in the American League, every time "Wee Willie" steps to the plate it looks as large as a telegraph pole to the pitcher that opposes him.

Plainfield fans are urged to take plenty of "good rooting" to Westfield tomorrow to off set the "hot air," sure to be found at Recreation Park. Root for the Plainfield team from start to finish.

FINE HARVEST TIME FOR JERSEY CROPS

WEEK'S REPORT SHOWS HIGH TEMPERATURE—TRUCK IN GOOD CONDITION.

Fine harvest weather prevailed throughout New Jersey the past week, according to the climate and crop report just issued by Edward McGann, director of the State section of the United States weather bureau at Atlantic City. The report says:

"The temperature during the week was slightly above the normal. The maximum ranged from 75 to 90 degrees and the minimum from 63 to 70 degrees. Light showers were quite general in all sections on the 3d and in portions of the northern section on the 5th and 8th. The rainfall for the week was largely deficient in all sections. Fine harvest weather prevailed and much hay and grain was housed in fine condition. The former is below the average yield, but the quality is good.

"Thrashing of wheat was begun in the southern portion. Oats are ripening and promise an unusually large yield, but the straw is short. Truck crops are in fair condition, but would be greatly benefited by rain, especially in the central section, where growth and development have been greatly checked for want of moisture. Apples, both early and late, continue promising, although excessive dropping was reported from some places."

HITS COLLEGE ATHLETICS.

President of Trinity College Declares Sport is Demoralized.

The annual report of President Flavel S. Luther to the trustees of Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., made public recently, contains a reference to collegiate athletics. The report says:

The general athletic situation has not improved. More and more the supposed interests of the various sports absorb undly the attention of the few, while healthful and improving recreation is neglected by the many whose physical limitations or whose more important occupations make it unlikely that they can attain athletic distinction.

Trinity has not escaped the widely prevalent demoralization, due to the importance unwisely attributed to theltic success. We have had unpleasant evidence in our athletic history of blunted moral perception and of an indifference to the means made use of in attaining supposedly desirable ends, almost as discouraging as the corruption largely complained of in American business and politics.

AMUSEMENTS.

A wild animal musical comedy has been put on at Bostock's animal arena, Coney Island. It is named "The Dust Fletcher," and the words and music are by Frank C. Bostock, who also staged the piece. His principal star is Rey, (fils), a quivering bunch of absurdities, and who keeps the crowd in constant laughter by presenting himself about a hundred medals for bravery. The other characters are taken by four lions, three bears, a sloth and a Great Dane. The music is furnished by the sloth. The act is the most unique o fits kind and for daredevil bravery has never been equalled in the history of animal training. Capt. Jack Bonavita has had a strenuous week with his lions. The rest of the group seems to have acquired a temporary dislike for Mars, which is the Chinese lion, the others being mostly African. The result has been an attack on him the moment all enter the arena and Bonavita has to keep moving to hold them apart.

Sewer Commissioners' Work.

MRS. FLORENCE HOWE HALL'S COUSIN GOES TO JAPAN TO JOIN MIKADO'S RED CROSS

MRS. HUGH FRAZER, WELL-KNOWN HERE, LEAVES HOME NEXT WEEK TO HELP PRINCESS TONIN IN HER WORK.

Mrs. Hugh Fraser, sister of Marion Crawford, cousin of Mrs. Florence Howe, of this city, and niece of Julia Ward Howe, who last winter successfully conducted a Japanese entertainment for the benefit of the widows and orphans of Japanese soldiers, sails from New York next week for Japan in order that she may assist the work of the Red Cross at Tokio, of which society she is a member. Under Princess Tonin she will give her services in the hospitals and, it may be, go to the front if the necessity exists.

For long a resident of Tokio, where her husband was connected with the diplomatic service as British Minister Plenipotentiary, Mrs. Fraser became familiar with the best Japanese society, and was a close personal friend of the Empress of Japan, by whom she was decorated at the time of the latter's silver wedding. It was an honor never before bestowed upon an American woman.

Mrs. Fraser is a distinct cosmopolitan, having lived the greater part of her life in foreign countries. But she loves the Japanese people. She likes their characteristics and has been the recipient of so many courtesies from them that to return to Japan is like going home. She returns to Japan with the idea of plunging at once into the new schemes for the betterment of industrial conditions, particularly among the Japanese women.

"It is just like the forehandedness of the Japanese," said Mrs. Fraser, today at her home, No. 109 Waverley place, New York, "that with the first hint of peace that they should at once set about the work of reconstruction. Mr. Takahashi, one of the cleverest diplomats in Japan, who recently came over here to confer in regard to Japanese affairs, was recalled at once the moment the question of peace came up. His advice was needed on industrial questions.

"Much has ben done for the women of Japan, but now their advancement will be much more rapid. A new university at Tokio, the first of its kind in the country, has just been started. Japanese girls will get their degrees there the same as American girls do at Barnard, Rateliffe and Chicago.

"Japanese girls take a higher education with avidity. My physician at Tokio tells me that the great trouble is to hold them back. They keep the midnight oil burning and are up at 4 o'clock in the morning again studying.

"The Empress of Japan is using every energy to give the girls industrial education. Many trades and professions are being opened up. A great many girls are being trained for doctors, but I doubt if many of them will become lawyers, as the idea is quite opposed to the idea of the men."

Mrs. Fraser's decoration conferred by the Empress is a silver medal, struck off on the silver wedding anniversary and engraved with symbolical insignia and tied with the royal colors of Japan, the red and orange.

While in Japan Mrs. Fraser will also write a book on Japan under the new conditions after the war.

Beck on moneyphobia? Well, well, well!

CHRISTIAN UNION CONVENTION.

Young Folks Branch of Universalist Church Gathers at Hartford.

With a large attendance of delegates from all parts of the country the national convention of the Young People's Christian Union of the Universalist church began its formal sessions at Hardford, Conn., yesterday. The report of National Secretary Harry Adams Hersey, of Boston, reviewed the numerical growth of the union and the work accomplished during the last year in both the senior and junior bodies, and in the field.

The figures submitted by State secretaries, he said, showed a membership of approximately 9,000, of which number 6,500 were in the senior and 2,500 in the junior union. The year's gain in membership had been about 1,000. Financially, the year had been satisfactory.

MOSQUITO NUISANCE REMEDY SUGGESTED

DR. J. ACKERMAN COLES GIVES SOME ADVICE TO HOUSEHOLDERS.

J. Ackerman Coles, LL. D., sends the following contribution to The Daily Press:

Editor, The Daily Press:

Would it not be well to remind those people of Plainfield as well as throughout Union County that in order to prevent a mosquito nuisance this summer the following facts and remedies are to be borne in mind, viz:

Mosquitoes lay their eggs on the surface of stagnant water, whether in open cisterns, kegs, barrels, gutters or holes in the ground. In a few days their eggs become transformed into the wrigglers, familiar to all boys and farmers, and sometimes seen in the water drawn from cisterns and carried in pitchers into bed rooms and where, as well as in the cistern itself and in the receptacles of other standing water they soon become full fledged mosquitoes.

The best remedy is to put into each cistern a dozen little live fish to destroy the wrigglers, and where water is not enough for the mountain minnows, gold, or other fish to live in, empty the receptacles and fill up all the holes by the roadside, etc. This is a sure remedy based in experience and common sense. Let the fishes do good to themselves and to the people of Plainfield. The mosquitoes are busy now laying their eggs, and the boys cannot be too diligent in going fishing with nets for said purpose of destruction. As prevention is better than cure, it behooves everyone in search of comfort to wage war against the wrigglers. Real estate will boom and joy will reign supreme when wrigglers live no more.

I am,
Yours very truly,
J. Ackerman Coles.

Pleading for Chinese.

Portland, Ore., July 13—President William D. Wheelwright, of the Chamber of Commerce, of this city, on behalf of that organization, has sent a letter to President Roosevelt urging him to take "steps toward negotiating a new treaty with China that shall provide for the removal of the exacting conditions that now attach to the entrance into this country of their merchants, students and professional men, for the absolute freedom of all Chinese residents of this country to visit their own land and return here, and for the admission during the next ten years of a number of male Chinese laborers that in any one year shall not exceed one-tenth of 1 per cent. of the population of this country."

LOCAL FIRM OPENS BIG NEW AUTO GARAGE

F. L. C. MARTIN CO. NOW BETTER EQUIPPED THAN EVER.

The pioneers in the local field for bicycle and automobile distribution, the Frank L. C. Martin Automobile Company, of Park avenue, has set the pace for horseless vehicle dealers in the State by adding to its display rooms the largest garage in New Jersey. Workmen in the employ of the firm recently took possession of the building formerly occupied by Van Zandt & Voorhees, adjoining its salesroom, and they have transformed it into a fire proof structure capable of accommodating fifty large-sized cars. Though not yet fully completed, it has been thrown open and already auto owners have been quick to see its advantages and conveniences.

The garage measures 40 by 100 feet, exclusive of a large washroom in the rear, and is to be used exclusively for the storage of machines. With the big repair shop which the firm has had for the past three years and the immense salesroom, the whole establishment has assumed proportions second to none of its kind in the State. The new garage is to be connected with the main department, and offices are to be on each side. Everything that will tend to expedite the repair of cars has been provided, and while owners are waiting they can spend the time in retiring rooms, separate compartments having been fitted up for men and women. A patent pump arrangement supplies gasolene for the machines, the tanks being located at a distant point in the yard to guard against accident. The garage is to be open day and night and in a short time the attention of machine owners will be directed to it by a large electric sign placed over the front entrance.

Frank L. C. Martin, who is president of the company, and George MacIntyre, secretary and treasurer and also manager, will have supervision of the new addition.

Rev. Dr. C. W. Parsons, pastor of Grace M. E. church, will begin his vacation August 1. It will be spent in the Adirondacks and the Thousand Islands, and last all the month.

John Bogan, father of Rev. B. M. Bogan, of St. Mary's church, who underwent an operation at the hospital this week, continues to improve and hopes to leave the institution within a short time.

Two changes have been made in the hour of services at the Monroe Avenue church. For the rest of the summer the Sunday-school will meet at 9:45 o'clock Sunday morning, and the Epworth League meeting will be held at 7:30 o'clock in the evening.

Y. Hirose, the native Japanese, who will address the Y. M. C. A. meeting on Sunday afternoon, will also speak at the Memorial chapel at Washingtonville on Sunday evening. "Is Japan the Enemy of Russia?" will be the subject both afternoon and evening.

At the evening service of the First Baptist church on Sunday, special music will be rendered by the choir, according to its custom previous to the summer vacation.

The order of service will include the "Jubilate Amen" of Max Bruch, "Alpha and Omega" by Roberts, and various selections from oratories, "Elijah." Mrs. Ward will sing "O Rest in the Lord" and Mr. Smith, "If With All Your Hearts Ye Truly Seek Me." The chorus will give the "He Watching Over Israel" and "The Sanctus." Dr. Chambliss will preach as usual.

BEST CONVENTION N. E. A. EVER HELD

DR. GREEN PRAISES THE MEETING HELD AT ASBURY PARK.

Trenton, July 14—Dr. James M. Green, who was chairman of the National Educational Association committee in charge of the entertainment of President Roosevelt at Asbury Park and Ocean Grove, July 7, returned to Trenton yesterday for the day. Dr. Green discussed the recent meeting of the N. E. A. with a reporter yesterday:

"The meeting of the association upon the whole, was a great success. The enrollment will be second in size in the history of the association, numbering considerably more than 20,000, and surpassed only by the Boston meeting.

"The visitors were accommodated well and members of the N. E. A. were promptly assigned to their quarters. The significance of this will be appreciated when it is remembered that they were at Ocean Grove and Asbury Park over the Fourth of July, a time when these cities are usually filled without anything special on hand.

"To take care of the N. E. A. on early days of July meant an enormous undertaking for the hotels and boarding houses and to guide the visitors meant a tremendous undertaking for the ushers and committee, but all of the work was well done.

"The programme om the N. E. A. was equal to any we have ever had in the character of papers and addresses. There were more nations represented in some of the past meetings, but in no meeting have those who took part been more distinctly prepared for their work.

"Some of the papers which were read were literally classics, and will go on record as studies for future students of education."

Dill to Sit With Pardon Court.

Judge James B. Dill, the new member of the court or errors and appeals and court of pardons, was at the State prison Wednesday with the investigating committee of the court of pardons. Judge Dill denied the story that has been circulated concerning a trip which he was to take to Klondike in an automobile. To a reporter he stated that he has planned a trip with his family to the Pacific coast, but would not go before the court of pardons had finished its work. The friends of Libbie Garrabrandt have great hopes of her release, as another application has been made to the pardons court. They are depending on Judge Dill's vote for the pardon. Miss Mary Philbrook, who is in charge of the Garrabrandt case, has received a letter from John R. Daggers, Paterson, who sat as a lay judge in the trial of the Garrabrandt woman. In the letter he favors her release, as he says she has been sufficiently punished.

Mrs. George Whitely has returned home after a two days' stay with her uncle, A. G. Nelson, of New Market.

Handmade French Roses Trim the Modish Hat in the Back.

It takes at least seven large roses to modishly trim the back of the fashionably turned up hat, and as French handmade flowers are used it is no wonder that the milliners are asking such exorbitant prices for their artistic creations.

A pretty blue straw in the short backed sailor shape turned up in the back is trimmed with a wreath of deep red roses. Bunches of them rest becomingly on the hair in the back.

Pale pink coral is very much worn. Brooches, necklaces and bracelets are displayed in varying tints of the pink.

Silk gloves at a dollar a pair come in all fashionable colors of the season.

Silk rubber coats are among the most useful and attractive of the long summer coats.

Pale purple lilacs trim a white chip hat in the short backed sailor shape.

The "polo" hat is to be found in all colors and usually has a great bunch of roses placed at the left side, a rosette shaded ribbon or several wings placed flat on the brim pointing downward toward the back. On a pretty girl of the right type these little "pill box" hats are very fetching.

The Tommy Atkins hat illustrated is of fancy tan straw. On the brim at one side is a full, short bow of brown velvet ribbon. Falling over the bow, and standing upright above it, is a bunch of cherries and foliage.

Y., the aggregate of which bid was the sum of Fifty-two Thousand, Forty-seven Dollars and Twenty Cents, and the surety proposed being the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland; that said bid be and the same is hereby accepted and the contract awarded to said Richards & Gaston, and that the Mayor and City Clerk be and are hereby authorized to execute the contract on behalf of this city in the form annexed to the above mentioned plans and specifications.

CHAPTER XV.

Manila at last! Queen city of the archipelago, and Manila again besieged! The loveliest of the winter months was come. The Luneta and the Paseo de Santa Lucia, close to the sparkling waters, were gay every evening with the music of the regimental bands and thronged with the carriages of old-time residents and their new and not too welcome visitors. Spanish dames and damsels, invisible at other hours, drove or strolled along the roadway to enjoy the cool breezes that crept in from the beautiful bay and take wistful peeps at the dainty toilets of the American belles now arriving by every boat from Hong-Kong. All the Castilian disdain they might look and possibly feel toward the soldiery of Uncle Sam gave place to liveliest interest and curiosity when the wives and daughters of his soldiers appeared upon the scene; and there was one carriage about which, whenever it stopped, a little swarm of officers gathered and toward which at any time all eyes were directed—that of the White Sisters. Within the old walled city and in the crowded districts of Bimondo, Quiapo and San Miguel north of the Pasig, and again in Paco and Ermita to the south, strong regiments were stationed in readiness to suppress the first sign of the outbreak so confidently predicted by the bureau of military intelligence. In a great semicircle of over 20 miles, girdling the city north, east and south, the outposts and sentries of the two divisions kept watchful eyes upon the insurgent forces surrounding them. Aguinaldo and his cabinet at Malolos to the north had all but declared war upon the obstinate possessors of the city and had utterly forbidden their leaving the lines of Manila and seeking to penetrate those broader fields and roads and villages without. Still hugging to its breast the delusion that a semi-Malaysian race could be appeased by show of philanthropy, the government at Washington decreed that, despite their throwing up earthworks against and training guns on the American positions, the enemy should be treated as though they never could or would be hostile, and the privileges denied by them to American troops were by the American troops accorded to them. Coming and going at will through our lines, they studied our force, our arms, equipment, numbers, supplies, methods; and long before the Christmas bells had clanged their greeting to that universal feast day, and the boom of cannon ushered in the new year, all doubt of the hostile sentiments of the insurgent leaders had vanished. Already there had been ominous clashes at the front; and with every day the demeanor of the Philippine officers and men became more and more insolent and defiant. Ceaseless vigilance and self-control were enjoined upon the soldiers of the United States, nearly all stalwart volunteers from the far west, and while officers of the staff and of the half-dozen regiments quartered within the city were privileged each day to stroll or drive upon the Luneta, there were others that never knew an hour away from the line of the outposts and their supports. Such was the case with Stewart's regiment far out toward the waterworks at the east. Such was the case with the Primeval Dudes on the other side of the Pasig, lining the banks of the crooked estuary that formed the Rubicon we were forbidden to cross. Such was the case with Canker and the —teenth in the dense bamboo thicket to the south, and so it happened that at first Armstrong and Billy Gray saw nothing of each other, and but little of the White Sisters, probably a fortunate thing for all.

Ever since that memorable night on the Queen of the Fleet, Gray had studiously avoided his whilom friend and counselor, while the latter's equally studious avoidance of Mrs. Garrison had become observed throughout the ship. The dominion and power of that little lady had been of brief duration, as was to be expected in the case of a woman who had secured for her undivided use the best, the airiest and by far the largest room on the steamer—a cabine de luxe indeed, that for a week's voyage on an Atlantic liner would have cost a small fortune, while here for a sea sojourn of more than double the time under tropic skies, and while other and worthier women were sweltering three in a stuffy box below, it had cost but a smile. The captain had repented him of his magnanimity before the lights of Honolulu faded out astern. The general began to realize that he had been made a cat's-paw of and, his amour propre being wounded, he had essayed for a day or two majestic dignity of mien that became comical when complicated with the qualms of seasickness. There was even noticeable aversion on part of some of the officers of the Dudes who, having made the journey from "the bay" to Honolulu with the women passengers, army wives and Red Cross nurses, naturally became the recipients of the views entertained by these ladies. Quick to see if slow to seem to see, Mrs. Frank has lost no time in begging one of the young soldier wives to share her big stateroom and broad and comfortable bed, and the lady preferred the heat and discomfort between decks to separation from her friend. Then Mrs. Garrison tendered both the run of her cabin during the day and evening; suggested, indeed, that on hot nights they come and sleep there, one on the bed and one on the couch; and they thanked her, but—never came. She coddled the general with cool champagne cup when he was in the throes of mal de mer, and held him prisoner with her vivacious chatter when he was well enough to care to talk. But, after all, her most serious trouble seemed to consist in keeping Billy Gray at respectful distance. He sought her side day after day, to Armstrong's mild amaze, as has been said; and when he could not be with her was moody, even fierce and ugly tempered—he whose disposition had been the sunniest in all that gray, shivery, dripping sojourn at the San Francisco camp.

READING'S 90 MINUTE N. Y. TRAINS BIG SAVING

ABOUT 5000 HOURS A DAY THE PROFIT TO BUSINESS MEN.

Reading officials who are keen for the ninety-minute express train schedule between Philadelphia and New York have collected some very interesting statistics on the subject. Here are some of the remarkable figures:

Every year nearly 4,000,000 passengers ride between Philadelphia and New York, and the great majority of them ride both ways in the same day.

The daily average of passengers between the two cities is 10,000. Business men form the largest percentage of the total.

To cut off half an hour from the present express schedule would mean an aggregate daily saving to all the passengers of 5,000 hours.

This would be a saving to the business world making the trip between Philadelphia and New York of 200 days every day in the year.

The only obstacle in the way of the new schedule is the Pennsylvania interest on the Reading directorate.

It was learned yesterday that the Reading would have established a ninety-minute schedule to and from New York nearly ten years ago if it had not been for the interference of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Not only had the reduction in running time been determined upon, but the new schedule was actually in the hands of the printer when the Pennsylvania officials learned of the project and sent word that it must be abandoned.

"New York time must not be reduced below two hours," was the message.

Zealous Reading traffic managers sent back word that the company was managing its own affairs. In less than an hour notice was served upon the president of the Reading that unless the old schedule was adhered to the Pennsylvania would retaliate by cutting the prices of anthracite coal.

That settled the ninety-minute schedule for the time being. Whether the same threat or one of a similar nature will be effective this time is doubtful, for President Baer has his heart set upon getting his trains to New York in an hour and a half, and he is hard to dissuade from a purpose when once his mind is made up.

MOTHER AIDED BY HER DAUGHTER BEATS WOMAN SHE FOUND WITH HER HUSBAND

Finding a Miss Costello with her husband in one of the drinking booths of his saloon, at Main street and Lee place, at Paterson, Wednesday night, Mrs. Oscar Allgier, assisted by her daughter, thrashed the man's companion. Miss Allgier seized Miss Costello. A tussle ensued, and in the scrimmage Miss Costello's head was jammed violently through the glass window of the door. Miss Allgier followed up the attack by delivering a blow on Miss Costello's nose.

The broken glass inflicted a cut on Miss Costello's left temple. Blood spurted from the wound and from her nose, and the woman at first appeared to be seriously injured. She made a dash for the side door anr entered Lee place, followed by Mrs. Allgier and her daughter. The Costello woman ran down Lee place, across Main street and into a house at 189 Oliver street. Before she got in, however, her pursuers pulled her hair hard. Then they disappeared. Miss Costello was cared for by the occupants of the Oliver street house, and was permitted to remain there over night. Allgier's has come in for considerable notoriety in the past by reason of the fact that Very Rev. Dean McNulty has on many occasions driven "ladies" out of the place.

TODAY AT BRIGHTON.

No Stake Feature on Today's Programme.

Although there will be no stake feature today at the Brghton Beach track, the programme is interesting. High class horses will be missing, but those entered in the six races are of nearly the same class, and the bookmakers will offer good odds.

The opening race may be won by Cassini. This is a good colt, and he is very fond of mud. Veronese looks to be the contender. Carrying big weights he has been knocking around the finish with high class horses, and today he has only 95 pounds on his back. Ala Russell has to shoulder 119 pounds, and this big weight, something she is not used to, combined with the fact that the race is over six furlongs, may cause her defeat; but she should finish third.

Landed Aliens at $10 a Head.

Antonie Vittello, formerly a coal passer on the Hamburg-American steamship Prince Oscar, was convicted in the United States Court yesterday at Trenton of illegally landing three aliens in Hoboken. Judge Lanning sentenced the prisoner to eighteen months in the Essex County Penitentiary. The testimony showed that Vittello had received $10 for landing each of the three aliens.

Jersey Naval Militia Cruise.

The U. S. Navy Department is arranging to give the naval militia forces of some of the states along the Atlantic coast cruises on a squadron of warships. The present programme contemplates that the naval militia of Connecticut, New Jersey and Pennsylvania be taken out on August 5.

QUEEN MUST BE BRUNETTE.

Carnival Committee Will Not Select a Blonde This Year.

It has become known that the committee on the choice of the queen for the baby parade carnival at Asbury Park has set its heart on a brunette this year, and the result is that all the pretty dark-haired girls for miles around are flocking to this resort in the hope that Titania's crown will be placed upon their raven locks.

The queen committee, which comprises Frank B. Conover, chairman; Mrs. T. H. Beringer and Miss Fannie Richards, nods its head wisely and keeps its own counsel as to who and what the next baby parade ruler will be, but every pretty girl at the weekly hotel hops is an unconscious candidate for the throne, and those who have watched the members of the committee closely notice that brunettes are in high favor.

The cause of this partiality is given out unofficially that they desire a change from the blonde beauty of last year's queen.

One more event has been added to the series which forms the succession of gayeties during carnival week. This is a queen's reception, which is to be held in the Arcade, August 28 is announced as the date set for the coronation, and the ceremonies will be brought to a close on September 1.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Newspapermen's Jury Duty.

The Newark News joins in the discussion over the question whether or not newspapermen should be exempted from jury duty, agreeing with the Post-Telegram that the contention that their prior familiarity with the evidence in cases which come to trial makes them biased is absurd. There is really only one good reason why by common consent newspapermen are excused from jury duty and the News puts it clearly as follows: They are not working for themselves alone, nor even for the papers upon which they are employed. They are working for the many thousands who read the papers to get the news. They are serving the public, and when they are interrupted in their work the public is deprived of their services. For these reasons they are, as a rule, exempted or rather excused from jury duty, and very properly. Newspapermen are the last to shrik public duty, but as much cannot be said for hte millionaires who cheerfully pay fines rather than spend a few hours in the jury box, a service which would prove a valuable lesson in the duties of citizenship, if they would only learn it.—Camden Post-Telegram.

To Improve Rumson Drive.

The Rumson drive is to be improved next year at a cost of about $60,000. The larger part of the expense is to be borne by the State, as it will be stoned under the State Road Act. The road is nearly five miles long and extends from Red Bank to Seabright.

ORGANIZE G. O. P. CLUB

Young Republicans to Ask Wm. N. Runyon to be Their Leader.

H. R. HALL AT HEAD

Various Committees Are Appointed —Another Session to Be Held Monday Night.

Preliminary organization was effected last night by the young men interested in the formation of the projected new independent Republican club. The meeting was not public, and only the bare details of the proceedings were given to the reporters after the session. Permanent organization will be completed at a meeting to be held Monday night, when a full statement of the club's position and what it stands for will be made public.

The meeting was held at the Arion Club in the Taylor building. The room was filled with interested and enthusiastic young men, and the work of temporary organization was carried through with despatch. These were the officers chosen:

Henry L. Hall, president; Charles T. Elliott, W. L. Marshall, Alex. Muir and Charles Burdette Morse, vice presidents; Thomas M. Muir, secretary; W. H. Scott, treasurer.

Alex. Muir called the meeting to order, and Mr. Hall was made chairman. His first act was to appoint Elmer D. Cutting, Percival A. McVoy and W. L. Hetfield, Jr., a committee on nominations, and they presented the names of the officers elected.

George Gray and Aleck Muir were named as a committee to wait on City Judge Runyon, to learn if he will consent to join the organization and lead it in its announced fight for cleaner municipal politics. It was suggested at the meeting that the organization be called the William N. Runyon Republican Club, but inasmuch as Judge Runyon's attitude toward the club and its objects were unknown, no action on this was taken. President Hall will accompany the committee on its visit to the Judge. Thek will report Monday night.

W .L. Hetfield, Jr., Charles T. Elliott and C. B. Morse were appointed a ways and means committee. They will make a report on Monday night.

Mr. Hetfield and W. L. Marshall were named as a committee on constitution and by-laws. They are also expected to report, with a rough draft at least, on Monday.

It is expected that every last bit of detail connected with permanent organization will be completed at the coming meeting. The name, whatever it is to be, will be adopted, and enrollment of members will begin. From then on, its promotors say, the club will be a factor in local politics, and a factor that must be reckoned with.

SEES STORMS AHEAD.

Forecaster De Voe Predicts Trouble for Tomorrow and Monday.

Weather Forecaster De Voe, of Hackensack, yesterday issued the following predictions:

There will be little change in the temperature until July 17.

It will be dangerous to go on water excursions next Sunday, July 16, as a severe storm will come that day.

Monday next, July 17, will see the severest storm of the season. Oo that day is due thunder storms of intense severity, with heavy rain and flood.

The storm next Monday will be particularly severe over the Ohio Valley, where heavy floods are threatened.

The present scorching weather will continue for at least a month, with slight diminution after the storms predicted.

An Infant Dead.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. James Tunison, of South Second street, died early this morning after a short illness. Interment will be made Monday.

CORNETTIST LEICK PLEASES BIG CROWD

MADE THE HIT AT LAST NIGHT'S PUBLIC BAND CONCERT.

Using the late Jules Levy's difficult composition, the "Whirlwind Polka," John S. Leick, the world-famous cornettist, made an immense hit at last night's public band concert. It was his first appearance in Plainfield but he met with instant approval, the big crowd outdoing itself in applauding his solo. Though the polka is attempted by few artists, Leick accomplished it with perfect ease and in a manner that showed his wonderful skill. He responded to the encore with the selection, "The Ranchman."

The vocal soloists at the concert were Johnny Nestor, who sang, "My Yankee Irish Girl,, and "Keep a Little Cosy Corner in Your Heart For Me," and Bert Fitzgibbon, who gave two of his own and Theodore Morse's compositions, "Don't Be So Mean" and "Jaspar Johnson." The instrumental numbers on the programme were all popular and delighted the big audience, which undoubtedly was larger than at any previous gathering.

Next week Bandmaster LaVere will have "Billy" Murray and "Billy" Redmond again, and he hopes to have Mr. Leick a second time, if not for the remainder of the season. He has been playing with the Kilties band but secured a vacation after a long European tour.

FIREMAN'S BRAVERY ON ENGINE SAVES A TRAIN

SERIOUS ACCIDENT AVERTED AT CRANFORD BY NERVE OF FRANK SCHULER.

As a westbound Central passenger train was approaching the station at Cranford Thursday a tube in the boiler burst, a cloud of steam rushed into the cab and drove the engineer, Frank Wynkoop, and Fireman Frank Schuler, both of Dunellen, out of the cab on to the water-tank beside the boiler. The throttle valve was open and the engineer vainly tried to reach it, but the flames from the fire-box singed his hair and drove him back.

The train sped on until the fireman climbed over the top of the cab into the baggage car and applied the emergency brakes, which brought the train to a standstill a few feet from the station. The cloud of steam was so dense that the fireman and engineer could not see each other. The fireman thought the engineer had perished, and was much relieved when he discovered him only slightly hurt from a wound on the top of his head on the tank over the driving wheel.

Both men had a narrow escape from instant death, only their presence of mind in instantly bolting from the cab saving their lives. There was but one way of escape, as the engine is of a type without tender and the cab enclosed at the rear.

The passengers were transferred to another train and the engine hauled away to the shops. The fireman was uninjured and the engineer received a scalp wound by coming in contact with the cab window in making his escape, which he could not see, being blinded by the escaping steam. It is said the baggageman was absent from the compartment at the time of the accident, and failed to hear the cries of the fireman to apply the brakes, and only the bravery of the fireman in climbing over the fire and steam enveloped cab to apply the brakes averted a serious accident.

Red Men Installed.

Miantonom Tribe, I. O. R. M., No. 118, last night installed these officers: Sachem, V. W. Nash; senior sagamore, John T. Green; junior sachem, J. Johnson; guard of the wigwam, E. J. Martin, and guard of the forest, Samuel Montross. The installation was in charge of District Deputy Fair Sachem Harvey Price, of Menno Tribe, No. 242, Westfield, and a staff from that lodge.

Glorious Fourth Aftermath.

Leighton Calkins, of Central avenue, has returned from Gloucester, Mass., where his family is spending the summer. On Fourth of July Mr. Calkins was celebrating the day shooting off firecrackers, when one of the giant variety went off in his hand, burning the palm and fingers severely. The hand is now healing nicely and no serious consequences are anticipated.

To Paddle His Own Canoe.

Irving Martin, of Compton avenue, has about completed the building of a good sized sail boat, which he intends using this summer while away on his vacation. He is now rigging the boat with a sail and as soon as this is finished the boat will be ready for its trial trip.

DOWN AT ASBURY PARK

Plainfield People Enjoying the Breeze at the Shore These Days.

MANY ATTRACTIONS.

Brunette Instead of Blonde as the Baby Parade Queen This Year—Pryor's "Sousa" Concert.

The Asbury Park baby parade committee had a meeting this week and made some preliminary preparations for carnival week. An entirely new feature will be added this year, for it has been decided to give a State reception to the queen at the Arcade. Another event at that resort which will assume much added importance this year is the Deal Lake carnival. The Wesley Lake carnival this season was not much of a success and the bonifaces there have been quick to see the reason why. The boats lacked incentive and since prizes of scarcely any value were offered did not take the pains to decorate their crafts. The circumstances surrounding the presentation of the Deal carnival are entirely different. The exhibitors instead of being impecunious ferrymen are most of them wealthy summer residents, and if last year's display can be taken as a precedent the boat exhibits this year will be exceedingly beautiful. Unlike the Wesley Lake carnival, the Deal carnival is largely a parade of small yachts. Already several handsome silver loving cups have been presented by hotel proprietors for prizes at the lake carnival and those seen so far are even handsomer than any of the awards for the baby parade.

John Philip Sousa, the bandmaster, has this week sent the original manuscript of several marches written by him which have not yet been played before the public, to Arthur Pryor, at the request of the Asbury Park bandmaster. These will be played by Pryor at a "Sousa" concert, which he is arranging for the middle of August. Sousa himself will be present and entertained as the guest of honor. Pryor was formerly the leading trombone soloist of Sousa's organization and is still considered the best trombone soloist before the public. The beach commissioners have engaged Sousa's band for a limited contract in August, but the famous bandmaster will probably not play there for more than a week.

A children's opera was given at the Pier Theatre for the benefit of the Municipal Hospital on Thursday and Friday. It was managed by Mrs. D. W. Sisson, chairman of the executive committee of the hospital, and about 125 children participated.

Among the late arrivals from Plainfield at the Minot House is Mrs. A. P. Tomlinson.

Plainfield guests at the Lalelyn include Lucius T. Wightman, Mrs. J. A. Powlison, Ida L. Spicer and Miss Mary White.

Late Plainfield arrivals at the Le-Roy are Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schwed, Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Schloss, C. B. Levy, and Mr. and Mrs. M. Schloss.

E. Rush and Miss Mary Kurkenicz are registered from Plainfield at the La Pierre in Ocean Grove.

Among the well known Plainfield guests at the Alaska in Ocean Grove are Dr. and Mrs. H. K. Carroll and Miss C. J. Carroll.

Plainfield is represented at the Ward Villa by Miss Helena Huber, Miss Gertrude Huber and Miss Edith Plauck.

H. S. Maltby is registered from Plainfield at the St. James for an extended visit.

Miss Mae Berkhan and Miss Lillian Paully have mad etheir headquarters at the St. Charles while in Asbury Park. They came this week from Plainfield and will remain in town for the rest of the month.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Peck are spending the summer at the Westminster and are registered from Plainfield.

Quite a party of Plainfield guests are this week stopping at the Lakelyn, and among them are Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Lowey, Miss Edith Lowry, Miss Mildred Spice, Miss Lulu M. Stryker, Miss Elmer Runyon and Mrs. H. C. Runyon.

J. C. Allen, of Plainfield, is a patron of the New York.

Caddie Master Poisoned.

While engaged in playing in the professional golf tournament at Van-Cortlandt Park, New York, on Thursday, Marty O'Loughlin became poisoned in the face, and when he was ready to start in the final play, yesterday morning, his face was swollen to such proportions that a New York physician advised him to return home. Marty wanted to finish his play, however, and the physician gave him temporary treatment, making it possible for him to continue. The trouble undoubtedly had an affect on his playing.

BAND CONCERT FUNDS

Treasurer Van Arsdale Makes Report of Receipts and Expenditures to Date.

CASH ON HAND $188.32.

More Contributions Needed if the Series is to be Extended Through the Summer.

Treasurer Morris C. VanArsdale, who has had charge of the band concert funds, today issued a statement of all receipts and expenditures since the season began. It shows a balance on hand at the present time of $188.32, which with the contemplated receipts from the stand admissions, will be sufficient to continue the series for at least one month longer. The responses to appeals for contributions and the revenue from other sources has been greater this year than ever before and as a result the concerts have been better and more numerous.

According to the report the total receipts for the season were $1,353.92 divided as follows: From the band concert fair, $827.40; subscriptions to date, $164; privileges, $15; interest on deposit, $72; from admittances to stand at six concerts, $346.80; total, $1,352.92. The disbursements were: Expenses of band concert fair, $577.45; cost of six concerts, $455; sundries, $6.75; Ambrose Smalley, for building grandstand, $100; F. M. Slater, Jr., electrical work, $26.40; total, $1,165.60. There is still an unpaid bill of $76, due Ambrose Smalley on the grandstand contract.

The concerts have given so much enjoyment to so many people that it is the earnest wish of the promotors that further contributions be made in order to continue them all summer. They are in reality the only divertisement for Plainfielders who are unable to leave the city and they are becoming more and more popular as the increasing crowds attest. Each concert costs approximately $75 and this is an extremely low figure when the ability of the artists appearing are considered. John S. Leick, the cornettist who appeared last night, has travelled for three seasons with the Kilties band at a salary of $150 a week, but was secured by Bandmaster LaVere to come to Plainfield through friendship. The vocal soloists are also secured by Mr. LaVere for bare expenses and everyone on the programmes so far has been a singer of the first rank.

THEY WANT $10,000 FROM THE N. J. S. R.

SUIT A RESULT OF MRS. HAMBURGER'S INJURIES.

Summons has been issued by Counsellor William Newcorn in the suit brought by Charles Hamburger and wife, of Westfield, against the North Jersey Street Railway. The action is a suit in tort and is brought to recover $10,000 by Mrs. Hamburger and a like amount by her husband.

While on a car of the Trenton-Jersey City through line on June11 Mrs. Hamburger was injured in a collision between the car in which she rode and a car on the Turnpike line. The collision took place at the meeting point of the two lines, Chestnut and Newark avenues, Jersey City.

The woman knew she was hurt, but until she got off the car at the terminus, where she fainted, remaining unconscious for an hour and a half, her hurts were thought very slight.

Dr. McGill, the company's physicians, attended her and found one of her shins injured as well as the knee-joint. She was placed on another car and sent home to Westfield, fainting again on her arrival there.

After being under treatment for these first known injuries for about two weeks, Mrs. Hamburger consulted a New York specialist, who found her suffering from severe internal injuries.

These injuries make a dangerous and delicate surgical operation necessary, and in the opinion of Mrs. Hamburger's advisers may well cost the trolley company some thousands of dollars, where they expected to settle for less than two hundred.

Probably the case will come up before Justice Fort at Elizabeth in the October term.

Sail for France.

The Misses Alice and Ella Osborne, of Albert street, sailed this morning for France, where they will remain for some time with friends and relatives.

FINDS DYSENTERY CAUSE

Board of Health Says Atmospheric Condition is Responsible.

WATER IS O. K.

Dr. Dundon Advises Mothers as to Care of Children—Water Company not Using Tank.

Continuing his investigations to determine the cause of the dysentery epidemic in the borough, Dr. A. H. Dundon, of the Board of Health, has reached the conclusion that the extreme heat has had as much to do with it as any other cause. The statement that the water has been at the bottom of all the trouble is not correct, as in families where cases exist the water is secured from the city mains. In the houses along Harmony street, where the seat of the epidemic has been, the water is secured either from wells or pumps. Several new cases of dysentery were reported today, but there have been no further deaths.

Dr. Dundon advises that mothers be careful of childrens' diet during the heated term and as an extra precaution boil all water used for drinking purposes. They should also be kept in the shade as much as possible, as continued running about in the sun is an inducement to the ordinary summer complaint that precedes dysentery in its worst form.

A rumor that the water company was serving the borough from its supply tank on the mountain led Dr. Dundon to look into the matter, and he learned that this is not so. No water has been drawn from the tank in a long time. At the doctor's request, however, the company readily agreed to empty the receptacle and give it a thorough cleaning in the event of their having to use it within the next few months.

PLAINFIELDER SEIZED IN DISTANT NORWAY

HOGAN HANSEN WILL NOT BE ALLOWED TO RETURN TO AMERICA.

Returning to his former home in Norway last May to visit relatives, Hogan Hansen, for four years a resident of the city, was recently seized by the authorities in his native town and pressed into the army service. He went away from America without taking out citizenship papers, and as a result will not be able to get out of the predicament. Word of what had occurred came from him by letter to his sister, Mrs. Johnson, of Duer street, yesterday, just at the time when she was expecting to learn the date of his return.

Hansen is but twenty-two years old and is a baker by trade. He worked for W. W. Warnock during the greater part of the time he was here and by his genial disposition made many friends. When he went home he was not anticipating any trouble, but the crisis that has been brought on through the severing of relations between Norway and Sweden has led to the seizure of all available young men for military duty in the event of war being declared.

PHYSICAL DIRECTOR AT Y. M. C. A. RESIGNS

F. A. HENGKEL TO GO TO BROOKLYN ASSOCIATION.

Physical Director F. A. Henckel, of the Y. M. C. A., has accepted the assistant directorship of the Brooklyn Central branch of the association and will assume his duties there September 1. Mr. Henckel's successor has not been settled upon as yet. John H. Scott, a classmate of M. Henckel at the Springfield Training School, holds the post of chief physical director at Brooklyn.

The retiring physical director came here one year ago September 1, after being graduated. He succeeded C. E. A. Heywood, who is at present in charge of one of the largest gymnasiums in England.

At present M. Henckel is visiting at his home, Albany, N. Y., but will return here August 15, remaining until the time arrives for him to go to Brooklyn.

John McKenna Buried.

Funeral services over the body of John McKenna, of Grove street, who died Thursday, were held this morning in St. Joseph's church, Father Miller officiating. NAMED FISCAL AGENT FOR S. A. SYNDICATE

LOCAL BANK APPOINTED 'TIS SAID, BUT CAN'T BE CONFIRMED.

A report was current here this morning that one of the local banking institutions had been offered the appointment as fiscal agent of a large and wealthy syndicate of patriotic capitalists and financiers of Buenos Ayres, who are officially under government franchises encouraging closer and more extensive trade and commercial relations with the United States, particularly with large manufacturing and exporting cities of the East.

Inquiry was made at the City National Bank, the First National Bank and the Plainfield Trust Company, but all knowledge of the matter was denied, the officials saying that they had heard nothing of it.

At present nine-tenths of Argentine commerce is conducted through early established European channels. The object of Consul Pratto and the Argentine people is to ultimately bring this trade to America, as outlined in plans submitted at the last Pan-American Congress.

Consul Pratto, who is a wealthy and distinguished physician of Montevideo, has banking connections with Ladenburg, Thalman & Co., of New York, with which concern George P. Mellick, of East Seventh street, is prominently identified.

MORE GOOD BOOKINGS FOR LOCAL THEATRE

MANAGER GELATT SECURES "THE MAYOR OF TOKIO."

Bookings for the new Plainfield Theatre still continue and hardly a day passes but what Manager Gelatt adds some strong attraction to his list. The latest secured are "Marching Through Georgia," which comes September 16, and "The Mayor of Tokio," the musical comedy in which Richard Carle, last season with "The Tenderfoot," is starring. It will appear at the playhouse on October 27. May Irwin, in "Mrs. Black is Back," has also been booked.

The theatre is to be equipped with an asbestos fire curtain secured from the Keasbey & Mattison Company, of Ambler, Pa., which has supplied all of those in use in the Philadelphia houses. One of them was recently submitted to a severe test at the Garrick Theatre and showed not the slightest defect. A blazing torch was held up against the curtain for five minutes, but it only served to smoke the surface. The curtain that will go into the local theatre will be subjected to the same test before it is put up.

McCARTHY CONVALESCENT.

Former "Prof" at Country Club is Getting Better.

Friends of Eugene McCarthy, golf professional at the County Club two seasons ago, will be pleased to hear that he is convalescing satisfactorily from the injuries he sustained at Columbia, S. C., about two months ago while riding a vicious saddle horse.

The horse ran away with McCarthy before he was fairly in the saddle, and finally collided with a telephone pole, injuring the rider about the chest and breaking his right thigh in two places. McCarthy is in New York at present with a seventy-pound plaster cast on his leg. Otherwise he appears none the worse for his narrow escape.

A New Tennis Match.

The Cedar Brook Tennis Club will play a match this afternoon on its courts on East Seventh street, with an East Front street club, recently organized. Thus far the club has been unable to decide on dates for its match with the Park Club.

SANITARY INSPECTION

House-to-House Examination in the West Now.

WHAT'S LOOKED INTO.

Many Questions Asked by Health Department Officer—Work Being Thoroughly Done.

Robert W. Meeker, who is conducting a house-to-house inspection in the city under the direction of the Board of Health, is now working in the West End, where he will be engaged for some time. It is his business to ascertain everything pertaining to the sanitary condition about a property and his questions are so much in detail that many families have been perplexed to know just why the inspection is intended to include so much.

The inspector ascertains the kind of heat used in the house, the style of cold-air box used in connection with the heat, whether there is a cesspool used or sewer connection, examines the plumbing, inquires about the number of rooms in a house, how many people are in the family, number of children, their ages and many other questions are asked, all of which are tabulated and form part of the records kept by the Board of Health.

It is the desire of the Board of Health to have cesspool and outhouses abolished as fast as possible and during the past few months, since the house-to-house inspection has been pushed so rapidly, many property-owners have had their cesspools and outhouses removed and connection made to the city sanitary sewer.

When the proposed sewer improvements are completed at the city sewage farm, it will be possible to take care of a great many more properties. The improvements call for a duplicate of the present plant, that is there will be eight additional contact beds, together with another septic tank and other improvements thought to be necesary to operate the system satisfactorily. There have been improvements made at the farm which has practically eliminated the odor at that place and for a long time no complaints have been heard in this direction. The same care will be exercised in making the additions to the system and it is hoped that this will provide for Plainfield's needs for a long time to come.

There are some sections of the city which cannot be sewered by the city system, owing to the location of the property, and it will be necessary for the city to employ some means to connect this tract with the sewer. There are such conditions in the Second ward, where south of Watchung avenue there is a large territory not now provided for. In the Fourth ward the same condition exists, it being impossible for certain streets to be connected with the sewer mains.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

The water supply conditions are even more serious than was generally supposed. It is said that the machinery at the Greenbrook pumping station is completely out of gear; the water is pumped by hand, it is said, a few hours a day, and no other pumping is done or can be done. Indignation among the citizens is increasing, and there is no doubt that any action, however drastic, by the Council would receive the hearty commendation and support of the whole citizenry.

The Dunellens are primed to give the village nine the beating of its life this afternoon. Rivalry is at white heat and a nerve racking battle is looked for. The game will be called at 3:30 o'clock. Some money has been put up at two to one on Dunellen. Smith is to twirl for Dunellen and a Murray Hill flinger will face the pan for New Market.

The roadbed of the loop has been completely repaired. There will be no further trouble from settling, if a rain even twice as heavy as that of Thursday falls. The bed has been made solid.

TWELVE NEW DIRECTORS

Mr. Herrick and Dr. Butler Elected—Jerome May Subpoena Hendricks

Twelve new Equitable directors, including D. Cady Herrick, Nicholas Murray Butler, Charles E. Littlefield, of Maine; Nevada N. Stranahan, James McMahon and Louis Stern, were elected at a meeting of the directorate yesterday, in New York. The resignations were accepted of F. G. Bourne, General Louis Fitzgerald, ex-president of the Mercantile Trust Company, and Horace C. Deming, who is now president of that institution. Mr. Bourne, who was only elected at the last meeting, gave "press of personal business" as the reason for his resignation.

In certain contingencies it is expected that District Attorney Jerome will have a subpoena duces tecum served on Superintendent Hendricks to compel that official to produce an official copy of the testimony recently taken before Mr. Hendricks in his Equitable inquiry.

All the directors chosen yesterday had been recommended by the board of trustees after full consideration, it was said, with policyholders.

The names of those elected and their terms of office follow:

To fill vacancies in terms expiring December 31, 1905:

Wallace L. Pierce, of Boston.
Daniel A. Tomkins, of Charlotte, N. C.

Nevada N. Stranahan.
D. Cady Herrick.

To fill vacancies in terms expiring on December 31, 1908:

Nicholas Murray Butler.
Charles Zehnder, of Philadelphia.

Some twenty directors were at the meeting. Virtually no business was transacted beyond the election of the twelve directors and the acceptance of three resignations. It was specifically denied that any action had been taken looking to a reorganization of the executive committee. No announcement was made of any appointments to fill the vacancies caused by the acceptance of the resignations of President Alexander, First Vice-President Hyde, Fourth Vice-President McIntyre and other officers.

Excluding the names of those twelve elected yesterday, the board of directors as it now stands is composed of Paul Morton, J. W. Alexander, Chauncey M. Depew, Thomas D. Jordan, V. P. Snyder, Alvin W. Krech, William Alexander, John J. McCook, James B. Forgan, C. Ledyard Blair, M. E. Ingalls, James H. Hyde, Sir William C. Van Horne, Gage E. Tarbell, G. B. Alexander, T. DeWitt Cuyler, J. FREEHOLDER'S STATEMENT.

Almost a Duplicate of $250,000 Bridge Built for $28,000.

Charles A. Bloomfield told the Board of Freeholders at New Brunswick, Thursday, that a bridge almost like the Amboy bridge had been built in Maine at a cost of $28,000. It was three-quarters the length of the Amboy bridge and of the same construction and lateral size. Mr. Bloomfield caused a sensation by his statement, in view of the fact that the Amboy bridge has already cost the county of Middlesex $175,000, and the freeholders are planning to spend an additional $75,000. Mr. Bloomfield spoke on behalf of the manufacturers of Perth Amboy, who object to the plans for the new iron piers to replace the wooden spans.

The Board of Freeholders decided to receive bids for the new iron spans on July 26, although some of the members of the board objected, on the ground that the part of the bridge built by Sanford & Harris had not yet been accepted by the county.

The Board of Freeholders Thursday rejected the bid of the West Virginia Bridge Company of $8,320, for building the new highway bridge at Milltown, and awarded the contract to Dean, Schwiers & Sutton, on plans submitted by them. Their bid was $8,932. The freeholders took this action on the recommendation of Engineer Leahy, of the Public Service Corporation, which will bear part of the expense of construction. The West Virginia Bridge Company bid on plans prepared by the county engineer. It was stated that the Dean, Schwiers & Sutton plans produced a stronger structure, and one better adapted for trolley car service.

RACE RIOT IN NEW YORK

Commissioner McAdoo Fills the Streets With Police.

A riot between whites and negroes which started near Amsterdam avenue and Sixty-second street, New York, last night, spread for several blocks in every direction. Many heads were battered and broken on either side, and for more than an hour the streets were thronged with angry men and women, armed with clubs and stones, who defied the police and refused to retire to their homes.

The whites outnumbered the negroes, who retreated to the housetops, where they continued the fight with bricks from the chimneys and whatever missiles they could lay their hands on. More than 100 pistol shots were exchanged and it is believed that several persons badly wounded were hidden away in their homes. James B. Smith, a negro, who attempted to shoot Roundsman Patrick Walsh and then beat his head to a jelly with the butt of his revolver, had serious wounds dressed in Roosevelt Hospital before he was locked up. Walsh returned to duty with his head in bandages.

The reserves from five station houses, about two hundred men, were sent to the scene of the trouble and restored order. Fifteen prisoners were locked up in the West Sixty-eighth street station on charges of rioting, assault and carrying concealed weapons.

Commissioner McAdoo went to the West Sixty-eighth street station about midnight and assumed personal command, with Inspector William McLaughlin, who had taken an active part in the quelling of the riot, as his chief aide. The Commissioner sent for reserves from eighteen precincts, who remained on duty in the disturbed section all night.

WEIGHT FOR MIGHTY HERMIS.

Champion of 1904 Must Carry 132 Pounds Today.

The great Hermis, champion racehorse of last season, will make his second appearance of 1905 at the Brighton Beach track today. His presence in the Islip Handicap, combined with the two other stake fixtures, the Curragh and Neptune, will serve to attract a big crowd to the little track by the sea. He will start in the Islip Handicap. If he can pick up his weight, 132 pounds, and win at a mile and a furlong there will be no longer any doubt that he can compete successfully with such great race horses as Sysonby and Artful.

The three horses that seem to have the best chance to beat him are Buttling, Bad News and Dolly Spanker. The chances are against Hermis and the trio mentioned should finish in the order named.

The Neptune Stakes, worth $7,500, seems to be at the mercy of Herman B. Duryea's colt, McKittredge. Don Diego has improved in form of late, and may beat Samson out for second money.

The Curragh Stakes will be decided over the shrot steeplechase course, Candling. Phantom's superior in and should be won by Phantom. Candling, Phantom's superior in the mud, looks second best in good going. Gascar may be third.

A poor lot of maiden two-year-olds will start in the first race. Masterson and Jim McVickar may be second and third, respectively.

Dinah Shad, Pronta and Masaniello may fight out the finish between them for the fifth race.

Rosban, despite the 140 pounds he iwll carry in the last race, ought to win.

He is the best weight carrier over a short course in the country.

Druid is his most dangerous opponent. Lady Uncas may be third.

Palisades Injunction.

New York, July 15.—By a decision of Judge Blanchard in the Supreme Court, as the result of a crusade waged by residents of the Riverside Drive district, the destruction of the New Jersey Palisades, against which there has been so much popular feeling probably will be averted. Heretofore there has been an obstacle in the way of preventing wholesale blasting on the Palisades on account of the question of jurisdiction, but this seems to have been removed by the finding of Judge Blanchard.

AMERICA'S SMART SET GAVE UP $500 BILLS

ASTOR, ARMOUR, MRS. HOWARD GOULD AND OTHERS ARE BLED.

In New York yesterday William L. Daniels, under subpoena, supplied Assistant District Attorney Paul Krotel, in charge of the prosecution of Charles H. Ahle, with all the books of the Society Editors' Association. One books contains the names of the subscribers for "America's Smart Set," the publication offered to Edwin Post.

When Post refused to subscribe $500 he says he was told by Ahle that Town Topics would print an article about an alleged escapade of his.

In addition to the list heretofore printed of Astors, Vanderbilts and others who subscribed for "America's Smart Set," the books show these names and amounts:

J. B. Haggin	$500
J. J. Astor (July 30, 1904)	500
J. J. Astor (Nov. 30, 1904)	500

Mrs. R. G. Dun	500
W. F. Havemeyer	250
Mrs. J. L. Riker	500
Stanford White	100
James Gayley	500
Thomas Walsh (Washington)	500
Harold McCormick (Chicago)	500
Ogden Armour	500

L. M. Waterbury	500
James Hebard Moore (paid direct to M. E. W. and used by him)	500
Mrs. Harry S. Black	500

Edith F. Hannan	500
James J. Coogan	100
Ex-Judge E. H. Gary	250

The books of the Society Editors' Association also showed that between July 30, 1904, and July 3, 1905, for "America's Smart Set" there had been received $26,700. Then there are the following items showing how some of this money was expended:

To Moses Ellis Wooster, manager of the Society Editors' Association	$13,721 00
To Charles S. Wayne	2,400 00
To W. L. Daniels	1,300 00
To expenses for boxes	74 20
To photographs, drawings and designs	263 52
To Gilles Press	263 50
Commisisons to Ahle, L. M. Morris, R. R. Rowe and others	6,000 00
Rent, furniture, telephone, etc	2,100 00
Stenographers and help	533 64

Daniels said last night that he severed his connection with the Society Editors' Association yesterday. He gave no reasons. Mr. Krotel had questioned him about "Fads and Fancies." He said he had not the books in his possession nor those of Town Topics. The proper person to ask about these was Justice Deuel, of the Special Sessions Court. Daniels was told he must take the books before the Grand Jury on Monday. He said he would.

PLAINFIELD BASEBALL ASSOCIATION'S CRACK AGGREGATION

"Mike" Leonard, 3b.

Manager Daab.

"Pete" Cregan, lf.

"Happy" Kiernan, ss.

"Dave" Driscoll, 1b.

"Wally" Cosgrave, cf.

"Willie" Deegan, p.

"Bill" Beck, p.

"Dan" Connolly, rf.

With a record of fourteen victories out of sixteen games played, this season, the Plainfield fans are greatly pleased and they believe that a majority of the contests played will be counted as victories for the locals. Under the able management of Philip Daab, and the direction of "Dave" Driscoll, the captain, the team is putting up a first-class exhibition of the National game and every member takes more than usual pride in giving the local baseball public baseball equal to that seen in the minor leagues and some major league clubs.

While other influences were responsible for the Hoboken Club playing here this season, Captain Driscoll had much to do with the plan and he is of course anxious to see a successful season and is now especially desirous of defeating Westfield in the coming series.

Driscoll has been playing a great game during the past few years, making his debut with the Equitables. The rest of the infield is composed of "Mike" Leonard, formerly of Orange A. C., who has one of the best records as a third baseman. Another one of the original team is "Happy" Kiernan, who covers shortstop. He is rated as a top-notcher and as having few equals in his position. He has played with Hoboken for several seasons, as has also "Pete" Cregan, one of the most popular members of the team.

Cosgrave is a new man this season, having come right from Princeton, where he made an enviable record for four years. As a fielder, hitter and coacher he is always in the game. Connolly, who covers right field, is doing fine work, and has yet to make his first error.

The pitching department is well taken care of by "Willie" Deegan and "Billy" Beck, and they are both doing their share in winning games, while Jack O'Neil behind the rubber is playing first-class ball.

Thus it will be seen that the team is not changed very much from the original Hobokens. "Rube" Oldring, who started the season and played a dozen games, left to take a position on a southern team, while Lamar went to Dover and Linderman to Summit. The players who have taken their places are considered just as strong and their record will be equally as good at the end of the season.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

The "knockers" will tell you all about it after the game, no matter who wins.

Clinton Avenue will play the Emeralds, of Perth Amboy, this afternoon on the local grounds.

The Boston Americans have purchased Armbruster's release from the New London team for $1,750.

Recreation Park now sports a grass diamond. It is said to be cheaper than keeping the weeds out.

There are still many faint hearted fans who say "I don't see how Plainfield can win. The luck has always been with Westfield."

"Red" Waller has been practicing every day this week for today's clash, realizing that if he loses the "first" it will be all day with him.

It will be Westfield shekels today, instead of Hoboken. Plainfield's turn comes next. There'll be a warm reception for Westfield a week from today.

"Red" Waller, they say, is no longer wearing the auburn colored hair. It is reported that he had his lock died black this week, for the morning after the game.

The success of "Lefty" Davis, pitching for the Morristown-Chatham team in the Lackawanna League, is indicative of the batting strength of the rest of the team.

Manager Denman advertises today's game as the "real opening of the local baseball season." It may be for Westfield, as it will be the first test of "real" strength against the team this season.

The Rahway Advocate says, among other things, in its account of the Plainfield-Rahway game, that Beck, the Plainfield twirler, was being hit so hard that Manager Daab sent the well known "Dummy" Deegan to the box in the eighth inning. It is well known that Beck sustained an injury, necessitating a change. Not once was there any danger of Plainfield losing.

The Rahway Athletics will have an entirely new team tomorrow when it plays the strong Palmer team, of Elizabeth, at "Buffalo." It will be the strongest team to represent Rahway this season and will be as follows: Luyster, p; Sprague, c; ..ewbeck, 1b; LeBoutillier, 2b; Bird, ss; Brown, 3b; Hartos, lf; Poole, cf; Hambecker, rf. Nearly all of the players are from the Connecticut and Hudson River leagues, and the team has booked games with several noted aggregations.

GOLF.

The growth and popularity of golf as illustrated by the "gallery" that followed the players in Thursday's rounds at Van Cortland Park, is substantiated by statistics prepared by an expert, who has been engaged for a long time in compiling figures on the subject. He estimates that more than three-fourths of a million players participate in the game every year and that fully $50,000,000 is spent annually on golf. A census of the clubs shows that there are more than 800 golf organizations in England and more than 700 in this country. Scotland has 600 or more clubs, while Ireland, Wales and the European Continent aggregate 150 more. Clubs in Africa and South America bring the grand total up to 3,000 organizations. The average membership is placed at 200 each and the dues at about $30. It is estimated that each player spends in the neighborhood of $50 per year on the game, and these figures, when computed in the aggregate, reach almost fabulous sums.

Wagering on the play is also an expensive item. It is reported that more than $5,000 changed hands on the result of a match over the Glen Echo course, near St. Louis, recently. The players had $500 up and the gallery backed their respective favorites to win heavily. It was a match between players from the Field Club, of St. Louis, and the Country Club, of Clayton.

—The veterans of the Fifteenth Regiment, N. J. Vols., will hold their annual reunion at Flemington, September 21.

Plainfield, N. J., July 15, 1905.

The Republican bosses of the State are just waking up to take notice of one Everett Colby.

Manager Charlie Denman's "bird of peace" brought this item in for Monday's paper: "Beck, Beck, Beck to the grocery store. It was Waller's third-rail delivery that did the trick."

"Scotty," the "millionaire" from Death Valley, is having his day, together with his dog, in New York. In about two weeks you may expect to hear of the Death Valley Gold Mine Company, and then watch 'em bite.

The time for revolt is at hand. Turn the rascals out! Somerset county can boast of one of the few State Senators who know the right and dare the right maintain, and he, the Honorable Samuel S. Childs, will be re-elected by and for the people.—Bound Brook State-Centre.

Pass around the pie!

This is the way the Newark News sums up "Our Chauncey:" "Depew as a director in the Equitable votes a loan of $250,000 on property valued at $150,000 to Depew as borrower; Depew as a borrower guarantees the loan to company, but as borrower-director repudiates it—loss to Equitable by this deal $225,000. Depew's salary at this time for expert legal advice $20,000 per year."

The Philadelphia Record says: "A jokelet now going the rounds of the press represents an amateur poet as attributing the rejection of his latest effusion to the editor's fear that it might distract attention from the advertising columns. While as a mirth-producer this item may not be an unqualified success, it contains a suggestion that ought to be useful to the business man. Advertisements can be, and often are, made as interesting as the liveliest matter in the paper in which they appear, and it should be the advertiser's aim to make his daily announcements so attractive that they will outshine not only the productions of the poets, but of the newsgatherers as well. The "ads" that compel rather than entreat attentive reading are the ones that make buyers.

Resolutions of Condolence.

At the July meeting of the Board of Directors of the Plainfield Water Supply Company the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That in the death of Mr. J. Frank Hubbard we have lost a member of our board who was with us during all the active career of the company and whose good judgment we often sought and always respected. We highly appreciated his services, not only in discussions at our meetings, but in his position as secretary and treasurer, offices which he filled with the same attention and fidelity that was shown both in his private business and in public office. His sterling character, and the unequalled public confidence which he enjoyed were helpful to us in many ways and to a degree that cannot well be estimated. But more than all, we deplore the loss of a just and kindly gentleman, whose friendship we valued as we shall cherish his memory.

Want Old R. A. Rates.

More than 100 members of the Royal Arcanum of Trenton and vicinity attended the meeting held there last evening, and a resolution was adopted by a majority vote petitioning the Supreme Council to reconvene and reconsider the new table of rates. Councilman Frederick W. Gnichtel, W. B. Drake, E. P. Southwick, Councilman William Thomas an dothre members made addresses favoring the adoption of the resolution. Past Supreme Regent W. Holt Apgar explained the rates adopted by the Supreme Council.

PULPIT TALKS FOR SHUT-IN PLAINFIELDERS

NO. 5—By the Rev. Arthur S. Peck, Pastor of St. Stephen's Church, Netherwood.

o.....o

: In the name of the Father, : and of the Son, and of the Holy : Ghost, Amen. :

: For ye were as sheep going : astray, but are now returned : unto the Shepherd and Bishop of : your souls.—I S. Peter 2:25. :

o.....o

Recently it is that I read of a lost sheep in Scotland, first leaping the fence, then seeking pasture on a lower level of the steep mountain side, going on still lower until there was no possibility of return. Then an eagle swooping over it, terrified it, until at last it leaped the precipice and perished.

Alas for the souls of whom this is a picture. They break away from the restraints of a Christian home and Christian privileges. Step by step they descend to greater depths. At length, with hardened heart and seared conscience, nothing is too bad for them. Possibly death comes as the manifest fruit of their folly; eyes blinded to the peril which lies before them, it is only before the bar of a Holy God that they will be able to discover the terrible mistake they have made.

But to those here, the door yet stands wide open. You may have departed from the living God, and be tarrying in "the far country;" you may yet be a stranger to God, to holiness, to true peace, but you may return. The last fatal step has not been taken; Jesus is still a Saviour to you, and is able to save, even to the uttermost. His voice is still calling you; He waits to be gracious. None would be more welcome than you, if in this day of your grace you would return to His fold—for "Ye were as sheep going astray, but are now returned unto the Shepherd and Bishop of your souls."

Every true conversion is the work of the Good Shepherd. Remember the words of Christ, "What man of you having an hundred sheep, if he lose one of them, doth not leave the ninety and nine in the wilderness, and go after that which is lost until he find it? And when he hath found it, layeth it on his shoulders, rejoicing."

Here then is the foundation of true repentance and conversion. The Good Shepherd comes to seek and to save the lost. He comes down from Heaven to reveal a Father's love; He comes to give His life for the sheep, that by His most precious blood, sins may be forgiven, and men reconciled to God. He sends forth his priests to call sinners unto Himself; He sends His word to awaken and to teach His people; He sands His Holy Spirit to humble them, to draw them, to lead them to His footstool in penitence and faith. It is thus the Good Shepherd Himself finds the wanderer and brings him back to the fold. If it was not for the grace and mercy of the Good Shepherd, no man would have the courage and heart and power to return unto God.

But it is true that man has his part to perform. The divine grace of God touches the heart of man, but it is the man himself who must confess his sins and iniquities and his shortcomings. He must earnestly and truly seek help at the Altar of the living God, and trust the gracious promises of Jesus.

And so, my brothers in Christ Jesus, let this suggest an inquiry of greatest moment. Have you thus returned unto the Great Shepherd and Bishop of your soul? You have wandered, but have you come back to Him, and yielded yourself unreservedly to His most holy keeping?

Mark the "now!" Ye are now returned unto your Shepherd. True conversion is a present experience. It is not a hope or purpose for the future. It brings present consciousness of a new position, a new joy, a new life. Having found Christ a Redeemer, a Shepherd, a friend, you are willing to count all else vanity.

Is Christ indeed my shepherd?

Then whatever may happen to me, I may go on my way rejoicing. I may ever sing a song of joyful hope and confidence, for "Christ is my shepherd, I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures; He leadeth me beside still waters. Yea though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil. Thy rod and thy staff, they comfort me."

Is Christ my shepherd?

Then He will always be near to me. It is the duty of a shepherd to be in the midst of his flock whensoever they need him. And Christ, He is always near by those who trust and love Him. He is near to mark their trials, to hear their prayers, and to help in times of danger.

Is Christ my shepherd?

Then He will supply all my need. No good thing does He withhold from those who walk with Him. He gives daily strength for daily needs.

Is Christ my shepherd?

Then He will teach and guide me. He will direct my paths. He will counsel me by His most holy presence.

Is Christ my shepherd?

Then He will bring me to His fold above. The flock He has tended here shall see His holy face, and adore Him with songs and praises ever more. "The Lamb which is in the midst of the throne shall be their Shepherd, and shall guide them to the living fountains of water; and God shall wipe away every tear from their eyes."

But not only must those in the fold of Christ remember their privileges; they must remember their responsibilities likewise. It is to follow their Shepherd in all holiness of life. Day by day the Christian is to place his foot in the prints which the Master has left behind.

Christian—follow Christ to the Mount of Prayer!

In the early dawn, in the cool of the eve, often through the livelong night, our most Holy Redeemer resorted to the quiet garden of Gethsemane, or to the lonely mountain-top, where He could hold communion with His Father. So you, too, must cultivate the spirit of constant fellowship with God. For the watchword is—"Pray without ceasing." Come, and before the sacred tabernacle of your Lord, tell Him of your besetting sins; your temptations, your hopes, your fears and your joys. Seek daily pardon; daily grace; daily strength.

Follow Christ to the Courts of the Temple.

Christ loved the House of Prayer, and so must we. He often was found in the Synagogue of Nazareth, and at the Temple in Jerusalem; and so in like manner we must value the services of the Holy Church, to receive the gifts of life.

Follow Christ in the vale of Humility.

Here our Master was ever wont to walk when on earth. "Learn of Me," He said, "for I am meek and lowly in heart." He stooped to welcome and to bless the little children; He sat at meat with publicans and sinners; and He washed the feet of the disciples. So, let us lay aside the garment of pride and be girt about with humility.

Follow Christ on the Highway of Holiness.

"He did no sin, neither was guile found in His mouth." "He was holy, harmless, undefiled and separate from sinners." He was the "Lamb without spot." You, too, must tread this path. You must abhor the least shadow of evil. You must walk in the guidance of God's most holy light.

Follow Christ into the streets of the city and into the abodes of sorrow and want.

Christ went about ever doing good. He fed the hungry, comforted mourners, dried the widows' tears, and no trouble was ever brought to Christ in vain.

Strive to copy Christ in all things. Do what you can.

And, lastly, follow Christ to Calvary.

He has said, "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross daily and follow me." You must be ready to suffer with Christ if you would reign with Him. You must readily be willing to bear the ills which He has appointed as your daily lot. You must not shrink from the reproach or even persecution which true godliness often meets with. So, go forward, Christian brother, prepared to face even death if necessary for the sake of Christ. "Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life."

Thus following Christ, you will prove that you do truly belong to Him, and He will meet you hereafter with those gracious words, "Come, ye blessed of my Father, and inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world."

Reading and N. J. Terminal.

The New Jersey Terminal Railroad, an industrial road running from a point near Rahway to the sound shore, touching several industries at Carteret, and formerly controlled by the Pennsylvania Railroad, is said to have been leased by the Reading system. When asked about the matter today the railroad people would neither deny nor affirm the rumor.

SCIENCE IN BASEBALL HAS CHANGED THE GAME

WHAT SCIENTIFIC METHODS HAVE DONE FOR THE SPIT-BALL ARTIST.

Scientific baseball has so radically changed the character of the game that in a decade the duties of the men playing the various positions have undergone a complete transformation. Outfielders are no longer supposed to dash in on low line balls and, diving headlong, scoop them out of the dust.

The cold blooded scientific method says: "Play it safe, and hold the hit to a single. Take it on an easy bound, so that it can't pass you and go for three bases."

The first baseman has been converted from a lumbering slugger of the cow puncher sort, whose sole fielding function was to stand anchored to the bag and never move for a ball, into the mitted marvel of the Middleton type, covering all kinds of ground, dashing in for bunts and shifting all over the infield, to care for the various types of hitters.

The new game has pulled the second baseman far over toward first base and out into right field. It has made the catcher the pivot of the team work, decreased long hits and made the ability to tap little ones to the infield far more essential than the power of lacing the sphere against the fence.

In fact, modern baseball has given more work to everybody but the pitcher; and this is said with a full knowledge of the fact that now he has to field many bunts.

The tendency of specialization has operated in the National game just as in all fields of endeavor requiring trained ability. The baseball strategist looks on his twirler as holding the success of the team in his hands, so he keeps the slabmen wrapped up in cotton.

The pitcher of today is asked to fool the opposing batsman, and field bunts. That's all. No one expects him to hit, run or catch flies.

When a ball goes up above the infield now the pitcher stands helplessly in the box, while the catcher, the three basemen and the shortstop come rushing toward him. The number of men after the ball laways creates some confusion. It may be a fly so easy that any kid on the lot could pull it down one-handed; but they all look at each other panic-stricken, till finally at the critical moment some one jumps out from the bench, usually the one who is farthest away, and, by an almost impossible effort, gets the ball that would have been a joke for the pitcher.

The theory that rules out the pitcher is that he may injure a finger in letting down a high one. But in practice the same pitchers will handle the hardest kind of long hits, and in games will go after lightning grounders and liners from the bats of the Lajoies and Wagners.

Some times it is undoubtedly good judgment to let the catcher take the high flies that he can reach, for he not only profits by having on the big mit, but he has the sun at his back. This, however, applies to the backstop alone. The pitcher is on an equality with the other infielders so far as exposure to the sun's discomforting rays goes.

Fifteen years ago the pitcher used to catch everything that came near him, and the twirlers of those days wore no gloves, but faced the cannonading with uncovered hands.

An old timer, standing in the box, would have been insulte at the thought that a player had to run in from second base, a distance that most persons forget is as far as from the left fielders' positions to shortstop, in order to get a pop fly.

So, too, the twirler has been eliminated as a batting and base-running factor.

Nobody expects him to run. The most that is looked for is that he strike out quickly of lay down a sacrifice. When he gets on the bases, unless the game is in a critical stage, he is cautioned to take it easy, lest he spend his strength and be in no condition to pitch the next inning.

How different from the days of old!

Then the pitcher was frequently such a good hitter that they batted him third or fourth. Sometimes he was the best batter on the nine.

Take the local teams today, and it will be found that they have just one good hitting pitcher. Compare this with what used to be.

Then is was no uncommon thing for a pitcher's hitting ability to lead him to take some other position after his days of box usefulness were over. Now about the only job a twirler with a gone arm could fill would be that of ground keeper, bat carrier or sandwich salesman.

Meanwhile, to future spare the pitcher, it might be a good idea to provide him with blinders, so that he could see no ball that went over his head, and a comfortable chair on which he could sit as he struck out.

These precautions, re-enforced by a rule prohibiting him from running to first base in less than half a minute's time, might avail to ward off the danger of incipient collapse.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis M. Thorpe, of this city, are summering at Clinton Hill Farm, Annandale.

Mrs. Walter Hoffman, of Farmersville, was operated upon at the hospital recently for an abcess in her side. She is now convalescing.

LINGERIE HATS.

They Are More Severe In Style and Often Adorned With Feathers.

This season's lingerie hats have conformed to the general style of chapeau which has turned the millinery world topsy turvy. Instead of being floppy affairs, all frills and lacy froufrou, they are comparatively stiff made on wire frames and saved from severity by narrow frills of lace that face the brim or soft plaiting that trims it.

There are stiff lingerie sailor shapes made of broderie anglaise, with a bow of the same material at the side. These hats are nearer those of last year's design, but are much smaller.

The marked difference in the makeup of the new lingerie hats is the smaller size and the fact that the material is stretched across the frame plain instead of shirred or plaited.

The newest of all lingerie hats is of shaded blue or pink mull and sometimes made in both colors, the foundation in one shade and the embroidery in the other.

Stiff linen makes the crown of a lot of smart lingerie hats, with sheer frills for the border. Tiny toques on the lingerie order have their brims formed of ruffles of lace. At the back American Beauty roses are massed.

A dainty way to trim a frock of soft white silk is with a deep flounce on the skirt, adorned with a trellis work of white satin ribbon. The upward straps, about an inch in length, have white satin ribbon top and bottom.

A very simple and smart lingerie hat is shown in the illustration. It is made of sheer swiss embroidery, with a scalloped edge forming the brim. A soft bow of wide ribbon is the only trimming.

posed of narrow bands of their own material joined by fancy stitches.

A charming green pongee which [illegible] its chic to simplicity has a box pl[illegible] skirt that is stitched down to the k[illegible] and has numberless little tucks at the bottom to give the required flare. The full waist has a deep, round guimpe of crochet lace, and the sleeves consist of long caps held together with tiny straps trimmed with buttons. A row of these straps joined to a narrow band is laid about the neck of the gown. A wide boned girdle, with short bias ends in the back, completes the costume.

Pongee silks in brown, blue, white and gray are among the bargains seen in the shops for 39 cents a yard.

Wonderfully smart and attractive is the gown of blue cotton voile herewith illustrated. Bands of colored embroidery headed with frills of the voile trim the skirt. Down the front of the swathed bodice is a line of the same embroidery, which makes the deep rounded collar, the turnback gauntlet cuffs and the high waistband.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

[Copyright, 1899, by F. Tennyson Neely.]

But once fairly settled in Manila, the White Sisters seemed to regain all the old ascendency. Col. Frost had taken a big, cool, roomy house, surrounded by spacious grounds, down in Malate and close to the plashing waters of the bay. Duties kept him early and late at his office in the walled city; but every evening, after the drive and dinner, callers came thronging in, and all Witchie's witcheries were called into play to charm them into blindness and to cover Nita's fitful and nervous moods, now almost painfully apparent. Frost's face was at times a thunder-cloud, and army circles within the outer circle of Manila saw plainly that all was not harmony betwixt that veteran Benedict and that fragile, fluttering, baby wife. The bloom of Nita's beauty was gone. She looked wan, white, even haggard. She had refused to leave Hong-Kong or come to Manila until Margaret's arrival, then flew to the shelter of that sisterly wing. Frank Garrison had been occupying a room under the same roof with his general, but both general and aide-de-camp were now much afield, and Frank spent far more days and nights along the line of block-houses than he did at home. The coming of his wife was unannounced and utterly unlooked for. "Did I consult my husband!" she exclaimed in surprise, when asked the question one day by the wife of a veteran field officer. "Merciful heaven, Mrs. Lenox, there was no time for that except by cable, and at four dollars a word. No! If any doubt of what Frank Garrison will say or do exists in my mind I go and do the thing at once, then the doubt is settled. If he approve, well and good; if he doesn't—well, then I've had my fun anyway."

But it made little difference what Frank Garrison might think, say or do when Nita's need came in question. It was for Nita that Margaret Garrison so suddenly quitted the Presidio and hastened to Hawaii. It was for her sake, to be her counsel and protection, the elder sister had braved refusal, difficulties, criticism, even Armstrong's open suspicion and dislike, to take that long voyage to a hostile clime. That she braved, too, her husband's displeasure was not a matter of sufficient weight to merit consideration. She was there to help Nita; and until that hapless child were freed from a peril that, ever threatening, seemed sapping her very life, Margaret Garrison meant to stay.

For the letter that came by way of Honolulu had told the elder sister of increasing jealousy and suspicion on the colonel's part, of his dreadful rage at Yokohama on learning that even there—the very hour of their arrival—when the consul came aboard with a batch of letters in his hand, he had one for Mrs. Frost. She had barely glanced at its contents before she was stricken with a fit of trembling, tore it in half, and tossed the fragments on the swift ebbing tide, then rushed to her state-room. There she added a postscript to the long letter penned to Margaret on the voyage; and the purser, not her husband, saw it safely started on the Gaelic, leaving for San Francisco via Honolulu that very day. That letter beat the ordinary mail, for the Queen was heading seaward, even as the Gaelic came steaming in the coral-guarded harbor, and a little packet was tossed aboard the new troop ship as she sped away, one missive in it telling Witchie Garrison that the man whose life had been wrecked by her sister's enforced desertion was already in Manila awaiting her coming, and telling her, moreover, that the packet placed in Gen. Drayton's hands contained only her earlier letters. In his reckless wrath Latrobe had told her that those which bound her to him by the most solemn pledges, those that vowed undying love and devotion, were still in his hands, and that she should see him and them when at last she reached Manila.

Three mortal weeks had the sisters been there together, and never once in that time did Nita venture forth except when under the escort of her black-browed husband or the protection of her smiling, witching, yet vigilant Margaret. Never once had their house been approached by anyone who bore resemblance to the dreaded lover. All along the Calle Real, where were the quarters of many officers, little guards of regulars were stationed; for black rumors of Filipino uprising came with every few days, and some men's hearts were failing them for fear when they thought of the paucity of their numbers as compared with the thousands of fanatical natives to whom the taking of human life was of less account than the loss of a game chicken, and in whose sight assassination was a virtue when it rid one of a foe. Already many officers who had weakly yielded to the importunity of a devoted wife was cursing the folly that led him to let her join him. The outbreak was imminent. Anyone could see the war was sure to come—even those who strove to banish alarm and reassure an anxious nation. And when the call to arms should sound, duty, honor and law would demand each soldier's instant answer on the battle line; then who was to care for the women? The very servants in each household, it was known, were in most cases regularly enrolled in the insurgent army. The crowded districts in the city, the nipa huts surrounding the wealthy homes in the suburbs swarmed with Filipino soldiery in the garb of peace. Arms and ammunition, both, were stored in the great stone churches. Knives, bolos and pistols were hidden in every house. Through the clergy, in some instances, and foreign residents in others, the statement was set afloat that every American officer's residence was mapped and marked, that the Tagals were told off by name—so many for each house in proportion to the number of American inmates—and day after day, awaiting the signal for their bloody work, were native devotees greeted with servile bows and studied the habits of the officers they were designated to fall upon in their sleep and slay without mercy. Even women and children were not to be spared; and many a woman, hearing this grewsome story, trembled in her terror. For a time, in dread of this new peril, Nita Frost almost forgot the other; but not so Margaret. She scoffed and scouted the rumor of Filipino outbreak. She laughed at Frost, who all too evidently believed in it and was in hourly trepidation. He begged that the guard at his quarters might be doubled, and was totally unnerved when told it might even have to be reduced. Not so Mrs. Frank. She made friends with the stalwart sergeant commanding; always had hot coffee and sandwiches ready for the midnight relief; made it a point to learn the name of each successive non-commissioned officer in charge, and had a winsome smile and word for the sentries as she passed. It wasn't Filipino aggression that she feared. The men wondered why she should so urgently bid them see that no strangers—Americans—were allowed within the massive gates. There were tramps, even in Manila, she said. When the sisters drove, their natty little Filipino team flashed through the lanes and streets at top speed, the springy victoria bounding at their heels to the imminent peril of the cockaded hats of the dusky coach and footman, if not even to the seats of those trim, white-coated, big-buttoned, top-booted, impassive little Spanish-bred servitors. The carriage stopped only at certain designated points, and only then when a group of officers stood ready to greet them. Not once had they been menaced by anyone nor approached by any man even faintly resembling poor Latrobe; and Witchie Garrison was beginning to take heart and look upon that threatening letter as a mad piece of "bluff," when one day the unexpected happened.

Jersey Land, My Jersey Land.

Principal James M. Green, of the State Normal School, took to Asbury Park on Friday a package which, when opened, proved to be sheets bearing an "Ode to New Jersey," to be sung to the air of "Maryland, My Maryland." When asked who the author was, he declined to answer, except that the writer was anonymous. The ode is as follows:

The rolling wave is on thy shore,
Jersey land, my Jersey land!
Aloft thine azured mountains soar,
Jersey land, my Jersey land!
Hill-top and vale, low-lying plain,
Pine groves and streams with murmuring strain—
These ne'er will let thy beauty wane,
Jersey land, my Jersey land!

On Fame's bright roll thy name is found,
Jersey land, my Jersey land!
Thy every rood is hallowed land!
Jersey land, my Jersey land!
At Trenton and on Princeton's field,
On Monmouth's plain, with valor steeled,
Thy sons their lives for freedom sealed,
Jersey land, my Jersey land!

Though thou wast panoplied in steel,
Jersey land, my Jersey land!
Hast smitten foe, hast seen him reel,
Jersey land, my Jersey land!
Thy martial note long since did cease;
Thou bearest now the branch of peace;
God grant of love a long increase,
Jersey land, my Jersey land!

Minerva holds thee near her heart,
Jersey land, my Jersey land!
The Sacred Nine here gifts impart,
Jersey land, my Jersey land!
From roadside shrine to college dome,
Fair wisdom's sons, wher'er they roam,
Thy altar fires bid welcome home,
Jersey land, my Jersey land!

FINE FITTINGS FOR TRENTON ARMORY

BIDS WILL BE OPENED JULY 22 FOR HANDSOME FURNITURE.

Although no official orders have been issued, it was stated on good authority yesterday that the Second battalion of the Second Regiment at Trenton will begin drilling in the new armory the first week in October. The building is almost completed and will be in full readiness when the drilling season opens. Adjutant General Breintnall has advertised for bids to furnish the new armory and they will be opened July 22.

The armory will be one of the best furnished in the country. For privates there will be 312 lockers, all of good size. In these the men will keep their clothing and equipment. They will be situated in the basement. For the commissioned officers twelve lockers will be built. These will be spacious, so that several officers of the same company can use each one.

On the drill floor there will be eight gun cases, two cases for each command. Each case will be sufficient to hol deikhty of the Krag-Jorgensen rifles. At one end of the drill hall there will be a large platform to be used for an orchestra when entertainments are held, and there will also be eighty benches in the hall. The entire building will be equipped with gas and electric fixtures and will contain a static gas lighting apparatus.

The officers claim that when the drill season opens the local battalion will have the full number of able-bodied men as required by regulations. Owing to the increased esprite du corps which the prospective entry into the handsome armory has created in the batatlion, the officers will have a splendid opportunity to choose men who will be a credit to the National Guard and who will be enthusiastic about their respective companies and the guard in general. Many young men have already expressed their desire to enlist.

It was announced yesterday that hereafter each recruit will be given a rigid physicial examination by the battalion surgeon. Shortly before the close of the last drill season, the new members were examined by a surgeon, but the requirements were not up to the army regulations. The new physical examination will prevent any person from entering the guard who is not physically sound in every way. The regular army height and weight will prevail.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Indecent Bathing Suits.

Mayor Stoy, of Atlantic City, has renewed his crusade against the indecent bathing suits worn by some young men. He is altogether right. There are bathing suits decent in appearance, and simple without suggestiveness. There are others, so thin and clinging that the bather might almost as well be naked. The young men who affect this kind of bathing suit are fully aware of the objections to their insufficient clothing, but they seem to delight in being different from decorous folks. They will lie at full length on the sand, discernible beyond all proper limitations, and even have the audacity to betake themselves to the presence of ladies. Mayor Stoy's example needs to be followed in nearly all bathing resorts.—Newark News.

Law on Illegal Liquor Selling.

A good many persons imagine that the law requiring saloonkeepers to close their places of business on Sunday is a relic of the old blue laws, but is not the fact. The Sunday closing law was enacted in 1889. It was drawn by Senator George T. Werts, of Morris, subsequently Governor. It was passed by a Democratic Legislature. This law, to be found on page 82 of the laws of 1889, provides in addition to the other penalties provided by law that any licensed liquor dealer who sells or offers for sale or even who gives away beer or liquor in his saloon on the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday, shall forfeit his license besides paying the costs of court for his conviction. It is the law of 1889 that the police are called upon to enforce, and not the laws of 1847, '48 or '49, or the vice and immortality act of 1846, under which conviction can be secured. It is a new law supposed to be made to conform to existing conditions.—Jersey City Journal.

Growth of Libraries.

The story of the growth of the habit of using print seems to have passed beyond the possibilities of adequate statement. One can, to be sure, give a few facts and figures in regard to this. There were, for example, in the United States, 2,039 libraries of all kinds twenty-five or thirty years ago, and in them were 11,487,778 volumes. In one generation they have increased, according to the last figures in the report of the Commissioner of Education, to 6,869 libraries, with 54,419,002 volumes. The increase in the number of periodicals published in the United States—daily, weekly and monthly—in the same time is astonishing, and still more astonishing is the recorded increase in the number of copies annually issued of all these journals.

MARTY O'LOUGHLIN FAILS TO LAND GOLF PRIZES

FINISHES THIRTEENTH IN PROF. GOLF TOURNAMENT.

Marty O'Loughlin in the concluding play of the professional tournament at VanCortlandt Park, yesterday, failed to get the lead his friends predicted, and he finished thirteenth. The first day he made a total score of 160 and yesterday his score was 163, a grand total for the two days' play of 323. Although he failed to get any of the cash prizes, he made a good showing. In the first round he lead the field with the low score of 78, and he had a large gallery at his heels in the afternoon play. Considering that this was Marty's second tournament of the kind, it was not to be wondered that he was a trifle nervous. Yet despite this he finished eighth, and in a bunch that should have had no trouble in beating him.

Marty's work in the two days' play attracted the attention of a large crowd and the Metropolitan papers gave him flateering notices, predicting a promient place in the professional class for him. It proved conclusively that the home-bred golfer is going to be a factor in future tournaments.

Isaac Mackie, of the Fox Hills Golf Club, won the tournament, and received the cash prize of $150; Will Anderson, second, $100; Aleck Smith, third, $50; Bernard Nicholls and Chris Crosby, tied at 313 for two prizes of $40 and $30, and David Ogilive won the sixth prize of $20.

There was a young American professional to the front despite the fall down of Marty O'Loughlin. His successor was Chris Crosby, who is under 20 and professional at the Arsdale Golf Club, East Orange. The boy is a distance annihilator from the tees and uses a forty-eight inch shaft on his driver. He finished with a 71.

The prizes were awarded at a dinner given at the VanCortlandt Park Golf Clubhouse, last night, by the amateurs.

Poisoned Eating Canned Meat.

Thomas Brantingham, his hostler, Henry Doolittle and a Danish servant girl, residing at what was known as Campbell's Clubhouse in Park avenue, were poisoned Wednesday night by eating canned meat which was purchased in New Brunswick. The thre persons were taken violently ill shortly after eating supper. Dr. D. C. Adams was hurriedly summoned and discovered that it was a case of ptomaine poisoning. The trouble soon yielded to treatment and the patients are now much improved.

CONTINGENT OF ELKS HOME FROM BUFFALO

ALL PLEASED WITH THEIR TREATMENT DURING THE BIG CONVENTION.

The greater portion of the delegates from Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, who attended the Elks' convention at Buffalo, returned home last night. The remainder will come within the next two or three days, they having gone to Niagara Falls and other places of interest.

Those in the advance guard say they never saw such hospitality as was extended by the Buffalonians. The city was given up almost entirely to the reception of the antlered host and the delegates were made welcome wherever they went. The Plainfield contingent was made just as much at home as anyone else and they mingled with Elks from all parts of the Union, forming many pleasant friendships. At the Hotel Iroquois, where they had their headquarters, they were the life of the great number of guests. The Plainfielders want to go to Buffalo again, but that won't stop them from making the trip to Denver next year.

PLUM FOR BARBER.

One to be Named Inspector of Shops In the Vicinity.

Many barbers in this vicinity are trying to secure one of the berths of barber shop inspectors under the State law passed at the recent session of the Legislature. There are eight of these inspectors to be appointed by Governor Stokes for a three-year term under the law, with a salary of $5 a day. The work will be no sinecure, from all accounts, as in the small towns of the State particularly, there are numerous shops often run very much hit or miss by foreign proprietors, who are not well versed in the sanitary code. The work cut out for the inspector in this district would extend from Elizabeth to Trenton and the points between and would keep a man hustling all the time.

The Jessey law is said to compare in most particulars with that of other states that have recnetly adopted this kind of legislation and although it took the barbers of the State three session to get it through the Senate, it finally struck bottom when the clause compelling the closing of shops on Sunday was stricken out.

ESCAPES FROM HOSPITAL.

A Phillipsburg Patient Takes French Leave This Time.

Michael Gladys, of Phillipsburg, who was taken to the hospital several days ago suffering from a fractured rib, the result of being run over by a hay wagon, escaped from Muhlenberg Hospital, this morning and has not been seen since. On Wednesday Gladys attempted to get away, was caught and brought back again and again on Thursday he made an unsuccessful attempt. This morning he succeeded, and the hospital authorities will make an effort to capture him.

This is the second patient within two weeks to escape from the institution. In both cases the men were of a roving disposition and preferred to be somewhere else besides the hospital. In the case of Gladys his condition is not serious, although it will take some time for the fractured rib to knit.

LET ALL BEWARE.

And When They Want Air Be Careful.

It is a crime in New Jersey to lounge in the open air on a summer day. It must be so, for Justice Von Minden, of Dunellen, has committed a man to jail for this offense, and the justice ought to know a bit about law, for he has served on one of Middlesex county's distinguished Grand Juries and heard the law expounded before this body, and besides he is a justice and therefore full of law.

William H. Klein is the poor unfortunate who got within his jurisdiction yesterday and he is serving a term of 60 days in jail. The poor fellow, with the thermometer at 95 degrees, sought the open air to get relief from the hot wave. In Dunellen one can get all the relief possible indoors, but to venture out and lounge in the open air is a high misdemeanor, and woe betide the man who is so thoughtless as to venture out of doors and "lie down in green pastures," to be scriptural.

Look at Klein's fate. He is in jail, where he supposedly must stay until September 7, all because he was caught in the open air. The charge as set forth upon the commitment on which Klein was taken to jail reads that he did "lounge in the open air and failed to give a reasonable and good account of himself."

Let this be a warning to all persons who seek this sort of comfort. Stay in doors or you may find yourself in jail if Justice Von Minden happens to come this way.—Perth Amboy Chronicle.

ARCANUM GRAND LODGE MEETS.

Resolution to Create New Assessment Rates Is Adopted.

New Haven, Conn., July 15.—The session of the Grand Lodge, Royal Arcanum, Thursday convened for the purpose of taking some action concerning the recent marked advance in the assessments in the order, was an animated one. Three resolutions were submitted to the Grand Council, asking the Supreme Council to reconvene and reconsider the new table of rates.

The resolution submitted by the Stamford lodge was adopted. It was, in substance, that the supreme representatives of the council be instructed to sign a petition to the Supreme Council, asking that it be reconvened at an early date to recommend a new table of rates, and devise some method by which the council can raise a sufficient amount of money to pay the death claims without the high rates recently levied on the old members. This resolution was adopted by a majority vote, there being some opposition to it.

RAILROAD TRESTLE ON FIRE.

Flames Tie Up Traffic All Night on Bridge Across Kill van Kull.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad trestle across the Kill van Kull caught fire last night, and for a time it looked as though the entire structure would be destroyed. The bridge was discovered on fire by Frank Roose, operator for the Central Railroad at Bayway switches. He saw the blaze from his signal tower. The telegraph wires on the bridge were put out of business by the flames and all communication with Staten Island cut off. Roose promptly notified the Central officials at Jersey City, who communicated with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad officials at St. George, Staten Island. The fireboat New York was sent to the burning bridge by the New York City Fire Department, and two locomotives from Cranford Junction were also hurried there and a bucket brigade organized from the train crew.

With water dipped from the engine tanks they did good work in preventing a spread of the flames by thoroughly wetting the bridge. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad people will soon put in a new drawbridge over the sound, and preparations are now being made for the change. The fire was probably started by a spark from a locomotive that passed over the bridge. The damage done by fire tied up the road all night, while new cross ties and timbers were being put in.

John H. Tier, Sr., of Bank place, has so far recovered from his recent severe illness that he is able to be about his room.

PLAINFIELD TAKES FIRST

Shuts Out the County Champions in Initial Game.

THE SCORE—4 TO 0.

Deegan Pitches a Great Game—No Scoring Done After the Fourth Inning.

Plainfield won the first in the series of ten games with Westfield Saturday afternoon at Recreation Park for the championship of Union county. It was a great game. The score —4 to 0— shows that.

As early as 2 o'clock the crowd began to arrive at Recreation Park and an hour later seats were at a premium. Those who came afterward had to content themselves with seats on mother earth at far distant points from the diamond. It was a happy and jolly crowd of the best people of the county and good nature prevailed throughout. All the old-timers—"Red" Waller, Mallen, Barry, Rochford and the rest were there and the Plainfielders were quick to give them a reception and continue it throughout the game. At times "Red" and "Hot Air" lost their heads and would have climbed into the grandstand and bleachers but for timely interference.

It was 3:55, when Umpires Merity and Henning walked to the diamond and the latter taking his position behind "Red" Waller, called out the familiar words "Play ball." By this time the crowd was on edge and intensely excited, cheer after cheer being given by the Plainfield fans as Kiernan stepped to the plate. The inning opened auspiciously for the visitors. "Happy" was thrown out at first by Smithson. Turner received a pass, stole second and reached third on Rochford's bad throw to Barry. A second later the fans were brought to their feet when "Kid" Dalton, the new second baseman, smashed the leather sphere to left field for two sacks, scoring Turner. He then came home on Connolly's single to left. Cregan got a fielder's choice, Connolly going out from Waller to Kellogg. "Pete" made the third out trying to steal second, Waller throwing the ball to Rochford and the latter returning it to Kellogg in time to catch him. With the lead of two runs, everyone was jubilant, but Westfield.

"Willie" Deegan, who was chosen for the slab, owing to Beck's illness, divided the honors of the day with Dalton, and with perfect control of the ball he held his opponents safe at all times, allowing but two hits, while Jack O'Neill caught a superb game. He fanned the first two batsmen, Kellogg and Barry, and Rochford went out, Kiernan to Driscoll.

There was nothing doing for Plainfield in the second. Leonard and Driscoll struck out and O'Neill flied out to Bertwhistle. Westfield continued to draw a blank. Smithson was thrown out, from Kiernan to Driscoll, Bertwhistle flied out to short and Mallen struck out.

Both teams failed to do anything in the third act. Deegan flied out to Kellogg and Kiernan and Turner fanned. McGoey was thrown out at first by Kiernan, Cotter was out for bunting third strike. Waller got a pass, but died on first as Kellogg flied out to Turner, the only outfield fly for Plainfield.

The fourth inning again brought joy to the Plainfield admirers, when their team added two more runs to the score. Dalton sent a grass cutter through Barry for a single, Connolly sacrified, going out from third to first, Cregan sent the horse-hide to left for a single, Dalton coming home on Bertwhistle's aerial shoot to third base. Leonard followed with a single to right garden, scoring Cregan, and "Mike" died trying to steal second, Cotter's aim being too accurate. Two runs and three hits were the result, and there was no more scoring for Plainfield, while Westfield continued to draw blanks.

In the last of the fourth act Barry foul-flied to Leonard, Rochford struck out and Smithson flied out to Kiernan.

O'Neill opened the fifth inning with a beaut line drive to center for a single, Deegan sacrificed, going out from second to first base, and Kiernan gave Westfield a chance for a double by driving the ball into Smithson's hands, doubling O'Niell at second. Another short inning for Westfield. Bertwhistle flied out to Kiernan, Mallen went out from Leonard to Driscoll and McGoey foul-flied to O'Neill.

In the sixth inning Turner drove a hot one to Waller, who retired him at first, Dalton fanned, Connolly reached first on a pretty bunt, stole second, but was left there as Cregan fanned. Cotter flied out to Leonard, Waller ditto to Driscoll and Kellogg, who bunted, was thrown out at first by O'Neill.

Leonard opened the seventh in-

JAP TALKS ON THE WAR

Y. Hirose Answers the Question "Is Japan the Enemy of Russia"

AT MEN'S MEETING.

Praises Patriotism of Flowery Kingdom People—Tells Why Russians Make Poor Soldiers.

In a forty-minute talk on the merits of the Russo-Japanese disputes, past and present, Y. Hirose, superintendent of the Japanese Mission, in East Fifty-seventh street, New York, held the attention of a small but appreciative audience in Y. M. C. A. Hall yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Hirose spoke on the subject, "Is Japan the Enemy of Russia?" and by the moderation of his arguments and the evident sincerity with which they were advanced he convinced his hearers that the "Island Empire" is not only making a fight for its very existence, but is waging that struggle in a more Christian and humane manner than its European antagonist.

The speaker began by comparing the traditional policies of the two countries in so far as these policies affected their relations with Corea and China. He showed how Russia had adopted here as elsewhere "a scheme of territorial expansion in the development of which she did no scruple to encroach upon the rights of neighboring countries to the extent of grabbing whatever territory she considered worth holding.

Japan, he said, had been preparing for the present struggle for some years, and as she was farsighted enough to include a system of public education in her programme of preparation, she proved herself fully able now that the test is being applied of coping with Russia, steeped in ignorance as the latter country is, and torn by civil dissensions.

Along the same line were Mr. Hirose's remarks describing the attitude of the populace of the two countries toward those at the front. The Japanese who shoulders his rifle and marches aboard ship for Manchuria knows that his family will not be asked to pay any rent for their little farm, that they will be furnished, should they need it, with free medical attendance, and that the government he fights for will do everything in its power to contribute to the welfare of the wife and children of its fighting man. The remission of rents is not compulsory, nor is it provided for by the government, but is a concession on the part of the landed proprietors, who take that means of bearing a proportionate share of the national burden.

The Russian, on the other hand, illiterate, imbruted by oppression and more often than not ignorant of the cause for which he is asked to risk death in a hundred forms, goes to the front under the care of officers, who in many cases have, by robbing him in the matter of clothing and rations, earned a heartier hatred from him than he will ever feel for the little yellow men from Nippon. He leaves behind him a family which, if he belongs to one of the conquered nations which have caused Russia so much political indigestion, may be killed in the progress of the next riot by the Cossacks, hereditary enemies of all Russians proper.

To sum the situation up, as Mr. Hirose said, Russia burns gunpowder in Poland and in St. Petersburg instead of in Manchuria, and she sinks or dismantles her fighting ships in the Black Sea instead of sinking those of Japan in the Straits of Tsushima.

In closing his talk, Mr. Hirose mentioned the vast good done in Japan by Christian missionaries, whose teachings show in the uniform forbearance shown by the Japanese troops toward wounded and captive enemies.

He also spoke of the work done at his non-sectarian Japanese mission in New York. Here Japanese, attracted by the society of their fellow-countrymen, are brought under the influence of Christian teachings by Japanese workers, and on returning to their country render the progress of the work there more rapid and thorough because they are looked up to as men of travel and experience.

IN THE POLICE COURT

Colored Family "Jars" Occupy the Time of Judge Runyon.

ONLY ONE FINED.

Lee Wells Must Pay $10 for Enlarging a Woman's Cheek—Sadie Forman Made Goo-Goo Eyes.

Returning to the bench in the city court this morning, after a week's absence, Judge Runyon found a collection of colored family quarrel cases awaiting his disposition.

In only one instance did he let loose his wrath, the unlucky victim being Lee Wells, who was fined $10 for "having words" with his common-law wife, Lily Cuff, and striking her in the face. The woman showed a very swollen cheek, the result of the blow, which Wells claimed was caused by crying. He couldn't explain how the crying affected only one side, and he was hustled back to a cell to think it over while friends went looking for the ten spot.

Miles Butler, second lieutenant in the Plainfield Colored Cadets, his wife Helen, and Sadie Forman, who has been making eyes at Miles, were trotted out by Patrolman Saunders on charges of quarreling and fighting on South Second street. The testimony showed there certainly had been a mixup and that it was due to Helen's antipathy to Sadie and Miles' anger toward Helen because friends had told him she was in the habit of eating ice cream with young fellows, both using the same spoon. The judge advised the Butlers to part company, and warned Sadie if she didn't keep away from Miles she would get a vacation at Elizabeth.

Mark Forman, colored, arrested for dumping over a lemonade stand at the carnival company, which showed last week on West Fourth street, had sentence suspended through testimony that the proprietor had first slapped him in the face because he did'nt treat several "lady" friends. Sentence was also suspended on John Wilson, arrested early yesterday morning by Patrolman Saunders for drunkenness.

CHAMPION BAD BOY ROUNDED UP AT LAST

JUDGE RUNYON INSTRUCTS THE POLICE TO HOLD HIM FOR JUVENILE COURT.

The career of Dave Freedman, Plainfield's champion juvenile sneak thief and general crook, will undoubtedly be wound up shortly through his appearance in the city court, this morning. With Mike Gillman and Rowland McCrea, the latter colored, he was arraigned on Detective McCarthy's charge that the trio had stolen a dozen pocket knives from a Front street store. In a matter-of-fact way, the Freedman boy, who is but eleven years old, told how he had induced the others to accompany him into the place and how they contrived to loiter around until an opportunity offered to "get something," which happened to be the knives. The spoil was divided and the trio set out to sell it, this act causing police investigation.

Freedman has frequently been in police court and he has a record of half a pozen petty thefts and shady transactions. Hitherto his age has gotten him off with a lecture but he has never failed to return, generally with a smile of recognition to the presiding magistrate. This morning Judge Runyon's patience become exhausted and the police were instructed to hold him for the Juvenile Court. Gilman and McCrea were released with a warning, it being their first offense.

MUST ELECT FREEHOLDER

City Charter Makes Action Mandatory Upon Common Council.

BEFORE JULY 26.

Within Thirty Days After Death, Removal or Resignation it is Imperative—The Law in the Case.

According to the city charter, lawyers say, it is incumbent upon the Common Council to choose a successor on the Board of Freeholders to the late Captain J. Franklin Hubbard before Wednesday, July 26. Provision is made for appointment of successors of officials, which are chosen exclusively by the people of the city at an election, within thirty days after death, removal or resignation. Captain Hubbard died on June 26, and the provision in the charter is mandatory.

Section ten of the city charter, adopted April 4, 1872, says: "That in case a vacancy happening in any office created and made elective by this act, by death, resignation, removal, or otherwise, except officers of election, on the day of election, it shall be filled by the said Common Council within thirty days thereafter, and the said appointment shall continue until the annual election, and no longer."

Freeholders are included in this list for in section two it says: "That hereafter there shall be chosen in said city, from among the citizens thereof, on mayor, one city judge, eleven members of the Common Council, one assessor, one collector, one treasurer, two chosen freeholders, two constables. * * *"

SPECIAL SERVICES.

For Netherwood Fresh Air Home Last Night.

Services at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church last night were devoted to the interests of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home and addresses were made by some who are prominent in the work. Rev. E. M. Rodman, rector-emeritus of Grace church, told of his experience in the work and of some striking circumstances which are going on in the camp, and of which many are ignorant.

Miss Sarah Curry, superintendent of the Home, told of her efforts here and on the East Side in New York. She tried to impress most of all that the effort of the camp was as much for the spiritual development of the children as for physical development. A number of the children accompanied Miss Curry to the church and they gave a specially arranged programme of song and recitation.

Before the service closed a collection was taken up for the benefit of the home in Netherwood.

TO MOVE HOUSE.

Schanz Building to Face on Second Street.

Charles W. McCutchen, of the borough, has just closed a deal with William Jeffery, the real estate broker, whereby he comes the owner of twenty-five feet of land on West Second street at the corner of Pruden's alley. It is said to be Mr. McCutchen's intention to move his brick building on Park avenue, formerly occupied by Charles Schanz, to the West Second street site so that building operations may be started soon on the Park avenue property, adjoining that of the Plainfield Trust Company. The newly-acquired property was owned by Stephen O. Staats, who occupies the residence on the other portion of the land.

M'MURRAY FOR RUNYON

Republican Leader Favors City Judge as State Senatorial Nominee.

MAY MEAN MUCH.

MacMurray's Attitude Taken to Represent the Administration — Runyon Meets Club Organizers.

James T. MacMurray favors William N. Runyon for the Republican nomination for State Senator. Doubt as to his position in the contest was dispelled today when he came out uniquovically for the popular city judge. His declaration is taken to mean that the administration forces will support Mr. Runyon for the nomination as will the young Republicans who have organized to boom him for the honor.

When seen today, Mr. MacMurray said to a representative for The Daily Press: "I'm for Judge Runyon, first, last and all the time. You know that." Continuing he remarked that he had not seen the judge since he returned from the Elks convention but would most likely have a chat with him tonight. It may be that the latter will then say whether he will become a candidate for the nomination.

Ernest R. Ackerman, who has been mentioned prominently as a probable candidate, has not announced whether he will allow his name to be used. It is said that he will not be prepared to say anything until the campaign starts in earnest.

A committee appointed by the Republican Club, which was organized Friday night, met Judge Runyon Saturday night at the home of Henry L. Hall, the president, and outlined the plans. Mr. Runyon was asked to allow the club to be named for him. He announced that he would make his answer in the shape of a letter which will be read at a meeting of the club tonight.

FORMER PLAINFIELDER DIES ON BOARD SHIP

RICHARD P. CURRIER SUCCUMBS TO ATTACK OF HEART DISEASE.

Richard P. Currier, who until last fall resided in the large house at Leland and Berkley avenues, died Wednesday afternoon, July 12, on board the ship Santa Barbara, bound from Seattle, Wash., to Rodoado, Cal. The vessel arrived at the latter port Saturday, when the captain reported the death, saying that his passenger had succumbed to heart disease. The body was placed in charge of a local undertaker and will be brought East.

Mr. Currier was connected with the Legal Aid Society at 28 Whitehall street, New York, and made Plainfield his home. He was also in the real estate business, and it was to investigate some property holdings that took him West. He boarded the Santa Barbara at Seattle, intending to start for home. He leaves a widow and three children, all of whom are in New York at present ,although they have been out to Netherwood several times in the past few weeks. He also leaves a brother, I. L. Currier, of Somerset street.

ARRESTED AFTER FUNERAL.

Police Catch Man for Whom They Had Waited Many Weeks.

Returning to the borough Saturday after a long absence, for the purpose of attending his father's funeral, James McKenna, of Grove street, was arrested by Chief Marshal Weiss Saturday. The officer had held a warrant for him for many weeks, and took him in custody immediately after the obsequies. The complaint against him was preferred by a young woman.

McKenna was taken before Justice Smalley and held in $400 bonds for a hearing later in the week. The amount was furnished.

ARCANUMITES ORGANIZE

Campaign is on Against the Increase of R. A. Rates.

PLAINFIELD IS IN IT.

Regent Lowry Appoints Degelates to Session to be held at Jersey City on July 31—D. W. Littell is Chairman.

Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, will be represented at the meeting of the organizations of the order in New Jersey to be held as a protest against the increase in rates recently adopted by the Supreme Council. The session will be held in Elks Hall, Jersey City, on Tuesday night, July 31, and will be attended by delegates of practically every council in the State. Plainfield Council passed drastic resolutions at its last meeing and has joined in the "rebellion" in earnest.

Regent Lowry has named prominent men to attend the session as delegates from the local council. D. W. Littell is made chairman. The other members of the committee are Floyd T. Woodhull, D. E. Titsworth, Salmon C. Baker and L. B. Woolston. Jersey City started the campaign and it has found recruits in all sections of the State.

Representatives of twenty-nine councils of the Royal Arcanum in New Jersey, including nearly all the organizations of the order in the counties of Essex, Union, Passaic, Hudson and Bergen, met in Masonic Hall, Nutley, with Kempton Council, Saturday, and formed a permanent organization to fight the new rate schedule adopted at Atlantic City by the Supreme Council.

The most prominent men of the various councils attended. Among them were a past grand regent and several past regents. Some of the councils represented had tentatively or actually accepted the new rate.

The chairman of the joint meeting was C. J. E. Noelte, of Avaret Council, Jersey City. In view of the fact that the delegates present represented the Northern New Jersey councils only, it was proposed at first to restrict the permanent organization to that section, but when assurances were given that the same spirit prevails practically throughout the entire State, it was decided to make the movement embrace all New Jersey.

The discussion of the question of rates was exhaustive. A resolution was adopted without a dissenting vote, demanding that the Grand Council of New Jersey petition the Supreme Council to reconvene before October 1, the date on which the new rate schedule is to go into effect, and abandon that schedule. A committee of fifteen will be appointed to carry on the fight.

The plan of practically forcing from beneficial membership those who reach the age of sixty-five years was bitterly denounced by many of the delegates with broad hints that the hind of the old line insurance companies might be discovered in it.

"What is to prevent these men from making other changes at some future time that will shelve our members from the anticipation of benefits at a younger age than sixty-five, if we do not place an effectual check upon this movement and force a return to the old rates?" asked one delegate.

One member proposed that the court be asked for an injunction restraining the National Council from putting the re-rating schedule into effect, but this was frowned down.

"The logical sequence to an injunction will be a receivership," said another. "If the Grand Council shall refuse to do our bidding and the Supreme Council ignores us, we must remember that they are out creatures, and it is within our power to turn them out and send men to these higher councils that will do our bidding. We may not do it this year or next, but we may eventually succeed.

"If, however, we cannot make them yield, the time may be opportune for the formation of an 'American Arcanum,' where the spirit of fraternalism will be properly fostered."

In advocating a return to the old rate schedule it was generally agreed that to strengthen the finances, an additional assessment, at the old rates, might be made at stated periods, such as once each quarter. Under this plan with 300,000 membership, $1,200,00 would be raised the first year, with increasing amounts as the membership increases in future years.

Apgar Known Here.

Following a sensational divorce suit, implicating residents of Jersey City's most fashionable section, Louis J. Apgar, named as co-respondent, committed suicide at his home in that place, Saturday, by shooting himself. The tragedy is of interest locally from the fact that Apgar has near relatives in Plainfield and visited this city frequently.

FATALITY MARS PRACTICE

Company K Riflemen at Sea Girt When Marker is Killed by Accident.

DUE TO CARELESSNESS

Three of the Plainfield Men Qualify as Marksmen — Next Trip on July 26.

A party of riflemen from Company K, of this city, which went to Sea Girt, Saturday, in charge of Lieut. John M. Lewis, had their day's practice cut unexpectedly short at 4:30 in the afternoon owing to an accidental fatality among the markers.

John Barenberg, twenty-one years old, of 419 East Eighty-eighth street, New York, chief marker of the 500-yard hit, was shot through the body while in an exposed position on the open slope in the rear of the 500-yard targets, having left the protection of the pit without first telephoning to the range officer to see that the coast was clear.

Barenberg was employed last season as a marker and bore a good name for carefulness, which led to his being placed in chrage of the butts on the 500-yard range. He was shot during the progress of a skirmish run and died before Surgeons Bray and J. H. McCullough reached his side.

On July sixth, when the first delegation from the local company went to Sea Girt for target practice, an instance of this sort of recklessness was seen and commented upon. One of the targets jammed so that it could not be withdrawn and the marker climbed out of the pit and started to clear the target, but changed his mind when a Krag-Jorgensen bullet struck the edge of the embankment in front of his target, showering him with dust and causing him to retreat with more speed than grace.

Lieutenant Lewis took thirteen men of the Plainfield company to the range and out of that number Privates Manning, Mundy and Richardson qualified as marksmen, in spite of the early close of the range which prevented many of the others from completing scores which would have qualified them without any doubt.

The others in the party were Corporals A. R. Phillips, A. R. Tranchand and J. B. Conkling, and Privates Nelson Peterson, Ferris Pearsall, W. E. Bond, Oliver Ulmer, R. J. A. Weaver, W. B. Mosher and S. E. Beetham.

Of this number, Corporals Phillips and Tranchand and Private Bond will go down again to complete their qualifying scores; Corporal Phillips as expert and Tranchand and Bond as sharpshooters.

The progress in rifle shooting has been all that could be desired so far this season, twenty-eight out of thirty-seven men who have gone on the range having qualified. This is exclusive of Captain W. B. Martin, who has not, as yet, qualified, being engaged in the competition for places on the State team.

The next trip to Sea Girt will be made on July 26th, at which time it is expected that those who were prevented from finishing Saturday, will all be on hand to complete their scores. It is also probable that a party from Plainfield will go to the range on the 29th of this month so that every member will have an opportunity of showing what sort of material he has in his make-up.

Quartermaster-Sergeant Albert I. Littell, who has been prevented for over a year from all practice, except at the armory range, as the result of an accident, and who is one of the finest shots in Co. K, will go to Sea Girt on one or the other of these trips. Littell is looked upon as another strong possibility for the State team.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

A special meeting of the borough Council has been called for Monday night. Poor water supply is the cause of the session. Up to this time complaints have been made, but of late the water company has been running the supply in any manner to please itself. As a result the residents of Dunellen have suffered, and there is likely to be "something doing" at this coming session.

C. T. Rogers, the owner of many boats on New Market pond, will hereafter require a dollar deposit on every boat he hires in addition to the regular 25 cents for two hours. Poor care of the boats on the part of the users is the cause of the change.

Paul Brakeley has repainted and remodeled his canoe. The boat, which is lily and holly green, was put on New Market pond Friday and the owner spent an enjoyable day there.

"Shorty" Alberts and Valentine McLoughlin returned home Friday evening from Boyton Beach with a string of twenty-two weak fish.

The Building and Loan Association will meet tonight for the payment of dues and for transaction of routine business.

The Juniors' Fourth of July celebration at New Market netted a profit of $122.96, much more than was expected.

The cement walks now improve the grounds about the residences of Mayor Wyckoff and John Logan.

The Presbyterian pulpit was occupied by Rev. H. D'B. Mulford, of Rutgers College, yesterday.

Mrs. R. F. Bogardus and her son Arthur spent the past week at Mt. Pocono.

Miss Mary Griscolm spent the last week at Atlantic City.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD

A grey horse being driven by two children, a boy and girl, dropped dead on Park avenue at 2 o'clock Sunday morning. Officers Guerrin and Shackleton took charge of the children, who claimed Summit as their home. Later Officer Guenier and John Miller drove the children to their home and relieved the anxiety of their friends, who were worrying over the children's long absence, having left early in the morning on a trip to Rahway.

The West End team, of Plainfield, fell easy victims before the local ball team Saturday afternoon, the home team winning by the score of 6 to 1. Johnston and MacCauley were the battery for the local team. One of the features of the game was a home run in the sixth inning, made by Gus Funtz.

"I told you so" was the cry of the local fans after the Plainfield-Westfield game Saturday afternoon at Recreation Park. Still the game was exciting enough to satisfy the most ardent crank, and by Saturday of this week Charley Denman will have assumed that confident smile once more.

At the close of the morning service at the Baptist church yesterday an informal reception was held by the members of the church and congregation for the purpose of meeting Mrs. T. Moore-Smith, their pastor's wife, who arrived from Glascow last week.

Rev. C. C. Woodruff, formerly pastor of the Methodist church, but now pastor of the Roselle church, occupied his old pulpit Sunday morning. Four members were received into the church membership at the service.

The "Old Guard" and a Newark team played an exciting game of baseball at Rogers' Park, near Glenside, yesterday afternoon. The locals are reported as winning the game by the score of 5 to 7.

Robert Walpole returned Saturday from a two days' fishing trip at Jamaica Bay, L. I. Seventy-four weakfish was the result of the veteran's trip.

The lawn party which was to have been held Saturday afternoon on the lawn of Mr. Gilmour, in the borough, was postponed for several weeks.

George Archibold, of Westfield, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Archibold, of Washington Valley.

The B. Y. P. U. meeting, held last night in the parlors of the Baptist church, was in charge of Miss Dorothy Hoar.

Miss Daisy Wade led an interesting weekly meeting of the Epworth League last night at the Methodist church.

George Baldwin, formerly of this place, but now of Rahway, spent Sunday with friends in town.

ning by flying out to Smithson, Driscoll was thrown out at first by Smithson, O'Neill hit to left garden, but died there as Deegan chopped the air three times. For the other side, Barry was thrown out at first by Deegan, Rochford got the first hit, driving the leatherette to center, went to second and third on O'Neill's wild throw. Smithson then fanned and Bertwhistle flied out to Kiernan, leaving "Mike" at the third station.

Kiernan started the eighth inning with a sizzler to center, Turner in bunting was thrown out at first by Barry, and "Happy" in trying to steal second and third, was caught, Bertwhistle covering third took Cotter's throw down and in the mixup Bertwhistle's thumb was spiked, which delayed the game ten minutes. Dalton closed the inning by flying out to center. Mallen then got the second hit for his team, sending the ball to left field. McGoey flied to Kiernan, Cotter got a fielder's choice, he and Mallen being called safe on a close decision. They remained, however, as Waller flied out to Driscoll and Kellogg was thrown out at first by Dalton.

Plainfield's last try brought no results, Connolly fanning, Cregan going out at first, Rochford unassisted and Leonard being thrown out at first by Waller. Westfield had the same luck, Barry going out on Kiernan's throw to first, Rochford dying by the same route, on Dalton's throw and Smithson flying out to Kiernan.

TODAY AT BRIGHTON.

No "Sure Things" in the Six Races at the Beach Track.

Large fields are entered in the six races today at the Brighton Beach track, and the quality of the thoroughbreds for a Monday's card is particularly good. No horse stands out a winner, and "sure things" are not in sight.

The Sunshine Stakes is the feature. This is a race for two-year-olds at five and a half furlongs, in which are entered a number of good colts. Phidias has shown consistent form and looks like the winner. The distance and weight suit him, and he has had a slight letup in training, which has put him in the pink of condition. With good luck he ought to win easily. Esoteric should be second and Montanus third.

The opening dash looks like an open race. There are a number of fast sprinters entered, and the result will depend largely upon the start. Gray Lad seems to have an excellent chance. This colt is in better shape than he was a month ago, and even then he had good speed. Consuelo II. may be second and Old England third.

MISSIONS OF THE SYNOD

State Presbyterian Body Recites Needs Because of His Increased Scope.

$25,000 IS NECESSARY.

The Work Which Has Been Done in This Feld During the Past Year—An Explanatory Letter.

The Presbyterian Synod of New Jersey has issued a letter to the various churches throughout the State telling of the work which is being done along home mission lines.

One of the important features of the work thus described is the maintenance of a mission for 600 Hungarians at Wharton, in the heart of the iron mining and milling district. Continuing the letter relates:

"The Synod of New Jersey is the pioneer in the plan for synodical self-support. Eighteen years ago it determined that this State should thereafter take care of its own home mission work without calling on the home mission board for assistance, and without reducing its contributions to that board. That purpose has ever since been carried out successfully, and that pledge to the board has been more than kept.

"This effort to take care of all our own home mission work was called synodical home missions; it is mission work pure and simple, and it is distinctively home missions, for it is done entirely within the borders of our own State.

"The record of this work is one of constantly increasing responsibility and achievement. It has grown each year in the amount of money raised and expended, in the number of churches and missions assisted, and in the varied character of the work required. Feeble churches have been kept alive to bless needy communities; young churches have been nourished till they could stand alone; peoples of strange speech have heard in this, their adopted country, the Gospel in the tongue of their fatherland and have rejoiced in it.

"During the past year 103 churches and missions have been aided; at least 5,500 church members are represented in the churches assisted; and, of course, a much larger number have been reached by the Gospel; 665 have been added to the churches by confession of faith, and 211 have been added by letter. This has been accomplished at an expenditure of $19,250.84. Each year sees many churches approaching and some reaching self-support, there being seven which within the past year have determined to stand alone and ask no further assistance from this fund.

"The work, great as it has been, is only just beginning. Each year sees new demands for help made upon the resources of the fund, and an ever-increasing call for entering upon larger work. These calls must not be ignored and the work already established must be maintained. The work thus carried on and to be carried on, is not confined to one kind, but is divided among no less than four different kinds, each with its own peculiar claim upon the interest and support of everyone who loves to see the Master's work advanced. The work is divided along the following lines, viz.:

"1. The springs in the mountains from which refreshment is flowing yearly into the life of our cities: The trend toward the city has left in weakness and need many a church which was once strong and well able to take care of itself, but which now can be maintained only by assistance from outside.

"2. New Jersey is neighbor to two of the largest cities in the country, New York and Philadelphia, and from these cities an ever increasing number are seeking homes in our State. New communities springing up so rapidly need, and must have churches. And if Presbyterianism is to do its share of the Christian work, aid must be given to these struggling churches in their infancy. In a few years they can maintain themselves and become sources of aid for others, but they must be fostered at first, and the means for this end is the synodical home mission fund.

"3. The danger spots in the body politic are the cities. New Jersey has at least eight cities where mission work is now carried on by aid of this fund. Together with existing church extension committees it aims to seize upon and develop such opportunities for usefulness as may be presented as far as it has the means to act.

"4. Last year the special appeal for work among the foreign population was heard throughout the State. In the last year six different nationalities or races have felt the touch of the Gospel through this fund: Italian, German, Hungarian, Syrian, Armenian and negro. The demand is greater this year than last. The tide of immigration has not stopped, nor even decreased. Special gifts and larger regular gifts are required if the work is to be vigorously prosecuted. So far we are but touching its borders.

"The resources for this work are to be found in the 347 Presbyterian churches which compose the synod, and in the 73,310 members who compose those churches, together with those in connection with the church though not members. It is to the individuals who read this card that God gives the responsibility. If you do not take up this work and support it, it cannot be carried on. It has not invested funds, nor does it count on legacies, but it depends entirely upon the yearly gift of the churches. Synod asks its churches to raise this year for this work $19,667.53, but $25,000 will not be enough to perform all that might be done. The Lord of the harvest lays on each member an individual responsibility for a proportionate part of it."

The treasurer of the synod is William Paxton Stevenson, of Roselle.
